FROM WASHINGTON.

Protest from Utah against the Proposed Removal of Utes.

THE WILSON BILL DISCUSSION.

Rare Funds Needed.—Decision against the Northern Pacific.—To Test Aluminum Boats.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—In the House, Speaker Crisp presented (by request), a petition from the Governor and Legislative Assembly of Utah, protesting against the removal of the Uintah Ute Indians from Colorado to Utah, and a memorial from the same source, for the allotment of Indian lands in severalty.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the pension bill.

Hepburn (Rep.) of Iowa declared that the Confederate states contributed one-sixth of the payments of pensions (in the $150,000,000 of internal revenue taxes the South paid less than $5,000,000 of the $1,107,000,000 of the customs receipts the South paid but $15,000,000), and the miscellaneous receipts (one hundred and ninety-two millions) said he, showing the Southern members, "you contribute less than $10,000,000 to the revenue of the government. Now, do you get that back? Four millions return as sugar bounty, $40,000,000 in pensions and $5,000,000 as aid to the postal receipts. You contribute twenty-two millions and you receive back 55,000,000 more than you contribute. You contribute one-sixth to the Northern pensions. Is that a difference you make to you? Will we do with our own money? (Republican applause.)

The 52d proof of inability to the pension system of the administration Hepburn drew from the fact that Grover Cleveland appointed Hoke Smith secretary of the interior.

Cannon, of Illinois, consumed the remainder of the afternoon.

THE TARIFF DEBATE.

Difficulties Surrounding the Sugar Clause.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—The Wilson tariff bill was the subject of more consideration among the committee today. It reached a certain stage of completeness, and it is generally understood that a definite conclusion would be reached on sugar then it would be possible to agree upon everything else.

The difficulties surrounding the question on sugar are the greatest the tariff makers have to contend with, it appears, and that the proposition of an increased tax on whisky is linked up with the proposed duty on sugar, in the latter is agreed to the majority of an increased whisky tax is imperative.

It is understood the committee has also been giving attention to the internal revenue side of the internal revenue, including the tax, and the internal revenue commissioner was before them to make suggestions concerning the time and methods of collecting, as well as other taxes in this part of the bill.

A Quarrel Ended.

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—The two great bodies of Methodism met in a joint love feast and communion service today. Forty or fifty ministers were present and so united in offering joy at the burial of strife and dissension. The feeling was unique in St. Louis, which has feelings over the civil war on edge. The spirit in Methodism dates back to 1844, when a southern church cut and divided its slaves at the time of the general conference.

Gold Slowly Increasing.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The amount of gold paid out by the treasury department during February in the redemption of United States treasury notes was $19,192,000, and the amount paid during the five days of the present month was $609,000. The gold received from the payment of principal, premium and interest on the new 1894 bonds was $19,520,512. The amount of net gold in the treasury is slowly increasing. The figures at the close of business today were $107,208,034.

Funds for the Courts Scarce.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The attorney general today sent to the Senate a request for an increase in the appropriation proposed in the urgent deficiency bill now before the Senate, sufficient to make the total not less than $400,000, to meet deficiencies already existing or about to occur in the United States courts in almost all the states of the Union. He enclosed a letter from the district attorney of the state of Washington, where the marshal has no funds for the payment of witnesses, and urging immediate action.

Aluminum for Boats.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The plan to use aluminum boats in the Wallman Arctic exploration has attracted considerable attention. The navy department is considering the possibility of aluminum boats in addition to the equipments of the new man-of-war, the Columbia. Woodwards went to Philadelphia today, where a thorough test of the boats will be made.

A Sterilization Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Representative Stewart, of California, introduced in the House a bill extending the sterilization laws so they will apply to all crimes committed within the existing reservations created by the general proclamations, also extending to grant rights of way for canals and ditches provided by the act repealing the timber culture laws, so that will grant rights of way for such canals and ditches.

A Separate Coast Division.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.—The claim of the Northern Pacific to equal to the lumber and harbor use along its land grants in the state of Washington, over Tacoma, was denied by the supreme court today in an opinion in the case of Prosser and others vs. the Northern Pacific. Justice Gray, who delivered the opinion, left the question to be settled the master giving land grants to the road, and announced it is immaterial the period. The court held that every state has the right to define its own limits, and regulate the buildings upon them, since a general system is necessary and private parties could not be permitted to control portions of the shore. The injunction against the overmidnapers asked for was denied, as against public policy. The lower court is therefore sustained and the suit dismissed.

Honors Conferred.

LONDON, March 5.—On recommendation of Gladstone, the queen has conferred the following honors: Stuart Rendel, member of parliament for Montgomeryshire and chairman parliamentary committee, raised to a peerage; Sir Reginald Earl Welby, G. THE ACME RIOT.

The Confession of an Arrested Mother.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 5.—Today Governor McCorkle received a telegram from Major Hanks, commanding at Eagle, stating that a man had been arrested at Montgomery with a dynamite cartridge on his person. The man will be brought to this city. He said he engaged in the attack on Wyatt's tipple but attended all the meetings and knew all of the strikers' plans. From his confession the following story is elicited:

The riot of Acme was carefully planned, and only frustrated by the action of the authorities. The strikers took to Acme twenty-seven large dynamite cartridges to blow up the works and destroy the stores. Their purpose was to loot the stores. At their meetings yesterday, last night and on Saturday, an attempt was made to induce the consciences of certain people, to arrest Wyatt, bring him to Montgomery and turn him over to the mob of miners. His life would not have been worth a penny. In addition to this, when the soldiers came, accompanying the sheriff in making arrests for murder, the men of the dynamite society gave orders to be lighted with cheers and thrown among the troops and guns.

As it happened, however, only a small part of the dynamite was carried out. Wyatt was arrested, but when our constables, one of whom had said he would bring Wyatt to Montgomery at all hazards, attempted to take Wyatt to Montgomery, he resisted, and told him he was perfectly willing to go to Fayetteville, where he could have some sort of a show, but did not propose to be lynched in Montgomery for the purpose of being killed by a mob. This mistake he called on the militia for protection, and when the constables attempted to take him one of them was arrested for murder, and a platoon of soldiers took Wyatt to Fayetteville, where he will have a preliminary trial.

FOREIGN EVENTS REVIEW.

A Resolution of Regret at the Resignation of Gladstone.

Honors Conferred.—A Victim of the Yellow Fever.—A Naval Engineer Retired.

LONDON, March 5.—At the second meeting of the council of the London Liberal Radical union, James Stuart, M. P., proposed a resolution of regret at the resignation of Gladstone and expressing confidence in Rosebery and Sir William Harcourt.

Geo. Howell, M. P., an advanced liberal in favor of home rule, seconded the resolution, but said he did so with regret, because he thought Gladstone humiliated one of political life ("Shame!"). Mr. Howell said it was useless to dispute another, but the impression was that the duke of Cambridge (Hisses and "Shame") are some of his old cronies and not been so strong as they might have been in keeping the grease on him at this time.

Another speaker declared that the queen had influenced Gladstone to retire because she wished Rosebery a premier before he married a stepmother, this being a reference to the report that Rosebery would marry a daughter of the Prince of Wales.

Much "Shame" followed this, and the resolution of thanks was adopted.

Yellow Fever at Rio.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The World's special cable from Rio Janeiro says: George M. Hilton, who volunteered to act as an interpreter between Admiral Da Gama and the American commanders, died of the yellow fever contracted in the Union man-of-war Detroit during on the insurgent warships Trajanos and Guanabara, after sicky of yellow fever.

A Naval Battle Imminent.

RIO JANEIRO, March 5.—Intensive signalling with a newspaper tonight indicates that many ships are lying outside the harbor. It is thought the government fleet has arrived and will enter the harbor tomorrow. In that event an early battle between the opposing fleets is looked for.

The New Cabinet.
