OTHER PRIVATES.

PITTSBURG, June 9.—There has been no disturber at any point for forty-eight hours. The report that the strikers were firing on the deputies at Manown is entirely without foundation. At McKeesport order prevails. The deputies have possession of the mills. In the coke region there has been no serious outbreak for several days.

AT CRIPPLE CREEK.

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 9.—Peace reigns today. Two militia are encamped on Bull Hill. The deputies are going and coming to Cripple Creek. Sheriff Bowers says he will keep them until the insurrection is broken. There are warrants for 200 miners on charges of murder, assault to murder, grand larceny, inciting riot. The military leaders of the miners are missing and the officers of the union are still here. The mines will reopen next week.

DESTROYED BY DYNAMITE.

SCRANTON, PA., June 9.—Last night in Tipple, Strunaker and Coleman collieries, near Berlin, Pa., were destroyed by dynamite. Last night was the first one in several weeks the mines have not been working. It is supposed the outrage was committed by strikers.

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—A conference between miners and operators of southern mines began at East St. Louis with a representation of both sides. The consolidated Coal company, controlling a large number of mines, ignored the meeting.

After a discussion it was decided that the miners' delegates, representing 15,675 miners, should retire and frame a proposition regarding wages. At the same time the operators will discuss their course.

THEY CONFER.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 9.—A committee of coal operators is conferring with representatives of the miners regarding the settlement of the strike.

HOTEMS BREWEAT.

WHEELING, W. Va., June 9.—Five companies of West Virginia militia arrived today and moved on Bogge this parish. The miners retreated before the distributions at dozens of places along the road and the troops were busy all day in moving the trains. The Baltimore and Ohio lines are now completely under guard from Moundville to Cambridge, nearly fifty miles. At Glenloch, nearly five the militia were met by several hundred men, women and boys, and a volley of stones and bricks rained at them. One militia man was fairly hook. At Elm Grove, on the Wheeling and Pittsburg division, the strikers set a coal train and blockaded the tracks.

THE STRIKE PRACTICALLY END ED.

LATROBE, Pa., June 9.—Up to noon the conference between miners and operators of this district failed to materialize. Only one operator came. Several works are running full, and it is thought that the strike is practically over.

TRAINLOAD AT FRONTLEURG.

FRONTLEURG, June 9.—Everything is quiet in the Frostburg region today, the miners evidently waiting until the mine leaves, which will be a week from today. The output of Hobart yesterday was 207 tons, against 1,200, its usual output.

A DEADLOCK AT THE OUTSET.

ALTOONA, Pa., June 9.—The conference between the operators and miners of the central Pennsylvania region today struck a deadlock at the outset. The operators expressed a willingness to deal with the miners as individuals but not as an organization. District President Bradley told the operators that the result of the conference would have to be referred to the National President McBride. The operators said they were not in a mood to deal with the miners from McBride and Bradley meaning the operators that the miners of the district were authorized to act for themselves. The miners went to the hall which had been engaged for the conference and at noon were waiting for the operators to put in an appearance.

MINERS SURRENDER.

UNION PACIFIC ACCIDENT.

A Train Derailed Between Black Rock and Milford.

Special Dispatch to the News.

BEAVER, Utah, June 9.—A smashup on the Union Pacific railway between Black Rock and Milford, Thursday afternoon, was sufficient to keep the Salt Lake papers and others for the night. The stage came in here at noon today with two days mail from Salt Lake and the East, but it is understood the mails from Beaver city and Southern Utah will be delayed in getting to Salt Lake accordingly. Whether cattle or sheep on the track caused the smashup, or the lack of the section hands to keep the road in repair cannot be ascertained, nor the extent of the damage.

Historic Places.

The June number of The Contributor contains as one of its leading articles Missions and Missionary Work—a symposium from the pioneers of various Latter-day Saint Missions. Valuable suggestions are given in these contributions to young men concerning the preparation necessary for those who expect to engage in the noble labor of preaching the Gospel. The present article, a continuation of which will appear in the July number of this magazine, is illustrated with views of St. Helens, Liverpool, England; also the headquarters of the Neuchatelois, Sandwich Islands, and Swiss and German Missions. Pres. Ashton H. Lund's service given in his article should be read and followed by the youth of Zion.

The number of The Contributor also contains King Felioni's funeral sermon, Preaching and Preaching, Ramblings Around the World, An Art Student in Paris, and other contributions which make the issue an exceedingly interesting one.

SPORTING TALK.

Pugilists Not Getting Out of Town as Ordered—Thompson to Patrol.

Yesterday three pugilists appeared in the police court and were convicted of vagrancy. Sentence in each case, however, was suspended to allow the men time to get out of town to avoid being locked up. But the trusters did not go, and they are now laying plans for future work in places where officers are seldom seen.

There is "bad blood" between Purcell, the barber blister, and Bob Thompson, the little dusky athlete. The trouble thus far has been confined to word-fighting, and arose out of a claim by Purcell that he whipped "the nigger" in a contest fought at Ogden. Bob says it is not true, and that his white friend can't do it for any sum between $250 and $1,000. In regard to the Ogden contest he has received the following letter from W. J. Stevenson, who refereed the fight: "In reply to your request for my decision and opinion of the contest between yourself and Purcell, will say that you had all the best of the contest, and could have put him out in the second round. Decision was given by me in your favor."

Thompson and Lynch will meet in a 20-round contest at Ogden on Wednesday night next.

THE AUTUMN FAIR.

Home Manufacturers Asking for Space at the Exposition.

MUCH INTEREST IS MANIFESTED.

Question of Offering Special Premiums is Deserving Exhibitors—General Fair Notes.

MR. FRANK W. JENNINGS, of the department of manufactures, Utah territorial Fair, recently sent out a letter to the manufacturers of Utah, urging them to make an exhibit at the coming exposition. He says: "A sentiment in favor of our own factories has been aroused in every Utonian. Keep this sentiment alive by assisting in the Territorial Exposition, and without doubt this year will register a greater movement in home goods than any other three years in the history of the Territory."

This letter was accompanied by one from R. P. Grant and C. E. Westland, of the Manufacturers' Bureau, urging all manufacturers to assist the Fair to the fullest extent. Already Secretary Pyper has received applications from thirty-five manufacturers for space in Orchard and they are still being received.

The fact that there was no Fair in 1893 and that most efforts have been expended on colonial shows, seems to have produced a desire for a great home exhibition and much interest is awakened.

In most of the departments much has been already promised. There will be a lively competition in the poultry department, and many sleep men report that they are in a better condition to show than ever before.

The secretary was at Logan the beginning of this week and did some work for the Fair, securing the promise of exhibits in the manufacturing, agricultural, live stock and science departments. There is sure to be a good showing from Cache county.

There have been a number of offers of special premiums for home products and now is the opportunity for those who desire to encourage any particular home industry to do so substantially. Sixteen hundred dollars in special premiums alone were paid home producers in 1893—the last Territorial Fair—and every dollar went where it did the most good.

Though the times are hard this year, still the increased interest in home goods should increase the offers of special premiums. Who will set the ball rolling?

FRANCIS A. BROWN DEAD.

He Passes Peacefully to Rest at Ogden Today.

A Noble, Faithful Worker in the Cause of Truth is Called to the Spirit World.

The following telegram was received today by the NEWS:

OGDEN, Utah, June 9.—Francis A. Brown died at 8:5 a. m. Further particulars will be sent later.

M. POULTON.

Elder Brown was born in Milford, Otsego county, N. Y., November 14, 1822; joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints February 11, 1844, being baptized by John Lane. In October following he emigrated to Nauvoo, where he taught school, and afterwards labored on the Temple until the exodus in 1846. When the body of the Church moved west, he made a visit to the State of New York, where he married and soon afterwards removed to Kanesville, Iowa. There he again taught school and was employed in a store until the spring of 1851, when he was called on a mission to Nova Scotia. While on this mission, he visited the island of Cape Breton, where he baptized nine persons and organized a branch of the Church. Together with David Candland, his companion, he also baptized a number in Halifax and organized them into a branch. Having returned to Council Bluffs in the spring of 1853, he once more engaged in school teaching.

In the meantime his wife died, and having married again, he emigrated to Utah in 1856, locating in Ogden, where he has resided ever since. In 1860 he made a visit to California, where he had a sister residing, and in 1865-66 he performed a good mission to Europe, spending two years in Italian, where he acquired a pretty thorough knowledge of the Italian language, and afterwards presided one year over the Nottingham Conference, England. While in Holland some sixty persons were baptized and the Voice of Warning was translated into the Dutch language. In 1887 and 1889 he again performed a good mission in Holland, being president of the Netherlands Mission.

At home he has filled many positions of trust and responsibility. For two years he served as probate judge of Weber county, for ten years as alderman of the city council of Ogden, and also as justice of the peace for several years. Previous to his departure on his first mission to Europe, he taught school for nine years, and after his return was engaged a number of years in the Ogden branch of Zion's Cooperative Mercantile Institution. As president of the Central Canal company, he took an active part in getting the water from the Weber river upon the city bench between Ogden and Kaysville, since 1890 he has been engaged principally in farming pursuits. When the prosecutions for polygamy and unlawful cohabitation commenced, he was one of the first victims selected from Weber county. Having been arrested May 15, 1885, on a charge of unlawful cohabitation, he was arraigned in the First District Court in Ogden on June 30th. When he furnished all the evidence himself for his conviction and refused to plead in court, in which he asserted that he would rather have his head severed from his body than prove incriminating to his wives and children and betray his trust. His remarks were characteristic of the man—noble, outspoken and conscientious. He was true to what he conceived to be his post of duty, regardless of the consequences to himself. Up to the close of his life he was active in his labors for the welfare of his fellow beings and the establishment of righteousness on the earth. He held the respect and esteem, not only of his co-religionists, but of those who differed widely from him in religious belief, and he will be mourned by all classes of citizens. The world is better through the lives of such men as Francis A. Brown. Would there were more of them.

The following telegram regarding the funeral was received this afternoon:

OGDEN, Utah, June 9.—The funeral of F. A. Brown will be held at the tabernacle on Sunday, June 10th, at 1 p. m.

MUSTERING THEM IN.

The Full Quota of Cavalry and Artillery Companies Organized.

Adjutant General Ottinger will leave for Mercur on this evening's train to muster in a company of militia at that place on Monday. He has just returned from Tooele where he went a few days ago on a similar mission. The new company there, he says, will be a first class one. It is officered as follows: Captain, William Stephens; first lieutenant,——Shields; second lieutenant, Charles Fitzcox. The non-commissioned officers are yet to be named.

General Ottinger also went over to Grantsville while in Tooele county, and says the martial spirit has taken hold of the young men of that town and they are talking of forming a company of infantry.

On Saturday next the general will organize a company at Morgan and he contemplates paying a visit to Coalville, Summit county, where a good company has already been formed and is now waiting to be mustered in.

Under the military code of the Territory, thirty-six companies of infantry, (three regiments) may be organized. Only eight have thus far been formed. They are divided as follows: Salt Lake, three; Ogden, one; Brigham City, one; Mount Pleasant, one; Tooele, one; Cannonville, (not mustered in) one. The full quota of cavalry troops and artillery companies have been organized.

It Had Lain Beneath Many Feet of Snow for Months.

This morning the body of John Desilesley, an Italian miner, was brought to this city and taken to Skewes's undertaking establishment, where Coroner Taylor held an inquest this afternoon.

Desilesley perished in the snow in the Cottonwoods last November. His body lay buried during the entire winter, and was only found a few days ago when the warm summer sun melted the great bank of snow that enveloped it.

JUDGE GEE PASSING AWAY.

A Veteran Resident of Tooele Whose Course of Life is Almost Run.

Word comes from Tooele today to the effect that the condition of Judge Lysander Gee is gradually growing worse. This morning he appeared very near the end of his long and painfully borne affliction which, as NEWS readers will remember, is in the shape of a cancerous growth of the throat similar to that which caused the death of President Grant.

When the trouble first developed it was not thought to be very serious. But later stages of the disease proved that the contrary was true. All that surgical and medical skill could do has been done the past year, but without avail. It is now a question of a short time only until the veteran patriot and one of the pioneers that will call his spirit into the unseen world.

OTHER TOOELE ITEMS.

Sheriff Gillespie was to leave Tooele on the afternoon train for Salt Lake, bringing with him an old man named Ott, who has lived at Ophir for a long time past, and whose reason became impaired recently. He was adjudged insane in Judge Herman's court last evening. Drs. Dodds and Davis acted as examining physicians.

The body of a man named Pierce, who died at Mercur, reached Tooele today and was buried at that place this afternoon.

Marriage Licenses.

The county clerk issued a marriage license today to Herbert C. Wardle, 20, of West Jordan, and Annie J. Shields, of South Jordan.
