NINETY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

OF OUR

NATIONAL INDEPENDENCE,

JULY 4th, 1871.

PROGRAMME:

AT sunrise an artillery salute of thirteen guns will be the signal for the raising of flags throughout the city, and for the various bands of music stationed at prominent places to commence playing.

At 7 a. m. a salute of three guns for the assembling of the schools and the various societies, trades, etc., at their respective places of meeting, where they will organize under the direction of their superintendents or committees.

The procession will be composed of four grand Divisions, designated under four general heads, viz:

1st Educational and Musical.
2nd Official and Professional.
3rd Agricultural and Horticultural.
4th Manufacturing and Mechanical.

At eight a. m. a salute of two guns for the formation of the procession.

United States officers, Civil and Military; Territorial, County and City officers; the Ecclesiastical Authorities of all denominations, together with invited guests or strangers passing through this city are respectfull invited to assemble at the City Hall at 8 o'clock, a. m., where the general committee will meet and escort them to their place in the procession.

The 1st Division will form on the north side of South Temple Street, the head of the division resting on West Temple Street. The 2nd Division will form on the south side of the same street, the head of the division resting on West Temple Street. The 3rd Division will form on the east side of West Temple Street, the head of the division resting on South Temple Street. The 4th Division will form on the North and West sides of the Temple Block, the head of the division resting on South Temple Street.

A Band of Music and a Detachment of the Militia will be assigned to each division and will constitute the head thereof. The Procession being formed, the Marshal will conduct it West to First West Street—thence South to Fourth South Street—thence East to First East Street—thence North to South Temple Street and thence to the New Tabernacle.

MARSHAL OF THE DAY:

JOHN D. T. McALLISTER.

THE telegrams yesterday show that Admiral Rodgers, in command of the U. S. Asiatic squadron, is proceeding vigorously in the mission with which he was entrusted to Corea, and the probability is, that if he have not already, he will soon render the Coreans willing to listen to reason, and will open up that long isolated peninsula to commerce and intercourse with the western nations. As the present movement against Corea is likely to lead to such important results, it may not be amiss to give a few particulars relating to Corea and its people, and the causes which led to the present expedition.

Corea, as the geographies will tell, is on the north-east of China, on the eastern coast of Asia; it comprises a peninsula four hundred miles long and a hundred and fifty broad; a number of small islands, and a part of the Asiatic continent, forming a territory about ninety thousand square miles in extent. It has a population of from ten to twelve millions, said to be as fierce and intelligent, and as jealous of foreign intrusion as the Japanese. The army numbers between six and seven hundred thousand, and the navy some three hundred war junks, carrying from ten to twenty old fashioned guns of from twenty to thirty pounds calibre.

The present difficulty owes its origin to the wreck of the U.S. schooner General Sherman, on the Corean coast, some five years ago. The unfortunate crew of that vessel were captured by the Coreans, and treated barbarously, some being confined in cages, others tortured and otherwise ill-used. One of the men made his escape, and finding refuge aboard an American man-of-war, made known the sufferings and outrages to which he and his comrades had been subjected. Admiral Bell, then in command of the U.S. squadron in Asiatic waters, sent the Shenandoah, a war steamer, to investigate, and upon nearing the Corean coast she was fired upon from batteries ashore. Her commander having no orders to resent such an attack the matter ended. Subsequently Admiral Rowan was dispatched to settle the difficulty, but received counter orders, and it has finally devolved upon Admiral Rogers, whose promptitude bids fair to bring about a speedy solution of the difficulty.

The expedition sailed from Nagaski, Japan, on the 18th ult., comprising the Flagship Colorado, forty-seven guns; Alaska, twelve guns, Benicia, twelve, Monocacy, six, and the Palos, two, being a total of seventy-five guns, and fifteen hundred men. The object of the expedition was to conclude a treaty with the Coreans by which amicable relations should be established between them and the United States. On reaching the Corean coast the expedition was received with apparent amity, but on making a certain point masked batteries were opened upon it, which led to speedy reprisals, an account of which appeared in the telegrams a few days since. The Corean batteries were soon silenced, and nothing further was attempted during the first day's hostilities. But it is safe to presume, that the Admiral, incensed at the treachery of the Coreans, subsequently determined to teach them a salutary lesson, and on the following day he resumed hostilities, resulting, as detailed in yesterday's dispatches, in the capture of several forts, nearly five hundred small pieces of brass ordnance, very many small arms and fifty flags. The loss sustained by admiral Rodgers was three killed and nine wounded; on the side of the Coreans two hundred and forty-three dead were counted.

This is the result, so far, of the long-talked of Corean expedition, a result, no doubt as little expected by the Coreans, as by Europeans residing in China and Japan, for, owing to the warlike character of the Coreans the opinion generally prevailing was that the combined disposable forces of the European powers in Asiatic waters would be insufficient to bring them to reason. The energy of Admiral Rodgers has doubtless caused a difference in sentiment, and while further developments will be anxiously awaited, there seems to be every reason to believe that American pluck on this occasion will lead to the destruction of Corean isolation as it did formerly in the case of Japan.

THE Missouri Republican of the 24th instant has an editorial article headed "Mormon women to Vote," in which, among other things it says the Gentiles in Utah have no policy but opposition to the Mormons. It thinks the latter have stolen a march on their political antagonists in giving to every woman, native or foreign born, the right to vote six months after her arrival in the Territory, provided she be wife, widow or daughter of a native born or naturalized citizen; for it says, as many of the Mormons have more than one wife and most of the Gentiles none, it doubles the power of the Mormons at the polls. The Republican says the Gentiles are preparing to test the constitutionality of the law giving the suffrage to women in Utah, but it is of the opinion that the attempt will fail; for it says that the constitution of the State of Missouri allows aliens to vote if they have declared their intentions, and the constitutionality of this provision, has never been disputed.

Another Daring Stage Robbery!

A Murderer gives Himself up!

Gambetta loyal to the Present Government of France!

WASHINGTON.

Boutwell and Pleasanton.

WASHINGTON.—W. H. Haines, who was appointed Commissioner of Customs to-day, is a resident of Pittsburg, Penn., and a son of Townsend Haines, formerly register of the city.

The President returned to Long Branch this evening.

Commissioner Pleasanton had a long interview with the President this evening, and afterwards went to the office of Secretary Boutwell, where the two had an extended conversation, supposed to be in reference to their conflict of opinion with regard to their respective duties.

NEW YORK.

A murderer conscience stricken.

NEW YORK.—W. Douglas, the owner of the yacht Sappho, challenges any yacht on the Atlantic coast to sail, with an eight knot breeze, twenty miles to windward and return for five thousand dollars. It is said Lorillard's yacht Wanderer will accept.

The Polaris sails for the north pole to-morrow.

Subscriptions to the capital stock on the Viaduct railway books, which were opened yesterday, are said to amount to $70,000.

The underground railroad has a hundred and fifty feet of tunnel completed in Bond Street, and another section has a considerable extent in Madison Avenue.

Michael McLaughlin, of Philadelphia, who shot Jos. McKee, of that city, about a year ago, gave himself up to officer Frazer of the Broadway squad to-day, stating that the case had so preyed on his mind that he could not rest. He was taken to the Central office and locked up until advices were received from Philadelphia.

TENNESSEE.

Murdered by his rival.

MEMPHIS.—Edward Lyles was murdered at a pic-nic last night, four miles below here, by a jealous rival, named Eally Eason, who walked up behind him, shot him through the head and then fled to the woods.

NEVADA.

Boasting stage robbery.

EUREKA, 29.—At eleven o'clock last night the stage of Woodruff & Ennor, en route from Palisade to Eureka and Hamilton, was robbed at a point two miles south of Mineral Hill. The robbers were only two in number, and both were well armed, and disguised to some extent. One was a large man, who evinced no trepidity, but was as much at home in the act as if it were an every-day occurrence; the other was smaller and was nervous to a degree piteous to behold in a bold highwayman. He had position to handle his pistol and from awkwardness or fright he was more astonished than any one else when it went off. There were eleven passengers in the coach, one of them a lady. The stage was stopped while ascending a small hill and the driver was ordered to throw down the treasure box, which he did. The passengers were then taken to the front of the lead horses, where they were ordered to strip their boots and coats, when their hands were tied and the robbers then examined them for money and valuables. They got about three hundred dollars in all, while one of the passengers had that amount in a vest pocket which was undiscovered.

MAINE.

Republican State Convention.

PORTLAND.—The Republican State Convention met to-day to nominate a candidate for governor. Sidney Perham was nominated by acclamation. Resolutions were adopted eulogizing and endorsing the past record of the Republican party, asserting the right and duty of the General Government to protect all citizens of the United States in all their rights everywhere, endorsing the administration of Grant, and declaring that it demands a renewed expression of their confidence and assurances of their unwavering support. Following is a tariff resolution:—Resolved that, in the present exigencies of our country, the tariff on imports is the readiest and least oppressive mode of raising the larger portion of the revenue needed for the support of the Federal Government, and that, in assessing the duties, care should be taken to so adjust them as not to prejudice, but to promote the interests of every citizen and branch of industry in the land, and that special pains should be taken to foster in every practicable way, the honor and interests of American labor.

FOREIGN NEWS.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Parliamentary.

LONDON, 29.—In the House of Lords to-night, Lord Oranmere introduced a resolution expressing regret that the queen had been advised to sign the treaty of Washington, a bargain so unbecoming the honor and dignity of the country. Its conditions, he said, were in conflict with the instructions given, and irritated Canada without conciliating America.

Earl Airtie defended and praised the treaty.

Earl Lamberton said it gave everything to the U. S., without securing an equivalent for England.

Lord Houghton was satisfied with the compact because it would prevent a future quarrel.

Granville closed the debate with a vigorous defence of the action of the government and the motion of Lord Oranmere was defeated.

PRUSSIA.

BERLIN.—The Emperor has granted an amnesty to all natives of Alsace and Lorraine under sentence for political or military offences.

RUSSIA.

Newspaper suspended.

ST. PETERSBURG.—The government has suspended the publication of the Moscow Gazette, for disobedience to the law against libelous language with regard to the Constitution and authorities.

FRANCE.

Gambetta loyal—Rochefort ill.

PARIS, 29.—The review of the army at Long Champs, to-day, was a success. Nothing occurred to mar its effect. All of the members of the military, and deputies of the Assembly were present. The troops showed much enthusiasm and repeatedly cheered Thiers. Military medals were conferred on Generals Vinoy and L'Admirault. A large number of promotions in the legion of honor were announced.

The Patrie denies that there is any truth in the rumor of a triple alliance between Russia, Prussia and Austria.

Gambetta, in a speech at Bordeaux, protested his loyalty to the present government.

The illness of Rochefort has become so serious that the physicians have had a consultation over his case.

THE FOLLOWING is an extract from a letter from Elder George Reynolds, now in England on a mission, to a friend in this City. The communication is dated at Liverpool, June 8th:

"Whilst in London I paid two visits to the International Exhibition. It is distinctively an art exhibition, being almost entirely composed of paintings, sculpture, fine pottery and glass, lace and jewelry, with some little fine cabinet work, upholstery, woolen and cotton goods, educational paraphernalia, and a few machines. Some one has irreverently styled it 'Regent Street under a glass case,' but for all that it is well worth visiting. It certainly cannot compare with the exhibitions of 1851 and 1862, but it does not lay claim to so much, but what there is of it, and that is considerable, is very good. It is held in the two annexes of the exhibition of 1862, and in the Albert Hall, a large new rotunda shaped building, devoted to the fine arts, especially music, and dedicated to the memory of the late Prince Consort. These buildings enclose the grounds of the Royal Horticultural Society, devoted to flower shows, and fashionable assemblies of the lovers of the botanical kingdom. Though called an international exhibition, the exhibitors are principally English, still there are specimens of art and manufacture from Austria, China, Japan, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Sweden, Norway, Russia, Spain, Switzerland, Tunis, Turkey and the United States. Many of the paintings are very beautiful, heathen gods and goddesses giving way to scenes of modern home life and landscapes. The sculptors however, with few exceptions, continue to chisel out ladies, dressed in the flowing robes supposed by the multitude to have been worn by Eve before the fall, or by Lady Godiva when she rode through the streets of Coventry. To some of these the artists have had some trouble to find names; so we have girls, bathers, Undines, Eves, nymphs without number. The paintings are almost entirely the work of living artists, being, with few exceptions, the work of the last ten years. I understand it is the intention to hold yearly exhibitions of this kind for the encouragement of art and the development of manufactures.

One of the great differences noticed by a person who has been absent from London for a few years is the grand system of inter-metropolitan (I claim originality for that word) railroads. Vast districts of squalid London have been pulled down, and massive piles of architecture have risen in their place, the terminus of some new railroad line. On the Metropolitan, or Underground railroad, trains run every three minutes each way, and I was informed by a gentleman who resides at Clapham that 700 trains pass the junction at that place every twenty-four hours.

A conference was held in London last Sunday. There were present: President H. S. Eldredge; Elders R. F. Neslen, J. Jaques, A. Dewey, S. F. Bird, J. H. Faust, R. Harrison, L. Farr, B. W. Driggs, J. Hart, J. Lavinder, J. Argyle, E. Woolley, W. Douglas, and G. Reynolds. Short sermons keep the order of the day. President Eldredge spoke but little, his health will not admit of any great exertion of the vocal powers. On the day following the conference a concert was held in the Albion Hall, which was really a superior affair. London conference still boasts of many good singers; the ladies, as usual in the affair, bore the palm."
