IN WASHINGTON.

A Circular Evidently Issued by Anarchist Idiots.

"DOWN WITH THE U. S. SENATE!"

This Week's Congress Program.—Schools for Mines.—Coinage and the Will of the People.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The following circular was received by every representative, senator and public official in Washington today:

"There is a time in the affairs of men when patience ceases to be a virtue. Down with the United States Senate, the enemies of the people."

The letters containing the circulars were postmarked New York.

THE WEEK'S PROGRAM.

The outlook for the coming week in the Senate is very uncertain. It may prove a week of surprises, and there is a possibility of reaching an agreement whereby the repeal bill will be definitely and finally disposed of, but the indications are that there will be no agreement until it becomes evident to all that the bill cannot be passed or defeated in its present shape.

The spectre of night sessions is again abroad. The truce limiting the time for debate to seven hours per day expires by limitation tomorrow, but Voorhees said yesterday that he would make no effort to terminate it.

The debate on the Tucker bill will consume the entire time of the House for the coming week, except some unimportant matters as may come up in the morning hour. Voting will not begin under the order until October 10th.

... glneer and fireman before O'Dwyer and I were ready to attack the car, and our plans were thrown into confusion. When we entered the car I found myself unexpectedly [illegible] Armstrong. I saw a man running into the car with a gun, who supposed we had been trapped. From that moment my sole object was to get out of the car. Somebody shot me in the arm. The shooting filled the car full of smoke and I managed to jump out. O'Dwyer was a few feet ahead of me. We both landed outside about the same time.

"I passed on in a circuitous route until I returned to the Illinois Central track, nearly a mile from where we held up the train. A wild engine bound for St. Louis on the Air line pulled up to the depot and stopped. While the engineer and fireman were in the telegraph office I crawled out and secreted myself on the engine, on which I rode into St. Louis.

"I kept myself secreted during the day in the vicinity of the relay depot in St. Louis, and at 7 p. m., September 21st I boarded an Ohio & Mississippi train and rode to Cincinnati. No one on the train suspected me. I have friends in Cincinnati, and went direct to the city hospital. I think it was the description of my wound given to the press by the St. Louis woman that caused the city hospital authorities to identify me and give me away."

It will be remembered that Thorpe and Winters, two railway employes, at Marquette, were arrested, and subsequently released. THE SCHEMING ANARCHISTS.

A Fight Between Reds and the Police at Manchester.

Pallas Sentenced to Be Shot—The Leader of the Vienna Conspiracy not yet Arrested.

MANCHESTER, Oct. 1.—A very lively and interesting fight between a number of English anarchists and police took place here today. The police have long been aware that the anarchists had formed a group in this city and were holding meetings at irregular intervals. For a long time the anarchists kept within the bounds of law and order.

The discovery of the anarchist plot in Vienna and the attempt to kill General Martinez Campos seemed to arouse them to a pitch of unusual excitement, for they commenced making things very disagreeable for the residents in the neighborhood of the meeting place. This gave the police their desired opportunity and a raid upon the assembly rooms of the Reds was made today.

The raid was resisted fiercely by the anarchists. They seized chairs and other pieces of furniture, and defended themselves desperately. The police drew their batons, and a rough and tumble fight took place.

Three anarchists were so severely injured that they were taken to the hospital, and a number on both sides received less serious wounds. Several of the most desperate anarchists were taken into custody. The others managed to escape through the windows.

PALLAS TO BE SHOT.

BARCELONA, Oct. 1.—The approaching death of Pallas, the anarchist, who will be shot next week, is discussed throughout Spain. The police are well aware that he has a number of sympathizers among a certain class of the population.

In their investigation the police have found positive proof that Pallas had accomplices among foreign anarchists. An Italian named [illegible] was arrested today, charged with being an accomplice.
