WEST VIRGINIA NOTES.

Labors of the Elders.—A Methodist Gathering.—Discussion with Campbellites.—The Weather.

[Correspondence DESERET NEWS.]

About five weeks ago Elder Randall, president of the conference, Elder Freeman and myself entered Philippi, Barbour Co., W. Va., for the purpose of laying before the people our views and doctrines. We found a large majority of the people charitably disposed and ready to receive us. Wherefore we engaged a school house and held meetings, getting a good attendance at each gathering.

After the meeting held on the 5th of December, 1890, had been properly dismissed, Mr. J. Thompson and I. F. Ensminger, of Campbellite faith, asked for the attention of the audience while they boldly stood forth and assailed the Prophet Joseph Smith and the Priesthood. On the 7th we again met in the same house, when Elder Freeman delivered an address on "Authority" and "Salvation for the Dead," closing with a powerful testimony of the divinity of the mission of Joseph Smith. He was followed by Elder Randall, in the same manner. This put the above named Mr. Thompson on his mettle again and, being utterly destitute of Bible doctrine to refute the Elders' testimony, he again villainously berated the character of the Prophet, and set forth the allegation that the "Mormons" had been persecuted for their violations of law. This being denied, the meeting adjourned. On every occasion these latter gentlemen used the same attack upon us, and we are informed that is the mode of their proceedings against other denominations. The last attack made by them so thoroughly disgusted their hearers that they began to leave the room and refused to give them a hearing.

The occasion of holding protracted meetings having arrived, we attended a series of meetings held by the Methodists of this locality, and listened attentively to the long list of "Gospel sermons" by the good pastor; but the very presence of the Elders seemed to annoy him. Secret meetings were held to find out what the "Mormons" were doing there, wherein they came to the conclusion that they exercised a disastrous influence over the meetings.

At the conclusion of their series of meetings, they eventually came to the conclusion that it did not matter to which church individuals belonged, though they wished them to join the "M. E."

At a meeting held the 28th of December, remarks derogatory to the character of the Elders of the Church were made by a class leader, who stated that we were introducing a new religion and compared it to a patent churn introduced in this country of a recent date, which proved to be unsuccessful and was therefore abandoned. "Just so," said he, "we should stick to the old-time-up-and-down religion."

This in no wise scared us, but greatly lowered them in the estimation of many of their own members.

The pious members of the Campbellite church mentioned above challenged Elder Randall to affirm that the doctrines which the Latter-day Saints teach are divine and authorized by the Lord, and at the same time Mr. Ensminger affirmed that the Church of Christ, of which he was a member, was "the only church authorized and established by Christ." To this Elder Randall replied that he did not wish to debate, having come out for the purpose of preaching the Gospel, but as he had a desire to lay before the people the principles of the Gospel he would accept.

Mr. Ensminger then read Luke 24: 44, etc., and admitted that all scriptures were given by inspiration of God; that the Old Testament Scriptures pointed to the coming of Christ; that [illegible] and this world are inseparably connected; that Christ's Kingdom was set up on the day of Pentecost, but at the same time he denied the gift of the Holy Ghost through the proper channel, and the necessity for authority and gifts, etc.

Elder Randall replied by reading the Articles of Faith and a number of Scripture passages.

The discussion was continued the next day, and when the case was submitted to the audience the Elders received 23 votes, while their opponents had 12.

A heavy fall of snow was showered down some time ago, which after partial disappearance, received strength by a renewal of the same kind; then followed a rain which considerably raised the streams. Today it is cold.

A fine field for holding meetings is opened up, and as we journey on we will endeavor to answer the calls.

Your brother in the Covenant,
ELDER H. F. THOMAS.

PHILLIPI, Barbour Co., W. Va., January 5th, 1891.

A TOUGH CHARACTER CAPTURED

He Breaks the Arm of One of His Captors and Escapes.

Last evening about 7:30 o'clock an attempt was made to burglarize the residence of Mr. W. H. Lyons, 554 East Temple street.

The Lyons family were in the rear apartments of the house at the time and knew nothing of the attempt at forcible entrance that was being made at the front door until Mrs. Lyons, who chanced to go into the hall, saw the handle of the front door turn noiselessly. She paused for a couple of minutes, undecided whether to give the alarm or open the door. Acting under the latter impulse, she turned the key and slipped the catch aside and suddenly threw the door wide open. A burly form sprang from the porch to the ground and ran across the lawn to the front gate. Another form remained standing near the porch to whom Mrs. Lyons addressed the following remark: "What is your business—whom do you want?"

After considerable [illegible] the fellow replied, "I guess I have made a mistake by coming to the wrong house. I wanted to see Dr. Newton."

"You have made no mistake, sir," said Mrs. Lyons, "come right in."

With considerable hesitation the fellow accepted the invitation, presumably with the intention of explaining away matters [illegible].

Mrs. Lyons called to her husband and son, who at once answered the call by their presence. Mr. would-be burglar was subjected to a severe catechization by the Messrs. Lyons. Failing to give satisfactory answers, they marched the fellow up town towards police headquarters. Their movements had apparently been watched by the confederate of the captured man, as he suddenly appeared on the scene and attempted to rescue him. A fight ensued in which the captured man broke the arm of young Mr. Lyons by a heavy blow with some hard instrument that he had concealed about his person, and then made good his escape, disappearing in the darkness behind a Main Street saloon. The would-be rescuer of burglar No. 1 was captured in the fracas and marched to the City Hall. He was placed in the city jail, where he is at present.

CATARRH

Is a constitutional and not a local disease, and therefore it cannot be cured by local applications. It requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, working through the blood, eradicates the impurity which causes and promotes the disease, and effects a permanent cure. Thousands of people testify to the success of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh when other preparations had failed.

Stuffed-Up Feeling.

"I will say I have been troubled for several years with that terribly disagreeable disease, catarrh. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla with the very best results. It cured me of that continual dropping in my throat, and stuffed-up feeling. It has also helped my mother, who has taken it for run down state of health and kidney trouble." MRS. S. D. HEATH, Putnam, Conn.

Reports of Bribery of Legislators.

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 9.—In the House this afternoon a resolution was adopted for the appointment of a committee to investigate the reports of bribery of legislators. A bill providing for the submission of a prohibition amendment to a vote of the people was temporarily defeated by a motion to adjourn. The vote showed no chance for resubmission at this session.

Defaulter Arrested.

MEADVILLE, Pa., Jan. 9.—G. B. Delamater, a member of the banking firm of Delamater & Co., lately failed, was arrested today on information sworn out by the county commissioners charging them with receiving deposits [illegible] knowing the bank was insolvent. He pleaded not guilty and furnished bail.

A Bloody Battle Anticipated.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10.—All last night signal lights were flashing between Pine Ridge and the hostile [illegible]. Preparations are being made for a fight and every one here anticipates the bloodiest battle of this country. The wives and families of the officers, who are at Pine Ridge agency, were sent east last night.

The McKinley Bill.

"Seven dollars, [illegible]."

"Why, that's [illegible] more than you charged for the same job six months ago."

"Yes, sah, dat's so. But dat was befo' dat McKinley bill was passed."—Merchant Herald.

A Judicial Irish Bull.

The following, says a [illegible] of the Irish bench, though not precisely a "bull" pure and simple, belongs more or less to the fertile family. A wife had suffered cruelties at the hands of a husband, and in self-defense she "took the law of him;" but just before the trial she relented, and told the judge she wished to leave the punishment and the case to God.

"I regret, my good woman," replied the great official, "that we cannot do that; the case is far too important."—London World.
