SUNDAY SERVICES.

Elders Milton Bennion and Heber J. Grant Address the Saints in the Tabernacle.

The usual afternoon services were held in the Tabernacle Sunday with President of the Stake Angus M. Cannon presiding.

Choir sang:

Glory to God on high,
Let heaven and earth reply.

Prayer by Elder Thomas A. Clawson.

Choir further sang:

The rising sun has chased the night
And brought again the cheering light.

Elder Milton Bennion, late of the Samoan mission, was the first speaker. He said he had been away from home for some time laboring mainly in New New Zealand among the Maoris. Upon finishing his labors in that portion of the Lord's vineyard he was appointed to journey inward into the land of Palestine. For many centuries the country of Palestine has been barren and unfruitful, yielding nothing for the use of man whatever. Since, however, the visit of the Apostles to that portion of the country, a great change in the productiveness of the land had taken place. The city of Tiberias is well called a filthy place. Its filthy condition was very apparent to the speaker, and he had been led to believe that it was the most unclean place he had ever seen. Galilee is a town of beauty and luxuriance. The flagroses of its vines and tropical fruits fill one with admiration for the city. Nazareth, the town in which the Savior passed His childhood days, was also visited. The Scriptures say: "For sheep know the voice of their Shepherd, and follow him." This is a saying which appears somewhat ridiculous to us in this part of the country, as the shepherds here, as is well known, have to drive their flocks. But conditions are different in that land. Jackals and other wild animals abound there in great numbers, working much havoc among the flocks. The shepherd has only to go out into the pasture and the sheep follow him, because they see in him a friend and a protector. The land of Palestine is being richly blessed and the way is opening up for the introduction of the Gospel in that land.

Elder Heber J. Grant next occupied the pulpit. The story of the Savior, said he, was something which never grew old to his heart. The oftener he had the pleasure of hearing it, the more he loved it and the better he liked it. No Latter-day Saint who enjoys the true spirit of God will ever become weary of hearing the life and works of the Savior; will ever tire in hearing them reiterated time and again. These Rocky mountains are inhabited by a people who have been brought together from different lands in fulfilment of prophecies uttered thousands of years ago. God our Heavenly Father is directing this work—a fact that should not be soon forgotten by the people. The prophecy that one of a city and two of a family should be gathered together in the last days was being fulfilled day by day. Thousands of people have gathered into these valleys from European countries, and other parts of the globe, in fulfilment of these prophecies. The Saints that have thus gathered together arise and bear their testimonies to the effect that their conversion to the Church caused their kindred to go against them. But do they regret the action taken by them in embracing the principles of the Gospel? No, they will get up and testify that God has blessed them and they have had more real happiness since they were members of the Church than ever before in their lives. The Prophet Joseph Smith, who did more for humanity than any man who ever lived upon the earth with the exception of Jesus Christ, is scoffed and spurned at by the world at large. They term him an old man, when but a mere boy he suffered martyrdom at the hands of a lawless mob, because he dared say that God had again spoken from the heavens. The same argument that can be brought forth as to the divinity of the mission of Jesus Christ, can be used with equal force as to the divinity of the mission of the Prophet Joseph Smith.

The speaker dwelt forcibly upon the position of the Latter-day Saints, and testified that ere long Zion would arise and shine, put on her garments of glory, and be as a light set upon a hill reflecting its rays over all the world.

Choir and congregation sang:

How firm a foundation, ye saints of the Lord,
Is laid for your faith in His excellent word.

After which the choir sang an anthem and benediction was pronounced by President George Q. Cannon.

From the Southern States.

Elder John C. Lovell of Oak City, Millard county, arrived in this city from the Southern States mission field on Saturday evening. He left home on March 29, 1895, and upon arriving at the mission headquarters, was assigned to labor in the Mississippi conference, his time being spent in the states of Mississippi and Louisiana. Elder Lovell reports the conference in which he labored as being in a flourishing condition. The people are very kind and hospitable, and many souls are being baptized into the Church. In the conference there are at present thirty-four Elders and all are enjoying good health and feel happy in the discharge of their duties. Elder Lovell's health has been quite poor, and it was this account that he was released so soon to return home. He leaves for Millard county tomorrow.

Mining Mention.

A novel earth boring experiment in the Camp Floyd district near Mercur is now talked of. The proposition is to drill a hole from 2,000 to 2,500 feet near Lion hill for the purpose of determining the geological formation of the ground and at the same time ascertain when mineral is paying quantities has been struck. The project is meeting with much favor on the part of Captain DeLamar and other big mining kings. The drilling square will be almost identical with that used in sinking deep wells and the hole will have a diameter of a few inches only.

Mr. A. H. Cohen, manager of the DeLamar property at DeLamar, Nev., has returned from a combined business and pleasure trip to the east. Mr. Cohen purchased a large amount of mill machinery which he says will increase the output of the mine to 100 tons per day, which has been but sixty-five tons heretofore. Mr. Cohen is very much pleased at the present outlook of the company's prospects.

The managers of the Deep West at Park City have experienced serious trouble in securing a sufficient water supply with which to operate the new mill. To overcome this difficulty they have completed a large tank with a capacity for holding 50,000 gallons. The mill is now running regularly and no more trouble is expected from that source.

IDAHO FARMERS INDIGNANT.

Salt Lake Owners of the Hildebaugh Ditch, They Say, Want to Sell for $300,000.

Idaho Mail, Jan. 23: Farmers had a sort of an indignation meeting at Meridian the other evening. It was brought up by several who were patrons of the old Hildebaugh ditch who had received notices from the headquarters in Salt Lake that they could not have any more water than they are now getting from the canal.

One of the farmers says it is thought the company has leased out much more water to parties near Nampa than they can furnish, but at the same time the water that is furnished is not used, and the company makes this the excuse for not furnishing any more.

It is also told that a representative of the Salt Lake stockholders has been among the farmers who wants to sell the ditch and rights for $300,000, and that they will sell or shut off the water.

The fact that several parties near Nampa have contracts for 6,000 and 8,000 inches of water, it seems, is done to make a combine, and the farmers who need the water, and who will this year want more, don't think thousands of inches should be sold so as to flow past real patrons and be given to men who don't use it and can't use it. But no definite steps were taken at the first meeting, and another may be called any day.

Come, Dixie, Here are Veterans.

SPRING CITY, Jan. 25, 1896.

To the Editor:

Seeing that we all have the privilege of competing for the oldest man and the oldest Church member, I started out this morning and found our old and tried friend, Samuel B. Aiken. He was born October 20th, 1800, and was baptized July 18th, 1841. I found him reading the NEWS, however, with glasses. He is usually in good health, and in good weather is frequently seen on the streets, and is on the stand at our sacramental meetings.

I then went to see Reuben W. Allred, sen., and found him in his blacksmith shop. He was born November 18th, 1815 and was baptized September 10th, 1832, and has not apostatized yet, as a man said to me a few years ago. He asked me how long I had been in the Church. I told him I was baptized in the spring of 1833. He said "What, and have not apostatized yet?"

I have not written this for a lanter, but I think our "Dixie" will have to look around again to be in the lead.

Respectfully,
REUBEN N. ALLRED.

DISAPPEARANCE OF L. M. DAY.

Left His Home in Ogden Three Years Ago for California—Relatives Fear He Is Dead.

San Francisco Examiner of Saturday, January 25th: "For several weeks past an investigation has been in progress by numerous people in this county endeavoring to obtain a clue to Leslie Madison Day, formerly of Ogden, Utah. Mr. Day came to California about three years ago with the expectation of speedily preparing a home for his mother and sisters. He was a practical civil engineer, and had also been assistant to the late Mr. Ellis.

"For a year or more Mr. Day was known to numerous acquaintances in both Oakland and San Francisco. Then he mysteriously disappeared from view. Months have now passed, and the young man's whereabouts have not been made known. In response to letters from his anxious relatives, the military records of this county have been unavailingly searched to ascertain if he had died here.

"County Clerk Jordan took an active interest in trying to trace the young man. Such information as he obtained was communicated to Mr. Day's mother. In reply, Mr. Jordan has received a letter from Mr. Day's sister, in which she says:

"As soon as we can we will begin a search in the south, towards, as I presume such are kept by some officials, but we do not feel able to bear this yet.

"Leslie was a graduate in law and also in civil engineering, and stated the last thing he said, as he said good-bye to us from the train, was to be brave and patient, for he would soon have a home for mother and little sister and me, and the separation would not be long.

"It is all very mysterious and dreadful, and nearly broke my poor heart. We heard from him regularly for one year, when he ceased suddenly cease, and we have never heard from him since, except once, before it, when a friend saw him at the Palace hotel, where he was waiting for a few days. The gentleman who saw him did not know we did not hear from him, and did he expect to come to us in Ogden, so he could not tell us more than that."

THE HOLIDAYS IN MEXICO.

How Christmas and Santa Claus Came to Juarez.

COLONIA JUAREZ, MEXICO,
December 21st, 1895.

To the Editor:

The past month has been a very remarkable one for the Mormon mission, now the Juarez Stake of Zion. Surely Zion is growing and opportunities being extended for those whose love righteousness and truth to unveil themselves to the royal family of our Father in heaven, and work the work of righteousness and prepare themselves for the second advent of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. From Canada in the north to Old Mexico in the south are these scattered lambs of the flock of God, whom the much redeemed from the dead of the country known with the peculiar principles of everlasting Gospel. What a joy to live in this age!

We have been enjoying the holiday season and filling our children's hearts with happiness. On Tuesday, the 24th, the children of the Primary association of Juarez gave a very interesting entertainment in the Juarez ward school house, which was filled with an appreciative audience. Brother William Clayton offered prayer, and "The Morning Bird was ably performed on the organ by Sister Maggie Bentley. The curtain rose on a tableau, "The maids keeping house," an excellent one. I was they were wanting, ironing, sweeping, hanging out clothes, peeling potatoes, apples and onions, churning, making bread, etc., representing most everything in housekeeping. Sister Gertrude Stowell recited "Learn to keep house," giving excellent advice to the workers. Then followed a Christmas carol. The singing of the children was excellent, reflecting great credit upon the officers of the association, Sisters Maggie Bentley, Hannah Clayton and Matilda Peterson, whose patient, earnest labors were crowned with success. A large Christmas tree covered with candles and presents filled the back of the stage. The choruses, "Shepherds watching their flocks by night," "Christ is born, the great Anointed," "Listen to the wondrous story," and others, were very well rendered. The appearance of Christmas, represented by Sister Sarah Clayton, with songs, and the introduction of her three dolls, represented by three tots, Tressy Snow, Pearl Romney and Margaretta Bentley, caused much amusement, and the coming of Santa Claus and his distribution of prizes, at roll call, with sentiments, was very satisfactory alike to parents, who rejoiced in the children's happiness, and to the children themselves. It was a joyful occasion. Elder George Teasdale, in behalf of the parents of the children, thanked the officers of the primary association for their faithful labors in producing so interesting and charming an entertainment, affording all so much satisfaction and pleasure. He then pronounced the benediction.

On the 25th, at 10 a. m., there was a gathering of the Saints and another pleasant occasion, our choir and brass band, under the able leadership of Brother J. J. Walser, rendering good help to make the occasion a success. Short addresses, given by a number of the brethren on the day we celebrated, and the advantage of being true disciples of Jesus Christ, rendered it a profitable as well as a joyful gathering. In the afternoon the children enjoyed a social party, and in the evening the adults.

Weather clear and frosty, rainbow hat severe for this climate. Health of the people generally good.

An Old Soldier's Recommendation.

In the late war I was a soldier in the First Maryland Volunteers, Company G. During my term of service I contracted chronic diarrhoea. Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief it would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results followed. I take pleasure in recommending this preparation to all of my old comrades, who, while giving their services to their country, contracted the dreadful disease as I did, from eating unwholesome and uncooked food. Yours truly, A. E. BENNING, Halsey, Oregon. For sale by druggists.

Some time ago Mr. Simon Goldbaum of 320 Lake Ave., N. J., was troubled with a lame back and rheumatism. He used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and a prompt cure was effected. He says he has since recommended it to friends to try it and all who have done so have spoken highly of it. It is for sale by druggists.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of bad colds. It opens the secretions, relieves the lungs and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. If freely used as soon as the cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it greatly lessens the severity of the attack and has often cured in a single day what would have been a severe cold. For sale by druggists.

In this race a man in a yellow suit lost his head and fell, Cornibear and Walker being immediately behind him, the result was a spill for these parties and the race left to Evans. The five mile, class A, was another Rambler event, May taking first, Joe Dock second and McCunahey third. Fourteen prizes in one day is glory enough for any one.
