OVER $20,000 IN— GOLD FOUND

The greatest find in the history of Utah, by which over seven hundred people are made to rejoice, and the end is not yet.

When we look into the past for a few months it seems impossible to dig up this much gold; but on the other hand, when you see how it is done you will not wonder, or be surprised, although times are hard. For the past few months we have only been doing that which we thought low, and have secured (?) those interested the above amount, one of the loss records ever known.

And when we consider that there is now $20,000 to be divided among the people, we can only say to the public, come early and get your share. There will be no partiality shown, as we have made arrangements for plenty of help, who will make it pleasant for you.

Now, the above $20,000 consists of Dry Goods, Notions, Boots, Shoes, Clothing and Gents' Furnishings, Plush Capes and Wraps, which we must get rid of at your own prices. We say once more, and especially to the stockholders, that you cannot afford to miss these great reduced prices without investigating. Sale now on at the

DESERET EVENING NEWS

Tuesday, September 5, 1893.

FRAGMENTS.

It has been almost like another holiday round about the earlier courts today.

DEPUTY SHERIFF CHASE has been appointed deputy internal revenue collector for this district.

PREPARATIONS are being made for a magnificent display of fireworks at Saltair tomorrow night.

THE ever uncertain and always interesting City Council is booked for another high jinks carnival tonight.

JUDGE PARSONS will wind up his holiday at Brighton tomorrow and return to his legal duties like the giant refreshed with wine.

JUDGE BARNES has gone to Denver to hold court, accompanied by U. S. District Attorney Dodge and other officials and lawyers.

A WARRANT issued was served on the person of Sally Allen, charged by Alfred H. Dowdy, aged 23, and Jessie F. Langley, aged 18, both of this city.

ONLY one order was made in the Probate Court this morning, confirming sale of personal property in the estate of the late Solomon G. Kimball, deceased.

THE funeral services over the remains of the late Margaret M. Norton will be held in the Eighth ward meeting house tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A concert will be given in the First Congregational church tomorrow evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. It promises to be a very fine affair. The programme will appear in the morning, the usual hour for organ boys.

THE employees of the Rio Grande Western are still talking over the present complimentary excursion tendered them to Ogden and to join on Saturday last. Superintendent Wesley especially comes in for a large amount of praise.

THE funeral of Hermann W. Batists who died from an overdose of morphine on Sunday last, as mentioned in the NEWS of that date, occurred from the family residence, No. 25 East second south street, yesterday.

THE gambling dens, which have been bringing their victims to the Commercial Point's court, have lost at last discovered an ocean of the generation. The reason was the disappearance of the chief witness.

At the session of the County court this morning, Commissioner Cowley informed Joel H. Allen unofficially most emphatically that his position is now overstocked and that great difficulty is experienced in raising for the excessive number of laborers there.

THE Tabernacle choir, although much smaller than usual, owing to the absence of so many of its members to win laurels in the World's Fair contests, discoursed most beautiful music during the services yesterday under the efficient leadership of Professor C. J. Thomas. The great organ was also manipulated by Miss Ada Beatie, and never before had Salt Lake City been modest about enough to send another string of singers to compete with the choirs of the world.

The Salt Lake Mill and Elevator company was a creditor of McConnel & Co., grocers, who failed at Boise on Saturday, to the amount of $109.18. The total liabilities of the grocery firm were $1,415.44. The assets are valued at $926.25.

STAKE CONFERENCE

Services in connection with the semi-annual Conference of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion were continued in the Tabernacle on Sunday. Elder Angus M. Cannon, President of the Stake, presided at each session.

Morning Session.

Choir and congregation sang the hymn beginning:

Come, come, ye saints, no fear nor doubt be among you,
But with joy wend your way.

Prayer was offered by Bishop Wm. B. Preston.

The choir sang the hymn:

Come, Holy Lord, descend our souls,
By love and love to every heart.

Elder Charles W. Penrose read the following statistical report of the Stake for the six months ending August 31st, 1893: First Presidency, 3; Apostles, 5; Patriarchs, 12; Seventies, 1144; High Priests, 45; Elders, 1078; Priests, 800; Teachers, 1 9; Deacons, 1025; members, 18,555; non-members and members, 24,031; children under eight years, 7819; total of souls, 32,375; baptisms (20); confirmations, 69; ordinations, 3; deaths, 211; children blessed, 319; married, 94; emigrated, 1; removed, 1144; adults, 10; children, 4; from Utah, 23; boys, 6; new members, 125; baptisms, 20; excommunicated, 6; deaths, males, 71; females, 140; total, 211; total tithe-paying capital, 1019.

Elder Penrose also read the list of Seventies and Elders' quorums, Bishop's agency, High Priests' quorum, Elders' quorum, Retired Incumbents association and Primary associations reports.

The offerings and charity records showed results and disbursements for the support of the poor in the different wards during the six months ending June 30, 1893, as follows:

RECEIPTS.

Balance on hand January 1	$ [illegible]
From fast offerings	[illegible]
From other contributions	[illegible]
Received from Bishop's agency, including wards	[illegible]
Total receipts	$[illegible]

DISBURSEMENTS.

Relief society	$[illegible]
Bishop's orders issued for the six months ending June 30, 1893	[illegible]
Contributed and carried into the six months ending December 31, 1893	[illegible]
Total disbursements	$[illegible]

The speaker called attention to the fact that some of the wards and societies had been delinquent in the forwarding of their reports, but he hoped there would be a return in little respect in future. Discharge of wards, he said, should make it a matter of pride to have their reports wards right up to the standard in every particular. He also gave some good counsel to individual members, pointing out the necessity of their being useful wherever possible. This was a day of repentance, and we, as Latter-day Saints, needed to have repentance preached to us and our shortcomings pointed out whether this was palatable to us or not. Latter-day Saints should remain steadfast in their covenants with God, and if any in that congregation had failed to keep those he called upon them now to repent. Let us not neglect our duties, but so live and act that the powers behind the veil might be with us, that we might feel their sacred influence, their great spiritual power, and be the means of accomplishing the work which devolves upon us. The Saints were also admonished to be more particular in regard to the payment of tithing and not to their fast offerings, and to keep holy the Sabbath day. Speaking of the complaints and grumblings which at this time were heard concerning the "hard times," Elder Penrose remarked that, even if the times were hard, we had, nevertheless, a great deal to be thankful for, and, he urged, let us be thankful for what we have and those mercies which the Lord has vouchsafed unto us. The speaker pictured the poverty and privations of the Saints to the early settlement of this Territory and compared those days with the present by way of showing how different was the condition of the Saints now, and how much more cause there was for thankfulness.

The choir sang the hymn:

Jesus, name of heavenly birth,
Name in glory known to earth.

The benediction was pronounced by Elder Wm. Codington.

Afternoon Session.

The choir and congregation sang the hymn commencing:

We think then, O God, for a Prophet,
To guide us in these latter days.

Prayer by Elder William Draper, Fairfield.

The choir sang:

Arise, my soul, arise
Shake off thy guilty fears.

The Priesthood of the Eighth ward administered the Sacrament.

BISHOP WILLIAM D. PRESTON

was the first speaker. He was always glad, he said, to meet with the Saints and was always willing to speak when called upon to do so, though the duties devolving upon him in his position, six days in the week, were mostly of a temporal nature and hardly qualified him to address other subjects. He trusted the remarks made during the conference by other speakers would be well considered by all who heard them. All should perform their duties faithfully. One of these is to look carefully to our surroundings. Reports from all over the world indicate the times are tight. We ought to work our breadth while it is cheap. It is difficult to live our religion if we are hungry. Let us try to obtain a liberal supply of breadstuffs. Many are already calling for assistance in the trouble of summer, something unheard of in this country. The Lord's people should see that work is provided as far as possible. And those out of employment should go into the country and try to obtain work. The speaker had never gone to the country, but he had actually asked for a place where to get in some cords. Those who have a piece of land are the free and independent people. There is ample room. We have seriously commenced to cultivate the ground. Some steps must be taken to avert the calamity of a famine. Clothing and machinery we have enough for five years, if we take care of it therefore it is prudent to provide ourselves with the necessaries of life and cease going into debt.

Brigham Young labored incessantly for the establishment of home manufactories. How has this been used? People will get their supplies from abroad and even run into debt for them. A better plan would be to buy only what we are able to pay for, or go without. A nation that will not do this must suffer for it, and we will individuals. We must practice more than we preach.

ELDER JOSEPH E. TAYLOR

moved that the conference go into the general authorities of the Church, and the authorities of the stake as follows:
