LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

Acquitted.—To-day the case of the People vs. Samuel Saunders, indicted for murder, was tried in the District Court. The jury rendered a verdict of "not guilty."

More Help.—Yesterday, Prest. Geo. Teasdale was in town. He brought with him $220 which had been raised by the good folks of Juab Stake for the Welsh emigration fund. This amount is the result of the labors of the Sunday Schools, band, dramatic company, choirs, Relief Societies, Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement Association, and other commendable institutions. Good for Juab!

Singular.—The Whitehall Review (English) recently made the following statement:

"Dr. Cumming ought to be happy! It appears that at the War Office they were discussing the precise spot where a decisive battle would be fought in the event of all the world being at war, and that they pitched on a coincidence of latitude and longitude which, on an old map, was named 'Armagedon.' Whether an angel marked this ominous geographical expression on the old map is not stated."

Dr. Cumming is a noted expounder of the prophecies of the Bible, and who contends that, as a rule, they will receive a literal fulfilment, that these are the latter times and that the world is approaching a preliminary crisis to precede the second advent of the Saviour. He is the author of a remarkable pamphlet entitled "The Coming Struggle," in which he predicts, on the basis of bible prophecy, a general crash of nations.

The Search for Water.—Yesterday the workmen detailed to open the springs in City Creek Cañon, with a view to increasing the water supply, began operations on the one that rises in the gorge known as Green Bushes, about three and a half miles from the mouth of the cañon. The spring was ditched and a flume placed, to convey the water across the road into the main channel. A considerable stream was here obtained, and the success of the operation strengthened the hopes of Watermaster Hyde that the plan, as a whole, would prove a fruitful one. The laborers are now at work a little above Green Bushes, on other water prospects. It is the design to forward the work energetically this summer, to the forks of the cañon, a distance of about seven miles from the mouth, and in the fall to continue operations in each gorge, prosecuting the enterprise until every water resource in the cañon is made to yield to its utmost capacity.

Artesian Well Machinery.—We understand another move is being made by the city in the matter of obtaining artesian wells. The Mayor, and the special committee appointed to aid him in the matter, have entered into an arrangement with Mr. Pierce, of California, now in the city, to manufacture the necessary boring machinery at the railroad shops.

Mr. Pierce, who is thoroughly acquainted with the artesian well business, from the manufacture of the tools to the boring process, will have a number of blacksmiths to help him with the preliminary work. It is estimated that the machinery can be manufactured here as cheaply as it could be imported from the east, leaving the advantage of supplying home labor in favor of its being made at home.

In the preparing of the machinery, calculations will be made for sinking 1,500 feet below the point where bed rock will be found, or at least that distance below the point now reached by the preliminary shaft.

Logan Temple Quarry.—We are in receipt of a communication from Brother A. P. Welchman, who writes from the quarry in Green Cañon, Cache County, about five miles east from Logan, under date of July 1st.

There were three faces opened in the quarry, the principle one presenting a surface of 50 x 100 feet, with a slope of 45 degrees. It was located in a small side cañon, leading northward from the main road, while the other two open in Green Cañon proper; about three-quarters of a mile intervening between the extreme faces.

About 20 tons of rock was leaving the quarry daily.

Considerable work had been necessary to make the rock a possible to teams, and to fit up the place with a hotel, and other conveniences for the use and comfort of the laborers. The whole was under the supervision of Brother Ralph P. Smith, who was much esteemed by his fellow-workmen, for his good sense and ability as a superintendent.

Order and decorum were strictly observed, the men all rising at 6 o'clock a.m., attending prayers at half-past 6, and going to work at 7. At 8 p.m., the call to prayers was again sounded, and 9 o'clock was bed-time. General meetings were held on Thursday evenings.

Plenty of good reading matter was available, including the Holy Bible, Journal of Discourse, and the semi-weekly DESERET NEWS.

No whisky, and but very little tobacco was used, profane language was strictly discountenanced, a good spirit prevailed generally, and the moral status of the place and its inhabitants furnished a good example for other communities to emulate.

Delegates should receive credentials, properly authenticated by the chairman and secretary of the meeting electing them. The several precincts in their primary meetings should nominate candidates for precinct officers, and report the same to the convention.

Leading citizens in the several precincts are respectfully requested to take the initiative in carrying into effect these suggestions relative to the primary meetings, that the voters may be properly notified of the time and place of holding the same, and that the rights of the voters of the people's ticket be secured from interference on the part of persons voting opposition tickets, so that a full delegation of men representing the best interests of the people may be secured to attend the coming convention.

Secretary.

A SCATHING REBUKE.

THE RESIGNATION OF L. A. BETHUNE DEMANDED.

Editors Deseret News:

The following is a copy of a petition forwarded to L. Bethune, which explains itself. The people of this precinct, without an honorable exception, have demanded that he resign the office which he not only failed to satisfactorily fill, but has disgraced and poluted, and he stands to-day convicted and awaiting sentence for violation of the laws he is sworn to maintain:

STOCKTON, U. T.,
June 10th, 1878.

To Lawrence Bethune, Esq.,

SIR—We the undersigned, citizens of Stockton Precinct, Tooele County, Utah, hereby request you to resign the public offices which you now hold, to wit: Justice of the Peace for Stockton Precinct, and County Superintendent of Public Schools for Tooele County.

The duties of the first of which offices you have most criminally neglected, and the other performed in a manner to call forth our most unqualified condemnation.

That your official acts, as well as personal conduct and deportment, have been and are such as to deserve contempt and bring ridicule and distrust upon the community that tolerates you;

We therefore demand that you vacate those offices to which you were in whole or in part elevated by our suffrage, that we may endeavor to have the same more acceptably filled at the coming election.

(Signed)

D. M. Chandler, James De Courcy, Philip White, Jas. G. Brown, E. C. Chase, Louis Germer, John Paxton, E. L. Sherman, A. McIntire, George Denton, P. H. Needer, Alex. Muirbrook, A. Hite, Lucian Livingston, Wm. Fuller, Chris. Madsen, —— Stover, and 87 others.

Robbery.—Yesterday afternoon, the Utah Southern train, bound for this city, was delayed three hours at Pleasant Grove, on account of its engine running off the track. While the railroad employees and the main body of the passengers, were ahead assisting to replace the engine, the sum of $280 was abstracted from a package of $50's, paper currency, the property of the U. S. R. R. Company, in the desk of the conductor, Mr. R. C. Badger, who, in his anxiety to hasten the righting of the train, had left the key in the lock of his desk. Mr. Badger, on returning to the baggage car, perceived that the package had been tampered with and a portion of the money stolen. Suspicion rested upon a passenger, who appeared to be asleep, in the smoking car, the only person who remained behind while the engine was being replaced, and on arriving at the depot in this city he was arrested by the police, who had been notified by telegraph of the occurrence.

At the City Hall he was searched and over $600 found on his person, but no positive proof was obtained that any of this was a part of that stolen from the conductor. Active steps have been taken to ascertain the numbers and denominations of the missing currency, and identify it with that found in possession of the prisoner. He boarded the train at York, having come by stage from Beaver to that place. While on the stage coach he was heard to ask if it was ever robbed nowadays, if there was much money aboard, etc., and expressed the hope that a robbery would not occur while he was on it.

A preliminary examination was held before Justice Fyper, yesterday at which the prisoner gave the name of William Hynes and stated that he was from Leeds, Scottsville, Utah. His bonds were fixed at $720. A further examination is to be held at 5 o'clock this evening.

Arrived.—Elder William Atherton has arrived from Oakland, California. He is one of the company that sailed in the ship Brooklyn, around Cape Horn, in the year 1846. He intends making this city his permanent home.
