THEATRE.—Last night "East and West" was performed in a manner equal to that of previous evenings, with the exception of a hitch in the railroad trestle scene, caused by the unexplained non-appearance of Miss Voeller on the elevated track.

This truly sensational drama will be presented again this evening, being the last but one. It furnishes abundance of interesting movement and busy business, with a number of exciting and even startling incidents, which are well worked up, and the accessories are well put on the stage. Mr. Bates as "Mountain Jim" plays his part admirably; Miss Walters is a perfect screecher of a "Yankee girl," with her Yankee counterpart in Mr. Harris; Miss Voeller as "Ella Tierney" plays with credit, and with as little overdoing as in any character in which we have seen her; Mrs. Bowring makes an effective "Judith Wolff;" Mr. Marden plays with his usual carefulness and meatness; and Messrs. Dudley, Thompson and Paul sustain their parts satisfactorily.

Next week is announced a grand stereoptic exhibition of the scenery of the grand canons of the Colorado, and of other portions of that remarkable region.

RAINFALL.—Somewhat unexpectedly, but not altogether so, last evening a long and much of the time heavy rain fell, washing the remaining foliage, thoroughly laying the dust, soaking the soil a few inches deep, cooling the air, settling the roads and creating a little mud. This morning was a really delicious one, smiling and invigorating.

Formerly a week's clouds and threatenings were usual before a storm broke upon this valley, but not so now, as a day's warning is about as much as may be expected, and all that we had this time. The rain falls easier than it was wont in earlier times, making the weather somewhat less reliable.

BRAINARD'S MUSICAL WORLD for October appears in a new dress, presenting a handsome appearance, with a beautiful tinted cover, giving four pages more of reading matter. The contents of this number consist of selected miscellany, editorials, reviews of musical matters, and new music. A hundred valuable premiums, consisting of books, music, plated ware, chromos, violins, guitars, pianos, and organs are offered for new subscribers. Only a dollar a year. S. Brainard's Sons, publishers, Cleveland, Ohio.

SCIENCE PRIMERS.—From Mr. James Dwyer's book store, on East Temple Street, where they are now on sale, we have received Nos. 2 and three of the Science Primers, the international series, edited by Professors Huxley, Roscoe and Balfour Stewart, and published by the Messrs. Appleton of New York. No. 2 is devoted to chemistry—the chemistry of "Earth, Air, Fire and Water," the nature and philosophy of which it explains in simple language and by means of numerous beautiful experiments, admirably adapted to the capacity of young learners. No. 3 is devoted to Physics, and is equally admirable in style with No. 2 These volumes are devoid of the dry technicalities which scientific classbooks usually contain and are written in a highly entertaining style. They are a delightful introduction to the thorough study of the subjects upon which they treat, and we think they will become the most popular series of science primers ever offered to the public. The editors, all eminent scientists, have evidentally endeavored to do all in their power to make the truths of natural philosophy easy to comprehend by the masses, and in these two numbers they have admirably succeeded. The Messrs. Appleton deserve well of the public for publishing such a series of useful little works, and it is to be hoped their enterprise will reap the reward it deserves. The primers each contain one hundred pages; they are printed in plain clear type, contain many explanatory illustrations, are bound in neat cloth boards, and are sold at fifty cents each.

IMPROVEMENTS.—During the late splendid weather, improvements have been going on at a rapid rate in various parts of the city. Much of the building is of a kind not the most substantial, but other of it is really solid and durable. Among the largest and most imposing private residences now being erected is one by B. M. Du Rell, Esq., president of the Salt Lake National Bank, upon the lot recently owned by J. W. Haskins, Esq., at the intersection of East Temple and Fifth East Streets. The house consists of a basement of dressed sandstone and two to three storeys, the latter to be faced with red wood. This is a very eligible site and when the residence and appurtenances are completed it will add greatly to the appearance of that part of the city.

OGDEN.—Hon. F. D. Richards called to-day, and from him we learned the following: The brickwork of the new Court House at Ogden, is finished to-day; work on the roof will be proceeded with immediately, the materials being prepared ready to push ahead. The outside of the new City Hall is just about completed, and the finishing of the inside is going on rapidly. Improvements—building dwelling houses, &c.—are more numerous and going on more rapidly at present in Ogden, than for two years past. The business of the Utah Central road is increasing so much there that they have been obliged to put a thousand feet additional standing room at the depot. The Ogden Seminary, under Professor Monch, now on the first quarter, is flourishing so well that additional room is required to accommodate the pupils. It rained gently at Ogden all yesterday afternoon and heavily last night.

LAND PATENTS.—The following has been furnished us for publication—

"Patent issued on military Bounty Land Warrant No. 101,595, in favor of Enmund Ellsworth has been received at the Land Office and is ready for delivery on surrender of receipt."

"SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY."—The new volume of this beautiful popular magazine will commence in November, and, from the prospectus forwarded by the publisher, it will be even more deserving of public patronage than heretofore. The following are among the promised attractions: A serial story by the editor, Dr. Holland, to commence in the November number, entitled Arthur Bonnicastle, which will deal with some of the most difficult problems of American life. New stories by Saxe Holm and Bret Harte. R. H. Stoddard will write a series of entertaining papers about Authors, their Personal Characteristics, Home Life, Families, Friends, Whims and Ways. A series of Portraits of Living American Writers is also promised.

Clarence Cook will write about furniture and the decoration of American homes.

Hans Anderson, Bryant, Bushnell, Eggleston, Froude, Higginson, Bishop Huntington, John Hay, H. H. Macdonald, Mitchell, Miss Phelps, Stedman, Stockton, Celia Thaxter, Warner, Wilkinson, Mrs. Whitney, and a host of others will also contribute to its pages.

Dr. Holland will continue his "Topics of the Time."

Watson Gilder will write "The Old Cabinet," as hitherto. Prof. John C. Draper will conduct the Department of "Nature and Science." The Departments of "Home and Society" and "Culture and Progress," will engage the contributions of more than a score of pens on both sides of the Atlantic.

The subscription price is $4.00 a year, with special rates to clergymen, teachers and post-masters.

OGDEN ITEMS.—From the Junction—

E. DeWitt Farr, so self-styled, was arrested Oct. 23, by Officer Joseph Parry, for obtaining money on false pretences.

Maggie Peterson, a nine year old daughter of H. D. Peterson, at west Weber, while playing, fell into a hole in the yard. Limb set by Dr. P. L. Anderson. Girl doing favorably.

Land jumping disputes, Voss and McLane parties in one case, T. P. Walker and William Sewell in another.

"Crowds of Indians—bucks, squaws and papooses, with ponies and plugs, have been swarming into town yesterday and to-day. Taken altogether the reds number about 1,000. Some of them are painted, beaded and brass mounted, others appear in their native ugliness and accumulated dirt. They are all merry, however, for they are receiving their annuities. Sagwitch and several other chiefs are with them, and they are waited on by Agent T. J. Bosworth and "Inka-Pompey" (George Hill), who are supplying the Indians with blankets, shirts, coats, hats, flannel, shawls, neckerchiefs, combs, knives, frying pans and other cooking utensils, tobacco, thread, etc., with no sparing hand. The gifts appear to be of excellent quality and the Indians seem hugely delighted. Mr. Bosworth and his clerk, with Mr. "Inka-Pompy," have had two days' hard work in measuring off the stuff and dealing out the proper amount according to the number in each family. Every buck steps forward, in his turn, without crowding, quarrelling or cursing, as poor whites would do under similar circumstances, and tells how many squaws and papooses he has, receives his quantum, rolls it up in a blanket and puts off with a broad grin and a grunt of satisfaction. This is a good work of Uncle Sam's, and we are glad to see the agent dealing out such good supplies in such a fair and equitable manner."

RECEIVED.—"Lippincott's Magazine" for November. Among the most interesting articles are "From the Field to the Fireside," an illustrated description of the manufacture of straw paper; "The London Season," a sketch of aristocratic society in the world's metropolis; "Torpedos," facts concerning their history and use; "Sketches of Southern Life;" "A Mission to Costa Rica;" "Minor Shores" etc.

"The Farm and Fireside Journal," for October. "Devoted to the culture of the soil and the culture of the mind." Well printed on good tinted paper.

"Revue de la Mode, Gazette de la Famille," Full of ladies' fashion literature and illustrations, with colored plate and pattern sheet.

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

CHICAGO, 25.—In the Supreme Court yesterday, Judge Mary rendered a decision in the case of the Lydon vs. Lyndon, in which [complainant, the young daughter of a prominent wealthy citizen, who recently married her father's coachman, sued for a divorce on the ground of being deceived into marriage. The court denied the decree, and the plaintiff took an appeal to the supreme court.

NEW YORK, 25.—The horse disease has now spread to every stable in the city and symptoms are visible on almost every horse in the streets. The stage street car lines continue to lessen their trips. At 8 o'clock last night there was not on Broadway a stage between the Battery and the City Hall. This morning that thoroughfare seems almost without vehicles. Altogether it is calculated that about eighteen thousand horses are affected. The animals attacked before yesterday generally exhibited worse features, and it becomes evident that dating cases from Monday and Tuesday the crisis is not yet reached. The disease appears from reports to run about five days, culminating on the third and nearly disappearing on the fifth. Not many deaths are reported, but it is known that the same epidemic has spread to Westchester, Staten Island and New Jersey. The trotting stock in the city has not escaped. Dan Mace's horses are nearly all afflicted. The celebrated Dangie team, Darkness and Plimpton, that trotted at Prospect Park the other day with Ethan Allen and Geo. Wilkes, are being treated. A valuable Ethan Allen colt, worth twelve thousand, is also in the doctor's hands. A number of other well known trotters—Stonewall Jackson, Kirkwood, Lady Wheeler, Jules Jurgensen, and Capt. Jinks, are also afflicted in a mild form.

The illness of John A. Griswold, of Troy, is not as dangerous as reported.

Tom Fields is said to have gone to Havana or West Indies, where the extradition treaty don't cover the charges against him.

A Washington dispatch says the attention of the State Department has been called to the abuse constantly persisted in on the part of petty German states in transporting their pardoned murderers and highway robbers to this country. It is urged that the Secretary should intervene to promptly arrest this practice.

CHICAGO, 25.—The question of enforcing the Sunday liquor law is absorbing the attention of both friends and opponents of the ordinance. Large meetings were held last night by both parties. The Germans, representing the main opposition, passed resolutions requesting the Mayor to suspend the enforcement of the ordinance till the new city council is elected, pledging themselves to vote for no candidate for State, county, or city officers [who is not known to be opposed to the temperance laws. The temperance people have announced their determination to put a strict temperance ticket in the field for members of the Legislature.

NEW YORK, 25.—Tweed says emphatically that he now intends to fight his case through to a conclusion. He remarked to a reporter,

"I am compelled, in going to trial, to bear the offenses of every other man charged with the same offenses. The prosecution has boasted that if they can convict me, it will be easy work to convict Hugh Smith, Connolly, James M. Sweeney and others. I suppose it will, if they can catch any of them. The others I know well enough that if I am not convicted they will never be prosecuted, and so I have not only all their sins to bear, but all their expenses to pay. Why don't the newspapers say something of the others?"

Tweed's trial will probably not occur until next year.

Thurlow Weed wrote in 1870 a very lengthy letter to Hon. Thomas C. Acton, reviewing Greeley's political career. The latter is now published for the first time. It reviews especially Greeley's sentiments and actions during the war, and says, "When the war commenced Greeley arrogantly assumed the right to dictate a policy for the administration and to command the army.

Long before the President and the Secretary of War or the commander-in-chief of the army deemed it prudent to make a forward movement, Greeley issued and reiterated in the Tribune his well remembered and ominous order of "On to Richmond," and such was its power over the minds of an impulsive people and an impatient Congress, that, wholly unprepared as we were, our army was prematurely forced on to disastrous defeat. For that cruel slaughter of our undisciplined troops, and for that humiliation of our government and people, Greeley, in a remorseful movement, confessed himself greatly to blame. Subsequently during the darkest days of the rebellion and especially when our armies were defeated or at bay, the Tribune either growled for peace or teemed with denunciations against the President or army commanders. During the progress of the war none were more jubilant over our successes than Greeley, but when reverses came his croaking voice was heard in shrill, discordant demands for peace."

ST. LOUIS, 25.—A few cases of the horse disease have appeared here; preventive measures are being taken.

ROCHESTER, 25.—The horse disease is much worse than yesterday; less to business very great. The equal horses appear to have the disease in a milder form than the others.

NEW YORK.—Mayor Hall's trial in progressing.

LEWISTON.—Several hundred horses are sick here.

PARIS, 25.—Thiers has forbidden the sale of caricatures of the Emperor Napoleon and his family.
