ARMY AND MILITIA.

Officers of the National Guard Looking Over the "Battle" Ground.

GEN. PENROSE'S INSTRUCTIONS.

Captain Morrison to Be Examined—Old Army Rifles for Sale—Indians on the War Path.

Public interest in the field exercises announced to take place at Fort Douglas on Wednesday afternoon next with the local National Guard companies and United States regulars as joint participants is increasing with a rapidity and to a manner that is almost remarkable. All indications point to a large attendance of citizens to witness the most unique military contest in the history of the Territory.

This afternoon General Ottinger, Captain John Q. Cannon and Captain Gibbs of the National Guard visited Fort Douglas at the suggestion of General Penrose to look over the grounds on which the exercises are to take place as the militia companies are in entire ignorance concerning them.

According to a communication received this morning by Adj. Gen. Ottinger the following assignment of the troops of the National Guard has been made by General Penrose, the troops to report to the respective commanders promptly at 1 p. m.:

Companies A, B and C, infantry, Battery A, and one-half of Troop C, to Captain Richards on the upper parade ground.

One half of Troop C to Captain Palmer on the road at the east end of Mt. Olivet cemetery.

The troops are to be provided with forty rounds of blank cartridges per man, and the battery with forty rounds to the caisson.

Gen. Penrose also requests that Lieut. Lassiter, of the Sixteenth infantry, be placed in immediate command of the troops of the N. G. U., to the end that they may receive proper instructions during the exercises.

General Penrose last evening issued an official document containing the following information and instructions:

FORT DOUGLAS, Utah,
November 18th, 1894.

It is intended on Wednesday next, the weather permitting, to have field exercises in which the National Guard of Utah will participate.

The ground to be operated over will extend from Mt. Olivet cemetery following the military reservation line to Pepperpot Point.

While these lines it will be necessary to exclude the people, but knowing the interest that will be taken and that the citizens will desire to be present, it is proper for me to say that all along the line pole and the side of the mountain back of them will be the best point of observation. As the Post will be the objective point it will be necessary to prevent spectators from coming past it. The cut companies will be requested from 2 o'clock p.m. until the exercises are over to stop the cars at Pepperpot Place and Mt. Olivet. The accompanying diagram will show the ground to be occupied by the troops and visitors.

CAPTAIN MORRISON THE MAN.

Under the double caption, "Retiring Board Ordered. Captain Morrison, of Fort Douglas Will Be Examined Here," the Denver News of Saturday says: "Orders have been issued from Washington for the appearance of Captain T. W. Morrison of the Sixteenth infantry before the retiring board at the headquarters of the department of the Columbia. Captain Morrison is located at Fort Douglas, Utah, with his regiment. It is said that the captain's health has been such that his retirement is recommended. The captain served in the civil war from Indiana and has been continuously in army service since 1861."

TO SELL OLD ARMY GUNS.

It is reported that the secretary of war has decided that a limited number of the old army guns may be disposed of to officers and soldiers of the army. The guns may be purchased for target purposes only and only three guns may be in the possession of any one company. Under no circumstances are the guns to be allowed to go into possession of any person not connected with the military arm of the government and sale is to be permitted only in regions where large game exists.

HOSTILE INDIANS.

General McCook on Friday last received a telegram at Denver from New Mexico, calling for two troops of cavalry to protect a friendly tribe of Indians from hostile marauders of the Apaches or Mogui Indians. The dispatch came from Captain Wilkins, acting Indian agent. An order was issued by General McCook directing two troops of cavalry to proceed to the scene of disturbance from Fort Wingate. The distance across the mountains is about 125 miles, and it will require five or six days for the journey to be completed. A Hotchkiss gun will be carried by the troops.

The dispatch reads as follows:

Hostile Apaches have taken planed fields of Canadian at Mesquite and threaten to take their fields at Ojo Oso. Can you send me the companies with Hotchkiss guns to bring them to their senses? Weather is now favorable and prompt action is desired. Particulars by mail. WILLIAMS Captain.

General McCook, says the Denver News, does not look upon the outbreak as involving any serious consequence. "All trouble will subside as soon as the troops appear," says he in expressing his opinion of the situation. The officers at army headquarters look upon the march of the troops as a circuit that will be highly beneficial to the men.

Conjoint Session.

The Mutual Improvement associations of the Second ward will hold a conjoint session tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. An interesting program is prepared. The public are cordially invited to attend.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Elder Brigham Young and President George Q. Cannon Speak at the Tabernacle.

Religious services of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints were held in the Tabernacle yesterday (Sunday) afternoon, November 18, 1894, beginning at 2 o'clock, Elder Angus M. Cannon, President of the Stake presiding.

The choir sang the hymn commencing:

We've assembled to join the Lord
And hear what our God shall say
We come to worship at His word
And know what we must do and pray.

Prayer was offered by Elder Henry P. Roberts.

The choir then sang:

O, my Father, Thou art dwelling
In the lofty place of peace,
Where Thou reigest in the splendor
And in glory without end?

Elder Brigham Young first addressed the congregation. He spoke in substance as follows: He realized that while in the midst of life we were in the midst of death. Not many days ago he did not believe that he would be able to address the Latter-day Saints for several weeks to come. But he took great pleasure in saying that he had so far recovered as to stand before the people and bear his testimony of the goodness of God. The Lord has spared many a thousand people and now their rest were laid and then in these mountains. He did not believe in years that were past that he would live to see the remarkable prosperity that now prevailed among the people. The speaker referred to the great civil strife between the North and South and the prediction made by the Prophet Joseph Smith concerning it. He often wondered how much faith the preachers in the world had in the Lord Jesus Christ when they were always crying repentance among their fellow men. As he had heard these sermons in the large cities he had not been impressed that they were possessors of a very great degree of belief in their Divine Master. The character of men who did was evidence of the faith they had. As to what was necessary to obtain eternal life the speaker referred the congregation in the answer of the Savior to the young man who propounded that query to him. The word of the Lord to His children in this day was that they should keep His commandments. The Word of Wisdom could not be observed by simply refraining from the use of tea, coffee, tobacco and intoxicating liquors. Much more was included in it, and a full and strict compliance with its requirements meant that the destroying angel would pass us by. The speaker exhorted the people to live their religion as God has designed they should that they might obtain the blessings that were in store for them.

PRESIDENT GEORGE Q. CANNON.

President George Q. Cannon was the next speaker. His remarks were mainly on the subject of gathering, necessity of love and union among the people, of personal purity, standard moral purpose and honesty of motive in every sphere and walk in life.

The choir sang the anthem:

Redemption.

The benediction was pronounced by Elder C. W. Penrose.

LAID TO REST.

General Services Yesterday Over the Remains of the late Elder Heber Nicholson.

There was a large attendance of sympathizing friends at the funeral of the late Elder Heber Nicholson, which was held at the residence, No. 322 west, North Temple street, on Sunday, commencing at 12 o'clock, noon. Bishop Orson F. Whitney conducted the services. After singing, the opening prayer was offered by Elder George Romney, Bishop of the Twentieth ward. The speakers on the occasion were Elders Robert Patrick, Charles W. Penrose and George Teasdale, and President Joseph F. Smith. The remarks made were of a consolatory and instructive character, dwelling upon the exemplary conduct of the deceased, who had been called to the spirit world just as he was merging into manhood, and upon the assurances and testimony in the Gospel of Christ regarding the resurrection from death, and the reunion in the family relationship in immortality; suggestions were offered also as to the advisability of the community generally taking a decided stand against that class of games and sports among young people which rendered them liable to accident and injury. The closing prayer was offered by President Lorenzo Snow.

At the close of the services the remains of the deceased were conveyed to the city cemetery, followed by a long cortege. There the body of young Brother Nicholson was laid to rest, the dedicatory prayer being offered by Bishop Whitney.

Elder John Nicholson and family desire to express through the News their deep gratitude to the many friends whose kindly feelings have been manifested lately during the illness and in connection with the demise of the beloved son and brother, whose career in mortality has drawn to a close.

Caught Peter at Last.

The police for a considerable period past have kept their weather eye on the alleged Peter Sutherland, whose true name is Anderson. His place of business is at 10 Commercial street. Yesterday Peter was caught napping and his disguise cost him his liberty. Peter is a good deal of nervousness and notoriety and will in all probability divulge the facts part of his deal. He was arrested on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday and the following inspectors of his goods were collected to be witnesses: O. H. Pickett, Jacob Jacobson, John Olsen, John Skaggs and John Doe. All but Doe were released on a proper guarantee. He was obliged to pass the night behind the dark, damp walls of the city jail.

During the latter part of the day the police officers on the State street beat of Jones O'Reilly and compelled that individual to accompany them to headquarters where he was locked on the same charge as Peter Peter. Both cases went over until this afternoon.
