THE EVENING NEWS.

GEORGE Q. CANNON,
EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

Thursday, - - November 23, 1871.

THE unusual press of matter in our columns to-day excludes several editorial articles which we had intended to present. But other days are waiting to offer further opportunities.

LET HIM BE PUT UPON TRIAL.

Polygamy is not en regle. Its practice does not accord with the civilization of the age. Polygamy and radicalism are twin relics of barbarism. The first mentioned twin, very singularly, is a good deal older than its brother. Polygamy was practiced by the Patriarchs, and, according to the modern idea, was an entirely innocuous practice, especially among patriarchs. We don't believe that even a young man has need of two or more wives; at any rate the world has more than maintained its quota of population, and secured a fair share of rational happiness to men and women without its practice. We agree with the sentiment of the age that polygamy is condemned by Christianity, and is inconsistent with an advanced order of civilization. We do not desire that it shall be practiced in Utah, or that Theodore Tilton's method of marriage on trial shall be adopted there or anywhere else. This condemnation of polygamy and the whole brood of kindred vices we desire to make as explicit as our command of plain English will enable us to do.

When we have said thus much we feel at liberty to add that there is something else to be done in the preservation of a high grade of civilization besides rooting out the Latter-day Saints. The administration of justice in accordance with the forms of law is equally essential to the preservation of the country, with the destruction of polygamy. Hence, when a Saint of the Utah stripe is put upon his trial for being too much wived, we don't believe that Mr. Justice McKean, sitting as a court, and under the obligation of an oath to be a just and impartial judge, should put himself in the place of the prosecutor and harangue the jury into a conviction by answering in hustings style the arguments of the defendant's counsel. That is precisely what Mr. Justice McKean, of Utah, has done, unless he is greatly belied. In his ambition to be the leading crusader against an admitted wrong, he commits a crime so great as to dwarf the dimensions of the social evil he wars against. The judicial ermine should be spotless; the judge on the bench should hold the scales of justice as evenly as the bronze impersonations of the Goddess of Justice. The power for good of all the machinery for the administration of law is lost when the judge allows himself to become the partisan of either side. McKean is accused of this, and his crime appears patent to the eyes of the world. Let him be put on trial before the great bar of public opinion, and may he receive that impartial justice which he denies to others.—Pueblo (Colorado) People.

THE POLYGAMY PROBLEM.

We have received and published several letters from Salt Lake, combatting our views on the action of Judge McKean respecting the Hawkins case. All our correspondents admit that if our view is right, then McKean is wrong, but they undertake to dispute the accuracy of our position. We are not apologists for polygamy in any sense, but we are staunch sticklers for justice, and we have held that in the Hawkins case justice was not administered. We see no reason to alter our opinion in that regard, nor does the reference to Justice Marshall at all weaken our convictions. Nothing can be more certain than that in framing a law providing penalties for adultery, the Mormons did not intend to prohibit or to punish polygamy. It is not even pretended that any such intent existed, but a parcel of shallow-pated fellows and prejudiced scribblers (we do not allude to our own correspondents) appear to think that the United States Government has done a very smart thing in turning the table upon the Saints. We cannot join in this opinion. To us it appears that the honor and dignity of the Federal Government have been dragged in the dirt by Judge McKean, who has disgraced the Administration by saddling it with an action worthy only of some small, conscienceless peddlar. It was the duty of the Government to attack polygamy, but it should have been done in a manly and equitable fashion. This pettifogging way of splitting straws and balancing motives is more befitting some little shyster-ridden Justice's Court, than the great machinery of the Federal Government, and we, speaking in behalf of every clear-sighted and honest man in the country, denounce and reprove it as an insult and a reproach to the American people.—Sacramento Record.

THE Omaha Herald is still after that virtuous ring—

Geo. Alfred Townsend says, in one of the ablest of his letters on the Mormon question to the Cincinnati Commercial, that he is not writing for the benefit of "the small fry."

George Alfred Townsend makes a strong point against the Federal persecutions of the Mormon people when he says that the Government has always recognized the chief of the polygamists as an equal and has often treated him with distinction. It now hunts him down with a pack of political hounds as a criminal. The Herald made the same point weeks ago and fortified it with the fact that for twenty-two years the Federal authority has not merely tolerated the religious system and practices of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young. It has fostered them. * * * If the present virtuous spasm against the Mormon institutions and people were not a known political raid for power and plunder, it would be hard to account for it.

Afternoon Dispatches.

WASHINGTON.

Presentation of Grand Duke Alexis to President Grant.

WASHINGTON, 23.—Large crowds were around the Presidential mansion at noon to see the Grand Duke. He arrived at one o'clock and was heartily cheered as he alighted. All the members of the Cabinet were present in the blue parlor, and Minister Catacazy presented the Prince to the President who greeted him cordially. The Prince responded.

NEW YORK.

Reported Object of Alexis' Visit—No Anti-Grant Party.

NEW YORK, 23.—A dispatch from Washington to the Herald says that reliable information of the real object of the visit of Grand Duke Alexis to the United States, reports that he is charged with a mission of an important and delicate character to our government, being nothing less than a proposal for an alliance offensive and defensive between the two nations. A European war is apprehended, and Russia believes that with the active aid of the United States, or assisted by an extensive privateering fleet under Russian letters of marque she could defy all Europe.

The N. Y. Herald has personal information from Ben. Butler, Henry Wilson and Thurlow Weed that they know nothing of the formation of an anti-Grant party. Wilson does not believe Sumner is engaged in such a movement.

NEW YORK.—W. Field, the senior member of the firm of W. Field & Co., Boston, whose books have been seized on suspicion of the fraud involving of imported goods, is said to be the richest man in New England. The firm have some sixty vessels afloat. The amount involved is $40,000. The alleged frauds were perpetrated in collusion with the weighers.

There are rumors that the voucher thieves will turn State Evidence, and reveal the names of those instigating the frauds.

The excitement in regard to the failures of the Savings Banks is quieted down. All the banks that failed had loaned deposits from the poor.

The National Savings, though now paying up, will soon cease business.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Revelations of Ku-Klux—What Carpet-baggers have done for N.C.

A Raleigh dispatch says that nearly two hundred Ku Klux will be tried at the term of court on the 27th inst. All confess, and many are making conflicting and ridiculous statements. A more motley set could scarcely be found. One of them swears he was sworn into the order by a Methodist preacher, who informed him that Plato Dunham, the defeated candidate for Congress, was the chief, and Josiah Turner, the editor of the Raleigh Sentinel was Grand Chief of N. C., and Wade Hampton was Grand Chief of the U. S., N. B. Forest was Grand Cyclops for the Southern States, and Frank Blair Grand Cyclops for the U. S. It will be claimed at court that the order is purely political.

The Governor's message, which was sent yesterday, shows a debt of about thirty-four millions, eight hundred thousand. The people are unable to pay the interest on this sum. The message was read and a resolution was offered in the House, and referred, reciting that as the debt was created by strangers, elected under bayonets, who voted moneys to railroads and otherwise embezzled the funds of the State, a provision should therefore be made for repudiating the entire State debt.

Alexis, like a dutiful son, dispatched to his father at St. Petersburg, and his mother at the Crimea, a telegram to the effect that "The entry was cordial and magnificent, reception parade of militia, general holiday in the city, he left New York for Washington yesterday morning, accompanied by his suite and Minister Catacazy and Vice-Admiral Rowan and Lieut. Com. Robeson. At Baltimore and other places hundreds cheered him which he gracefully acknowledged from the platform.

A naval ball to him will occur on the night of the 28th, at New York.

The Grand Duke was not recognized in his citizen's dress by large crowds at the depot at Washing on until he reached the front of the building and then only by a few. He was driven to Catacazy's house, he being the only one of the party entertained by the Russian minister. Secretary Fish was called upon by minister Catacazy and officially informed of the arrival of the Grand Duke. He would probably be presented to the President at half past one today. A number of foreign ministers have called to pay their respects to the Grand Duke.

WESTERN DISPATCHES.

SAN FRANCISCO, 24.—Hon. A P. R. Safford, Governor of Arizona, publishes an exhaustive review of the Apache question in the Alta this morning. He warmly endorses General Crook's policy of uniting the friendly Indians against the Apaches. He says the robbed and plundered citizens of this Territory are sick and tired of war, and earnestly desire that the flow of blood shall stop. Had General Cook gone on with his plans it would have been but a few months before the entire tribes would have sued for peace upon terms that would have insured the safety of the lives and property of the citizens of this Territory. Any other kind of peace is a monstrous crime against this people who are taxed to feed and clothe the Indians. One year ago last May I visited the Apaches being fed at Camps Goodwin and Apache; their chief expressed a desire for peace, and I hoped their professions were sincere, but I have found that more or less of these Indians were engaged in war depredations, after which they would return again to their posts for rest, food and protection. Such attempts to settle the Apache question upon the terms of humanity, instead of resulting in peace to the country and security to the citizens, the more the Indians have been fed and protected at the posts, the greater has been the destruction of life and property. Such has been our experience with the Apache Indians, and such has been the experience of the Catholic Fathers, who, for over a century, have tried every experiment to extend the olive branch of peace, and save in one instance have invariably been rewarded by treachery and fiendish outrages. He denounces Collyer for dodging through the country, refusing to see or hold communication with the white settlers, and treating with contempt all advances from them. He says he made no peace, but only bribed a few unrepentant Indians with presents to go on reservations for a few days, and draw rations and clothing and go away on the war path again. He says it would be cheaper for the government to board the whole Apache nation at a first class hotel than follow such a policy, when Arizona with proper protection would, within five years, produce twenty millions of gold and silver annually. He gives a long list of murders and outrages committed by the Apaches since Collyer's visit. The plunder of murdered citizens has been recovered from the Indians on reservations.

The Alta editorially endorses Governor Safford. It says he cannot be accused of ignorance of the subject, nor can his facts be controverted, and the responsibility of the recent butcheries by the Apaches rests directly on Colleyer and his associates.

Correspondence.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 20, 1871.

Editor News:—Dear Sir,—In October 1870, I attended the organization in this city of a Teachers' Association, which held its meetings weekly, over which Dr. Park was elected to preside. During the winter and until the month of June last, the meetings were continued regularly. Many interesting subjects connected with the teacher's art were canvassed and kindred intellectual treats dispensed and enjoyed.

On Wednesday evening, the 11th ult., the meetings were resumed. On the evening of the 18th, the subject of normal schools was introduced, on which several teachers and myself made many remarks and the subject was continued.

At the meeting of the 25th, Miss Mary E. Cook read an interesting laconic paper on the introduction of normal schools, and was followed by Professor Carl G. Maeser, who delivered an extemporaneous address on the same subject. The association resolved itself into a normal class, and Prof. Maeser was appointed to lecture and give illustrations on the simplest and best methods of teaching numbers to primary classes. As Professor Maeser was indisposed, Miss Mary E. and Ida L. Cook gave illustrations of approved methods of imparting to children the first idea of numbers. The illustrations were entertaining and instructive.

On the 7th inst., at the annual meeting for the election of officers, the following were elected—For president, Karl G. Maeser; vice president, Levi W. Richards; secretary, Camilla C. Cobb; treasurer, Mary E. Cook; corresponding secretary, Ida Ione Cook; executive committee, Prof. K. G. Maeser, Miss Mary E. Cook, Mrs. Eleanor J. Pratt.

It seems to me, Mr. Editor, that the live school teachers of this city cannot refrain from attending these meetings, where there are those who are fresh from the first schools of the East, and who have been associated with the most approved modern educators.

An era in our educational interests is dawning upon us, and the spirit thereof seems to rest upon teachers and school authorities. The material interests of our country have seemed to demand almost the exclusive attention of our most active minds, but the time, I believe, has fully come when the education of our youth will occupy greater prominence, especially with our legislature, county courts and municipalities.

The inbred educational sentiment predominated in Utah's first legislature to that extent that a handsome appropriation was made in behalf of the interests of education. That the Legislative Assembly now will be less generous can hardly be anticipated. I look forward with anxious solicitude to the legislature which sits in January, 1872, believing that means will be devised which will enable the trustees to grade the schools, employ competent teachers who have passed examinations, and hold certificates commensurate with their ability.

ROBT. L. CAMPBELL,
Supt. of Schools.

And ex-officio member of the Teachers' Association.

THEATRICAL.—Benefit of Mr. W. T. Harris to-morrow night. A very attractive bill.

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.—Met at seven last evening, when the grand jury reported what business they had and were discharged until 10 a. m., Jan. 2, 1872.
