Freight Rates Obtained For the Copper Smelter.

BUILDERS AND BUILDINGS.

Vitrified Brick Factory Proposed.—The O. S. L. & H. S. Railway.—Real Estate Items.

There is now no obstacle in the way of the location of the copper refinery at Salt Lake City. The only doubt that was expressed was in relation to railway rates, and this is swept away by the arrangement effected with Mr. Stanton, of the Union Pacific, who sent the following telegram last evening:

"RAWLINS, Wyo., February 28, 1893.

"H. W. Eccles, Salt Lake:

"I met D. C. Adams and S. W. Green this a. m. and reached satisfactory understanding as to rate on copper matte, Butte to Salt Lake, and you copper cast. Letter of course follows concurrence of R. G. W. I expect to meet Mr. Babcock at Salt Lake Saturday and explain matters in detail to him. Please advise Mr. Hubbard. Green has gone to Denver and Adams goes to Portland. Everything apparently satisfactory.

"J. A. MUNSON."

Assist the copper smelter proposition, it is interesting to note the experience of Cheyenne in regard to offering a bonus for industries. About a year ago, $250,000 was raised for a smelter, the promoter of the scheme being Benjamin Blanchard. He selected a site, spent about $5000 in materials and labor, $30,000 in plans and other items, and then quit. The bonus has just been returned to the contributors, and as a consequence of the failure, Cheyenne has received "a black eye" which it will take a long while to recover from. In dealing with parties here the people want to negotiate only with those who are able and willing to carry their propositions through to a finish. If we to obviate any danger of the kind referred to that the Business Men's committee obtained the Bancroft endorsements given to Messrs. Posey and Green at the outset, and not until these were secured were any definite steps taken for securing the bonus of 10 acres of land and $100,000 each. The situation of affairs is now such that the refinery men can sign the necessary contracts with the trustees and proceed to business at once.

BUILDERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Master Builders and Traders' Association met last evening and elected the following officers: A. W. Morrison, president; H. J. McDermott, vice president; A. B. Gibson, secretary; D. E. Reibold, treasurer; S. C. Sheriff, A. M. Grant, Alex. McDonald, directors for two years, and A. C. Shoemakers, W. S. Hinkins and Daniel Fye, directors for one year. A committee was appointed to secure rooms for the association. It was also decided to incorporate.

BUILDING PERMITS.

During the month of February building permits were issued by Inspector Hamlin:

A. L. Felger, George Moss, J. H. Kirk, Reddoc, Williams & Co., F. C. Mahaney, Wm. D. Pinney, Mrs. A. L. Hamlin, Kipple & Robinson, Hannah McKelvey, John Best, R. Hamm, F. Mohan, H. D. Millett, Albert S. Nordquist, Swedish Lutheran Church, M. H. Beardsley, A. H. Carter, H. F. Hapgood, D. J. O'Mahoney, C. Zockwert, Rosh Brothers, Frank Grim, Edward Sudbury.

The aggregate value of proposed buildings and repairs is $18,600, or less than one-half of February, 1892. The most costly structure is the Swedish Lutheran Church, $2800. Four other buildings cost $1000 each, while twelve are estimated at that amount. The remaining eleven permits are chiefly for repairs or additions to existing houses.

These figures indicate the stagnation of the building movement as compared with February, 1892, when the value of buildings for which permits were issued aggregated $37,900. This is doubtless due to the long-continued winter, as the January permits this year exceeded those of January, 1892 by $49,628.

A LOCAL PROPOSITION.

The following is the text of a communication presented to the City Council last evening:

"To the Honorable President and City Council, Salt Lake City, Utah:

"Gentlemen—The undersigned are about to build a terra cotta and vitrified brick works in your city, and respectfully ask that you give us an opportunity at an early date to bid for the brick to be used in the gravity sewer and paving of streets. We will be ready to furnish 20,000 brick per day in ninety days' time. We propose to build a plant second to none this side of Chicago, and will be fully equipped to furnish you all sizes terra cotta pipe for sewerage, vitrified brick and fire-proofing, and we would respectfully ask that you appoint a committee to look into the matter before letting contracts to other parties.

"Accompanying this letter you will please find sample briquettes, which have been thoroughly analyzed, and we will give your committee all the information they desire.

"Respectfully submitted. Yours very truly,

H. M. HAILEY,
E. J. DITRICH,
For the Company."

The company for which Messrs. Hailey and Dimmick speak is to be organized shortly, and the extent of the factory which they will erect depends in some degree upon the prospect of a market for their wares.

CANNOT LEASE ASPHALT LANDS.

It is announced that Secretary of the Interior Noble has promulgated the information that the Indians will not be permitted to lease any of the asphalt lands on the Uintah and Uncompahgre reservations to the syndicate of capitalists now seeking to operate the mineral fields of that section of country.

EXTENSION AUTHORIZED.

The meeting of stockholders of the Great Salt Lake & Hot Springs railway, yesterday afternoon, ratified the action of the directors in authorizing an extension of the road from Centerville, Davis county, to Coalville, Summit county, and from this city to Dry Creek by way of Sandy.

CENTRAL PROGRESS CO.

H. B. Clawson, Jr., announces a meeting of the stockholders of the Central Progress company, to be held at the Deseret National bank on the 2nd of April next.

IN RICH ORE.

Rich strikes are reported from the Bob Roy and Busy Bee mines on Indian Creek, near Beaver. In the Busy Bee a ledge of rich ore was discovered at the bottom of the shaft, and in the Bob Roy tunnel an eight-foot ledge of ore had been struck.

FOR MINING SCHOOLS.

The bill by Mr. Clark, of Wyoming, which was favorably reported from the house of representatives committee on Saturday, provides for a grant to the States of Wyoming of 20,000 acres of unappropriated coal lands of the public domain within the state, to be applied exclusively in promoting technical education in such schools as the legislature of Wyoming may designate in the branches of learning connected with the mining of coal and iron ore, the production of iron, coal and steel and its manufacture. The committee reported that there are 30,000 square miles of coal lands, or lands underlaid with coal and vast quantities of iron ore and deposits. More than four-fifths of the coal lands of the state are now owned by a single corporation, and the committee says the effects of this will be but to a degree the unwieldy holdings of any single person or corporation.

NOTES.

Denver News: An important mining suit has been begun by the filing of a complaint in the district court. Damages to the amount of $100,000 are asked. Thomas, Bryant & Lee, and Morrison & Mason represent the plaintiffs, Mary E. Reynolds and Johanna Daly. The American Sisters Mining company is defendant. Mrs. Reynolds is the widow of Joseph Reynolds of Chicago, who died February 21, 1891. Reynolds during his lifetime and for nine years prior to his death owned a seven-eighths interest in the Joe Reynolds No. 4 lode mining claim in Montana mining district, Clear Creek county, and the other eighth was the property of plaintiff Johanna Daly. The essential charge is made that the defendant company, by means of the Old Tepic and Two Sisters tunnels have wrongfully entered the Joe Reynolds lode, and have extracted, sold and converted to its own use 10,000 tons of ore valued at $100,000, for which amount suit is brought. A similar action is brought by the same plaintiff against the Two Sisters Mining company to recover $100,000 on like grounds as above set forth.

Butte Miner, 27th: As to the Anaconda properties, March 5th has been set as the time for the resumption of operations thereat, and no doubt the present intentions of the company to start on that date will be carried out. When the mines first closed down it was rumored that they would be started up again in a few days, but it was its intention, it is said, to remain closed until April 1st. However, matters have so shaped themselves that the explation of the three months come slist down will enable the company to again start up on the same old colossal scale and continue until the "fine dust" again clogs the wheels in operation. To start in, the shipments of ore will not be large, but they will increase gradually until the smelters are consuming their usual quantity. During the suspension all the mines were placed in first class condition, the shafts of several being deepened and retimbered. It is expected that within two weeks from next Sunday, which will be the day the tuttion is to be pressed, fully 1000 men will be working in and about the company's properties. Besides these the Montana Union road will give employment to many more. The news of the resumption was sent out by the company yesterday, yet notwithstanding the fact that it was soon generally known no great excitement resulted. This is no doubt due to the fact that during the last few days many men have been put to work at the syndicate properties, which was in itself pretty good proof that a resumption was not far distant. Some of the old men have left the city during the suspension, but they will return when the news of starting up reaches them.

OGDEN OCCURRENCES.

C. P. Olson on Trial For Embezzlement.

—Business Men Organize.—Lewis' Funeral, etc.

[Special Mention.]

No session of the Fourth district court was held yesterday morning, but at 2 o'clock court convened as usual and until nearly 8 o'clock the wheels of justice whirled merrily, the little rest having evidently lent them renewed energy. The embezzlement case against C. P. Olson was first called for trial, and after some difficulty a jury was secured. The territory was represented by James N. Kimball, and the defendant by Lessinger and Loser. Several witnesses were examined for the prosecution, but the hour for adjournment came before the plaintiff's case had been presented, and court adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock. During the years 1889 and 1890 Olson was assessor and collector of Cache county and the indictment charges him with having been short in his accounts over $9000. This amount, it is alleged, and so the evidence showed, was afterwards reduced by the collection of $2000 delinquent taxes. The defendant's bondsmen put up $6000, but were probably reimbursed by popular subscriptions, appropriations from the legislature and Olson himself.

All that is mortal of "George" Lewis now lies in the Mountain View cemetery, where it was placed by the hands of relatives and friends yesterday afternoon. The funeral services were held at Lindquist's undertaking parlors and were conducted by Bishop Thomas J. Stevens. Opening prayer was offered by C. C. Brown. The speakers were Willard Snow, Professor T. B. Lewis, Lindsay R. Rogers and Bishop T. Stevens. Every speaker dwelt on the many excellent qualities possessed by the dead. But which they prized him as well as condemned him for his mode of gaining a livelihood. Professor Lewis traced his brother's history from his birth to his death and made a very affecting talk. Notwithstanding his many misdeeds the dead was still the speaker's brother and as such he honored him. A male quartette under the leadership of Squire Cosp rendered beautiful and appropriate music. The parlors were handsomely decorated. The casket was a beautiful affair and was partly buried under floral offerings from mourning friends. The grand jury has not yet reported back an indictment against Eugene Borel, the singer of Lewis.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Heber Warner will regret to learn that one of their little triplets has passed away. The much prized treasure had been suffering for some time past from the spinal malady. On Thursday last it became worse. All that love and kindness and skill could do was done to save it from the grasp of the destroyer but in vain. It lingered until 10 o'clock on Sunday, when the spirit of little Leland Stanford passed quietly away and went back to the God who gave it. The triplet was born January 15th, 1893.

The Business Men's association was organized last evening, with the following officers: President, Mayor R. C. Lunsy; first vice president, John Watson; second vice president, John Seaman; secretary, L. A. Smurthwaite; treasurer, C. M. Hoxsey; directors, R. C. Lundy, John Watson, John Seaman, Angus T. Wright, David Eccles, R. R. Spencer, E. T. Worley, Chris Gard, George Dewey, R. R. Christofferson and A. B. Patton.

Nothing now remains to be done on the Grand avenue sidewalks except the placing of the furniture and the completion of the stone work over the front entrance. This will be finished today. The board decided to take no action until Friday when the contractors will probably be paid in full for the work.

The board of education last night made the annual levy for school taxes, and in doing so reached the limit allowed by law, two mills. This will give a revenue to the schools of over $40,000.

James Ferson, indicted on the charge of resisting an officer, was arraigned, pleaded not guilty and his bonds fixed at $500, which he secured.

POLICE PROTECTION.

Two Salt Lake Officers Wanted in Chicago by Chief Bonfield.

AN ARMY OF DETECTIVES.

How They Will Operate Under the Direction of the World's Columbian Exposition Secret Service.

The fact that thousands of criminals of all classes will assemble at Chicago during the World's Fair this year has excited the apprehensions of the Columbian Exposition authorities to a great degree. Many people have wondered how proper police protection will be given to the millions of visitors who shall go there.

The plan, however, is plainly set forth in the following paper sent to ex-Mayor Scott of this city by John Bonfield, chief of the street service at the World's Columbian Exposition, and which has been referred to the Council committee on police: In view of the expected influx of visitors to the World's Fair in this city this summer, and the necessity of properly protecting them from the criminal classes who will no doubt concentrate here at that time, I am led to address you, asking your hearty co-operation and assistance.

The fair not being local in any respect but national and universal in its character, its success in every way appeals to the pride of Americans; and the honorable pride, in the endeavor to secure the best leads to this commendation.

To this department will be given the protection of our citizens from lawbreakers while within our gates. A force consisting of at least two of the most experienced men from each city of 25,000 inhabitants and over, from every state in the Union, and from the principal cities of foreign countries, would be a model and efficient one; and therefore I would respectfully ask that two men of worth and experience be selected from your city, the home department paying their regular salary and the World's Columbian Exposition paying their transportation and make an allowance of $10 per month for expenses.

Two plans have been suggested to the council of administration. One I have attempted to outline. The other is to employ men who have had some experience, from the various cities and states in the Union. These men to be paid a fixed salary without any allowance for transportation and expenses. Of this class I have a large number of applications, covering with a few exceptions all the states, and a large percentage of the cities of this country. Should the different police departments refuse to make details as suggested we will be compelled to elect our force from the latter class for financial reasons alone. The great cost of paying salary, transportation and expenses to a force such as it is desirable to have, would amount to a larger sum in the aggregate than the management feels justified in assuming.

I believe, and my experience and judgment tells me that the first proposition is incomparably the best, not only for the Columbian Exposition, but it will also be for the best interests of the police departments of the country to be represented officially by two of their best men, and that the experience and knowledge gained would more than compensate for the outlay.

It may be well perhaps in this connection to give you an idea of how I propose to organize this force. My intentions are, while these men arrive here, say on or about the 15th of April, the ground to be divided into six divisions corresponding with the six months of the Fair. Officers going duty in Division A at the end of the first month's service will move to Division B and go on to the end of the period. In that way the officers detailed here will serve for one month in each division. Each division will be subdivided into two sections, the sections alternating in their duties every two weeks, and continue the work through each division. The officers will travel in pairs. In no instance, however, will the men and here by one municipality be detailed together, but be paired with officers of other cities. Officers so paired will continue traveling together for say about ten days, and then be changed for an officer of some other city.

My intention in thus changing them is that the officers detailed will make each other's acquaintance, interchange views, and aid to each other the credit from their locality, and in that way add to their knowledge and experience, making their services much more valuable to the corporation that detailed them as well as to the Exposition company.

This plan starts with the approval of the authorities here, and I am authorized to lay it before you, and would respectfully ask your co-operation, which I feel sure will be forthcoming at your earliest convenience in connection with this matter and trust you will take a generous view of this request, and if you consider the only matter possible, to place the necessary officers around the thousands of people that will be in an unprotected police zone as their only protection from criminals, and I confidently anticipate from you cordial appreciation of the letter presented and a favorable reply.

Party Forest Dale.

On Friday afternoon next, beginning at 2 o'clock, the Forest Dale Pleasant Hour club will give a dance in the little folks. It will continue until 7 p. m., after which time will be an intermission until 8 o'clock, when the "big folks" and their friends will take possession and use it until midnight.
