BIG CAVE-IN AT TINTIC.

The Mammoth Mine Said to be Falling All to Pieces.

COLLAPSE CANNOT BE STOPPED EITHER.

Active in the Rich Wing of Bingham—Grand Central and Mammoth—Concerning the Mower Mill.

Advices from Tintic today told of a serious cave-in in the Mammoth mine, and it is said that the ground was moving in all its parts and that efforts to check its progress had thus far been in vain. In consequence the fact that operations entirely had been suspended, so also, it is said, were put to work close to a possible danger with waste material, one to be at a support to prevent further damage. The extent of the cave in the Mammoth is not known, but it reports to be the largest ever experienced in the Tintic district, and it is feared by some in the company, as well as others in the camp, it may be a serious one to be allowed to such a condition as to delay and prevent ship-ments for an indefinite period, with chance of covering up the ore bodies in the mine temporarily, will be a serious matter to the Mammoth and say the company, for the purpose of opening up the mine, spent the sum of $1,200,000. It is said the superintendent, Captain Dennis Lynch, has been ordered to stop all work in the mine, and that the cave-in is not due to the mining methods employed in the mine, but to the fact that the ground is not in a condition to stand the strain.

GRAND CENTRAL AND MAMMOTH.

Good Shipping Ore Somewhat Depressed Today—Business for the Week.

The close of the week on the mining exchange found a number of stocks on a downward tendency, among the Grand Central and Mammoth, on a block comprised several points, to lower as BIG, but the latter to 6.50, although the Grand Central's sales were made at $1.00. The week's close for the five days of busy business, the stock exchanged 2,420 shares and sold for a selling value of $1,104.

There was, while somewhat lower than yesterday's, found stocks active and firmer, the selling tendency being very little in evidence. Following the Mammoth sale noted above, was a block of Northern Light at 6 cents for one, at Eureka-Hill at 46 cents, and a number of lots of poorer ores were sold.

In the curbed stocks, Colorado Prince was in good demand and for at $[illegible] cents, while Dromedary and Scott Swan were also still conspicuous of good. Rep-ublic and Rockwell were in good demand also at 3c, while Cedar was a trifle weaker and could have readily made a sale at 9c.

The closing figures were as follows:
