ACCIDENT AT A FUNERAL.

A Young Lady Severely Injured.—Narrow Escape of Others.

Peach street, directly in front of the Nineteenth ward meeting house, was the scene late yesterday afternoon of a very distressing accident. The mishap occurred just as the funeral services over the remains of Mr. Bishop had concluded and the people were coming out of the meeting house preparatory to forming the procession which was to escort the remains to the cemetery.

A buggy was being driven along the street in question at that time. The occupants were Miss Belle Brown and her friend Miss Swenson. It was latent necessary to turn the outfit around. Unfortunately the turn was made too short and the buggy tipped over throwing the young ladies out. Miss Brown sustained a broken collar bone and was otherwise severely bruised about the body. She was removed unconscious and for hours last night her condition was regarded as critical. Doctors Benedict and Cantwell are the attending physicians and are doing all in their power to alleviate the suffering of the patient. Miss Swenson luckily escaped without serious injury.

After the overturning of the buggy the horse broke into a mad race along the sidewalk and as the street was filled with people the excitement for a time was intense. One lady fell in front of the frightened animal and came so near being trodden into the dust that she has not yet fully recovered from the shock. Continuing around the corner the horse kept the sidewalk and ran into and completely wrecked a baby's buggy that was the mother and sustained not injured child from the path of danger.
