Bonds Called in for Redemption.

WASHINGTON, 21.—The Secretaiy of the Treasury called in for redemption ten million dollars of 5-20 bonds of 1865, May and November.

Trouble with the Nez Perces Indians.

Gen. Howard, in command of the department of Oregon, arrived here to endeavor to adjust the differences with the Nez Perces Indians, which threaten to result in a general Indian war on that frontier. These Indians claim that the promises made to them by the Modoc commissioner, Meacham, to the effect that a certain valley, with its salmon fisheries, should be reserved to them free from white men, have been broken. Through the influence of the government of Oregon and the late Secretary Delano, the valley was opened to settlement by the whites; they have crowded in there and threatened to drive the Indians out. One Indian was recently murdered by white men, and both parties are now arming. Howard is of the opinion that a committee of civilians and army officers could adjust the difficulty and prevent a war which would cost the government ten million dollars. The Interior Department authorities seem to approve Howard's plan, and it will be submitted to the Adjutant General of the army.

Gen. Howard left here to-night for New York, but will return next week. He has important business with the Indian Bureau in regard to the relations of the government to the new treaty with the Nez Perces tribe of Indians. It is probable that the tribe will be visited by two or three army officers, and two of the Indian commissioners acting under instructions from the Interior Department, with a view to the extinguishment of their title to the lands they now occupy, and to their removal to a new reservation.

Trouble Anticipated in the South.

The attorney general delayed his departure for Ohio to give audience to Governor Chamberlain, U. S. Senator Patterson, and other gentlemen from South Carolina, upon the condition of affairs in that State, and the appeals made to the government for troops, sufficient to suppress any outbreak that might occur. Representation has been made that the troops already in South Carolina would not be sufficient for the purpose. A letter has been received by the President and referred to the attorney general, in which the writer insists that there are grave fears of serious troubles at Edgefield. The attorney general gives assurance that anything possible will be done for the preservation of the public peace.

Yellow Fever Interments.

SAVANNAH, 21.—The yellow fever interments to-day were sixteen.

Steamer Broke in Two.

COUSHATTA, La., 21.—The steamer R. N. Bryarly struck at Preau Point and broke in two, becoming a total wreck. The freight has been mostly saved.

Crook Meets Sheridan.

CHEYENNE, Wy., 21.—General Crook arrived at Fort Laramie this evening, and is now in council with Gen. Sheridan, who has been awaiting him at that point since Saturday last.

$125,000 Fire.

GEORGETOWN, 21.—A very disastrous fire here, last night, destroyed the Court House and a number of business places. The damage is estimated at $125,000, insurance $74,000. The Lexington fire department assisted in putting out the fire.

More Political Rioting.

CINCINNATI, 21.—At a republican meeting, to-night, at the corner of Pearl and Broadway, while Col. Carter, of Indiana, was speaking, a disturbance was created by a mob of young men throwing mud at the uniformed torch bearers, and rotten paw paws and other spoiled fruit, at the speakers' stand. Col. Carter and Lieut. Governor Young were struck by eggs thrown from the crowd. While the 8th Ward Club were marching to the same meeting they were assaulted at the corner of Plum and Front streets, in their own ward, and their uniforms besmeared, and one man hurt with a boulder. No arrests.

Man Lynched.

LOUISVILLE, 21.—Alfred Rodman, of Brownstown, was lynched yesterday morning while returning from Jeffersonville. He had threatened to kill several persons, and having already been guilty of murder, was dealt with as related. No further information known.

The Rioters Quiet—Yellow Fever.

AUGUSTA, Ga., 21.—There is nothing new from Aiken. The United States troops are on the ground. The armed bodies of whites and blacks are reported to have dispersed. There is no truth in the report that a train from Savannah was stopped by a body of armed negroes.

In consequence of a few cases of yellow fever at Charleston, the authorities of Augusta have established quarantine regulations against passengers from that city, to go into effect to-day.

Nomination.

QUINCY, Ills., 21.—The republican convention of the twelfth congressional district of Missouri, yesterday nominated J. K. L. Woodward for congress.

The Northfield Robbers.

ST. PAUL, 21.—The Pioneer Press has a special from Madelia, Watonwoon Co., Minn., announcing the capture of four of the Northfield robbers they lost track of in the timber around Mankato. Two of them are supposed to be the noted Younger brothers. A hard pursuit and brisk interchange of shots preceded the capture. They are all more or less wounded, one of them seriously.

The wounded robbers have confessed to the sheriff having them in charge, that they are the Younger brothers, but refuse to give the name of their dead comrade.

Laborers Want Their Back Wages.

KEENE, N. H., 21.—About 350 men, laborers on the Manchester and Keene Railroad, marched into the city this afternoon armed with canes and clubs, creating a general alarm. The Court House bell was rung, and Central Square was speedily filled with citizens. The men are mostly Italians, and the demonstration was caused by the failure of the contractors to pay the wages of the men. They visited the residences of several prominent men identified with the road, demanding their wages and threatening to burn the town if the demands were not complied with. The police and military were under arms, and will prevent violence.

Our Country Contemporaries.

Beaver Enterprise, Sept. 19—

Several times we have attempted to enter the Court room for the purpose of witnessing the proceedings, but as often have been driven back by the bad air. If the room cannot be ventilated it ought to be abandoned.

The testimony of Nephi Johnson published in this issue of the Enterprise, is the most complete and satisfactory that has ever been given in the massacre prosecution. Mr. Johnson has the reputation of a truthful man.

Ogden Junction, Sept. 21—

The owners of land on the sandridge near the line of the Utah Central, contemplate the construction of a canal for irrigating purposes from Weber Cañon.

We have the best authority to state that a meeting of the board of directors of the above company, will be held at the office of the company in Ogden, on Monday, the 25th of Sept. (inst.) at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of raising money with which to complete and start the company's blast furnace, making contracts for labor, coal, ore, electing a secretary, and for the transaction of other business.

Jay Gould on Salt Lake and California.

One of the Chronicle's staff recently held a very interesting conversation with Jay Gould in the city of New York. Mr. Gould is not only one of the most active and ambitious of the money-kings of Wall street, but he has such business connections with affairs appertaining to our coast as to make him an interested observer of whatever concerns us. It is understood that he is the controlling owner and manager of the Union Pacific Railroad from Omaha to Ogden, and of the road from Ogden to Salt Lake City, and that he seriously contemplates the organization of a company to build a road from Salt Lake westward over a more southern route to the Pacific. This would give him the control of a transcontinental line, as he could make favorable arrangements with some one of the competing roads terminating at Omaha. In addition to this he is not unmindful of the necessity of keeping himself in a position to have a voice in the Panama road and steam line, as well as China mail steamers. That Jay Gould cherishes the ambition of controlling the commerce of the Pacific by securing the management of the Panama, Australia, and Chinese steam lines, together with a transcontinental railroad, was firmly impressed upon us. Mr. Gould had never visited San Francisco, but it is his intention to do so at no very distant date. After many most searching questions as to the resources, prospects and progress of our city and coast, a thousand intelligent interrogatories in reference to our mines, forests, manufactures, our wines, wool and agricultural productions, our soil and climate, our commerce and population, he made the remark that he expected to see San Francisco "the greatest and richest city upon the American continent." In answer to the remark. "You do not mean to be understood, Mr. Gould, as advancing the opinion that within your life San Francisco may expect to excel the city of New York in business and population?" Mr. Gould said: "I mean to say that within your life and mine, if we live as long as we hope to do, San Francisco will be the largest, most prosperous, and wealthiest city upon the American continent;" and this (without undertaking to give his exact words) was the argument he made. New York has seen its most prosperous period. It is no longer the sole distributing port; the law that allows goods to pass in bond to the western cities, and in reality making them ports of entry, has destroyed in a great measure the commercial supremacy of this city. Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and other western cities, can import their goods directly from Europe as cheaply, and even more expeditiously, than New York. Merchandise arriving by the same steamer for New York and Chicago will be exposed for sale by the Chicago merchant in advance of our Broadway dealers, owing to a corrupt, expensive and dilatory system which has grown up around our custom house and municipal government.

New York has lost its western trade, and is losing its New England and Southern trade; its jurisdiction is narrowed to the territory which is geographically tributary to it. San Francisco is the single great port upon the Pacific, and will always continue to be the only harbor to which ships will come for the distribution of a miscellaneous cargo, and because of the establishment of a railroad system before the commerce of the Pacific has developed itself, will be the only port for the transcontinental shipment of Oriental merchandize. New York is in natural rivalry with the harbors of Portland, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Charleston, Mobile and New Orleans. Boston is now making its rivalry felt in deflecting to the city a large amount of the north-western business; while Baltimore, with its system of western roads, is tapping the great valley of the Mississippi. Baltimore and Philadelphia are accommodating all their local trade, and a large southern and south-western business. The pacific commerce and the Pacific coast population are growing more rapidly than the Atlantic trade or the eastern population. Your vast territory, with its very desirable climate and productive soil, will attract emigration which has not yet begun to flow. When the resources and capabilities of your State are fairly and fully understood there will be from this side and from Europe a tremendous wave of population westward. Your mines are destined, whatever else they do, to make a great many men very rich; and as all mining and stock operations are in their nature gambling, San Francisco will become the place where fortunes suddenly acquired are easily spent, and the result will be splendid residences, splendid blocks of buildings, great extravagance and display of ostentatious living. France sells her wines for some hundreds of millions of dollars annually; your territory is more extensive than France, has more soil adapted to the grape culture, and your wines will in time be not inferior to those of France. France has 36,000,000 of people, and is the richest country in Europe. Your fruits alone guarantee cheap living. California is now, in wheat, the granary of the world; Washington Territory, Oregon, Nevada, Southern California and Arizona are vast grazing regions, where cattle will always be reared cheaply. Thus you have cheap bread, cheap meat, cheap fruit and cheap wine.—San Francisco Chronicle.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT NEW YORK

Dyspepsia is the costly price we pay for luxuries. All civilized nations suffer from it, more or less, but none so much as the people of the United States. It is here, in the new world, that the disease has become domesticated, and we, as a people, have threatened to monopolize its miseries. Let us check its further progress by the use of
