FRAGMENTS.

Lots of hay coming into market.

The Supreme Court sits on Monday.

The Legislature convenes next Monday.

Hold in mind the Harris benefit next Wednesday night.

Hon. Wm. Fotheringham, of Beaver is in the city.

The members of the Legislative Assembly are arriving daily in the city.

A case of drunkenness, vagrancy and trespass was fined $10 this morning.

For drunkenness, disturbance, and profanity, an individual was fined $10 to-day.

Three men applied for lodgings at the City Hall to-day, and were given it with labor.

Thaw has its own way in the day time, but night hands the sceptre over to Jack Frost.

Mrs. Zina D. H. Young has five rooms to rent in the front part of her house. See advt.

The third term of the University for the current year opens on Monday morning.

A gold watch worth $150 was sold on execution in front of the City Hall this morning for $57.

Elder C. W. Stayner lectures in Bountiful to-morrow evening on "Britain, Past and Present."

See Garland on the Edmunds bill in our Congressional dispatches. "A corn plaster for consumption," is the way he puts it.

Religious services of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the Assembly Hall, to-morrow afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock.

Prof. Thomas and his enlarged Theatre orchestra of thirteen pieces, discoursed some excellent music at the Firemen's ball in the Theatre last evening.

James A. McKnight, Esq, U. S. Consul at St Helena, a Utah boy, lectured in Washington, D. C. on the 11th inst., on "Napoleon's Captivity and Death at St Helena," illustrated with steropticon views.

In the list of Legislative Members published last Tuesday evening, the names of Hons. S. R. Thurman, W. H. Dusenberry, Wm. Creer and George Webb, representatives from Utah and Juab counties, were inadvertently omitted.

All the members of the 13th Quorum of Seventies and the Seventies residing in the 18th and 20th Wards are respectfully requested to attend their meeting at the 20th Ward School-house on Monday evening next, the 15th inst., at 7 p. m. THOMAS C JONES, Clerk.

"Green Lanes of England," to be presented on Wednesday next for the Harris benefit, is the play from which "Hazel Kirke" was taken. Mr. John S Lindsay, who it is said has made a study of "Dunstan Kirke" in the latter play, will assume its counterpart, "Martin Wheatstone" in the former.

The celebrated Pullman buffet cars are to be placed on all through express trains on the D. & R. G., on and after the 15th inst. They are unexcelled for convenience and comfort. The "scenic line" claims that passengers leaving Utah by the morning train, are landed at all cities on the Atlantic seaboard at the same time as those by any rival line. See advt.

LOCAL NEWS.

SEEDS RECEIVED. — By courtesy of Hon. John T. Caine, the NEWS is in receipt of specimens of seeds of various kinds from the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

OFF WRONG.—Mr. D. P. Thomas called in this morning to ask the NEWS to correct a misstatement which in some way inadvertently crept into the columns of our morning contemporary, the Herald. It was stated that D. P. Thomas and William Davis were "lodged" by the police for borrowing tools without the owner's consent or bill of sale, etc. The mistake made by the Herald reporter, and all reporters make mistakes at times, was in putting the thing wrong end foremost. Instead of the tools being taken by the gentlemen above named, they were stolen from them by another party, who is now in the hands of the police, and it was through the active efforts of Messrs. Thomas and Davis that the thief was caught and the tools recovered. Mr. Thomas much regrets the error, but we are certain not more earnestly than do those who are responsible for it, and who in their next issue will undoubtedly set the matter right.

BUCKLE & SON.—Having assiduously applied themselves to business since their establishment, in May, 1876; and by the strict observance of their motto, punctuality, fashion and economy, have grown from that time until the present. With the aid of their able cutter and fitter Mr. S. Johannson, who has the well earned reputation of being one of the best in the country, they are able to please the most fastidious. But their growth has not alone depended on their ability as first-class tailors; for an inspection of their stock, the largest in the city, will convince anyone that it has been purchased with a knowledge of the requirement of the country. And having bought in large quantities direct from the manufacturers, they are in a position to sell to the trade or public by the piece or yard at prices hitherto unknown in this city. They deal extensively in trimmings. Their ad. appears in another column.

THE CULLOM BILL.

THE MEASURE PROVIDING FOR A COMMISSION DISCUSSED IN THE SENATE.

The Herald of this morning contained the following special:

Washington, January 11.—The Cullom bill, providing for the placing of Utah under a legislative commission composed of a Governor and nine citizens of the Territory, came up in the the Senate to-day, and a long, animated discussion followed. Senator Cullom, author of the measure, delivered his maiden speech, and the effort was certainly not creditable to him, either as a lawyer or statesman. His speech was no argument, being simply the regular anti-Mormon tirade, full of misstatements and abounding in abuse of a people and institutions of which he proved himself deplorably ignorant. The effect upon the Senate did not seem favorable to the Senator's position.

Senator Brown, of Georgia, replied to Cullom with an eloquent and earnest speech in opposition to the bill. Brown discussed the measure on legal grounds, and in a clear and able manner showed that the bill was radically unconstitutional. He said the bill could be defended on no lawful ground. Incidentally he attacked the Edmunds law, which he declared unconstitutional and an outrageous usurpation of unwarranted power by Congress. Brown said that Congress had no authority or power under the Constitution to deprive the citizens of a Territory of the right to local self-government. Brown's able argument was listened to with marked attention and interest.

Final action upon the bill was postponed.

A PROVO PANDEMONIUM.

DISGRACEFUL SCENES IN A "DRUG STORE."

The peaceable town of Provo has been the scene this week of the most disgraceful occurrence in its history. The affair occurred at Hines' "drug store," a place which has long held a reputation more notorious than enviable, for its surreptitious selling of liquor and violation of the local ordinances. On Tuesday night an altercation, followed by an encounter, took place there between "Brig" Shurtliff, the bar-tender, and Samuel Moore, in which the latter was unmercifully beaten and nearly killed. The bar-tender was assisted by George Shurtliff and one Percell, the latter lately placed under bonds for disturbing the peace at Pleasant Valley Junction.

The Enquirer says the row grew out of a dispute about some drinks for which Moore was owing, he claiming it was five drinks and the bar-tender maintaining it to be seven. It is said that Moore came into Hines' place with a rock in his pocket, and he was mad because, at the time of contracting the debt for the drinks, his watch, offered in security for future payment, was accepted. Moore, however, claims that the rock was one he had picked up to throw at a barking dog while on his way to Hines', and that he afterwards unconsciously put the missile in his pocket. Shurtliff, the barkeeper claims he was hit by the rock in the row which followed. The watch, which was on the counter at the time the trouble commenced, mysteriously disappeared and was not afterwards found.

On Thursday night, Stephen B. Moore, father of the young man who was so cowardly beaten, went into Hine's place, and assaulted Brig Shurtliff. A crowd gathered and a general melee was the result. Knives were brandished, pistols flourished, and pandemonium in general set in. The coolness and intrepidity of Marshal Turner, assisted by W. H. Brown and others, eventually quelled the tumult and prevailed on the mob to disperse. Marshal Turner was slashed at with a knife, as was officer Wilkins, and but for the timely intervention of Justice Brown, S. B. Moore, who had a pistol leveled at his breast, might have lost his life. A number of the participants were arrested. Some plead guilty, others not guilty. Sentence was suspended in the former cases until to-day. Hines himself was the complainant. His den, called a drug store, is to be closed up, and it ought to be.

AN INTERESTING EXTRACT.

HIGH WATER IN ARIZONA—NARROW ESCAPE AT SALT RIVER, ETC.

A private letter from Mr. Charles S. Whitney, dated at Mesa, Maricopa County, Arizona, on the 2d inst., gives the particulars of a narrow escape he had in crossing the Salt River, while on his way to Mesa from St. David, in company with his cousin D. P. Kimball, Jr. We append an extract from his epistle:

"We came to the river towards evening. The water was very high. A few days before it had run over and filled the streets of Phœnix and covered the surrounding country. We had but five cents when we arrived there, and did not know where to get our next meal, but we had good luck and struck a Mexican, who gave us supper and told us to come around to breakfast next morning. After breakfast we started on foot for Mesa City, 18 miles distant. All along the road we could see the vegetables just coming up, it looked like spring in Utah. As I went along I said to Pat, "I don't want any more St. David in mine." People talk about Arizona as not good for farming. I have never seen anywhere in Utah such beautiful farms as these around on the Mesa lands.

Well, after walking for several hours we came to Hayden's Ferry over the Salt River; as his boat had been washed down we had no way of crossing except to wait for a team. After waiting about fifteen minutes, a buck-board came along, but the driver could only take one of us, so Pat got in and went over. As they were crossing, the buck-board floated right on top of the stream and nearly tipped over. I waited nearly two hours and was just thinking of building a fire to sit by that night, when a wagon loaded with lime came up. There was an old gentleman and a young man in it. They said I could ride. I got in and we drove in.

The river is wide, swift and deep. When we got near the centre, the water was up to the horses' backs, and so swift that it swept them clear off their feet. The near horse fell on the tongue of the wagon, pulling the other horse down and we lost all control of them. The wagon came within one of tipping over. In order to save the lives of the horses, we had to cut their tugs. They began to back down the stream, when the driver jumped, and got on to one of the horses and took them to shore. Myself and the old man were left alone in the river, the water rushing under and around the wagon and threatening to throw us over every minute. I tell you I prayed pretty hard for a little while. That was about as near as I ever came to dying, and I was not far from it.

After taking the horses ashore the young man took their harness off and brought them back. I got on one of them, while the old gentleman got behind his son. Taking the reins in one hand and my hat in the other, I dug my heels into the horse's sides. He plunged around, stumbled several times, nearly throwing me off. Several times the horse was swept off his feet and only by a great effort did we gain the shore. My boots were filled with water. When I was on the back of the horse, the water came to my knees. The sun was just going down and it was terrible cold, and we still had eight miles to go.

Hayden's is a beautiful little town, situated right on the river. Mr. Hayden, for whom the place is named, owns the grist mill, store, hotel, ranche, blacksmith shop, etc. We went on in the dark for about an hour and a half, and came to Geo. Crismon's ranche. We met young George there, who had just come from the river, and who told us that some of Mr. Hayden's men, in trying to get the wagon out of the river which I partly rode over in, drowned a fine horse, and that he, Crismon, had, a few days before, lost four fine mules in the river, and that many other persons had lost animals, and barely escaped with their lives. The day before we crossed an Indian and his horse were drowned."

A LIVE ORGANIZATION.—American Fork can boast of one of the most thriving organizations yet created under the auspices of Mutual Improvement. The Young Men's Association are incorporated as a company and have nearly completed the erection of a building to be used for social and educational purposes. The structure is of adobe with a rock foundation, and is built in the shape of a T, the lower part of the letter being an auditorium and the upper, or cross part, a stage.

The entire length is 94 feet, the auditorium is 35x60 feet, and has a gallery at the end opposite the stage, 20 feet above the floor. The stage is 34 feet by 57. Underneath the stage is a basement, well lighted by windows. The roof is on and is being covered with tin by David James, of this city. The cost of the building will be in the neighborhood of $8,000. It is intended for parties, theatrical entertainments and the meetings of the Association, and will contain in the basement, where meetings will be usually held, a library and reading room.

The Young Men's Association numbers between 60 and 70 members. They carry out strictly the instructions of the General Superintendency. Conjoint meetings are held with the Y. L. M. I. A., occasionally. They have recently purchased a lot of Preceptors with a view to forming classes for the study of the Gospel under the formula therein laid down. Mr. Ammon Mercer, of American Fork, now in the city, is our informant.

A FLOWING WELL.

A SPLENDID ONE LOCATED ON THE CHURCH FARM.

A flowing well in successful operation is located on the Church Farm, four miles south of this city. It was bored by James Thompson last July, with artesian well machinery, and is seventy-five feet deep. At first considerable quantities of sand came up, but at present there is a clear and copious flow, sufficient to supply a thousand head of cattle, and even more if it is needed. The water is of a good, soft quality, very slightly tainted with sulphur, and it never freezes. The present capacity of the well is twenty gallons per minute.

At the head is a galvanized iron tank, where the water rises two feet above the surface, and is thence distributed by means of pipes. Three faucets supply water for house use and the main part of the stream passes on to the cattle troughs in the stock yard. Twenty rods of pipe run south to the beef cattle and twenty rods north to the outside stock. Pipes are also used to convey the water from the troughs to the spilling place.

The water can be used, likewise, for irrigating purposes. The pipes and other appurtenances were furnished by David James. Bishop Sheets is elated at the success of the experiment, and has good reason to rejoice in its prospects.

NOTICE.—The Third Quorum of Seventies, including scattered members of the 14th and 17th Wards will meet in the 14th Ward Assembly Rooms on Monday, at 7 p. m. A full attendance is desired. A. MINER, Per M. F. COWLEY, Clerk.

Mr. W. J. Melvin, editor Warren (Mass.) Herald, was cured of neuralgia by St. Jacobs Oil.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE LAST SHALL BE FIRST.

Commencing Tuesday, January 15th, the Denver & Rio Grande Railway will introduce the greatest convenience ever offered to the traveling public. On and after the above date the Celebrated Pullman Buffet Cars will be attached to all through express trains running East and West. These cars are a marvel in finish, comfort, and luxury, each section is provided with an electric enunciator, connected with the culinary department, thus giving passengers an opportunity to obtain their meals without leaving the train, and at any time such may be desired.

The D. & R. G. Railway is the first and only road west of the Missouri River to favor their patrons with this superior manner of serving meals on trains.

The Company does not claim to have the "short line," but it does guarantee that passengers taking the "Scenic Line" from Utah points on the morning train will arive at all cities upon the Atlantic seaboard at the same time as by any rival line, leaving at a corresponding hour.

A GENUINE AFFAIR.

Our readers can rely upon it that if they have any rheumatism in the system, they can by using Britannia become entirely cured. This is no fiction. A great many persons have tried it in Salt Lake City and Ogden, and other parts of Utah whose testimony can be privately obtained, and who say that no remedy ever reached the disease before. It removes pain at once, it conquers the cause of the pain, and removes it, builds up the general health. It acts mildly on the bowels, and strengthens the kidneys. It gives an appetite and a relish for food, and prevents its souring on the stomach. Just try a bottle, and you will never want to be without it in the house as a family medicine. Sold at Z. C. M. I. Drug Store.

Mr. G. D. Amos, at the old People's Meat Market, opposite Mayor Jenning's residence through his enterprise and good treatment of his patrons has succeeded in working up a new business in the stand where so many have failed.
