A small boy and a match came together yesterday afternoon with the usual result—a fire. A few cents worth of the Salt Lake Herald and a few sticks of Polleman Party was found to be in flames. No relatives have been found for the late Don Mahoney, the Salt Palace attaché, who died last Sunday. They do not know where to ship the body.

Hobey Elkins, one of the three soldiers who came home from the Philippines after having an altercation with a non-commissioned officer, has been returned to Salt Lake from Fort Douglas. Many Salt Lake people will be pained to hear of the misfortune that has befallen the family of Chaplain Allison south of the Twenty-fourth infantry. The children of the chaplain, who is absent with his command at Manila, was burglarized last week and many valuable articles were stolen. A few days later, while the family were absent, the house caught on fire and was completely destroyed. But a very few articles were rescued from the burning building.

Handmaker Heid said today: "The trade for both close mules must be growing in Utah. At the fair this year the standard of exhibitions that have been scored for by visitors have been of the better class, such as "William Tell," Carlo de Lagrange," "Mazuka," "Lohengrin," and "Lucrezia." "Hearts and Flowers," in fact, we have been asked but once to play a "Coon Walk," and it is a pleasure to play such requests and shows that our efforts to play the better class of music is appreciated."

Dr. D. Miles Lindsey referred last evening from a six months' visit to London, England. He says that the public feeling of Great Britain is very bitter against the Boers and that the general talk is of war. The British have not forgotten the fight of 1881 and are anxious for another settlement. The Britishers think that it is desired there will be no stop until the map of South Africa is painted red. There is great pity in English military circles. The Northumberland fusiliers and the Black Watch Highlanders have already gone to the front.

Mr. John H. Evans of Redfield, brother of David Evans, one of the members of the Utah Commission, was married yesterday at Ogden, to a young lady who was employed on the street cars by a "Kiwi" station agent. The ceremony was performed by Mr. Peter Mimesch, who was born, for twenty-two years, connected as foreman and in other capacities, with The Eccles Lumber merchants and their former companies. Mr. John H. Evans has been connected with the Redfield Flouring Mills, and Mr. Mimesch is about to take charge of the plant until everything is in perfect running order.

A sad incident mentioned was given a good humorous name yesterday on the Fair grounds, and the name was a Bryan-all gift. The incident happened as follows: Andrew Jackson Bryan rushed through the crowd, and frantically footed on the spot for dear life. Bryan's appearance in this form was for out of proportion to his physical powers, so he turned and dearly the dashed for a place to sit down that looks his gold cloud glasses and cut the center in his face. The crowd expressed its approval by shouting hurrah and telling the young lady a lesson.

Intimation that he was "coming Bryan" in the Salt Palace at the last moment, Mr. Bryan came to town with Secretary Johnson yesterday afternoon. The Governor had given Secretary Johnson a pass on the Salt Lake, to do certain work which he presided with. The cadet wanted to know what work he had to do, and Johnson in telling him, Mr. Johnson didn't think it was necessary to confer with the distinguished gentleman from Nebraska. For over an hour the famous Salt Palace was without a director general. Finally Judge Zeller, who presided, signed to be responsible for such act and again take up the burdens of director generalship.

The report of Bank Examiner H. S. Anderson, made to the board of directors of Home, makes a strong showing for the Home Company. The following is an extract:

Salt Lake City, August 18, 1899.

Hon. James T. Hammond, Secretary of State.

Dear Sir:—I made a thorough examination of the condition of the Home Fire Insurance Company as shown by its books on June 30, 1899. The company is carefully and conservatively managed. Its assets are safely and wisely distributed. It limits its writings to the better class of risks, and it has reinsured a large portion of its risks with the Hartford Fire Insurance Co., and the North British and Mercantile Insurance Co., two of the strongest insurance concerns in the world.

It takes to city blocks are limited. It says on page 7 of its report: "Careful in charging against itself a larger amount as unearned premium than is required under the laws that it be called upon to do. In nearly every instance, the book value of the company exceeds the Salt Lake real estate values are based on market values, and Marion, on the latter as a basis of values, this company would have an surplus of over $100,000 after deducting its liabilities of more than $25,000.00.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Georgius A. Gross has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for county attorney on the Democratic ticket. The gentleman is now holding the office he expects to succeed.

It now seems as certain as anything in politics can be that Zera Thompson and Arthur Barnes will be pitted against each other in the race for Mayor.

Lieut. R. C. Saylor will have no competitor in the race for the coordinate nomination in the Republican convention.

"Billy" Lynch, it was stated today, would be in the university center until the last.

Congressman Robertson seems to be quite safe for a renomination in the Fifth.

Democratic headquarters will be formally opened in the Syndicate block on Monday.

Chairman Richter of the Republican city committee positively declines to run as a candidate for the city attorneyship.

The fight between the Rich and the Pardoites factions in the Third precinct is becoming so bitter so close.

All of the candidates for the Democratic Fifth ward council have to issue their swerve, or a big station is and motion. The man who now are will stay at home.

Why experiment on scared with remedies of doubtful utility when you can get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which has stood the test of time? Twenty-five years ago and no more genuine that remedy to be a prompt and certain cure for colds. It is not to say and is a fact that it takes no more so the cold has been contracted and before it has settled in the system.

REUNIONS OF MISSIONARIES.

Georgia Elders Meet at Their Headquarters and in 16th Ward.

MANY WARM GREETINGS.

Apostles Hodger Clawson and Stalker Fr. Cowley and Others Speak—Fine Musical Program.

There was an animated scene at the headquarters of the Georgia Elders' reunion on Main street, yesterday afternoon. Nearly a score of young missionaries who had labored in that State set after a separation of from six months to a year and a half, and right warm was the reception each gave the other. A short meeting was held, and an expression from all the Elders was heard, relative to the meeting of the several conference societies into one association embracing the entire Southern States mission. All seemed desirous of doing the latter. At 4 o'clock the Georgia Elders gathered in the Stake tenth ward meeting house, which was fairly and filled, and a social and musical meeting was held. Happy addresses from President Rich, Rudolph and Matthews were made, and the interest of the audience was kept intense, by the graphic description of the cruel martyrdom of Elder Joseph Standing (nearly years ago in the State of Georgia, by Apostle Hodger Clawson, who was present at the time, and whose arms was committed. With the representation of this tragedy are generally known especially among the Elders of Salt Lake, it lent peculiar interest to listen to its recital by an eye witness, and one whose deliverance at that time from the same fate of Elder Standing became more marvelous.

Apostle Cowley spoke briefly of his mission in Georgia, and bore testimony related every incident, tending to demonstrate the presence of inspiration in the affairs of a missionary life.

Miss Rosa Edmonds delighted the audience with her excellent singing, and a quartet composed of Sisters Armstrong, Miss Lottie E. Foil, and a quartet by Sisters Martin Hood, Annie Cooke, Mrs. Calder and Mrs. Jessie Wade Davis.

The conference decided to retain the officers organized in Georgia, viz: President Hodger Clawson, president; Nathanan as president, and Will G. Fisher secretary.

The annual reunion of the New Zealand and Australian missions was held last evening in the Fourteenth ward meeting hall. The room was well filled with returned Elders and their friends and the cordial handshakes and hearty greetings indicated the pleasure experienced in meeting old friends.

From northern Idaho to southern Arizona representatives of Elders in the three missions and returned from all parts of Utah and adjacent States were present.

The evening's entertainment commenced with a hymn rendered in the Maori language by the Elders.

President F. A. Hammond of San Juan Stake—a native missionary to the Hawaiian Islands, offered the opening prayer.

The following musical program was presented:

Young ladies' quartet—from Twenty-third ward.
Recitation—Miss Alice Calfee.

During the evening Elder Wm. Gardner, ex-president of Australian mission, gave a very interesting account of his experiences in the South land in his original and humorous style. The intense interest of the audience was completely enjoyed by his old colleagues.

Elder D. Goddard, as president of Kaiser Maori mission, delivered a very interesting address, in all present and completely entered to the work of the association in disseminating literature, tracts and pamphlets, and translating works in Maori language. He referred to several letters recently received from Elder Parry, of Hawaiian mission, and Elder Hendry, relating all returned Elders to unite in establishing suitable headquarters in the city of Auckland. President Joseph F. Smith was present and congratulated the Elders upon the success of the reunion.

Elder Hodgson, who has experienced, when called upon to do. In nearly every instance, the book values of the company exceed the Salt Lake real estate values are based on market values, and Marion, on the latter as a basis of values, this company would have an surplus of over $100,000 after deducting its liabilities of more than $25,000.00.

SOUTHWESTERN STAKES.

Elders from That Section Sing Give Each Other Greeting—Set to Thirteenth Ward.

The Elders who have labored in the southwestern Zion stakes gathered this afternoon in the tenth ward meeting hall in the Thirteenth ward assembly hall. A large and attractive audience greeted the Elders. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and the meeting was a success in every particular.

President William T. Jack of the mission introduced as a guest of honor a young man who had come from the Elders in the southern Utah stakes, and teacher upon the excellent work of the older band of young men who had come from the Elders in the Mormon mission, and which the spirit of real calling to preach the truth to the people.

After the remarks of President Jack W. D. Lewis rendered "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Apostle George Teasdale was the next speaker. He made a letter to the Elders and saints was to devote their lives to the work of God and never slack in their work.

Horace Sangin, who has charged as junior Salt Lake audiences with his excellent "Jonathan," and "Tyrone's Horse."

Elder J. W. McMurrin stated that it was a pleasure to him to be with the Elders that he had filled several missions, and felt grateful for having such privileges. He spoke of the hardships and trials endured by the mothers and wives of these missionaries, and praised them for their faithfulness. A number of the Elders who had left Utah had delighted the assembled Saints, and the two sisters, "The Sister Dear" and "Sweet Home," were sung by Sisters Adelbert Beesley brought forth a round of applause. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

LOCAL BUILDERS' PROTEST.

Appear before the Board of Regents and Renew it—Next Again Monday.

At the meeting of the board of regents of the University of Utah last yesterday afternoon, the committee from the Utah Federation of Labor appeared and Thomas Morris, A. H. Gibbons, J. H. Bottom and A. Brown, entered their protest against the award to W. H. Rooney of Chicago of the contract to construct the new University building. The committee, while not appearing for the Salt Lake contractors, expressed the hope that the board for all those buildings to be to one firm, when according to advertisement bids were asked for the different buildings separately. They offered to produce several Salt Lake contractors who had submitted bids on the building, and to that all contractors that the building was on the buildings separately as was intended by the board, and that if they also argued that in segregating the contracts the State would save $50,000. The board stated that if they were prepared to prove to Architects Watts, Hale and Anderson that the building could be put up for less money without loss to the State.

President Mary of the board of regents, stated that the board had conferred for this separately, they did so to enable them to contract for those two separate buildings, and that as indicated, so as to keep within the appropriation, the board never intended to segregate the contracts.

The action of Mr. Van Cott the matter was over until the regular meeting of the board, which meets Monday. Messrs. Rhoades and Van Cott, there were present Mrs. McCreary, Mrs. Lyons and Rosen, Kingsbury, Siter and Pierce.

PRIVATE JOHNSON RESTORED

Court Martial Sentence of the Young Guardsman Vacated.

Private Ellis Johnson, the guardsman who was arrested at the last encampment of the National Guard of Utah and tried by court martial for being asleep while on guard by the terms of a general order issued by Adjutant General Burton from general headquarters has been restored to his company. The verdict of the court martial was that Johnson be dishonorably discharged from the service. The order says forth that clemency manifested by the court martial in recommending that the sentence be suspended, and that it is hoped that the sentiment of the sentence will have the effect of impressing the members of the guard with the gravity of strict adherence to duty and equal to their home interest of their lives.

Charges have been preferred against Sergeant Samuel Hamlin, company D, to Captain Owen W. Hanson, Hamlin is charged with being absent from his armory without the consent of the captain and with refusing arrest and attempting to escape from the guard house with a gun. Hamlin's case will be tried before a court-martial shortly.
