FROM THE MISSION FIELD.

Although to Elder Dower Campbell it seemed like the hour of being the first to gather the sheaves of souls, he only made every an effort to fulfill a duty that devolved upon him as a faithful Elder, it is as Elder Dower said, "Not the distinction between labor, but the distribution of the Spirit of God to those who are ready to receive it." Elder Dower was one of the first baptisms in the Liverpool district, and he was ordained to the Elders' quorum and appointed second counselor to President Lamb, which he filled with credit to himself and to the satisfaction of his associates. He was also one of the first Elders who went to the Isle of Man, and he was the first President of the Douglas branch. He was also President of the Liverpool district when President Lamb was released to return home, and he was also President of the Liverpool district when President Lamb was released to return home, and he was also President of the Liverpool district when President Lamb was released to return home, and he
