A TRIP TO GUNNISON. GUNNISON, Sappete Co., Utah, Dec. 24, 1882.

Editor Descret News:

On the 26th of November, 1868, fourteen years ago, R. L. Campbell and myself visited this place, as well as Filmore and Empete Co., also one year ago last evening I had the pleasure of holding meeting with the good people of Gunnison. It is pleasant to mark the improvements in this and other settlements as years pass by. When first I visited here it was known as Gunnison Fort, fortified against the wild red men of the cedar forests, and many sorrowful tales can be told of the encounters with them, but faith, patience and perseverence amply reward the Gunnisonians when they see the wild man tamed, and desiring to live at peace with all men, and cultivate the earth, and imitate the white man. It was pleasant to visit yesterday a strong stone building containing 8,000 bushels of wheat and to learn that 700 bushels of it belonged to the Relief Society of this place, also to hold meeting, in a very comfortable Stone Hall erected by the same society. The elsters are doing a magnanimous work in this place, which is praisworthy. Day before same rociety. The eleters are doing a magnanimous work in this place, which is praisworthy. Day before yesterday I had the pleasure of addressing a very commendable school in company of Bishop C. A. Madsen. There are about 125 scholars enroled, and the school is conducted by Miss Lizzle Stevenson, assisted by Miss Lizzle Stevenson, assisted by Miss Lizzle Stevenson, assisted by Miss Anie Campbell, both of Salt Lake City. At the close of the school singing exersises, and physical display were indulged in for the expansion of the imuscles and nerves, it was interesting to see the accuracy

Hall the chorus of the united school was touching, but more so, was a song of a little 7 or 8 years old girl "I am going to write to Pa, he'll be so glad to get a little letter from me," and as her father was at this time on a mission in Georgia many syss dampened and the finer feelings of many were moved, also all attention was given to a little child's song, "I'll not forget to pray"; "The little Swiss toy girl" was very attractive. The concert was enjoyable as well as a success. Some of the preceded I learn will trim a Christmas tree for the delight of the youngsters to morrow. I felf entertained instevening with a visit and a few remarks at the Young Men, a Mutual Improvement Association.
