A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Faust for the stand he took at St. in the National Cattlemen's Association against leasing the public domain to cattle owners, to the detriment of farmers, dairymen and small stock growers, as It was due to his efforts that Utah was left out of the memorial sent to Congress by said convention.

Yesterday another organization ;was both between 14 and 15 years of age, formed at Farmington. It was a lively meeting and well attended. Officers were chosen from sixty-four names enrolled. B. F. Knowlton, president; last evening by an officer drunk and J. H. Grant, first vice-president; J. profane, she will work for her board H. Larkins, second vice-president; E. B. Constable Milner, who was standing near, requested them to desist. At this juncture Mr. McKenzie plunged forward for his adversary, who, drawing a revolver fired two shots, one of which took effect in the anterior portion of the left leg, between the knee and thigh. Mr. McKenzle was taken from the court room, and a physician summoned, while Mr. Sinnott delivered bimself up to the proper officers and was placed in jail. Mr. Sinnott has always been regarded as one of the most inoffensive citizons of the city, and the matter is universally deplored. He says he had no idea of such an occurrence, but in the absence of physical ability he was compelled to call upon the revolver for sell-de fense.

CULLED FROM LATEST EXCHANGES. -A couple of thieves stole fifty horses one day last week from Morgan's ranch on Bear River. They were closely pursued and have probably been overtaken and suitably punished before this.

-Monday morning, between 1 and 2 'clock, Jack Castello, of Ketchum, was accidenally shot on the streets of Hailey by Billy McWilliam. It seems that Jack was firing his gun at random when McWilliams tried to get it away, and in the tussel Castello got shot in the leg. The ball entered above the knee, breaking the bone.

Coming Home.—Elder George C. Lambert, who has been for some time on a mission in Great Britain, having been released by President John Henry Smith to return home, left Liverpool, with Salt Lake City as his destination, on the 6th inst. He will probably reach here on or atout next Sunday. We, in common with numerous other friends, will be pleased to welcome Brother George on his return home.

A Green Young Man.

"Talking of greenhorns," said an old conductor to me recently, "it's in the older States one sees the greenest of them. Fifteen years ago I was running a passenger train down in Kentucky. One morning when the train drew up at a little station a chap in copperdyed breeches, blue jeans coat and vest, and a home-made wool hat addressed me as I stepped to the ground."

"Is you the clerk of this kyar?"
"I'm the conductor—what do you want?" I answered him. "I want to go to Louisville on this kyar."

"Well, get aboard,' I told him. He climbed the steps and knocked at the door. When he rapped a second time some wag inside called out, 'Come in!' There were at least forty passengers in the coach. He began at the front scat, shaking hands with every one clear to the back end, and asking each, 'How you do?' and then, 'How's you-folks?' Of course it was a regular circus for the rest of the passengers. He lived thirty miles back in the mountains and had never been on a train before. When he stepped off the car at Louisville I felt sorry for him.

"Well, I left Kentucky and came to illinois. One day, four years ago, while on a visit to Louisville, a well dressed, well-to-do looking may stopped me on the street. He had to tell we where I had ever seen him betell we where I had ever seen him be-fore. Would you believe it? that greenhorn had developed into one of the first merchants of Louisville, and is to-day reputed to be worth $100,000."

GEN. MAHONE AND HIS THIN LEGS.
—Senator Mahone is an irritable man, and has the thinest legs in the world. One cold, blustery morning in December, 1864, his tent was pitched on a bleak Virginia hillside. He was indulging in a morning nap when Uncle Davie, his negro body servant, tiptoed in, stumbled over something, knocked over the General's cot and spilled him on the ground. Springing to his feet the irrate General grabbed a sword and gave chase to the flying Davie. The darkie jumped a fence, and, feeling safe, turned to the General whose unclad limbs were shaking with cold, and yelled: "Masser William, you ain't trustin' you'self in dis wind on dem legs, is you?—Washington Capital.
