C. E. Allen, Rep., was voted for by Law; the other Republicans supported A. L. Thomas.

The most notable feature of the day was the speech by Senator Whitney, who on arising to cast his vote on the first ballot taken today, (the sixth, said):

O. F. WHITNEY'S SPEECH.

Mr. President—The situation confronting us is to me somewhat painful; as any situation must be which involves and necessitates a choice between friends. A number of gentlemen have been named here as candidates for the high and honorable position of United States Senator, any one of whom would, in my opinion, grace this position and, faithfully discharge the duties thereof. But, unfortunately, only one of them can be chosen, as there is only one vacancy to be filled. This I regret, for there are all also men, there are all friends of mine, and I wish with all my heart that there were sonatorships enough to go round. But there are not, and hence the difficulty of the situation. Like the Lady Desdemona, when required to choose between her father and her husband, "I do perceive here a divided duty." It is not with me a case of loving Caesar less and Rome more. It is a clear case of "how happy could I be with either, were t'other dear charmer away." (Laughter.)

But, since I must make a choice, and may cause but one, I shall do so, I have done so, confident in the belief that my selection of a candidate is based upon the best judgment that I can bring to bear upon this question. The gentleman I have named is not an orator, he is not a lawyer; but he need not be in order to fill the requirements of the exalted station to which he aspires. Oratory and legal ability are powers, they are valuable, but they are not the only requisites in a senator of the United States. We have lawyers, we have orators already there, to represent us in the halls of Congress. Why vile Dillon on Owen? Why carry coals to Newcastle, or salt to the dead sea of America? With a position open in the lower house, and a talented orator and lawyer in the upper house, what is needed at their component, to complete the magic circle, is a businessman, big-hearted, broad-minded business man, a friend to Utah and her people; such a man, in short, as I have already named and voted for. Mr. I take pleasure in again rising to bear for that noble and worthy gentleman, enterprising man of affairs, that patriotic citizen, that sound silver Democrat, that true-hearted friend to Utah and her people, the Hon. Alfred W. McCune. (Applause.)

The speech of Senator Whitney was listened to with profound attention. A demonstration of applause followed but was quickly checked by the presiding officer.

On the seventh ballot Perry voted for Mattie Hughes Cannon; otherwise the vote remained the same as at first. On the eighth ballot Perry again voted for Nebeker, on the ninth and tenth ballots there was no change.

A motion by Mansfield to adjourn was put and lost.

Evans moved that when the joint assembly dissolves it do so to reassemble at 3.30 o'clock. He began to speak in favor of his motion and Jackson rose to a point of order which was sustained by the chair. The motion was withdrawn. Three more ballots were then taken. On the eleventh ballot Rigby changed his vote from McCune to King, making McCune 15 and King 16.

On the Twelfth and Thirteenth ballots no change occurred.

The joint assembly then dissolved, to reconvene at 3.30 p. m.

The Legislature resumed its joint session at 3:30 p. m., and again voted for U. S. Senator.

Two representatives changed their votes from King to McCune on third ballot. They were Mr. Horne and Speaker Derbyshire making the vote between these candidates stand McCune 15.

King 17.

A. W. McCune gained one more vote on the next ballot, it came from Representative Fullmer. This reduced King's vote to 16, and increased McCune's to the same number. The votes remained the same.

SENATE.

At 11:30 this morning President Nebeker called the Senate to order. Prayer was offered by the chaplain, and the journal of the 16th day was approved.

A communication from the House was read, stating that the Speaker had signed H. B. 18, providing for the payment of the regular and contingent expenses of the Legislature, and had forwarded the bill for signature by the President of the Senate. "There being no objection," said the President, "the bill will be signed."

The Senate adjourned to meet the House in joint assembly, and on reassembling after the joint assembly had dissolved, immediately adjourned.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

Congress Memorialized to Restrain Use of Navajo Indians in San Juan County.

The House members did considerable business today after a recess of five minutes taken immediately subsequent to the dissolution of the joint assembly. Among other matters disposed of was the passage of a memorial to Congress for legislation to restrain the depredations of the Ute and Navajo Indians in San Juan county. The memorial which is as follows will come up on reconsideration tomorrow:

"That the Ute and Navajo Indians, situate in Colorado and Arizona respectively, and having reservations therein, pass beyond their reservations and into the State of Utah and commit depredations upon the property of the people in said State.

"Your memorialists further represent that against efforts are not made by the government to protect the citizens of said State of Utah from the depredations of said Indians or to control and restrain said Indians within reservations assigned to them. By reason of proper restraint not being exercised by the government they pass into said State of Utah with their flocks and herds and depasture the land, despoil people of their property and spread terror amongst the inhabitants.

"Your memorialists therefore respectfully request that the necessary legislation be enacted by Congress to properly restrain said Indians, and that the proper departments be empowered and required to protect said Indians from passing into the State of Utah. And as in duty bound your memorialists will ever pray."

MAKING REPAIRS TO THE ROAD.

Salt Lake and Ogden Getting Ready for Summer Business.

TWO LOCOMOTIVES COMING.

Agents of All the Roads are Hustling—Happenings in Railway Circles.

The new new engines purchased by the Rio Grande and Ogden railroad of the Northern Pacific have been undergoing a thorough course of repairing and will be ready to ship west in a short time. They are of a 1,000 weight and all necessary improvements are being put upon them. Mr. Bamberger said this morning that they would be able to haul a load of fifteen cars from this city to the Lagoon in a half hour.

For some time past the company has been putting in the time with repairs. At all the curves there will be fifty-six pound steel rails, replacing the old ones, and thousands of ties are being placed upon the road. The manager states that by the fall he is in good a shape as any road in Utah when all the repairs are completed.

Over at Lucon there is a force of workmen at work on the Bingham branch. Both lines will be placed upon the island. Still, other improvements are being made on the road. It was Mr. Bamberger's intention to have a theater, but he was disappointed in getting the building he wanted in Omaha, or he says that he can afford to wait a year, as then he can get the building up at his own price. He stated this morning that it was his intention to push the road through to Ogden, but he could not say when this would be carried on.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Mr. Welty of the Western will be in from the south this evening.

General Superintendent Calvin of the Short Line left for Pocatello last night.

All the lines of the D. & R. G. head office, excepting Henry Castling, are out on the road hunting.

Frank Dupuy, who is on his wedding trip and whose home is at Walsatch, Utah, is with his father, who runs the D. G. W., for the West today.

The Windsor Hotel, Denver, will be the headquarters of the Utah delegation to the National Livestock convention.

C. J. Mills, general agent of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, is in the city from the north.

Auditor Hills of the Short Line, who has been absent with the other officials of the road in the East for a few days on some business, returned today.

The movement of soldiers and sailors east and west is quite common now, where a car load of sailors went west over the Union Pacific Tuesday, and a carload of soldiers passed through Ogden yesterday in the same direction.

An amusing incident occurred a day or two ago that illustrates how keen competition between the railroad companies does business in the West. Many carloads of cattle were to be shipped, and no less than five agents were after them. Each one told a Salt Lake reporter that he was sure to get them, but he stated that the subject to keep quiet. Mr. Choate of the Union Pacific had the cars ordered for the shipment, but the cattle went West instead of East.

A dispatch was received from Pueblo, Colo., this morning, that the Rio Grande Western today, which states that Reginald Baxter of the corresponding force of the Denver and Rio Grande, and a surveying trip from Crescent station to the glenoids beds, a distance of 45 miles, in the interest of the general office of the road have brought out no further facts. It is thought that this survey is for the purpose of bringing the coal from Colton to the consolidated smelters to hold the right of way.

ANOTHER CHARGE AGAINST WEBER.

He is to be Arraigned on Saturday for Grand Larceny.

THREE MORE ARRAIGNMENTS

Charles Carlson Pleads not Guilty to Stabbing Nels Sorenson—Case of Gillen, the Alleged Forger.

Two more prisoners were arraigned before Judge Morrell today and one defendant who arraigned yesterday was required to enter a plea to another charge.

An order was made in the case of H. Weber, charged with embezzlement, by which the defendant will not be required to appear, Saturday morning, to an amended information accusing him of grand larceny also.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

Charles Carlson, a Scandinavian, stabbed to Nels Rogich, was arraigned on the charge of assault with intent to commit murder, to which he entered a plea of not guilty. The defendant's counsel, Mr. Farley, P. Christensen, interpreted the information to Carlson.

The prisoner and a number of others were drinking in a Murray saloon on the Monday succeeding Christmas day, when some trouble arose between a quarrel and later in a free-for-all fight. A general "mixup" followed during which a man named Nels Sorenson got stabbed in the left side with a knife. All the parties were arrested in mass, arraigned by Deputy Sheriff Hanson and locked up in the county jail. The wounded man was conveyed to the hospital, and for a while it was thought he would succumb to his injuries. He soon recovered, however, and was able to appear at the preliminary examination, had before Justice McMaster on the 12th inst.

The testimony adduced at the preliminary hearing established the fact that the knife with which the stabbing was done, belonged to Carlson, but beyond this none of the witnesses examined could say who used the knife on Sorenson.

ANOTHER CHARGE OF FORGERY.

M. F. Gillen, who pleaded not guilty to forgery yesterday, was arraigned on another charge of a similar nature today. The case was postponed at the defense for Dederich and McCormick & Co., by forging a check for $1,65. Gillen pleaded not guilty. He will be defended by Attorney J. M. Hamilton.

The county attorney was given permission to amend the two informations charging Jack Richards, H. T. Lamb, Arthur and Norton Curtis with burglary, without requiring the defendants to again plead. It appears that the informations alleged that the crimes were committed in Salt Lake county, section 36, range 1 south of 1 west, Granger precinct. The court thought it was a matter of surplusage and permitted an amendment so as to include township 1.

Trial of a Sharp Case.

The case of Alfred Green and W. J. Green, doing business as Green & Green, vs William Attwood, was tried before Judge Cherry and a jury today. Attorney H. A. Smith appeared for the plaintiffs and Richards & Richards & Varian for the defendant.

Action in this case was brought by plaintiff to recover $1,323.50 as damages for the willful allowing of defendant's cows to rub with plaintiff's sheep out of season.

The defense was a general denial.

The trial was still in progress when the "News" report closed.

Supreme Court Matters.

Arguments in the case of I. C. Thomson vs the State board of examiners was argued before the Supreme court today. Footnote in this case sued to recover a sum of money paid out in lieu of a school land. The State paid the money to the plaintiff, and Thomson the sum it received, but the latter says the State allowed the county to retain a portion of the amount and is therefore indebted to him the entire amount.

The case of Isaac McKay and William W. Ward was continued for the term.

The case of J. Golden Kimball et al, appellants, vs Thomas P. Lewis, sheriff, et al, was reset for January 23th.

POLICE COURT.

At the police court this afternoon there were an unusually large number facing his bonds when he took his seat.

At the station when the officers came into a restaurant down town, Brown recognized the stolen rubber in Hughes' possession. He was fined $25, or a like number of days in jail.

Mike Lynch, who is said to have been making life miserable over on North First West street, at the home of Dodge, was fined $10 and costs, for his use of foul and abusive language.

CLAIMED TO BE SWINDLED

Story that a Denver Man Tells of Other Denver Parties.

The story locating current last night that William A. Robertson, the bookkeeper of the California Wine Co., had been swindled out of $119 by A. L. Nee, superintendent of internal revenue of the Colorado district.

The facts as they were ascertained today are that Nee was a frequent visitor to this city and made his headquarters at the office of the wine company, where he was in the habit of getting his checks cashed. A day before Christmas he came to the city to consult with a woman by the name of Wright, and put to at the Grand Pacific hotel, registering their names as K. L. Egbert and sister. He told the hotel clerk that they were in the employ of the Pullman company. The clerk became suspicious and demanded pay for their lodgings, which they were unable to give. The woman, however, said that she had a check made by ex-Collector Nee, which she would cash at any time. This satisfied the clerk, and upon the following morning he accompanied the woman to the wine company's office, where she told Robertson that Mr. Nee would be at on the following Thursday and redeem the check. As Mr. Robertson had cashed Nee's checks before, he cashed the two checks the woman presented, and she got the money on them on the book.

The fact of Nee's presence in the city at the time would not have been known but that a friend happened to see him at the hotel, who asked him as a favor to keep it quiet. As he was on a spree he complied, returned to the hotel and paid the bill which both she and Nee disappeared.

The Denver bank, on which the checks were drawn, reported no funds, and Robertson had to pay the bill. Learning recently that Nee had appeared in Denver he commenced proceeding and a telegram was sent to have the man arrested. No trace has been found of the woman.

MRS. BUSBY'S CASE.

POULTRY SHOW IN FULL SWING.

Crowds Testify to the Increasing Interest Manifested.

COMIC TUMBLING PIGEONS.

Splendid Exhibition of Domestic and Fancy Breeds—List of Prize Winners Today.

The ordinary individual who believes that all chickens look alike, poultry would be somewhat surprised to have his pet theory shattered after a visit to the poultry show that is now in progress on East Temple street.

Quite a goodly crowd visited the show today and expressed themselves as being surprised at the variety of stock exhibited, the elegant coops and cramped quarters rented for the occasion of the fourth annual exhibit of the Utah Poultry association.

To those who are not connoisseurs on the points of poultry, the incubator that stands outside the entrance is an unfailing source of interest. The "cool-cell hen" is doing good work, too, as eighty-three broken egg shells and a corresponding number of velvetty chicks testify to the fact of which it is the mother. It is hoped that the sedate old hen who is conscientiously hatching out her brood in the vicinity of the incubator will do so.

Apart from the interesting incubator exhibit of Mr. C. J. Trump, there are plenty of other exhibits that attract the eye of the visitor.

The star exhibit is essentially that of the Brook ranch, situated in this city in coal yards are shown Brookfield stock, embracing Belgian hares, rural homing pigeons that have won flying records in other cities, Buff Cochin Bantams, Plymouth Rocks and ducks. All these exhibits, with the exception of the ducks, are simply on show and are not in the competition for prizes. Manager E. C. Adams of the ranch was quite enthusiastic to a News reporter this afternoon regarding the merits of the Belgian hare industry. He stated that the blood of these rodents exists that of the spring chicken, and when one recognizes the fact that the Belgian hare weighs up to 20 pounds of meat may be raised in the course of a year, the future of the industry in the neighborhood of twenty-five cents a pound, it is no wonder that some of the pedigree stock reaches the fancy price of $50.

Another notable exhibit is that of Mr. and Mrs. George Tegeam of the "White Farm," in Sugar House, where a flock of ten pens without a black feather is in them. Here one may see pure white Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Pekin ducks and pigeons.

The pigeon species is well represented at the show. The judging of the show was a most hilarious proceeding this afternoon. All parties concerned gravely, with a circle, Judge M. W. Browning and Secretary W. G. Marquiss looking as grave and wise as the proceedings demanded. Then Mr. P. O. Jones trotted out his tumblers, singly, into the ring. By the aid of a stick with a rag attached he coaxed the birds into activity that consisted in turning cartwheels, somersaults and general "birdlike" antics, the whole of which earned the most ludicrous scores.

Possibly one of the most remarkable pairs of birds in the show belong to the Brook Ranch Buff Cochin Bantams is a Shamo Jap cockerel and pullet, bred from birds direct from the Mikado of Japan's own particular private poultry yard. This unique pair of birds is the property of Mr. J. W. Jenkins of Salt Lake City.

OPEN LETTERS FROM

Jennie B. Green and Mrs. Harry Hardy.

JENNIE B. GREEN, Denmark, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I had been sick at my monthly periods for seven years, and tried almost everything I ever heard of, but without any benefit. Was troubled with backache, headache, pains in the shoulders and dizziness. Through my mother I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has done me so much good. I am now sound and well."

Mrs. HARRY HARDY, Riverside, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham the story of her struggle with serious ovarian trouble, and the benefit she received from the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This is her letter:

"How thankful I am that I took your medicine. I was troubled for two years with inflammation of the womb and ovaries, would was also very low. I was in constant misery. I had heart trouble, was short of breath and could not walk five blocks to save my life. Suffered very much with my back, had headache all the time, was nervous, menstruations were irregular and painful, had a bad discharge and was troubled with bloating. I was a perfect wreck. Had doctored and taken local treatments, but still was no better. I was advised by one of my neighbors to write to you. I have now finished the second bottle of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and am better in every way. I am able to do all my own work and can walk nearly a mile without fatigue; something I had not been able to do for over two years. Your medicine has done so much good than all the doctors."

The People Believe

What They Read About Hood's Sarsaparilla

Their Faith in This Medicine Is Grounded on Merit

They Know It Absolutely Cures When Other Medicines Fail

Hood's Sarsaparilla is not merely a simple preparation of Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and a little bottle of Potassium. Because these articles alone are valuable, it also contains those great anti-bilious and liver remedies, Mandrake and Dandelion. It also contains those great kidney remedies, Uva Ursi, Juniper Berries, and Pipsissewa.

Now are these all. Other very valuable curative agents are harmoniously combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is carefully prepared under the personal supervision of a regularly educated pharmacist.

Knowing these facts, is the abiding faith the people have in Hood's Sarsaparilla a matter of surprise? You can see why Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, when other medicines totally, absolutely fail.

"My little girl was afflicted with eczema and suffered for seven years. She was attended by physicians and tried many different kinds of medicine without relief. After taking a few bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla she was cured." MRS. EMMA FRANKLIN, Hoosuck, New York.
