GOETTE MURDER MYSTERY.

Denver Authorities Have New Light in This Connection.

Believed Now that Beeler Killed Goette in a Quarrel—New Search for the Body.

The Goette murder mystery is beginning to unravel, says the Denver Post. From what is now known the crime was not such an unusual affair as a piece of work or was first believed. It has been the theory of the police that Ruth H. Beeler, known also as Tommy Beeler, and E. C. Newlin of Newton, in cold blood conceived the idea and conspired with two other men to rob Otto Goette of his sheep and murder him. From what has been learned by the sheriff's officers concerning the matter it is probable that the crime was not planned in cold blood, weeks in advance, as was first thought, but on the contrary, the supposed murderer did his work in a more natural way and was compelled to take such steps to get his money out of the job and get away as best he could under the circumstances.

It has been learned from friends of the missing Goette (not Newlin, or Beeler, is a way, had a claim on the sheep that were driven off and sold. The two men had an agreement that Beeler, who was a rancher, should take charge of the big herd of sheep and for caring for them, receive a portion of the profit from the increase of the flock. He was to have taken charge of the sheep on October 2, but failed to appear on that day. He came on the ever, but Goette said that a man who wouldn't come at the time agreed upon couldn't have his sheep. Then the two men quarreled bitterly over the matter.

About 4 o'clock in the evening they were heard wrangling near the big reservoir which supplies the district with irrigating water. The officers now believe that the quarrel led to a fight in which Goette was killed and Beeler, finding that he was in a bad box, concluded to make the best of it by selling the sheep and using the money in and his escape.

Working on this theory Deputy Sheriff Baker, who leaves tomorrow for Dyson, intends to first drag the lake and if this fails to develop anything, to search every foot of ground around the Goette cabin. There is talk of having the lake drained, as it is believed this will be the only sure way of solving the question whether Goette's body is hidden under the surface.

Tomorrow morning Detective Sandoval will return to this city without the success Sandoval thought he was on Beeler's trail when he left here two weeks ago but he was evidently wrong, as he is coming home without his man in custody.

Beeler has resided in Denver, and in the vicinity of Brush. He worked for Charles F. Owens a cattleman, near Dyson, for several months. He was looked upon by his employer as a faithful and honest man and was trusted with many things. It was Owens who gave the police the information that Beeler was the man who drove off Goette's sheep.

Owens said that Beeler disappeared from his ranch a day or so previous to the time the sheep were stolen, and Owens concluded at the Goette's sheep were stolen by Beeler and the money for them, $1,800, on his return from Omaha, where he had disposed of them.

According to Owens, Beeler is the owner of a large ranch in Wyoming and it all probability it was to this place that he first went after driving the sheep. Chief Farley and Sandoval in this place, thinking that all that would be necessary was to arrest his man and bring him back. The crime is supposed to be charged to the inventory of the state and had to be reached for stage. When Sandoval arrived there he was told that he had left the place Beeler had left from there for a long time.

It was then thought that Beeler had gone to California and the police in San Francisco were notified to look out for him and watch that he did not board a steamer for some foreign country.

Chief Farley now believes there has been some vacillating shown by different people who have given what they formed "information" about the case. He has not given up the chase and intends, just well in the future whenever he has the fugitive down on a different line.

Beeler has two brothers living in this city. One is Arthur Beeler, a clerk for the tramway company, and the other Dewant H. Beeler, is a clerk in Deeble & Pinkerton's store.

Deputy Sheriff Al Baker called at police headquarters and inquired of the chief of he had any inquiries to be made regarding the search for Goette's body. Baker will take a searching party to Dyson tomorrow night and says he will make a systematic search over the whole vicinity.

From the Mission Field.

Elder W. E. Robinson and wife of American Fork made a pleasant call on the "News" Friday, the former reporting his return from the Southern States Mission. He left Chattanooga, Tenn., June 14, 1898, and returned September 12, 1898. He labored while absent in the East Tennessee conference, presiding over the conference the last eight months of his mission. In the main his health was good and he left the conference in a flourishing condition, with signs of a gradual improvement and good treatment at the hands of the people.

Elder Alfred Keart of Lakeowen, Rich county, Utah, returned Tuesday from a mission to the Southern States, whither he went Jan. 14, 1896. Elder Keart labored in the South Alabama conference, embracing a portion of the states of North Carolina and Georgia. He reports the work progressing in that field in spite of prejudice dealing and the Gospel roaring in the larger cities. As an evidence of the good treatment received Elder Keart calls attention to the fact that for seven months he and his companions labored in the counties of Berkeley and Charleston, South Carolina, and were refused hospitality but once, and had to ask for it but three times, their entertainment on all other occasions being by invitation. The Elders, he says, are doing a good work and reaching many of the honest in heart. Recently two Sunday schools and two branches have been organized, one church built, and another building made ready for meeting purposes.

Elder M. N. Mathison, of Georgetown, Ida., returned Thursday morning, the 6th inst., from the Northern States mission field. Elder Mathison left Salt Lake City Dec. 2, 1896, and labored in the state of Missouri, where, says he, a good work is being done in the direction of the Gospel. He has had good health and enjoyed his labors, and before returning attended the Nebraska conference held at Omaha last Saturday and Sunday, where a good time was had.

Prosperous in the North.

F. J. Hewlett of the manufacturing firm of Hewlett Bros., returned last evening from a six weeks' trip through Cache, Malad, Oneida, Star and Bear Lake, Malad, Oneida, Star and Bear Lake, and business is reported as being good. The merchants are all happy and prosperous, while the farmers faces are wrinkled in smiles. The threshing machines are all on the move from break of day until the last ray of light has disappeared, and still it looks impossible in some localities to get through with the immense crop of grain before the heavy storms of winter set in. Andrew Smith Jr. accompanied Mr. Hewlett and will take care of the firm's interest for the future on this well favored section.

Gone to Omaha Monday.

Councilman Calister will leave for Omaha Monday accompanied by his wife. Mr. Calister goes as the accredited representative from Utah to attend an executive committee meeting of the National Black Growers' association. The committee's annual meeting will be held in January next and the executive committee will discuss plans for the meeting and also confer with the question of a national bounty on wild animals, stock transportation and other matters affecting stock growers in general.

HOMES FOR THOUSANDS.

To Latter-day Saints Who Desire Good Places to Make Comfortable Homes.

A Good Opportunity to Accumulate Means to Pay for Them Without Incurring the Bondage of Debt.

One hundred thousand dollars in labor wanted.

Fifty miles of the Alberta company's canal to be built, for which half will be paid in cash and balance in second-best prairie land, at $5 an acre, with free water for two years to first settlers on these lands.

Lands are to be settled in hamlet or settlement form, in order to afford settlers the benefit of ward organization, including day and Sabbath schools.

All labor will be contract work, at ten cents a cubic yard for earth work. Gravel, loose and solid rock to be paid for in proportion.

An industrious, able-bodied man, with team can earn a good farm, town lot and cottage in one year.

Lands to be settled are adjacent to a railway. Plenty of coal for fuel near at hand.

President C. O. Card, writing to the First Presidency under date of September 23rd, says that work has commenced on the canal, that parties in Utah desiring to do work this fall would do well to bring their teams and wagons by railroad. By doing this they could be at work on the canal in less than a week after starting. Speaking about wintering teams, he says that hay, if needed, will not exceed $4 a ton, and besides it can be cut there as late as a month from the date of his letter; that no hay will be needed on the canal, as for miles in its immediate vicinity grass is farm six to twelve inches high. When work cannot be done on the canal, men can be building houses for themselves. He advises men to come with their teams, leaving their families until the spring, by which time houses may be provided for them. Parties desiring to join the new settlers in making homes, who may not care to do work on the canal, can obtain land through President Card.

For special rates of transportation for passengers, household goods, teams, etc., etc., apply to Wm. C. Spence, Box B, Salt Lake City, or C. O. Card, Cardston, N. W. T., Canada.
