A "PROFESSOR'S" PECCADILLOS.

He Visits American Fork and Dupes the Residents of That Place.

"Professor" North is not exactly the sort of person that the good people of American Fork took him to be. He went among them as a stranger in mid-winter, without money, and almost without clothes. His story was to the effect that he had been the foot-ball of fate, the creature of circumstances—that, in fact, he was of English extraction and had at one time belonged to the "upper crust" of British society. He managed to ingratiate himself into the good graces of a philanthropic lady, by whom he was housed and boarded. Introduced by his benefactress' son to some of the better residents of American Fork, the "Professor," being an accomplished pianist, soon gathered a nice little school of pupils around him. Added to this, he was appointed instructor of the local brass band. The lady who had so generously taken him by the hand assisted him in many ways, and by and by he patronized an American Fork tailor, from whom he obtained clothes, to the value of $25, on credit. A few days ago his benefactress, placing every confidence in him, entrusted the "Professor" with $25 to expend for her, but since that day he has not been heard of. He has taken with him, likewise, a first class cornet, for which the members of the band had given him the purchase price. If caught he will be taught a lesson on the subject of man's ingratitude.

Court Callings.

J. J. Cushman, whose trial occupied a large part of yesterday in Judge Zane's court, was acquitted on a charge of stealing a trunk belonging to Deputy Marshal Kerry. The facts were reported in yesterday's News.

Martha Atkins was granted a decree of divorce from Edward H. Atkins in Judge Anderson's court yesterday afternoon, and allowed $25 per month alimony.

The second indictment against John Stringham, charging him with grand larceny, has been dismissed on motion of Prosecuting Attorney Varian. Stringham is now in the Penitentiary serving a term of imprisonment on a conviction for a similar offense.

James Shonan and Peter Burns were arraigned yesterday afternoon on the charge of having stolen an overcoat from the residence of W. F. Andrews, in this city on February of this year. Shonan pleaded guilty and was sentenced to four months imprisonment in the county, and Burns was discharged.

In the case of Benjamin Duncan vs. the Rio Grande Western Railway company notice has been filed that the cause has been settled by the parties and it is stipulated that judgment may be entered upon the merits of the case in favor of the defendant without cost.

A default has been entered in the case of Thomas T. Gane et al. vs. the F. J. Smith Printing company.

H. L. Hall, lessee of the White House, has brought suit in the Third District court against Clara E. Pollock for breach of contract. He claims damages in the sum of $15,000. Susanna Hall brings a suit against the same defendant for damages alleged to be sustained by reason of the latter inciting her servants and creditors to bring attachment suits.

Suit has been lodged in the Third District court by Peter Sutherland against Frank H. Stephens et al. for damages in the sum of $500, for preventing him from moving a residence from one location in the city to a more eligible one in another part of the city.

The Deep Creek Country.

With Andrew Pratt has been filed a copy of the amendment of the articles of association of the Tintic Range Railway Company—the Rio Grande Western. It gives an outline of the proposed route to the Deep Creek country. The western terminus of the line is now at Mammoth Hollow. From Mammoth Hollow the road will run in a general westerly and northerly direction in the counties of Juab and Tooele to or near the Dugway pass in Tooele county. Thence northwesterly to or near Deep Creek in the Dutch Mountain mining district, either by a general northwesterly course or by running southwesterly to or near to Fish Springs mining district, and thence northwesterly to Deep Creek. Thence from Deep Creek southwesterly to the line of the State of Nevada, at a point within fifteen miles north of the intersection of the line between Juab and Tooele counties with said State line. In case the main line does not go by way of Fish Springs, the branch line will be built to the camp from or near Dugway pass. The total length of the main line from Springville to the Nevada line by way of Fish Springs is 225 miles and by the more direct route between Dugway pass and Deep Creek 212 miles.

Alta Stock Company.

The articles of incorporation of the above named company have just been filed. Salt Lake is named as the principal place of business, and operations will be conducted in Canada. The capital is $500,000, divided into 5000 shares of the par value of $100, held as follows:

James Wrathall, Grantsville, [illegible] shares; Thomas Smart, Jr., Logan, 4,000; John W. Taylor, Salt Lake, 4,000; Charles L. Anderson, Grantsville, 4,000; Isaac D. Haines, Logan, 4,000; Hyrum Sutton, Grantsville, 4,000; Thomas H. Clark, Jr., Grantsville, 4,000.

The company are the owners of 115,[illegible] acres of land in Alberta, Canada, which it has purchased from the Alberta Railway and Coal company, which it proposes to at once improve by the opening of canals and irrigation ditches generally.

A Natural Sheet of Paper.

Lafayette Knight, of Camas Prairie, has a remarkable curiosity—a sheet of paper made from nature's loom. It was found in an open seam in a tamarack tree. It is as soft and velvety as a baby's skin and resembles wood pulp in appearance. The sheet is fully a foot wide and two feet long.—East Oregonian.

HOME AT LAST.

She Had Looked Forward to Her Visit for Fifty Years.

She was an old looking little old woman in a skimpy and faded black alpaca dress and a big old fashioned black straw bonnet with some limp black feathers and faded ribbon on it. But her small and deeply wrinkled old face had a lovely look and her blue eyes were as bright and twinkling as the eyes of a child.

She talked to every person near her on the train and the burden of it all was that she was "going back home."

"Just think of it," she said in her cracked, childish voice, "it'll be fifty years next May, the 10th day, since I left my old home in New Hampshire, an I ain't never been back since, an here when I went away I reckoned sure I'd git back once in four or five years, anyhow, but I ain't never went until now, and it'll be fifty years the 10th day of next May. I was married on the 9th an me an Aaron, he's my husband, started for the west the very next day.

"Aaron said I should come home in two years, but our first baby was born about that time an I couldn't come then, an somehow or other there wasn't no time after that when I could come. But I ain't blamin Aaron. He'd been willin for me to come if I could of got off. Aaron, he's been back twice. It was easier for him to git away than for me.

"I'll find changes! La me! yes. There's skasly any one left that I know, but I've got an own sister an a brother who'll be glad to see me. An the old house I was born in is still standin. I know just how it looks. Some things'll be just as natchrel. There don't nobody know how glad I'll be to git back home. I'll be home in the mornin. Here you, Mr. Porter, mind that you git me up airly. But, la me! I ain't likely to oversleep so nigh home."

But she was not awake in the morning when all the other passengers were up and dressed. The porter called her, but there was no response, and one of the ladies in the car parted the curtains of the old lady's berth and stepped back with a frightened look, saying in a whisper: "She is dead!"

She had gone home in the night.—Detroit Free Press.

Danger in Smoking Rooms.

Remaining in closed rooms in which smoke is sometimes so thick that one cannot see is particularly to be avoided by people who are subject to weakness of the heart, even if they do not smoke. Dr. Vallin has recited before the Society of Medicine three conclusive facts in this respect. One told of a young officer who had given up the use of tobacco three months before, and who was overcome with a suffocation similar to angina after having passed two or three nights in his room where his friends had been in the habit of coming to smoke.

The case recalls an epidemic of the same disease observed by Dr. Gelineau among some sailors who were crowded in the hold of a tramp steamer. They were obliged during a storm to cover the hatchways and smoked to excess in order to have something to do. Even those who themselves did not smoke were stricken like the others, for they had inhaled the same poisonous air and subjected themselves to the action of nicotine upon the lungs.—Jules Rochard in Revue des Deux Mondes.

Sticky Onion Juice.

A very convenient mucilage can be made out of onion juice by any one who wishes to use it. A good sized Spanish onion, after being boiled a short time, will yield on being pressed quite a large quantity of very adhesive fluid. This is used quite extensively in various trades for pasting paper onto tin or zinc, or even glass, and the tenacity with which it holds would surprise any one on making the first attempt. It is the cheapest and best mucilage for such purposes, and answers just as well as many of the more costly and patent cements. Some of the cements sold by street fakirs at ten cents a bottle consist of nothing but onion juice and water, and the bottle and cork cost a great deal more than the contents.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Found All Over.

A good illustration of the amount of change brought about by deep sea investigations in our ideas of the distribution of the fishes is to be seen in the history of the discobola. It is now shown that the discoboles, disk bearers, lumpfishes, sucking fishes or sea snails, as they are variously called, are no longer restricted to the Atlantic and Pacific in their northern parts and to the Arctic ocean.—New York Times.

The End of Human Life.

An interesting calculation is made by a French geologist to the effect that, taking into consideration the wear and tear on the solid land by ocean washing, rivers, wind and weather, and leaving out of the calculation volcanic action, the world will in 4,500,000 years be completely under water and no dry land exist at all.—New York Journal.

Overdoing It.

He (fishing for loving protestations)—My angel, I do not believe I am worthy to be your husband.

She (thoughtfully)—That's just what my mother says.—New York [illegible]

A Relation of Washington.

One of the treasures of Bucksport is a time scarred oil portrait of the late Mrs. Jonathan Buck, nee Hannah Gale, who was a sister of George Washington's mother. Mr. Buck was the founder of Bucksport and made the first survey of the town in the year 1780. Now the question is, what relation is Bucksport to the father of his country?—Lewiston Journal.

An Argument Against Ether.

When anesthetics were first discovered it was urged by those who had learned to admire the dexterity of surgical art that the day of that art were doomed, that surgeons would become mere "piddlers," and that a false sentiment and fear about pain and the infliction of pain would take from the Esculapian fraternity the boldest and sturdiest qualities. No more heroes of surgery would now be born.—Dr. Richardson, in Longman's Magazine.

Doctors disagree. They have to. There are differences of opinion among the best; there will be so long as knowledge is incomplete.

But there is one subject on which all physicians are completely in accord, and that is the value of cod-liver oil in consumption and scrofula, and many other conditions in which the loss of fat is involved. And cod-liver oil has its greatest usefulness in Scott's Emulsion.

There is an interesting book on the subject; sent free.
