WILL VISIT ENGLAND

The Famous President of the Transvaal Republic.

THE PLANS OF CECIL RHODES.

A British Johannesburg to be Created Under British Auspices.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—President Kruger of the Transvaal has accepted the invitation extended to him by Colonial Secretary Chamberlain to come to England, accompanied by some of the members of the Transvaal executive, to act as commissioners. Probably a special session of the Volksraad will be called to pass a formal resolution and to nominate a commission.

Mr. Cecil Rhodes's order sailed for Cape Town on board the Norman Castle, from Southampton on Saturday. Advices received from London to the effect that Cecil Rhodes had not resigned, but on denying any knowledge of his brother Cecil's movements, it was reported that Cecil Rhodes had, at his last interview, expressed a wish. Great excitement was caused in the city by the report, but he was not seen to board the steamer.

RHODES'S PLANS.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The Times has an article this morning on the plans of Cecil Rhodes in South Africa, of which it says: "The first chapter is the attempt to be created, under a British Administration, of a British Johannesburg in Rhodesia. ?

"Mr. Rhodes believes that the mineral wealth of Rhodesia justifies a population large that within five years the population of Rhodesia will exceed that of the Transvaal, population of the Transvaal. In addition to spectacular attractive advantages, experts believe that the plateau of Mashonaland and Matabele contain minerals. It is also considered that Mr. Rhodes's project includes an intention to lead the way by putting the bulk of his own large fortune into the local enterprises, and to encourage the continuance of rather, the wild and spacious and poetic outlook."

The Times says in an editorial on Mr. Rhodes's plan: "The foregoing great scheme rests wholly upon the question the gold can be found. If it can be others must fall, but

The Daily News publishes an article by a person who knows Mr. Rhodes's views, and who says he has abandoned the idea of summoning the meeting of shareholders of the Chartered South Africa company, because it is unnecessary to prejudice the trial arising out of the Jameson raid. This winter says Rhodes may possibly return to London in time for the trial.

Mr. Chamberlain has provisionally stated that nothing has happened something other than such slight modifications in the terms of the charter of the South Africa company as might be agreed upon in the city in the hands of an officer appointed by the crown.

THE BRYAN BURGLAR.

Detectives Hunting for Missing Links in the Evidence.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 8.—All day the detectives have been trying to find the missing links in the chain of circumstances by which the story of the murder of Paul Bryan is to be shaped into perfect sequence. Also the search for the lost has been fruitless, although many leads are being followed up and investigated today.

Detective Geim and Watt have gone to girl's out. In it was a closely fashioned and a big stone, to keep it from being thrown away. It was found to be made between the Fort Thomas electric railway and the Dayton & Ohio railroad near their junction southward of Newport, Ky.

The mystery of the wounded man in the gill on Thursday night, January 30, the night before the murder was committed. From her arrival here on Monday, January 27th, up to 11 o'clock Thursday forenoon, her movements have been traced. The woman's status until 7 o'clock Friday evening when she was last seen alive.

The man at Dave Wallinglford's saloon, where she and Jackson were seen and where she drank a glass of mineral water.

Jackson's razor, found in Wallinglford's yard, was turned over to the police today. Medical experts say the girl's throat was cut with some very sharp instrument, razor or a surgeon's lancet. There are claims on the razor, but they are inconclusive.

To his correspondent of the Associated Press John Wallinglford and Jackson repeated their accusations against Bryan. Before another week the whole story will disentangle itself. There is scarcely a doubt that Germany will have jurisdiction of the case.

Alex Roberts, the negro at Dave Wallinglford's saloon, who was with Wallinglford, wrote to some friends the morning after the night before the murder. There is a question of veracity between him and Jackson, the barber. The negro says Jackson had whiskers on Friday night, and Jackson, the barber, says he shaved them off on Jackson on Thursday night. The negro was shown his letter and identified it as the one he gave to the girl on Friday evening, January 31st. The negro was allowed to go on his own recognizance. The offense are at this writing (midnight) searching for Alberta.

A GIRL FRIEND.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 9.—Lulu Hurl Hollingsworth, one of Pearl Bryan's girl friends, who has been living at 31 Henry street, knows a good deal about the tragedy. She is inclined to be communicative, in contrast to Superintendent Colt Colbert, who Hollingsworth says that on the morning of January 30th she was at the Union station and saw Miss Bryan. She talked in monosyllables and had some acquaintance with Miss Bryan's friends. After the usual greetings were over, Miss Bryan told her she was in great trouble. She explained the nature of her trouble. Jackson was responsible for her condition. She said it would be for her honor to have some of her friends, and she was going to Cincinnati. She asked Miss Hollingsworth to secure certain drugs, also Miss Hollingsworth told her what she had done. At this point in her story Miss Hollingsworth burst into tears. She said certain things had been purchased here and that four drug stores were visited. She would not tell the names of the drugs, but said whisky formed a large part of the mixture. She said she still purchased not 45 cents. She admitted the stuff was purchased by a woman.

Miss Hollingsworth's manner of telling her story convinced the officers she was holding something back.

"I am positive that Pearl was not murdered," she said.

"Well, how do you know?"

"I know, but I do not propose to tell."

"Why not?"

"Simply because I do not intend to incriminate myself."

Later Miss Hollingsworth told the police all she knew. She said she bought for Pearl three kinds of drugs, and instructed her to say another drug store she resided Cincinnati, but to be careful of it, as it was easily poison and would kill her if not used correctly.

Miss Hollingsworth says Pearl Bryan then said to her: "I will go to Cincinnati and take the stuff, and if it kills me I will be near Jackson and he will have to swing for it."

Miss Hollingsworth further says Pearl was very bitter toward Jackson, who was responsible for her condition.

PROBABLY MURDERED.

Alaska Indians Suspected of a Savage Deed.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Feb. 8.—According to advices received from Alaska, brought on the steamer Willapa, serious depredations have been made for a year while men and one woman who are believed to have been murdered by Hootsnoop Indians of Kake island. One of the men who was recently convicted of the murder of a white miner at Sitka, but somehow was commuted to life imprisonment.

Results of a Collision.

HANNIBAL, Mo., Feb. 9.—Fifteen persons were more or less seriously hurt and one killed outright as the result of a collision at 12:40 o'clock this afternoon, between an eastbound Wabash south train and a St. Louis, Keokuk & Northwestern passenger train coming south. The collision occurred near a tunnel one mile south of lake city. The south train, which had just emerged from the tunnel, struck the passenger train, crushing in the side of the ladies' coach and throwing it over an embankment almost into the Mississippi river. There were fifteen passengers in the coach, and that none were killed is a miraculous fact.

Jackson Gets Problem.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 8.—A letter received from a resident at Jackson's Hole says that the Indian problem of that region will be settled during the present year by the rapid settlement of the region by colonists. One hundred families are coming from Arkansas and Iowa. Five representatives of the colony visited the Hole sale in the fall and selected a large body of land easily irrigated upon which the colonists will settle.

The Pope Makes Promises.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 9.—The Porte has communicated to the ambassadors of the powers its reply to the proposals of the Zeitounlis to their conditions of surrender. It is stated that the Porte promises a satisfactory settlement.

Italians in Abyssinia.

ROME, Feb. 9.—It is stated that Gen. Baratieri has asked for the immediate dispatch of twelve battalions of infantry, six mounted batteries and 2,500 mules to Erythrea. The cabinet discussed the demand yesterday, and Premier Crispi had a long interview with King Humbert.

Why an English Editor was Discharged

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The Times this morning prints Mr. Henry J. C. Cust's explanation of his dismissal from the position of editor of the Pall Mall Gazette in the form of correspondence between him and W. W. Astor, the proprietor of the paper. Mr. Astor gives as his reasons for asking him to resign, the constant sneers and disparaging comments upon American affairs in the Pall Mall Gazette and his disregard for Mr. Astor's instructions.

TRADE IN CORPSES.

Railroad Employes Discover Nude Bodies in an Express Car.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Owing to a misunderstanding of addresses on a large box left at the Baltimore & Ohio depot in this city to be forwarded by express, the existence of a trade in corpses for dissecting purposes has been unearthed. The box bore two addresses, and the employes of the United States Express company were undecided as to what address it should be sent to. After the box had been at the station all day the employes forced its cover and one of them thrust in his hand, hoping the contents would indicate whether the box should go to Baltimore or Detroit, which were the two addresses. The employe caught hold of a human body. The box was then opened and it was found to contain the bodies of two women. At first it appeared that murder had been committed and that the bodies of the victims were being shipped out of town. The bodies were nude and one of them was that of an old colored woman. The other seemed to be the corpse of a young white woman twenty-five years old.

After working all day the detectives came to the conclusion that the bodies had been shipped by grave-robbers. It has been learned that a regular system by the abigging of bodies exists from the cemeteries about Washington city. The work has been carried on with astonishing boldness, and dozens of bodies have been sent out of town recently. This box was addressed to Angus McLean, 123 Pelham street, Detroit, Mich. Large boxes sent by the same set of men have been forwarded to New Haven and Hartford, Conn., Baltimore and other cities. Boxes were so heavy as to leave the belief that they contained three bodies.

IS IT SCHLEYER?

A New Working in the Chain Gang in Sacramento.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Feb. 8.—A man who has every appearance of being Schleyer, the so-called "Grip Reaper," who created such a sensation in Colorado, is believed to be working on the chain-gang in this city. He was sent to Fort Redlands as a vagrant late last night and passed by officers. He has a Teutonic expression, wears long hair and beard and is the very image of the pictures of Schleyer. He will talk to no one except when spoken and says he is doing penance for his sins. He has the white marks on his chest, near Yuma. When asked whether he would go from here he said toward the west or toward the south, whichever way he was called.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Feb. 10.—The same points of evidence that the new arrest confined in the county jail is really Francis Schleyer developed today. One is a comparison of his own handwriting with that of Schleyer and the other is the statement of another prisoner in the jail who saw Schleyer in Denver. He is positive that the man here and the leader are identical.

The strange man wants not write asking for his release, but was finally induced to write his name. When he returned the slip of paper it contained the words "Elijah Lyon." This was a small array of penmanship to compare with the letter of the genuine Schleyer and the name is not the same as any word in the letter, but there is a great similarity even in the small sample obtained.

The other prisoner who claims to recognize the man as Schleyer is also a tramp who happened to be in Denver when Schleyer's reputation was at its height and along with others went to see the house.

Fugitives Above the Law.

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 8.—Julian, Quinn, O'Hearne, Kinney, Davis and Kane, managers and lessees of the various pugilistic fistic for the carnival, state that after a thorough survey of the ground and information from some most vitally interested, they are satisfied that there is no possible danger of interference in any of the glove contests planned. The arrangements are perfect and the battles will be fought in the fairest and under conditions which preclude all cause of molestation from any source. The contests will take place in comfortable quarters, easy of access and arranged so as to afford seats for all who attend.

Colorado-Utah Lines Agree.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Colorado-Utah lines have virtually agreed to place their business under the Western passenger agreement. The Rio Grande Western has reached a satisfactory understanding with the eastern connections on all points of difference which separated them, and has agreed to become a member of the association contingently on the Colorado Midland and the Denver & Rio Grande doing the same.

EDISON EXPERIMENTS

With the Wonderful Discovery of Professor Roentgen.

LEWELLING, N. J., Feb. 8.—The laboratories of Thomas A. Edison have been besieged during the past few days by people who are anxious to know what progress the great experimenter has made in the use of Cooke's lates and their application to photography. It was expected that Mr. Edison would try to photograph the human brain today, but notwithstanding the fact that he and his helpers worked all night, they were unable to complete their labors.

In answer to a question as to the definition of the new light, Mr. Edison said: "The Roentgen ray is a wave in ether. More than this I cannot say at the present time. I consider it a very great discovery, and have confirmed all the experiments of him who first gave the discovery to the world. These experiments with the Edisonoid light are full very simple and beautiful, and I am only trying to increase the power and perfection of the record."

Refused to Try Hammond.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—A special to the World from London says: Although nothing on the subject has been printed here yet, information reaches here that President Krueger proposes to hand over John Hays Hammond for trial with Jameson in England, for direct complicity in the offense Jameson committed against English law. But the British government declines this proposal, on the obvious grounds that Mr. Hammond, being an American citizen and not having committed any offense in British territory, his trial in a British court will give just ground for complaint by the United States government.
