PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, - DEC 14, 1896.

Fourth District Court.

The December term of the Fourth district court opened yesterday morning. In addition to fixing the time for resentencing Harry Hayes the following business was transacted:

Martha H. Glazier vs A. O. Glazier; continued till December 21st.

Estate of Maria Davis, deceased; order of sale of real estate.

Willis K. Johnson vs James Woodhead et al; judgment for plaintiff and decree of foreclosure for $520, attorney's fee of $25 and costs.

State of Utah vs David Barnett et al; time to plead set for Dec. 16th.

Provo City vs Alex Recequet Jr. (2 cases); dismissed.

State of Utah vs Jas. Chappell; defendant sentenced to pay a fine of $10.

H. M. Dougall vs Enoch Clark et al; judgment and decree of foreclosure for $874.75, $40 attorney's fee and costs.

Isaac N. Whittaker has commenced suit against Joseph Harmer for $200, damages claimed by reason of defendant at various times during the years of 1895 and 1896, turned upon the land, situated in Springville precinct, large and unnecessary quantities of water and managing it so carelessly that it overflowed upon plaintiff's land and damaging the crops of the plaintiff to the amount asked for in the complaint.

The same plaintiff has commenced suit against Wm. Ferguson for $250 damages. Plaintiff alleges that in 1894 and 1895 defendant destroyed a fence enclosing 150 acres of land, situated in section 13, township 8 south, range 1 east, Salt Lake meridian in Utah county. The property of plaintiff, and that the land was thus exposed to trespass of stock running at large and that large numbers of cattle did trespass upon the land to the damage of the plaintiff in the amount above set forth.

J. W. N. Whitecotton is attorney for plaintiff in both of the above cases.

The suit of A. H. Raleigh vs A. J. Stewart Jr. et al, relating to the right to the water of certain springs in Benjamin precinct, which has been before the court all of last week was argued Saturday evening and taken under advisement by the court.

ANIMALS THAT KICK.

Remedies Recommended For Kicking Horses and Kicking Cows.

Numbered among various devices reported to Country Gentleman for the suppression of kicking horses is the one illustrated in the annexed cut. The Ohio farmer who recommends it claims that it always does the work.

Procure collar made of 3 inch strap of first class harness leather to fit the horse's neck where the harness collar works; with 2 inch ring where the ends of strap connect; a strap 2½ inches wide, just long enough to go around pastern of hind foot, with edges pared sufficiently to turn out slightly; with 2 inch ring in each end; next a 2 inch strap, 6 to 7 feet long, tapered down to 1 inch at tip or 1¼, with 2 inch ring in end. Place collar on horse's neck with ring at breast, put short strap around pastern of hind foot, pass the tip of long strap through rings on short strap, then through ring on long strap and draw up tight; then pass tip of long strap between horse's fore legs, through ring in collar on horse's neck; draw up snug when horse is standing in his natural position, and secure in breknot. This will not interfere in any way with horse's comfort or freedom when tied in stall, save that he cannot kick, and renders it impossible for him to injure himself or others. It is sometimes necessary to use surcingle to keep it in place, but not with all horses. The collar on neck can be made with a buckle on side of neck and adjusted to fit any horse.

Yet another remedy for kicking horses from the same source is as follows: Fill two bushel grain sack with sawdust well packed; hang it 3 feet from floor and 1½ or 2 feet behind horse, so that when he kicks it will swing and thump him. Then the horse kick all he pleases. It will this COW THAT KICK make lively times for awhile, but the horse will let it alone after a time.

For the cow that kicks a writer in The Farm Journal tells that the best device is to place a strap as shown in the illustration. He says, "Buckle it a little tight, and if she kick then make it a little tighter, and you will find she will not bother you any more."

A correspondent of The Journal who tried this plan wrote that he did not succeed in "accomplishing the object aimed at until he put the strap behind the hip bones. Then it worked like a charm.

Wheat in Ohio.

An Ohio Farmer contributor writes: The old practice of plowing stubble ground for wheat is not followed in Butler county, O., as a rule. Farmers now seldom follow wheat with wheat. Some follow oats and a few follow barley with wheat. The majority let wheat follow corn. The chief reason for the practice is that in a three years' course of corn, wheat and clover there is needed but one plowing of the land. As this occurs after clover, the plowing can be done at any time between the saving of the clover seed and spring. On bottom land fall plowing of clover sod for corn or potatoes is followed by most satisfactory crops.

On clay or hill lands that pack or wash under heavy rains the plowing is deferred until spring. Corn as clover sod, fall plowed, is easily cultivated and can be put in the best possible tilth in the spring by once or twice working with disk, spring tooth or common harrow. As there is less spring work in preparing this ground for corn, it can be planted a week or two earlier than on spring plowed land. This is an important factor in this rotation, as the corn matures early, so that it is ready for the wheat by the middle of September generally. The clover has filled the soil with an ample supply of vegetable matter and more nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash than the corn crop can appropriate, so that the soil is well supplied for the needs of the wheat crop. The frequent cultivation of the corn has tined and firmed the soil so that we find in average seasons an ideal seed bed for wheat.

Cost of Irrigation.

It has been made to appear from investigations at the various stations that irrigation by canal and ditches costs from $2 to $10 for each acre supplied for construction of the canal and about $1 an acre yearly to keep them in repair. Dams for reservoirs to catch and hold storm waters generally cost from $3 to $15 for each acre supplied, and the cost of keeping up repairs will be much less than in the case of canals.

We hear a great deal about purifying the blood. The way to purify it is to enrich it. Blood is not a simple fluid like water. It is made up of minute bodies and when these are deficient, the blood lacks the life-giving principle. Scott's Emulsion is not a mere blood purifier. It actually increases the number of the red corpuscles in the blood and changes unhealthy action into health.

If you want to learn more of it we have a book, which tells the story in simple words.

Horses Kick
is self-defence. It is their most vigorous form of protest against the abuse of Split Nails that are driven into their feet to hold on their shoes. Buccaneers when use such nails in ignorance of the danger that is liable to follow.

This is what happens: One part comes out where it should for clinching, the other part, the point, is left behind to be easily distinguished by the rough edge along the side near the point.

Shearing Process

by which the fibres of metal are separated and can often be pried apart with the finger-nail. This kind of a nail can be easily distinguished by the rough edge along the side near the point.

Putnam Nails are exclusively Hot-Forged and Hammer-Pointed, which gives them the old-fashioned hand-made nail. This process welds all particles of iron closely together into a compact, firm nail that cannot Split, Sliver or Break and is Absolutely Safe.

Examine the nails in your neighbor's shoes and you will find the Putnam nails are the whole length they are the Hot-Forged Putnam, if they have a number of nails about them the point, would them out of the lot as Hot-Forged Putnam.
