PROHIBITION TODAY.

A Majority of the Committee Go On Record Against It.

WANT IT LEFT TO THE LEGISLATURE

A Small Minority of the Committee Favor Separate Submission—Public Debt Article Passed.

The question of prohibition, long debated, and [illegible] came up in the Constitutional Convention at the first session today. It has long been an open secret among the delegates that the Convention to whom was referred the numerous petitions [illegible] proposition, or a majority were opposed to separate submission and in their report they recommend that the matter be left to the Legislature. Opposed to this [illegible] was a report from a small minority of the committee who are anxious to have the question go to [the] people when the Constitution is voted on. If the impressions obtained from a canvass of the views of the members are reliable the Convention, by a large majority, is certainly opposed to prohibition.

The article on public debt passed at 11 o'clock, after being vigorously debated and amended.
