Kellogg—Spofford.

NEW ORLEANS, 24.—Manager Allyn, of the Western Union Telegraph Company of this city, stated he had been instructed to comply with the demands of the committee, and furnish telegrams specifically called for within the period specified, the dispatches, 21 in number were handed to the chairman who ordered a receipt to be given for them. The messages were in cypher, except one from Morris Marks asking about the adjournment of Congress.

Senator Hill asked witness if he knew what the dispatches contained.

Witness, I do not.

Senator Cameron, better send for Tilden.

W. H. Seymour, notary public, testified regarding affidavits made by Jeremiah Blackstone, a member of Packard's legislature and others, showing that they had been paid money to vote for Kellogg. Seymour testified that the paper produced was not Blackstone's original affidavit, but the substance of it. The paper reiterates that Blackstone at times received money from Kellogg and Louis Dover, amounting in all to $2,200, which he used as directed by Kellogg to secure Kellogg's election. Witness repeated part of a conversation held in his office between members of the committee of Nichols' legislature and others with Blackstone about bribery. Blackstone said he could get affidavits of parties to whom he paid money received from Kellogg corroborating his statement. These affidavits were also produced and filed with the committee. In convesation, Blackstone said money had been been paid to bribe him as a prominent republican in the ward and as a member of the legislature. One of the party that accompanied the members of the Nichols' legislature to my office, to see Blackstone, promised to reimburse him for any outlay in getting up the affidavits. Blackstone afterward told me he received money from them, but with the distinct understanding that the money paid by the democrats was not for bribery or anything of that sort, but was to pay any expense he incurred in going after testimony. Witness stated that the committee of Nichols' legislature, appointed to investigate the Kellogg-Spofford case never made any report.

J. F. Barrignon, assistant sergeant-at-arms of the Packard legislature, testified: It seemed to be the general understanding that every member of the Packard legislature was paid for his vote, when Kellogg was elected United States Senator. Saw Kellogg speak to Senator Tritchell one day in the telegraph office, telling him he wanted his vote and would give him one of the positions in Government. At the same time Kellogg gave Twitchell $300. Twitchell remarked it was all right. Witness had been in the custom house but was discharged last July.

J. S. Antz testified. Formerly held a place in the custom house, but was displaced a few months ago by Kerns, formerly a member of the Packard legislature. It was a matter of common notoriety that the members were paid for voting for Kellogg.

B. Dreyfus testified that two very poor members of the Packard legislature were flush the day after Kellogg's election, one remarking that the election would account for their great wealth. They had $200 in cash.

W. J. Stoke, judge of Grant parish in '76, testified regarding the failure to have an election in that parish. The republicans knew it was democratic, consequently no election was ordered. Witness stated that the republicans desired to get rid of him as parish judge and had him abducted, getting a requisition from Texas for him on the false charge that he was an absconding tax collector. Governor Wells wrote a letter to the officials of Cass County, Texas, informing them that a defaulting tax collector of that county was in Louisiana when he had been arrested and taken out of the State on this false charge, another judge was appointed.

Capital Notes

WASHINGTON, 24.—In response to a telegraphic order, addressed by Secretary Evarts to the United States Consul General at Havana, directing him to make all necessary representations concerning the recent arrest at Santiago de Cuba, of the wife and brother of Mr. Munoz, of Brooklyn, a telegram has been received from the Consul General, announcing that they have been released. The dispatch gives no particulars, but refers to a general report by mail.

It is not expected by the treasury officials that the public debt will be reduced more than $2,000,000 during November.

A decision was rendered in the United States Supreme Court, to-day, in the case of Oswald Beoder vs. the Natoma Water and Mining Company, brought here by appeal from the Supreme Court of California. The most important question presented by the case is whether a person who has constructed a canal or ditch for the purposes of mining or irrigation upon the public lands of the United States can be forced to abandon the same by another person claiming title to the lands under a subsequent government grant made to one of the Pacific railroads. In 1866 Congress passed an act for the protection of the owners of ditches and canals constructed on the lands of the United States and for the establishment of their rights as against subsequent grantees of the government, but the complainant in the present case acquired title before that law was enacted and maintains that the law should not be made retroactive in order to defeat his claims. The court holds that the rights of owners of ditches and canals in such cases [illegible] rights which the government by its conduct had recognized and encouraged and was bound to protect even before the passage of the act of 1866 and that that act was rather a voluntary recognition of a pre-existing right constituting a valid claim to its continued use than the establishment of a new right. It makes no difference, therefore whether the complainant acquired title to the land in question through a government grant to the Central Pacific R. R. Company before or after the passage of the act of 1866. In either case he took it subject to the right of way of the owners of the canal tacitly or formally recognized by the government and that right cannot now be disturbed. The judgment of the Supreme Court of California is therefore affirmed.

Sympathy for Ireland.

CHICAGO, 24.—The Irishmen in Chicago have arranged a meeting for Monday night at McCormick Hall to secure from American and Irish American citizens an expression of sympathy with Parnell and his friends, who are in trouble in Ireland. It is the intention to appoint a committee to receive whatever donations may be tendered to aid them in maintaining the stand they have taken. Mayor Harrison was invited to preside at the meeting and refused. Governor Cullom, however, will be present, as well as other prominent citizens of the State and city. The feeling against the mayor is rather bitter among the Irishmen. The movement is likely to be very successful in its moral weight and pecuniary results.

Completed.

KERWIN, Kansas, 24.—Track laying on the central branch of the Union Pacific Railroad was completed to this city this afternoon. About a thousand persons were at the depot to see the first engine pull in. The city is wild with excitement.

Latest from the Utes.

DENVER, 24.—Dispatches from Los Pinos, dated the 23d, state that hostiles who were to have appeared Saturday, had not come Sunday noon. Charley, an Uncompahgre Indian, testified, but he knew nothing. Ouray told the Commission that Johnson's brother, shot by Frank Dresser, told his brother just before he died that he was responsible for the entire outbreak and the Ute massacre, and shot the mail carrier and teamsters. Ouray seems disappointed at Schurz' answer to his proposal.

Sanitary Conference.

MEMPHIS, 24.—A conference of the Sanitary Commission of the National Board of Health, city authorities committee, appointed by the citizens, held a mass meeting to-day. The meeting was for a general interchange of ideas and was most harmonious, David P. Hadden, representing the Citizens' Committee, pledging strict compliance on the part of the people in all suggestions advanced by the committee for the improved condition of the city.

Chas. Hermann, of Louisville, who made a survey of the city several years ago, arrives to-morrow to aid in a new survey that is to be made.

FOREIGN.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Foreign Notes.

SLIGO, 24.—Davitt, Daly and Killan, arrested last week and lodged in jail here, were charged before the magistrates with sedition. Monroe, Queen's Counsel and Crown law adviser, conducted the prosecution. The inquiry will be very protracted. Parnell and a number of priests were in the court. The prisoners were brought to court under a heavy escort. There is a great crowd in Sligo, and extra policemen have been drafted.

Monroe, in opening the case for the prosecution, pointed out that sedition meant not only open violence, but anything calculated to incite disaffection or to set one class against another. He then proceeded to call evidence. Rea, Solicitor at Belfast, and himself at one time a political prisoner, defended Killan. The prisoners all looked well and chatted unconcernedly. The court room was crowded, although tickets were necessary to secure admission. London, counselor for Daly, applied for a copy of notes which the government shorthand writer had taken at the meeting. The application was granted.

Monroe, in describing the character of the meeting at Gueteon, alluded to the alleged use of inflammatory language, and to the presence of men armed with imitation pikes, and carrying banners inscribed with disloyal mottos.

After the policemen present at the meeting had been examined, Monroe applied for the committal of Daly, who was accordingly committed for trial, bail been accepted. Killan and Davitt were remanded for further examination. On the news of Daly's liberation reaching Castle Bar, there was great rejoicing. Illuminations were prepared to celebrate his arrival. Mayo will insist upon his being its future representative in Parliament.

A number of policemen were examined to prove the general character of the Gueteon meeting and the incendiary words on which the indictments against the prisoners are founded. In consequence of the magistrate leaving the bench during a short pause, caused by the indisposition of a witness, London applied for the release of the prisoners as the magistrate left the bench, without adjourning the court or remanding the prisoners. The application was overruled.

Dublin, 24.—Charles S. Parnell will visit Davitt and Daly in Sligo jail to-day.

A report is current that the government has arranged to advance money to tenants on security of their landlords, to be paid in a term of years. Parnell has denied the statement that he has advised tenants never to pay their rents.

Madrid, 24.

Archduchess Marie Christine and her mother arrived at the northern railroad station at 8 o'clock this morning. They were received by King Alfonso, Royal princess, ministers, military and civil authorities. They proceeded immediately to the royal residence at Pardo, the king returning to his palace in Madrid.

London, 24.—A late Paris dispatch says: Le Peire, French minister of the interior, yielding to the request of President Grevy has withdrawn his resignation.

The Standard's dispatch from [illegible] says: A serious affray [illegible] on the 13th inst. at Meir[illegible] on board a steamer, between [illegible] and a number of Burmese [illegible], in which six persons were wounded.

The Standard's correspondent at Balla describes the meeting at Loonamore as being remarkably tame. Less than 1,000 persons were present.

A Berlin dispatch says: A private letter from a well informed person at St. Petersburg states that intelligence has been received in official circles at St. Petersburg to the effect that the British government intends to occupy Herat next spring in alliance with Persia. The writer adds, that the news is generally credited.

A Madrid special says: Ex-Empress Eugenie yesterday visited her mother's house and prayed over her remains.

Algiers is in a state of great excitement because of recently repeated fires. Judicial enquiry is being made.

The tin plate workers of South Staffordshire and East Worcestershire gave notice on Saturday of a demand of five to ten per cent. advance on wages.

La Pays views Prince Jerome Napoleon's spontaneous visit to Ex-Empress Eugenie while here as likely to have the best effect on the party. It says: When we are assured publicly as we have already been personally on the question of liberty of teaching and religion we shall be very near the goal aimed at by all who place the restoration of the empire above individual dislike,' meaning the unity of the Bonapartists as to Prince Jerome's claims to the throne.

Lord Napier, of Magdala, Governor of Malta, will represent Queen Victoria at the marriage of King Alphonso and Arch-Duchess Marie Christine.

There were gatherings of Irishmen, yesterday, in various parts of London, to consider the preparations for the demonstration at Hyde Park on Monday next. Provincial contingents are expected from Manchester, Newcastle, Liverpool, Bristol, Cardiff and Glasgow. The meeting at Manchester yesterday, was a great failure.

MORGAN STAKE CONFERENCE.

The Morgan Stake Conference convened November 15th and 16th.

Sunday, 10 a. m.

President on the stand: The presidency of the Stake—Willard G. Smith, Richard Fry and Samuel Francis; the High Council, Elder Thomas Grover, of Farmington; Elder Junius F. Wells, representing the Y. M. M. I. A.; and the Bishops of several wards.

After singing and prayer, Patriarch Alma Porter addressed the conference, exhorting the Saints to maintain their faith and integrity. Believed God judged His children by the spirit they were in possession of, and by their sincerity. Wished to make good use of this probation, and exact nothing from his children, that he was not willing to submit to, from his Heavenly Father.

Elder Thomas Grover reviewed some of the occurrences in the life of the Prophet Joseph Smith, and asked if we believed them to be facts, particularly the appearance of the Father and Son, and the information they imparted to him. Brought forth solemn evidences of the truth of the gospel.

Saturday, 2 p. m.

A number of the bishops reported their wards favorably.

Elder Junius F. Wells said, the influence of the Holy Spirit produces uniformity of feeling and conduct, and all so influenced would recognize it as their best friend. Related an incident that occurred in the days of the Prophet Joseph, when the majesty of that spirit quelled the noisy blasphemy and indecency of a mob guard. Showed how little evils mar the fondest hopes; said that gossiping and backbiting were the poison of happiness, throughout entire communities. The way to reclaim the erring was not to descend to their level, but raise them to a higher one.

Sunday, 10 a. m.

The remaining wards were represented by the bishops.

J. K. Hall, Supt. of Sunday and District schools, also reported their several conditions, which were generally favorable. As president of the "Educational Association," spoke in its interest, portraying the benefits to be derived from attending the same, especially to trustees, teachers, etc.

President W. G. Smith spoke of the lack of zeal shown by the people in attending to the weekday part of the Quarterly Conference. Explained the object of these gatherings and considered it worthy of the earnest consideration of Latter-day Saints; advised the Bishops to be strictly fair in their reports, wise in the selection of teachers. Spoke in praise of the good work accomplished by the home missionaries, and of the good results obtained by the various organizations of the Stake. Said the officers of these several institutions should endeavor to harmonize their operations, so that they may not clash, and gave instructions how this may be avoided, and the proper authority of each honored and maintained.

Sunday, 2 p.m.

Sacrament administered.

The statistical and financial report read by the clerk, also quarterly report of Female Relief Society.

Councilor Richard Fry then presented the general and local authorities, who were sustained without a dissenting vote. Home and Sunday school missionaries were then called for the ensuing quarter.

Elder Junius F. Wells said that simplicity should be the distinguishing characteristic in administering in the various offices and callings pertaining to the kingdom of God. Gave some suggestions, and read from page 100 new edition Doctrine and Covenants. Advocated brevity, and not too frequent repetition of the name of Diety. Warned the Saints against false prophets, and the young men against backsliders, and their apparently bewildering questions, and said, through humility, God would furnish the answer.

Sister Lydia Rich, president of the Relief Society, believed in a spirit of constant willingness. Knew that if we lived in accordance with our professions and privileges, we should have a knowledge that God approved our efforts. Said we should act in concert and encourage each other; thought our errors were more attributable to lack of judgment than to improper desires; but if we would begin anew God would help us.

Elder Thomas Grover said it was necessary we should act in unison as well as to vote in that way, and that it was mere idolatry to worship as the world do—a God with neither body, parts, or passions.

Benediction by Patriarch Alma Porter.
