CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear, and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and conditions vary in severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of climate, from taking wet cloths, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria in which cases the eyes and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nostrils, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire absence of secretion, the membrane being dry and feverish, the face, front and top part of the head feeling uncomfortably hot, and very sensitive, and the eyes yielding water. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the patient to swell and blow, thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thus permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose as at other times, it collects and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very powerful efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids are so stuck together by the adhesive matter as to require very powerful efforts to open them. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, headaches and deafness result in many cases, accompanied by severe pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its speedy cure before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every way to be recommended, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. We subjoin a testimonial from a lady living in the United States almost the extreme in which it is held by those who have been freed from this most distressing and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.
