IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

Warden Pratt finds Escaped Convict in Kansas State Prison.

Warden Pratt of the state prison has returned from an eastern trip, which was made more noteworthy by his discovery of a former escaped Utah state prison convict in the Kansas state prison at Lansing. Warden Pratt was being shown through the Kansas institution when he thought the appearance of a colored convict seemed familiar, and he gave the fellow special attention, and by certain physical peculiarities he recognized the man as W. H. Brown, who escaped from the Utah prison eight years ago, in company with Harry Tracy, David Lant and Frank Edwards.

The four men were digging a ditch outside the prison walls when Tracy, who had secured a revolver, suddenly covered the guard before the latter was aware what was up, and the quartet unhesitatingly decamped. Lant was never heard from, but Tracy was killed after escaping later from the Oregon state prison, Edwards was recaptured and is still in the Utah institution, and now Brown turns up in the Kansas state prison. What is to be done in the matter of his unserved time here will be decided on later. In the meanwhile Brown "will keep."

DR. JORDAN HERE ON FRIDAY NEXT.

Distinguished Educator to Deliver His Famous Lecture in Barratt Hall.

CALL OF TWENTIETH CENTURY

Speaks Under Auspices of M. I. A. Lecture Bureau, Who Are Arranging Reception in His Honor.

On Friday night next in Barratt hall, the M. I. A. lecture bureau will present to a Salt Lake audience, David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford, Jr. university. President Jordan today ranks as one of the great thinkers of the age and it is only by reason of an exceptional arrangement that the bureau is able to present him at this time.

DAVID STARR JORDAN, President of Stanford University, Who Will Lecture at Barratt Hall on Friday Next.

His subject will be, "The Call of the Twentieth Century," which is understood to be an appeal to young men, urging them to prepare for the demands that will be made upon them by their country in the near future. Dr. Jordan has made a close study of social and political conditions and will doubtless present to his audience food for thought and likewise give them a lecture that will be thoroughly entertaining and at the same time highly instructive.

In view of the fact that there are many Stanford students in Salt Lake, the Bureau has under consideration a reception to Dr. Jordan at the Commercial club, the same to be given immediately after the lecture on Friday night. In order that proper arrangements may be made, it is desired that all Stanford students send in their names to the M. I. A. Lecture bureau at once, that the distinguished visitor may be given a fitting welcome to Salt Lake. The doctor will arrive here Friday morning, and remain during the day and night, leaving Saturday morning for Provo, where he speaks at night and then continues his journey eastward.

Dr. Jordan is an international character educationally, and is an author of recognized ability. He graduated from Cornell in 1872 and for seven years afterwards held chairs in various collegiate institutions. He was assistant to the United States fish commission from 1877 to 1891, professor of zoology from 1879 to 1885, and president of the same university from 1885 to 1891, since which time he has been at the head of the Stanford university, in which position he has become known as one of the foremost of American educators. Among Dr. Jordan's books are: A Manual of Vertebrate Animals of Northern United States; Science Sketches; Fishes of North and Middle America, 4 vols.; Footnotes to Evolution; Maska and Kotik; Care and Culture of Frogs; The Innumerable Company; Imperial Democracy; Animal Life; Animal Forms; The Strength of Being Clean; Standeth God Within the Shadow; and numerous papers on kindred subjects.

FOOD DOES IT

Curious How Right Food Rebuilds Body.

The benefits of the good, red blood made by Grape-Nuts Food is described in a letter from Chicago: "I was for years badly afflicted with hemorrhoids, caused by constipation, which was the result of impure blood supplied by food not adapted to the needs of the body under certain conditions. My trouble extended in retinal hemorrhoids, which greatly reduced my strength. A surgical operation gave me no relief and I was compelled finally to quit business. 'Luckily, just when things were looking the blackest, some one recommended Grape-Nuts food, whose use I began at once and I began (Dec., 1903) its use, and in a few months brought my health back to me. 'The action of my bowels is free and regular now, and this has brought relief from the hemorrhoids. At the same time a nervous trouble which had been growing on me and which the doctors could never do anything with, has also disappeared. All this return to health I am free to say I owe to Grape-Nuts food.' Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason. Read the little book 'The Road to Wellville,' in page.

JAILED FOR CONTEMPT.

John Robinson Adjudged Guilty for Failure to Pay His Wife Alimony

Five days in the county jail for contempt of court is the fate of John Robinson, who appeared before Judge Morse yesterday afternoon to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court for failing to pay his wife $40 per month separate maintenance as heretofore ordered by the court. Not only did Robinson fail to pay his wife the alimony but, while on the witness stand yesterday afternoon, he tried to deceive the court and Atty. Ingebreten, who represented Mrs. Robinson, as to his financial condition. Recently he returned from Goldfield with considerable money. When asked by Atty. Ingebreten how much money he had when he returned he replied "about $200." He was unable to state the exact amount until finally when pressed close by questions he replied angrily that he had $300 when he returned. In answer to a question from Judge Morse he said that he had given some of the money to Mrs. Robinson. Upon this showing the court sentenced Robinson to five days in the county jail for contempt.

NOVEMBER AILMENTS

THEIR PREVENTION AND CURE.

The Human System Must Adjust Itself To Changing Temperatures.

November is the month of falling temperatures. Over all the temperate regions the hot weather has passed and the first rigors of winter have appeared. As the great bulk of civilized nations is located in the Temperate Zones, the effect of changing seasons is a question of the highest importance.

What effect upon the human system does approaching winter have? That some ill effect is had, everybody knows.

But just what it is and how the deleterious effect of the winter season can be avoided is a subject requiring the closest study on the part of the physiologists, and of the greatest concern to the masses of the people.

When the weather begins to change from warm to cold, when cool nights succeed hot nights, when clear, cold days follow hot, sultry days, the human body must adjust itself to this changed condition or perish.

The organs most visibly affected by falling temperature are the skin and kidneys.

The perspiration incident to warm weather has been checked. This detains within the system poisonous materials which have heretofore found escape through the perspiration.

Most of the poisonous materials retained in the system by the checked perspiration find their way out of the body, if at all, through the kidneys. This throws upon the kidneys extra labor. They become charged and overloaded with the poisonous excretory materials. This has a tendency to inflame the kidneys, producing functional diseases of the kidneys and sometimes Bright's Disease.

Good, vigorous health will overcome these vicissitudes and the body is strengthened rather than weakened by the change.

But, in a large per cent. of cases, the system fails. The skin is unable to meet the extra pressure put upon it. The kidneys fail in their attempt to dispose of all the work so suddenly thrown upon them. Therefore many people succumb.

What can be done about this? Of course, a careful avoidance of all exposure is first to be thought of. Also a change of garments suitable to the season, careful ventilation of the sleeping rooms, and the avoidance of drafts. The diet should also be so modified as to meet the peculiar demands of the system.

But, even when all these things are most intelligently and cautiously performed, there still remains a multitude of people who will go down before the hostile approach of winter, who will be vanquished in the struggle against the elements.

Peruna acts upon the skin by stimulating the emunctory glands and ducts, thus preventing the detention of poisonous materials which should pass out. Peruna invigorates the kidneys and encourages them to fulfill their function in spite of the chills and discouragements of cold weather.

Peruna is a combination of well-tried harmless, vegetable remedies that have stood the test of time. Many of these remedies have been used by doctors and by the people in Europe and America for a hundred years.

The combination of remedies, which constitute Peruna, has been in use for nearly fifty years. Their efficacy has been proven by many decades of use by thousands of people and has been substantiated over and over by millions of homes.

Is it not idle to experiment with other remedies when Peruna is obtainable?

The many attempts which have been made to imitate Peruna show that it has become universally recognized as the standard remedy.

Do not neglect to provide yourself with the safest and surest of all remedies to meet this emergency.

A CENTENNIAL HISTORY OF THE CHURCH.

"ONE HUNDRED YEARS OF MORMONISM."

Salt Lake City, October 27, 1905.

President Joseph F. Smith and Counselors, President's Office, City.

Dear Brethren—We, your brethren, appointed as a special committee to examine the work written by Elder John Henry Evans, of the Latter-day Saints University, entitled "One Hundred Years of Mormonism," respectfully report that we have carefully read and considered the whole of said work and find the facts therein to be true and correct as far as our knowledge extends.

In style, the writing is plain, direct and simple, without any marked effort at literary embellishment, and well adapted, in our opinion, for a text book in Church History that can advantageously be used in our Sunday Schools and other Church institutions of learning. We believe that it will materially help our youth in their study of the great latter-day work by making clear a number of points that former histories, written for the young people of the Church, have left somewhat ambiguous.

Most respectfully we remain, Your Brethren,
FRANCIS M. LYMAN,
GEORGE REYNOLDS,
JOSEPH F. SMITH, JR.

This interesting work will be issued Nov. 15, and on sale at the
