GOV. CARR, OF NORTH CAROLINA

Elders in An Interview Secure His Promise of Protection.

In company with Elders King, Smith and Carter, I visited Gov. Carr, of North Carolina, the object of our visit being to show his excellency a threatening document to which was appended some thirty names, and ask his protection from mob violence.

Elders Jorgensen and I procured a church at New Hill in which to preach, and were at that place to fill our appointment, when just before the commencement of our service two men stepped up to me and handed me a peculiar document which they called a petition and which read as follows:

"To the Mormon Elder: We the citizens of New Hill and vicinity, acting upon our knowledge of and information as to your religious principles, regard you as a nuisance to the community; therefore we ask you to retire from the community as quickly as you came, and that at once." And this was signed by about thirty names.

We trusted in the Lord, however, and held our meeting and bore our humble testimony to the truth of the latter-day work and preached to them upon the apostasy and restoration.

I was appointed spokesman for the party, and after the usual greetings I showed the governor the document which was given to me at New Hill and asked his protection. I told him I was a citizen of the United States and boasted my grandfathers were; and from my infancy I had been taught to revere the starry emblem of liberty and to love the Constitution as a sacred document framed by inspiration by the wisest and most patriotic body of statesmen that ever met in a political capacity—the ultimatum of political documents; under its wise provisions we were guaranteed religious toleration—as it says "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof," and although we are proscribed as an unpopular doctrine, we claim the right to tile free land to preach the Gospel without molestation from any source whatever.

The governor affirmed that we had the right of religious toleration, and promised us protection. He ordered his secretary to take a copy of the document with the names appended and promised to look into the matter. As he made us farewell he requested us to call again. Since then a long piece appeared in the paper claiming a copy of our cards with the Articles of Faith and the document above quoted.

We have at present in this part of the Lord's vineyard fifteen members of the Church. We have organized a Sunday school, which has an average attendance of from twenty-five to thirty persons, all of whom seem to be earnest seekers for truth.

The News is now regularly to hand and is very much appreciated by Elders and Saints.

At present Elder King and I are staying in Wake county, and on the Sabbath day helping in the Sunday school and preaching to the Saints and others. We meet with much opposition. The man told us we had better look out how we blasphemed there around this vicinity. I asked him if there was not a law in the land. "Yes," said he, "but there is a moral law more law!!! law." We are informed, however, from all evidence, we are safe. One lady in the same place who she had been making was praying to feel such a measure of salvation as we brought, and she said that now it did come she was ready to die. Elders Jorgensen are on our ticket home and do not let to shield us from all harm, although we travel without purse and scrip we are provided with sufficient food and raiment and we acknowledge the hand of the Lord in it. We have no resolution of leaving that will still prevail from the rivers to the ends of the earth, and that from the rising of the sun to the going down thereof all inhabitants of the earth shall know that the God of Israel is with His people and that He has raised up unto Himself a mighty nation and has raised an ensign upon the mountains to all nations.

Praying for the welfare of Zion, the gain in Israel, and for the spread of truth, I remain your Brother in the Gospel, E. C. BORNSON.

WIDOWS AND ORPHANS.

Families of the Victims of the Eid Canyon Disaster Make Another Appeal for Assistance.

The following letter with appended communication in the form of an appeal was handed to the NEWS today by Mr. Barrell, to whom they were sent:

ALTA, WYO., Nov. 17, 1895.

Mr. H. C. Barrell:

DEAR SIR—In behalf of suffering humanity, I respectfully, though urgently, ask that you give our to the enclosed appeal. If you cannot give it personal attention, please see to it that some one will.

Hoping an early reply, be the answer large or small, I am,

Very respectfully,
THOMAS KINNY, Secretary.

By request of Mrs. Hyden, Bell Canyon, Wyo.

ALTA, WYO., Nov. 17, 1895.

We, the widows and fatherless, made so by the Bell Canyon explosion, acknowledging the great kindness bestowed upon us, desire to tell about ten of our present condition. Believing that the Sunny Mountain Coal and Iron company was legally responsible for the great loss we sustained, and that while no adequate return could be made us, still due to their millions a pittance sufficient to keep us from starving would be cheerfully given us. We petitioned and had appointed Mr. John W. Sammons as our attorney to legally represent us. After respectfully calling attention to our situation, which to many instances is deplorable enough, Mr. Sammons brought suits, and now we are met with an application for a change of venue which alleges under oath that the great corporation cannot receive justice either in Uinta county, Wyo., or Carbon, Sevier, Converse or Sweetwater counties. And we are told that this leaves us without hope, as our cases are transferred to Cheyenne, Laramie county, Territory, and without means to defray the expense of going, we cannot expect to get justice. But we feel that God, who is our court house in which the shadow of the dome of the sepulcher, our pettiness will be heard and justice administered. Our little ones in many cases half clad and hungry, it would seem as though we are traversed in appealing for a remittance to be sent to John W. Sammons, care the clerk court, Evanston, Wyo., with the assurance that it is an appeal from widows of the widows and orphans will be casting bread upon the waters.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, - NOV. 25, 1895.

Death of Lorenzo C. Giles.

Word was received here last evening that Lorenzo C. Giles of Heber died yesterday. The deceased met with an accident last Tuesday while he, in company with several of his children, was getting out timber in the mouth of Snake creek canyon, a falling tree struck another, breaking it off at the butt, this was thrown against McGhie with great force and fractured his skull. Mr. Giles remained unconscious to the time of his death. He leaves a wife and five or six children. The funeral takes place tomorrow.

Miller Skipped.

Deputy Marshal Henry has returned from Uintah county where he went to arrest J. T. Miller who has been indicted for killing George Haynes last summer, on the "strip" near Fort Duchesne. Previous to Marshal Henry's arrival Miller had received information of his indictment and had left; he is now believed to be in Wyoming.

A Sad Accident.

Yesterday forenoon, Melva, the 15-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kelly, of the Fourth ward, met with a serious accident. The little one was going from one room to another, and in so doing took hold of a stove. Her screams attracted the attention of Mrs. Kelly, who was in an adjoining room, and when she arrived the little girl's hands were still resting on the stove. The left hand is very badly burned, and it is feared the injury to it will be permanent.

In Honor of Judge Smith.

The First district court adjourned Saturday afternoon till tomorrow morning, through respect to the memory of the late Judge H. W. Smith. Judge King and many members of the bar and other citizens went to Ogden today to attend the funeral.

LITERARY NOTES.

The December number of The Forum will contain an interesting paper by Mr. Albert D. Vandam (author of "An Englishman in Paris"), entitled "The Trial of 'Trilby.'" In a letter to the editor of The Forum, about this article, Mr. Vandam writes: "I intend to make the book ['Trilby'] a peg for my own recollections of the Quartier Latin and Bohemian haunts during the Second Empire, rather than a literary and psychological criticism of the characters. I have numberless notes on the subject, apart from my own very personal experience of the models, among whom there is not one but a relative of Trilby. In short, I am going to do Mr. Du Maurier's book for the world, to give the names and characters in 'Trilby' their real names."

The Christmas number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly is already out, and will amply be entranced in richness and beauty of pictorial illustration, or in seasonable variety of literary contents, by anything that may follow during the holiday season. The opening article, upon "Hercules and Heraclus Worship," affords a vehicle for nearly a score of reproductions from the old and modern masterpieces. A similar opportunity is found in the poem story of "the Man Who Resembled Christ," which in addition is illustrated with some original drawings of rare delicacy. In "The City of Dordrecht," the author revels in the picturesque. The great literary feature of the number is Gaston's latest story, "Master and Man," especially translated from the Russian for the Monthly, and illustrated by Fogarty.

Nervousness

Cannot be permanently cured by the use of opiates and sedative compounds. It is the deeply seated, it is caused by an impoverished condition of the blood, upon which the nerves depend for sustenance. This is the true and only natural explanation for nervousness. Purify, enrich and vitalize the blood with

For constipation and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equalled.
