TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 202. MONDAY, JULY 20, 1896, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXIX

A POPULIST BOLT.

Believed to Be Inevitable as a Result of the Convention.

CALIFORNIANS APPEAL TO BRYAN.

Asking Him to Declare Himself a Populist—The Uppermost [illegible] of [illegible].

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—The belief continues generally prevalent that a bolt is among the strong probabilities of the Populist convention, whatever course is decided upon by the majority. Delegates are constantly arriving and the larger the crowd becomes, the more evident is the intensity of the feeling over the one question at issue. This question is whether to endorse Bryan and Sewall or nominate a separate ticket.

In a general way the contest is between the North and South. Northern men, as a class, contend that in the endorsement of Bryan lies the only hope of making the influence of the party felt, of achieving practical results, while Southern men, remembering their many contests with the Democrats in their section, maintain that such course would be utterly suicidal. Both classes are equally earnest and both declare there is but one course open. The Bryan followers talk split more openly than their opponents. They are perfecting a thorough organization and mean to make a strenuous effort to secure the endorsement of the Democratic nominee. They do not publicly admit that there is any possibility that they will not be able to control the convention, but privately many say if a separate ticket is nominated they will walk out of the convention and appeal to the people to help to support Bryan and Sewall. The other crowd is more reticent, but the feeling is none the less intense.

IN CONFERENCE WITH DEMOCRATS.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—Senator Jones of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic national committee, breakfasted with Governor Stone and at 9 o'clock began to receive callers. At 10 o'clock the prospects were that Senator Jones would be engaged all day in private conferences with Populist leaders. He said: "I hope the People's convention will endorse Bryan and Sewall and since I arrived, I have received a good deal of encouragement of that hope."

AN APPEAL TO BRYAN.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 20.—While en route to the national Populist convention, the California delegation, thirty-nine strong, last night issued an open letter to the Democratic presidential nominee, William J. Bryan, urging him to go before the country as the nominee of the Populist party. The letter was composed and dispatched while the delegation was waiting for the train to St. Louis, Dr. G. W. Daywalt of San Francisco being chosen secretary and instructed to write it.

The letter says in part: "If you will accept the nomination of the People's party, declaring yourself a Populist, you will become a leader to whom will rush every reformer—be he silverite, Democrat or Republican—and not only be elected yourself, but also elect the Congress law-making power. This is the opportunity of your life, and will, if taken advantage of, like Lincoln with the Republicans, send your name down in history as the savior of your country by means of Populism. If you do not do it, we must in defense of our principles put another candidate in the field. Can you then be elected?"

NEBRASKA IS FOR BRYAN.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—The Nebraska delegation, headed by Senator Allen, has prepared the following statement:

"The Nebraska delegation is unanimous for Bryan. They know him well. His life has been fulfillment rather than mere promise. We know his high character and great fitness for the great office of President. He is our neighbor and we are not deceived in him. If elected he will be the greatest man that occupied the White House since the days of Lincoln and in his broad and genuine sympathy for the masses he more nearly resembles Lincoln than any public man we can recall. The nomination of a third ticket would be the exact equivalent of a [illegible] endorsement of McKinley, single gold standard, the abominable high tariff tax, continued gold bond issues and perpetual national debt, trust and heartless corporations for the West for four years and possibly for all time. If elected President, Mr. Bryan will know no Democrat, no Populist, no Republican. There will be no aspirations in his political family. All who have been with the great reform [illegible] that the fight will be on equal footing. He will be the people's President. Nebraska is for Bryan."

DONNELLY'S POSITION.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—Ignatius Donnelly of Minnesota, who has been in close conference with Chairman Taubeneck since he has been here, said today that although he was in favor of maintaining the Populist party and putting a straight ticket in the field, there was every indication that they would be overridden and Bryan endorsed.

MIDDLE OF THE ROAD POPULISTS.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—The "middle of the road" Populists express great confidence in their strength. Up to noon more than 100 delegates to the convention were registered at their headquarters. Seven expressed preference for Bryan; two said they were for [illegible] election. Many were pronounced for a straight ticket and fight against the nomination or endorsement of Bryan. [illegible] the majority of states were represented. Some claim two-thirds majority. These middle of the road men are not apparently working with Chairman Taubeneck, who is also opposed to the endorsement of Bryan. It is claimed that at the conference today Taubeneck had given up the fight, having been [illegible] by the advice of the leaders on the ground. At quarters many expressions were heard indicating disapproval of Bryan.

"They don't turn us over to the Democrats," shouted the grizzled veteran from California. "Same is with Calamity," came from another part of the room. A cheer was raised when the Ohio delegate said, "Ohio is in the middle of the road." There is not much said about the candidates. The middle of the road men are saying they are perfecting arrangements to control the convention first.

EFFORTS FOR A COMPROMISE.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—The Populist leaders are making strenuous efforts to arrange a compromise which will prevent a bolt of either faction. A meeting of the leaders of all factions was held late last night, at which it was agreed to recommend as a compromise that Bryan be endorsed by the Populist convention, but a new man to come from the South, would be put on the ticket for Vice President. The arrangement provides for the endorsement of the platform as far as it is Populistic, and for its repudiation where it departs from the Populist faith. Among those present at the meeting were Chairman Taubeneck, Secretary Turner, Messrs. Rankin and Washburn of the national executive committee and Ignatius Donnelly. The plan suggested appears to be meeting with favor.

PANIC AT CANEA.

A Fire Mistaken for the Signal of a Massacre.

NEW YORK, July 20.—A dispatch to the Herald from Athens says: Dispatches received from Canea state that a panic occurred there Sunday in the Pantas quarter owing to a fire, which was mistaken for a signal for carnage. The houses were forthwith barricaded. British Captain Drury landed boats carrying armed sailors. Austrian and Russian ships also landed men in Canea and Halepa.

The Austrian consul showed great courage and ran to Abdullah Pasha, who remained inactive, and rated him severely. Abdullah finally dispersed the Turks. The shops were closed and nobody dared to stay in the streets.

A correspondent says that as he passed through the town the dead and wounded were lying about and the panic continued. A number of Cretans arrived here, making demands to the committee for perfected guns. They complain bitterly because the committee does not send sufficient cartridges.

M. Nicolaides, a member of the committee, has resigned.

One hundred thousand rounds of ammunition and 20,000 rifles reached the insurgents this evening. The recall of Abdullah Pasha to Constantinople is received favorably as a sign of peace.

The conduct of the Cretan deputies in their refusal to debate further until they have received replies to the demands they have formulated, is approved here.

Japanese Cruelties.

LONDON, July 19.—A Hong Kong dispatch to the Times says a missionary writes to a correspondent there fully confirming previous reports of Japanese atrocities in the south of the Island of Formosa. The missionary declares that he is able to substantiate every fact. The Japanese, he adds, are fast exterminating the Chinese in that locality. Over sixty villages have been burned and thousands of persons have been killed with revolting brutalities.

Lost in the Mountains.

NEW YORK, July 20.—A dispatch to the Herald from Panama, Colombia, says: The Herald's correspondent in Guayaquil, Ecuador, says Dr. Carlos Freile Zaldumbide, the minister of justice and education, has resigned. A decree has been issued by President Alfaro to the effect that the taxes imposed for war purposes be reduced.

The Brazilian minister who arrived in Guayaquil a fortnight ago and then left for Quito, is lost in the mountains. His secretary, who arrived in Quito last Saturday, telegraphed to all points without success.

Wagner Festival.

BEYREUTH, Germany, July 20.—The annual Bayreuth Wagner festival has opened at the Festspielhaus with a fine performance of Das Rheingold under the direction of Hans Richter. The festival is crowded with visitors from all parts of Europe and there are also many Americans present.

Indians Return Home.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., July 20.—A clause in the Indian appropriation bill granted permission to the Lower Brule Indians who, prior to July 3, 1889, lived south of White river, on the Rosebud Indian reservation, to return there and select the allotments of land occupied by them prior to that date. About 400 of the Lower Brules have just taken advantage of this clause and removed to their former homes. They had already been alotted lands on the Lower Brule reservation, which they now abandon and they will again have to be allowed lands in severalty in their new location. The government will have to pay the Rosebud Indians at the rate of $1 per acre for all lands settled upon and occupied by the Lower Brules.

Away from Home and Ill.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Robert Jackson, 19 years old, was found in a freight car last evening on the docks of the Western Transit company. He appeared ill and was taken to the county hospital, where it was said he was suffering from typhoid fever. Jackson told the police his home was in Petersburg, Va., and asked that his parents be notified of his illness.

THE JAMESON TRIAL.

The Famous Raiders Appear in Court Again.

LONDON, July 20.—The first trial at the bar since the famous Tychborn claimant case, was begun today when Dr. Jameson, Major Sir John Willoughby, Col. R. Gray, Col. H. F. White, Maj. R. White and Henry F. Coventry were arraigned before the lord chief justice, Russell, Baron Pollock and Mr. Justice Hawkins. The charge is violation of the neutrality law by invading the territory of a South African republic.

Every inch and corner of the court room was [illegible]. There were many ladies present.

Sir Edward Clark for the defendants moved to quash the indictment on the ground that it was insufficient in the allegations made and it had not been proven that the foreign enlistment act had been proclaimed, where the offense was alleged to have taken place. Sir Richard Webster replied on behalf of the government. Before the attorney finished the court adjourned until tomorrow.

Death's Harvest.

AUGUSTA, Maine, July 20.—Ex-Governor Joseph H. Williams died at his residence in this city Sunday. He had been confined to his bed since last March. Death was due to old age. Governor Williams was born in Augusta, Feb. 1814.

COL. DANIEL E. HUNGERFORD.

ROME, July 20.—Col. Daniel E. Hungerford, father of Mrs. John W. Mackay, died at 11 o'clock this morning at his home in this city. Col. Hungerford was a native of Herkimer county, New York, went to California in 1849, remained on the Pacific coast until the breaking out of the war, when he returned to New York and entered the Union army as lieutenant-colonel of the Thirty-sixth regiment of New York volunteers in 1877. Col. Hungerford removed to Europe, but two years later returned to New York. In 1887 he took up his residence permanently in Rome. His death was caused by a tumor of the liver.

HAS BEEN IDENTIFIED.

A Young Man Who Had Forgotten His Own Name.

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—The identity of the young man at Philadelphia hospital who, on the night of March 6, gave himself up to the police and said he did not know his name or where he came from, has at last been disclosed. He proves to be Herbert C. Spencer, the youngest son of Solomon C. Spencer, a wealthy citizen of Lawrence, Kansas. The discovery was made last evening by Dr. J. C. Robinson of Lawrence, Kansas, an old friend of Spencer, who came to the hospital on July 1 as a resident physician.

Young Spencer went to New Orleans two years ago and up to January had corresponded regularly with his relatives. Since then they have heard nothing from him excepting that he had been seen in Washington in February. It is expected that one of his four brothers will be here in a few days to take him home.

CLASS LEGISLATION.

Socialists Protest Against Free Coinage.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—The California socialist labor convention has adopted a platform protesting against the free coinage of silver on the ground that such action would be class legislation, inasmuch as it is alleged it would benefit the debtor class at the expense of capitalists. The platform contends that free silver would not benefit the laboring man, as the wage earners, it is said, are not as a rule debtors.

LI HUNG CHANG.

Postpones His Visit to the United States Some Weeks.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 20.—President Cleveland's absence from the capital has necessitated a change in the plans of Li Hung Chang, the special Chinese envoy. It was his original purpose to make an official call upon the President of the United States during August on his way home to China from Europe, but as the chief magistrate is expected to be absent from Washington during that month the present representative of the emperor of China has decided to defer his visit and prolong his stay in Europe several weeks beyond his original schedule.

Huntington is In It.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 20.—A rumor is current here in railroad circles that Collis P. Huntington and the Southern Pacific people have a hand in the new government of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, which will, on August 1, be transferred from the jurisdiction of the federal courts, where it has been involved in litigation so long, the receiver discharged and the road pass into the hands of the reorganized company. It is believed that Huntington has, indirectly or otherwise, obtained a share in the controlling power on the purchasing committee appointed by the reorganization board at New York to acquire the Oregon corporation's property.

The Republican Headquarters.

CHICAGO, July 20.—The base of supplies for the Republican national campaign will be established in Chicago before sundown.

M. A. Hanna will arrive in the city this morning to fix on headquarters. The exact location has not been decided upon as yet. The Republican headquarters will be a busy place from the first day. Since the meeting of the executive committee in Cleveland last week it is more than ever certain that the money question is going to be the issue of the campaign, particularly in the West. As soon as he gets the matter of headquarters settled, Mr. Hanna will go to New York.

The campaign along the Atlantic coast is not expected to open as early as it is in the West.

FOR ARBITRATION.

The London Daily News Urges Further Consideration of the Matter.

DIFFICULTIES CAN BE OVERCOME.

The Points of Agreement Already Arrived at Could be Embodied in a Treaty.

LONDON, July 20.—The Daily News (liberal) has an editorial discussing the correspondence between the United States and the British government on the subject of an arbitration treaty, in which it asks: "Why not embody the points of agreement already arrived at in the Olney-Salisbury negotiations in a treaty, trusting to the future for still further agreement? We are convinced that the Americans do not approve of Mr. Olney refusing the half because he is unable to get the whole loaf. It will be worth while for Lord Salisbury to make as many concessions as possible in order to attain such a desirable object."

The Daily News also publishes an interview on this subject with Right Hon. James Bryce, the liberal member of Parliament for the South Division of Aberdeen and the well known author of the "American Commonwealth?" Mr. Bryce thought the difficulties in the way of an agreement were in no way insolvable. Lord Salisbury, he said, had been over cautious and timid in the negotiations. He saw dangers that really do not exist. His proposal to exclude matters affecting the honor and integrity of the nations would seriously cripple the usefulness of a tribunal. Mr. Bryce thought that even territorial disputes might be submitted. He would not say that he agreed with Mr. Olney or that he did not with Lord Salisbury, but he certainly thought Lord Salisbury had acted as though a general scheme of arbitration and not one solely between England and the United States was being arranged. Mr. Bryce thinks the proposal of a joint commission or arbitration for the Venezuelan dispute would find a solution even of the unsettled land question. He believes that the presidential contest will not prevent or delay the conclusion of a treaty; but still he would like to see Lord Salisbury resume the negotiations.

The Chronicle (Liberal) says: Without desiring to appear in the least alarmist, we believe that the optimist views prevailing here as to the settlement of the Venezuelan dispute are not shared by official circles in the United States.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., July 20.—President Cleveland and Joseph Jefferson left here at 11:10 today for Boston to attend the funeral of ex-Governor Russell at Cambridge. The flag at Gray Gables is at half mast.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 20.—Thousands of mourning visitors are thronging the city today to pay the last tribute to the late ex-Governor Wm. E. Russell. On every side somber decorations are seen while upon hundreds of coat lapels the picture of the dead ex-governor, framed in black, is worn. Long before the hour for the body to be placed in the rotunda of the city hall throngs were taking place in line to await the opening of the door. The private funeral services at the residence on Brattle street were conducted by Rev. Alexander Mackenzie. Ten classmates of Mr. Russell at Harvard acted as pall bearers. On each side of the casket at city hall stood six sentinels, wearing the white uniform of the Boston Cadets. The casket was almost buried beneath floral offerings from members of the family and others. For three hours the lines of people passed the bier without a break, the total number reaching into thousands. At 2 o'clock the doors were closed. Soon afterwards, the body was removed to Sheppard Memorial church, where at 4 o'clock the public services were conducted by Mackenzie. The interment at Mt. Auburn followed.

Her actions were witnessed by bystanders who notified the police and the woman and [illegible] were taken to the Cottage Grove avenue station where she told her story to the sergeant. Last evening Mrs. Wellhouse and her children were taken to the house of a friend.

Notice Taylor's Candidacy.

Yankton (S. D.) Gazette, July 17: We notice by an article in the Salt Lake Herald, a violent free silver journal, that Colonel John Lu Taylor is a candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket. Colonel Taylor was well known in Yankton and Vermillion some years ago, where he practised law. He came out of the war of the rebellion with an excellent record, having served in the 2nd Iowa cavalry. He filled quite a number of important positions, amongst others, one in the pension office at Washington, D. C. He also practised law in Chicago, from which city he went to Salt Lake City. His many friends here wish him success.

And the Boys Came Back.

Reiser and Collin, the two young fellows who left their homes in this city about a week ago, with the intention of wheeling it to San Francisco, have come back. Their path was not as smooth as they anticipated, and when they got out on to the Nevada desert, they were nearly blinded, the heat was so intense. The boys are doubtless much wiser than when they started, and like others who have been seized with a like adventurous spirit, realize to a greater extent than ever that "There's no place like home."

BRUTALITY APPARENT.

Violence Used in the Enforcement of the Payment of Bills.

James A. Luke is an attache of what is known as the Merchants' Protective Association—an institution which makes it warm for people who do not pay their bills. J. N. Haslam is a constable in and for the Third Precinct, Salt Lake county, and Mrs. Barbara Anderson is the wife of C. C. Anderson, living on east Fifth South street.

The aforementioned trio were the principals in a case before Justice Wenger today. It had its origin on July 15th, when the men in the case were pitted against the woman in the case, in what proved to have been a rather lively and interesting proceeding.

On the date mentioned Luke and Haslam went to the home of Mrs. Anderson and proceeded to liquidate a debt by forcibly taking possession of certain articles which belonged to her. This Mrs. Anderson resented by daring the men to lay a hand on the goods, whipping out a small unloaded 22-calibre revolver. This caused Luke and Haslam to grasp the woman and grapple with her in the attempt to wrest the pistol from her. The encounter seems to have been one which brought out much physical force and resulted in Mrs. Anderson's throat being disordered by being apparently "choked down." The woman produced in evidence the marks on her throat at the trial which was in progress this afternoon.

The above circumstances connected with the case were brought out at the hearing today, and while Mrs. Anderson was giving her testimony, she was so tightly cross-examined by Attorney S. H. Lewis for the defense, that she fainted in the witness chair and had to be carried outside into the open air. Assistant County Attorney Nye assumed the role of prosecutor and was examining other witnesses for the prosecution at press time.

NEWS OF THE MINES.

Superintendent Trewick of the Mercur, In From the Mine.

REPORTS THINGS LOOKING NICELY.

The Camp Floyd Bonanza Paid Its Dividend Today—Tidings from Park City and Bingham.

Superintendent Trewick of the Mercur came in from the mine last night. He reports things as being in better shape at the property at present, than they have been for sometime past, and of course he feels very much gratified.

The Mercur paid its nineteenth dividend, of $25,000 today, raising the total of such payments to date up to the sum of $475,000. Payment twenty, which will in all probability materialize next month, will run the aggregate in dividends up to a cool half million.

The Mercur is the best paying proposition in the Camp Floyd district and its owners know it. Its reported sale a short time ago created quite a stir in mining circles at the time, but since then nothing has been heard to warrant a conclusion as to whether the report was true or not. One thing, however, is certain, and that is, that if it has been sold, or there is even "a deal on," the consideration for the property, either prospective or otherwise, will be a handsome, substantial, material sum.

NEWS FROM MAMMOTH.

The Southern Eureka Company Pushing Ahead—Plenty of Work in the District.

MAMMOTH, July 20, 1896.—Mr. C. C. Parsons, a Denver capitalist is registered at the Hotel Mammoth. This gentleman is making a close inspection of some of the great mines in Eureka, Silver City and Mammoth. He is interested in the new venture of developing the Southern Eureka Consolidated Mining company's property which started some few weeks ago. The shaft is down nearly a hundred feet, and as the above company have lots of money and mean business, we venture to say that some day in the near future they will strike good pay ore, as their ground is very close to the Centennial-Eureka property, and if they go to work the right way the Southern Eureka Mining company are sure to develop a great mine.

Mr. Parsons is delighted with the appearance of Mammoth and his opinion is that it is fast coming to the front as a mining camp.

The Swansea Mining company are working a staff of men just a little north of the Swansea mine. The men are down about fifteen feet, and today they encountered a small streak of mineral which gives very good assays. It is expected this small ledge will lead to a larger body of good pay ore.

The Sioux Consolidated Mining company did not pay their men on Monday last as was stated in the News columns, but will pay their employes today, Monday.

The Carson company paid their employes yesterday. This property is still shipping good pay ore and will make a shipment of three car loads on Wednesday next.

It is reported that in the last clean-up which the Mammoth mill made there were several bars of silver bullion, but best of all there was a nice little gold brick which tipped the scales at 250 ounces.
