BURNED TO THE GROUND.

The Horn Silver Mine Boiling Works Completely Destroyed.

Word comes from Frisco, Utah, that the splendid concentrating plant and boiling works at that place were completely destroyed by fire on Wednesday night. It is supposed that the fire was the work of an incendiary. The loss is estimated at $50,000 and no insurance was carried. During the progress of the conflagration the timbering of the main shaft was ignited and burned down to a depth at present unknown. The mine is filled with smoke and a. interior investigation is well nigh impossible at this time. Two miners narrowly escaped with their lives. All of the men were hoisted from the mine but six, and they were obliged to climb the ladders from the 700 feet level through the air shaft. About 150 men are thrown out of employment by the fire.

New Bridge at Gordon's.

The old wooden bridge which spanned Big Cottonwood creek for so many years on the State Road at Gordon's, is being torn down and the debris hauled away. A great amount of sing from the crushers is being conveyed to the banks of the stream and placed in position on either side to make that the new bridge erected there may have safe, solid and substantial footings.
