Edward Mooney, the San Luis farmer, went before Commissioner Powell late yesterday afternoon and obtained a warrant for the arrest of an individual named Frank W. Eastman, alias C. F. Foster. In the course of the evening Eastman was arrested at the Rio Grande depot, the charge being obtaining money by false pretenses, and he spent the night in jail. It is claimed that he obtained some $72 worth of notes from Mr. Mooney, in addition to $19 in cash, by passing upon him a $75 sight draft on the American Union Wines company, of New York.

The whole is a swindle.

Blazer Thinks he Will Pay.

J. H. Blazer, the ex-justice of the peace, is now in the Eye. Judge Bowman has been acting in his behalf in the matter of Blazer's assault upon Attorney Fred E. McDurrie, some months ago, and there seems to be a reasonable prospect of the fine and costs imposed upon him in the misdemeanor's court being now paid.

On the hearing of a case before Justice Williamson, Blazer attempted out three of McDurrie's teeth, and upon a hearing before Commissioner Greenman, Blazer was fined heavily, and fined $50 and costs. From that judgment Blazer appealed. The costs in the case now amount to about $125, including the fine, and Judge Bowman, will, it is said, pay into his sister and so let a case drop.

AMUSEMENTS.

Frank Dumont is holding along meeting at the Grand to large audiences. Excellent as the thoughts's performance was, there were possibly drawbacks especially in the extremely lazy second act. These have now been cut off, however, and the play runs with considerable smoothness. Conferences to Whitney and Robson's speeches in Carter's hotel yesterday caused unexpected excitement.

The Rock Church hall is the scene of activity in the theatre. There is working of underworking importance about in a dramatic way until the appearance of the Fatal Card in Dunbar.

Eastman gives his wonderful sleight of hand performance in the opera house at Murray tomorrow night. Within from a few months ago, he appeared here some of the best people who were interested and there are many who now Eastman's performance and remember the things he did.
