LIZZIE ON TRIAL.

A Case That Promises to Become Most Sensational.

EMINENT LAWYERS EMPLOYED.

A Brief Review of the Borden Murder. —Only Circumstantial Evidence.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 5.—The trial of Lizzie Borden, of Fall River, on the charge of murdering her father, Andrew Jackson Borden, and her stepmother, Abby Durfee Borden, an aged, wealthy and highly respected couple, on the morning of August 4th, 1892, began here this morning. The most eminent criminal lawyers of the state are employed and the trial promises to be most interesting and probably sensational. The evidence is purely circumstantial. On the day in question, as far as known, the only person in the house were the two couple, Lizzie and a maid servant, Bridget Sullivan, who was outside most of the morning, washing the windows. Borden was out in the morning returning between 10 and 11 o'clock, and it was only a short time afterwards that Lizzie after a short visit to the barn called the servant to run for a doctor, as her father had been murdered. Shortly afterward Mrs. Borden was missed and a search revealed her body in an upper room, she having evidently been killed some time before her husband. In both cases the death resulted from blows from some sharp instrument, probably an ax, but the instrument of death has never been discovered. A certain discrepancy in Lizzie's story and some other suspicious circumstances led to her arrest, some weeks after the murder, and her subsequent indictment.

BOOTH'S CONDITION.

No Hope of Even a Partial Recovery.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Booth's physician issued a bulletin this morning saying: "I have seen no improvement during the night." The doctor, in response to questions, repeated the statement in his last night's bulletin. Booth is growing weaker and there is no hope of even a partial recovery. His condition is now very critical. The doctor remained with him and will return as soon as possible today. The patient's relapse took place on Saturday, when an exhausting fit of coughing threatened to suffocate him. He has been growing weaker since. In the early part of last night the patient seemed to suffer greatly for air. About 2 o'clock a. m. he fell into a troubled slumber which lasted most of the night.

Booth's son-in-law said this afternoon that Booth is rapidly sinking. He will probably die before nightfall.

A Mean Thief.

Special Telegram to the NEWS.

CASPER, Wyo., June 5.—At the recent term of the district court a sympathetic jury acquitted a horse thief named Smith. Afterwards he stole a half dozen more horses and fled out. He did not forget to take a saddle belonging to one of the jurymen who acquitted him.

A JAIL BIRD.

He Shackles and a File Found in a Railroad Car.

Special Telegram to the NEWS.

CASPER, Wyo., June 5.—W. H. Bell, the horse thief with many aliases who escaped from jail at North Platte, Neb., some days ago, evidently came west over the Union Pacific railroad. The trainmen yesterday found a pair of shackles and a file with which they had been removed in an empty box car. Bell has probably gone on west.

THE LAWYERS WERE FALSE.

That is What a Witness Against the Carnegie Men says.

CLEVELAND, June 5.—Hugh Ross, the prosecuting witness against the Carnegie officials, the cases against whom were dismissed on the suggestion of the lawyers for the prosecution in Pittsburg on Saturday, is here. He says the lawyers played them false, and dismissed the case without consulting him, or any other representative of the men. He says he came away to keep cool as the men at Homestead are hopping mad.

OFF FOR CHICAGO.

Infanta and Party Leave New York for the Fair.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The Spanish princess, and suite left this morning for Chicago. The party was escorted from the hotel to the ferry by a battalion of the United States Signal Corps, Mayor Gilroy and the reception committee. A special steamer conveyed them to Jersey City, where they took a special train on the Pennsylvania road.

Another House Fails.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Meadow & Croft Brothers, private bankers, dealers in commercial paper and doing business similar to that of Hermann Schaffner, who failed on Saturday, make an assignment today. They are one of the oldest private banking firms in the city. Assets and liabilities are not yet known.

Denmark's Day.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The day opened cloudy, but towards noon the sun broke through, promising good weather for the Fair visitors. This is Denmark's day in the White City. Besides opening its exhibit in the Manufactures' building there were addresses and a musical program in the Festival hall.

Reciprocity Convention.

ST. PAUL, June 5.—This afternoon Hon. P. H. Kelly called the second international reciprocity convention to order here with between 300 and 400 delegates present. As many more are expected by tomorrow. The promoters of the convention seek to avoid the appearance of any political bias in the deliberations, the object being purely commercial. The call for the convention mentions the advantage of reciprocity with Canada for both countries' material development and the mutual advantage to be derived from a deep waterway to the ocean from Lake Superior to Quebec.

Kelley introduced ex-Governor Burke of North Dakota, as chairman, having been chosen at the last convention. He made a brief address, touching the questions to be considered. Mayor Wright welcomed the delegates to the city. After the appointment of committees and a few brief talks on reciprocity, the convention adjourned till tomorrow morning.

Business Failures.

CHICAGO, June 5.—F. A. Armstrong & Co., manufacturers and jobbers in paints and mixed paints, uniforms, have failed. The liabilities are $100,000, assets $178,000.

Several Failures.

SANDUSKY, Ohio, June 5.—The Savings bank here was put in the hands of a receiver this morning.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The property of C. A. Weinstock, clothing and shoe merchants, was seized by the sheriff this morning on judgments. The liabilities are $75,000, assets, $50,000.

KANSAS CITY, June 5.—A Kansas grain company, which claims to be the largest purchaser of grain from producers in the world, has failed. The announcement was made on the board of trade this morning that the company was unable to meet its contracts. The announcement caused great excitement. The main offices are in this city and at Hutchinson, Kansas. The offices here decline to make a statement of the assets and liabilities till authorized by President Dunphy, in charge of the office at Hutchinson. It is presumed, however, that they will be large. The company has elevators in over a hundred towns in Kansas, all containing grain. Tight money was the cause of the failure.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—Washington, Butchers & Sons, the oldest established house in the provision trade, has made an assignment; there is no statement of assets or liabilities. Tight money was the cause.

THE BERING SEA DISPUTE.

Ex-Minister Coolidge's Views About the Arbitration.

New Principles of International Law Probably Recognized in Arbitrator's Favor.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Jefferson Coolidge, ex-minister to France, arrived in New York yesterday, and started this morning for his home in Boston. "The Bering sea tribunal," said he, "could hardly be improved upon. In order to decide in our favor the tribunal will have to lay down some new principles in international law, and I think there are very fair prospects of their doing this. Any new law formulated by them would undoubtedly be approved by all the nations interested. Even if they should decide against us, they will probably devise some means, such as a closed season, for instance, by which the seals can be protected and preserved. The arguments will soon be finished, and then the consideration will begin. If there should be a disagreement, time would have been granted for the preparation of a minority report or further information might be called for. For these reasons, the decision can hardly be rendered for several weeks yet.

THEY WANT TO FIND OUT.

Trips Contemplated by Senate Committee on Immigration.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The Times says it is possible the entire Senate committee on immigration, of which Hill is the chairman, may take a transcontinental trip this summer. Senator Squire has urged that an examination of the Chinese immigration questions be made; and that at least a subcommittee be sent to the coast to ascertain the condition of the Chinese in California and possibly, Oregon and Washington. Some members of the committee favor going in a body to San Francisco, attempting to find out by personal inspection what sort of a citizen the Chinaman makes.

Appointments and Rumors.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The President has appointed Charles H. Mansur, Missouri, second comptroller of the treasury; Charles W. Dayton, postmaster, New York.

Rumors of a special cabinet meeting and the intention of the President to call a special session of Congress before September 15th, in view of the financial situation, called of confirmation at the White House this morning.

Will Be Investigated.

MILWAUKEE, June 5.—A sensation was created this afternoon by Judge Wall by instructing the grand jury to investigate the failure of the Plankinton bank and Lappen & Co.

AT THE FAIR.

An Interesting Exhibition from the Diamond Fields.

CHICAGO, June 5.—At the Fair today a portion of the five tons of diamondiferous clay brought from the South African diamond fields, was put into the crusher. When ground into fine power, water was turned on, cleaning away all except the heavier globules containing gems. These were then sorted out by Zulus and afterwards cut.

The individual exhibits made by Queen Victoria and by Queen Margherita of Italy, were brought to the Fair today. They have been in the safety deposit vaults, on account of their value, and heavy bonds of the exposition for their safety. This morning they were loaded on a truck and under heavy police force transported to the grounds. They were received at the administration building by the chief officers with due ceremony. Then Mazzantini's orchestra, a selection of Italian music was taken to the Women's Building for exhibition, and Kimball's orchestra rendered a selection in the Fine Arts building. In each case a concert followed and was given for the new treasures of the exhibits.

Great Insolence in Low Figures.

CHICAGO, June 5.—On the board of trade wheat worked off somewhat in sympathy the lower figures received in the morning in very nearly years. Large receipts in the Northwest, heavy losses, increase on the crop page and the news of further failures, were the principal causes.

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The stocks were exceedingly active in their movements after 11 o'clock. Sugars for the week heavy, declining 12½. At noon the market was dull, steady.

Telegraphic Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The President has appointed John W. Warner, New Mexico, commissioner from the territory of New Mexico to the World's Columbian commission.

Exonerated.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The suit to hold Jerry Simpson on the charge of John H. Dunlap, Los Angeles, Cal., was dismissed this morning, as it was shown Simpson was examined for nothing evidently to know that Dunlap's death was the result of elopement on the part of his wife. The jury heard accordingly and exonerated the editor, Jerry W. Simpson, from blame.

A Separate Commonwealth Talked.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 5.—It can be stated upon unquestionable authority that it is proposed, that the Clevelands Democrats have resolved to make a separate democratic state ticket the coming fall. They will seek nominations in the Democratic state convention which will be controlled by Hill and Murphy, Sheehan and Governor Flower, but it is now already that their delegates will be passive spectators, and accordingly they are making plans, as stated, to hold a state convention of their own, and nominate a state ticket composed of different men from those who will be selected by the Hill-Murphy-Sheehan-Flower convention. All the state officers except governor and lieutenant governor are elected this fall; also the judge of the court of appeals.

NEWS FROM CHATTANOOGA.

The Mobbed Elders Report Themselves as All Well.

The following dispatch was received in this city late on Saturday night:

"CHATTANOOGA, TENN., June 3.

"President Wilford Woodruff:

"Have received reports from Elders reported killed. All are well.

GEO. A. SMITH.

He Lost His Leg.

A young man from Wyoming, named John Sheitler, is lying at St. Mary's hospital minus his left leg which was amputated at the thigh by Dr. Pinkerton yesterday.

On Thursday last it seems that young Sheitler accidentally shot himself in the left thigh with a 45-caliber rifle. The boys was frightfully shattered and the unfortunate man was brought to this city for treatment. Unless some unforeseen symptom of an unfavorable character arises, Sheitler will recover in a couple of months.

Bureau of Information.

J. H. Crockwell of this city has established a bureau of information at the World's Fair. In the circular it is stated that the bureau "is opened for the express purpose of accommodating that class of people who do not wish to pay the exorbitant prices asked by many houses here in the city of $5 to $20 per day, for room only, when they can be procured from 50 cents to $2 per day, just as good and as convenient to the Columbian Exposition. The curious in the outgrowth of suggestions made by N. A. Empy, executive commissioner of the Utah World's Fair commission, and Jas. A. Yerington, chairman of the Nevada state commission, in the interest of their people. Inclosed We respectfully refer you to those honorable bodies, (Utah and Nevada commission), and also H. P. Tendel, C. H. Wendel, C. H. Bayer, and L. G. Karrick, of Salt Lake City, Utah." The address of the bureau is 257 Wabash avenue, Chicago.

THE SAVINGS BANK.

Good Showing Made by That Institution.—Officers Elected.

The regular annual meeting of the stockholders of the Zion's Savings Bank and Trust company was held at the company's office today at 11 a.m. Directors for the ensuing year were elected, the only change being the choice of George M. Cannon in place of Anton H. Lund, as the latter is absent from the Territory and will be unable to act in the directorate for some time in the future. The reports of the condition of the bank at the meeting show the institution to be in a very prosperous condition. Since January 1st, 1892, 2,000 new depositors have opened accounts, the increase in deposits for the same period being $272,411.48. The present officers are Wilford Woodruff, president; George Q. Cannon, vice-president; George M. Cannon, cashier; directors, Wilford Woodruff, George Q. Cannon, Joseph F. Smith, Angus M. Cannon, Lorenzo Snow, Francis M. Lyman, Heber J. Grant, L. G. Henry, George M. Cannon, H. H. Cluff, James Jack, T. G. Webber and George M. Cannon.

Of the capital stock four shares were represented at the meeting, only 194 shares being unrepresented.

WILLIE IS NOT DEAD.

Young Taylor the Story Teller is Alive Near Soda Springs.

HIS "PROMISING" ONLY A FAKE.

He Calmly Reads the Story of His Strange Disappearance in the "News" and Tries Writing.

It now transpires, as was expected, that Will Taylor, the missing and weak-minded young Truth writer, who either went or caused to be written, recently so mysterious, a resignation letter to Mon Thomas, his employer, in this city, about ten days ago, purporting to give an account of his strange disappearance from the desk of a stenomen and his probable drowning in the waters of the Columbia river, about 100 miles below Portland, to all dead and it is doubtful if whether a solitary spark such of his actions and history was even mentioned by that unfortunate scamp. On the contrary it is believed that he has been a party if not the principal in a most serious joke—one the outcome of the combined efforts of a loving sweetheart and an affectionate mother, who joined and jeopardized an indulgent father. It also caused many expressions of sorrow and condolence by friends and acquaintances in behalf of those whom it seemed but recently been bereft of a son and brother.

Mr. Taylor, the young man's father, interrogated in the chief of police of Portland and San Francisco for tidings concerning his newly disposed death, but could learn nothing whatever of the affair. A few days ago John Simmons, a friend of the Taylors, who formerly resided in the Truth-wand and who made periodical visits to Salt Lake, but who now lives on a ranch in Idaho, wrote a letter to his ladywife, who also enjoys the distinction of living in the Truth-ward, to whom he sympathized with the bereaved parents. He had heard the news in the Portland papers, and proposed from Saturday, the News's copy of which was before him as he wrote. He went on to say that he must insist to Sudie his letter, that it would be better than he wished or reason to believe was waiting at the door to take it to the nearest post-office, some seven or eight miles distant.

This letter was written and signed, according to a postscript ready for mailing, when Mr. Simmons, who should appear on the scene but young Taylor, accompanied by his friend Brennan. Simmons was surprised, startled and almost frightened, and wondered whether or not his eyes really deceived him. Recovering, and convincing himself that it was not an apparition that stood before him not the executive again of his old colleague and schoolmate, presenting a picture of robust health and activity, he grasped his hand and asked for an explanation. Taylor coolly replied that he had nothing to explain, whereupon Simmons invited him to read the story of reporter on disappearance in the News. He did so, but it is said indifferently replied that he knew nothing of its origin. Finally he said he "fell in" with a friend at San Francisco, who accompanied him to Portland. The friend he believed must have written the letter to Mon Thomas simply to frighten her. That was the only solution he could think of.

Young Taylor wrote to his parents the next mail after the posting of Simmons' letter, and he arrived here on Saturday night. Taylor seemed was seen by a News reporter today, of course he was glad to know that his son was still in the land of the living, but he is somewhat mystified regarding the crude and silly purpose of the yarn. When he said, was about forty miles from Soda Springs when he came across Simmons, who is somewhere in that section at present. He does not know, however, when he will return, or that he will return at all. But should the prodigal stick to some tame his parents will forgive him, kill the traditional fatted calf and give him a hearty welcome to the home circle.

Many of Will's acquaintances doubted the story from the first, as they say he is accustomed to relating the most extraordinary instances of personal adventure and prowess, with himself always as the central figure and being that he would assume the bogus identity of fabulous and improbable tales with as much zeal and as though they were actual occurrences. In fact he is regarded as the king pin of the Baron Munchausen sojourns in the section from which he hails.

MILLS AND MINES.

The Floor Mill Combine in Status Quo.—San Juan Copper.—Notes.

There are no new developments as yet in the milling combine proposed for the various roller mills in northern Utah. The proposition from the eastern syndicate is still under consideration by the syndicate, and the mills are running, awaiting developments. None of the mills are making flour now, though most of them have fair business. Wheat has advanced a few cents, but the price kept down by the prospect of a good harvest, and millers say the demand is light for purposes. The uncertainty of the eastern money market is the cause in which instances and the delay of the mill syndicate before any action at the present time. Should anything occur in the local market to disturb the existing relations of the various mills, the scheme in form a local mill combination might be brought to a consummation, but other matters are likely to run as they are for a time.

COPPER IN SAN JUAN.

G. W. Hall is contemplating making shipments from his extensive group of copper prospects in San Juan county to Colorado's furnaces on the Rio Grande Western, the nearest railway station. The mine in which Mr. Hall is interested are in the San Juan mining district, the group is a vast deposit of mass ribbon, impregnated with copper averaging about 20 per cent in the bulk. Another group is in Lime valley, in Grand county, and running about 35 per cent.

WORK "MORE" BOYS.

The Mammoth is at present working a force of twenty-five men and additions are being made occasionally. The company has determined to run on the construction of their pipe line of 15 miles from Cherry creek to the stamp mills.

The reported new discovery in the Gold Hoosier was probably for the purpose of causing the stockholders to pay up the assessments a little more cheerfully. We hope the property will yet prove to be all that was claimed for it, for he talked a mighty value like a whipped spaniel when he left in the mines.

Mr. John Woolley of Paris Stamp company, he will go to Denver and New York City on business, and expects to leave the mechanical shop the 20th. Before leaving he performed strong testimony with the Democratic and the Bland. Winter will be spent, and, Mr. Driscoll thinks, by the 1st of July.

Capitol Deposits informs us that a large vein was found late in the Gold Mammoth the first of the week. Like all the other veins that have been found in the camp, it is full of beautiful crystals of water formation. They have not ascertained the depth of the vein as yet, but believe it to be quite deep. To which it runs from Eureka let there be just twenty feet for a man to squeeze through.

ANTHRACITE LOCATIONS.

Price Telegraph: Mr. A. Hyde, brother of the manager of the Independent Coal and Coke company, is in Price. Mr. Hyde has been prospecting on the San Rafael for anthracite. He has discovered a large vein and has done considerable development work, having several thousand tons of the superior ore on the dump. The parties interested have located five quarter sections under the placer law, and expect to work the property extensively in the near future. They will ship from Green River.

THE PHILLIPS MINE.

A telegram from San Diego, Cal., to the San Francisco Chronicle says the lost Phillips mine, so long reported on a myth, has been discovered at last. Mr. and Mrs. Ingram of San Diego are the lucky persons. Ingram says they were lost of the lodge or an idiot, but he had little confidence in the story was somewhere at the foot of the mountain while he was west with the people in the place indicated. Returning with specimens of the ore, the richness of which was not obvious, she had no difficulty in interesting him, and together they broke up the mountain side, where the vein was carefully prospected. Monuments were raised and samples of the outcroppings were brought away for assaying. The vein is 20 feet in the lode. The vein is 7 feet wide, and was found 600 feet. He says: "When the rock first streamed with colors. If I did not know gold when I saw it I would have thought something was wrong, but it was gold, sure enough. Well, we looked around to get our bearings, and the more we studied the landmarks, the more we were convinced that we had stumbled upon the old Phillips mine. No miner would deliberately go to that spot to prospect around there looking for gold. After finding it though, it only proves the old saying that you can prospect where you please but gold is where you find it. We located our claims and are going out immediately to get the boundaries surveyed and make the development work. We think nobody can get it away from us. We have kept the discovery will for seven months, but I guess now there is no reason to hide the truth. I think we are secure."

NOTES.

On Saturday thirteen carloads of ore from Utah were received at the Denver smelters.

Parties from Denver are expected in Lewiston today (Monday) for the purpose of visiting the Lewiston creek placer grounds and inspecting the veins of ore in La Plata camp. They will spend nearly a month in this work and in looking at some coal property near the base of the mountains west of Lewiston. There is great activity in that section since the snow has disappeared sufficiently so that the roads are open.

The announcement is made that the rich silver mine in Agua Caliente, Cal., which was owned by Anna Stoner, was sold on Friday to W. E. Rogers, superintendent of the Clinton Gold Mining company of Wildcat, Cal. The mine purchased is the one that Dr. C. C. Gardner of Los Angeles became so widely interested in and endeavored to erect a tramway mill but failed. It is wonderfully rich. The assays of the ore taken out run to $400 per ton in silver and $50 in gold.

The Bayhaye mining excitement at Cactus City, New, has cooled down. The nine jumpers, all of whom claim to have an interest in the Black Horse claim, got a tumbleweed rig out west in Genoa, the county seat of Douglas county, and surrendered themselves to the sheriff. It transpires now that Arthur Bayrath, who was in the cabin riddled with bullets, fired the first shot. Ten men were left at the mine for whom the sheriff had no warrants. Pete Mitlich, the leader, was placed under $500 bonds and the rest were released on their own recognizance.

Park Record: In spite of the low price of silver and lead, the present promises to prove a very active season for Park City. Men are being put on almost every day and an immense quantity of ore is being sent to market. The indications are that the Ontario company will build the new hoisting plant now under contemplation, which there is a full release for one of two new shippers being added to the present list. Looked at from almost any standpoint the outlook is promising, to say the least, and the business men are beginning to feel the stimulus of promised larger payrolls.

Rawlins, Wyo., Journal: Herman Boisach of Lost Soldier brought in this week several fine surface specimens of lignite coal, taken from a vein on east his place. He says he has a

THE SUPREME COURT.

It Affirms the Decision of the Lower Court in the Case of the Rudy Block to The Tribune Transfer.

There was a very large attendance of attorneys and interested spectators in attendance when the Supreme Court opened at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Supreme Court room. This was the opening session of that body, and should, according to proclamation of the Governor, have commenced at 1 o'clock, but the not course till the hour named.

There were present on the bench the Honorable Charles S. Zane, chief justice, George W. Barton, James A. Miner and H. W. Smith, associate justices.

The minutes of the last session of the January term, April 20th, 1893, were read by Clerk Joseph P. Rooney, and signed by the judges.

Associate Justice Smith read a decision in the case of the Rudy Block against the Rapid Transit company. This case involving statutes and ordinances from the City Council to construct a line passing in the Salt Lake City railway line on Second South street. The decision was quite lengthy and was in favor of the Rudy Block corporation. Associate Justice Miner concurred.

The other parties to the suit in connection with the Rudy corporation are Lewis S. Kelsey, John W. Fox, Mark M. Fox, Frederick C. Anderson and Samuel H. Anderson, who are the owners of the Second South street, and claim that the place of market line would injure their property. The decision held that the road and that the action of the City Council in granting this franchise was reversed.

The first two cases on the docket, familiarly known as the "Chinese cases" involving the Gong Backer property, Tribune home property, Cannon farm and road bond had not been received when our reporter left, and he all probability would not be handed away.

SCHOOL BOND ELECTION.

A Light Ballot but Most of the Votes are in Favor of the Issue.

The school bond election in this city today is a very quiet one, and comparatively an exceedingly light vote is being polled. At 3 o'clock this afternoon it was estimated that not more than 700 votes had been cast in the five municipal wards out of a registration of about twelve thousand. The majority of them, fortunately, however, are in favor of the bond issuance.

In the First precinct the polling place is at No. 20 East Third South street and the judges are J. J. Greenwald, J. H. Walker and C. H. Weeks.

The second precinct polling place is at the Longstreet hall on Third Northwest and the judges are Henry Yeatman, C. H. Hammond and H. F. Evans.

The judges at the Third precinct polling place, situate at No. 30 North second West street, are Henry Harper, George A. Gibbs and E. R. Tyrell.

The polling place of the Fourth precinct is at the Lowell school building in the Twentieth ward and the judges are George E. Hair, L. E. Earl and John T. Adams.

The polling place of the Fifth precinct is at the City Hall and the judges are: G. O. Farnsworth, H. B. Clawson Jr. and F. G. G. Hesson.

The amount of bonds proposed to be issued is $125,000, of the denomination of $1,000 each, to bear interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and to run for twenty years.

The purpose of issuing the bonds is for raising money for purchasing school sites, for building or purchasing one or more school houses and supplying the same with furniture, necessary apparatus, and improving the grounds, and for liquidating any indebtedness incurred for said purposes.

Officers of the Court.

The officers of the Supreme court now in session in this city are as follows: Chief Justice, Charles S. Zane, Associate Justices George W. Barton, James A. Miner and H. W. Smith, John W. Judd, U. S. attorney; Irving A. Benton, U. S. marshal, John M. Rea, reporter, and Joseph Bacon, court clerk.

Cutting Down the Telegram.

"John," said the old man to his son, "I will give you dime to go away with. Maybe as you don't like my business, you will find a better one."

Three weeks later the young man landed in New York. A month later, finding but $2 in his possession, he determined to sell home again.

It was hard to let his father know before hand; but how? A letter would be too slow, so all went John to the telegraph office.

"A dollar a word to London, sir," suggested the public clerk to his inquiry.

"I want to tell my father I've spent all my money and I'm sorry and I'm coming home, and want him to forgive me and a lot of other things, and I can only pay for six words to tell him everything," said John.

"Put it short," replied the clerk.

John sat down and thought. An hour after, to his immense astonishment, the old man received the following enlargement:

THE ORPHANS' HOME

Selectman Bamberger Springs a Sensation as to its Maintenance.

HE PAINTS A DARK PICTURE.

The Home said to be in a Deplorable and Unclean Condition.—Scarlet Fever.

Selectman Bamberger sprung a surprise on the County court at its meeting today by the presentation of the following self-explanatory documents:

In reference to the bill of the Orphans' Home and Day Nursery, referred to me, I desire to report:

The Home is a private institution, and the charges to the county are not determined, but at the same time it is not exactly just, inasmuch as children are received at the Home at the expense of the county without any order from this court, and are not, therefore, proper charges of the county. This leads to an abuse, and I find evidences of the county paying a mother to the support of herself and children, while the latter are at the Home, which is also receiving an allowance for their support. The managers of the Home should in the future be more careful in receiving children who are charged to the expense of the county.

I have visited the Home and find the premises in a deplorable condition. The water used is unfit for any purpose whatsoever, and is obtained from a source not fifteen feet distant from a vault. The premises are not kept clean and neat.

From information received I find that the latter when they it is to look after premises for the Home, which from state to state, and are generally given premises that are to be a place of shelter, comfortable and consequently more unfit for food, especially for young children.

I am likewise informed that cases of the sort of moving diseased and only slightly convalescent patients, have occurred.

Unclean premises, unwholesome water and food, and fatty standing are prime breeders and to flow cause, I attribute the number of morning cases of scarlet fever, and of late year. At the present time, there are seven children down with scarlet fever alone.

When the county has any paupers at the Home, they must have proper care. The home and surroundings should be thoroughly cleaned; a pure and wholesome water supply should be obtained; the old kitchen should be torn down and the old stables should be burned; fire fighting implements, and an efficient fire alarm should be provided, which constitutes the nuisance and unsanitary state of our stores.

These improvements effected, and the Orphans' Home made a Home in the best sense, I would recommend that the county pay for the charges there literally, as to give the institution the financial aid which it will then deserve.

Believing that the management of the Home will see that the charges suggested are made, I recommend that the bill be allowed.

The sensational character of the report precipitated a warm discussion and a motion to file it was lost.

In connection therewith the following resolution was offered by Commissioner Morris and seconded by Cannon:

Whereas, a number of the inmates of the Orphans' Home and Day Nursery are now and attacks have been sick during this year with scarlet fever, and the physician can only trace the cause thereof to the use of unwholesome surface water and some other source to be obtainable at this time; therefore be it

Resolved, That the management of the institution be permitted to connect by a 2-inch pipe with the water supply at the Infirmary, into the water so taken shall only be sufficient for culinary purposes, and that the use thereof shall be terminated at the pleasure of the county court.

On the matter being put to a vote Bamberger and Stott voted "aye" and Cannon and Morris, "nay."

The following other business was transacted: The communication of J. S. Scott of Bingham in relation to fencing of roads was referred to the attorney.

The clerk was authorized to give Mr. Bagley an order for all county tools and property in his possession.

The collector was authorized to order 45,000 stamped envelopes for his office.

Wonderland.

The comic opera as presented at this place of amusement by the Ideal Opera company are deserving of patronage and support. The company is first class in every respect, and in the production of "Mikado," which will be continued during the week, Mr. Bert Revere and Mlle Moore, in the leading roles, are entitled to special mention and credit.

On Thursday next another change in program will take place, The Bells of Corneville being the attraction, and the enterprising management promises a production equal to any ever seen in this city at any price.

Tabernacle Choir Notice.
