AMUSEMENTS.

James O'Neill—Plays at the Various Playhouses.

There was a fair audience again last night at the Theater, and those present were amused and mystified as usually. The engagement closes tonight, after which the clever lady leaves for the east.

The next attraction at the Theater will be James O'Neill, opening on Monday, February 24, with Virginius. Mr. A. Texas Worm, Mr. O'Neill's representative, in an interview last night stated that the earlier career of the now famous actor was spent at Hooley's theater, Chicago, where he played in the popular Hooley's Comedy company. Among the members were William H. Crane, Harry Murdock who met his death in the Brooklyn fire; Nellie McHenry and Nate Salisbury. The theater was opened with Lost Arcady. Saturday nights Mr. O'Neill had the privilege of naming the piece to be produced, and the first play he selected was The Merchant of Venice, in which he played the part of Shylock. Succeeding Saturday night's Hamlet and Othello were put on with much success. In the year following he went to California with the same company playing Rinbetsu, Othello, Hamlet and Romeo. He then returned to Chicago as a member of the Union Square company, after which he played with Lawrence Barrett at Hooley's theatre. On the third night of the engagement Mr. Barrett said: "O'Neill, this is the happiest night of my life; I have been coming to Chicago for fifteen years and I have for the first time seen the 'standing room only' sign displayed in front of the theater." This meant a great deal to Mr. Barrett, as Mr. Booth was playing an engagement at another house there at the same time.

Mr. Worm, it may be incidentally stated, is perhaps the only advance agent in this country enjoying the distinction of being a civis and alumnus of a European university, with the degree of master of philosophy.

The legislative ball comes off at the Theater on Friday, Feb. 21. Admission tickets to the galleries will be 50 cents and to the floor $1.

THE GRAND.

La Belle Russe drew a fair house last night, and frequent applause and a curtain call at the end of the third act rewarded the principal players.

THE LYCEUM.

A Tragedy, as played at the Lyceum this week, is not what the title implies by any means, but it is what is claimed for it, a comedy or rather a ridiculous farce.

The play, although without plot causes much merriment and laughter.

J. J. Williams is seen to good advantage as Professor Marshall, his enacting of that role being a reminder of the part which he played in Kerry, or Night and Morning, at Wonderland, some two years ago. Edmund Hayes is well fitted for Leander Mentony, manager of the Last Leaf Dramatic company, and his rendition of that part, gives him a chance to occasionally give vent to his love for the Shakespearean tragedy. Miss Drury as Mrs. Marshall plays quite an effective part while Frank Mallese as Matilda, the Irish Biddy, is simply all right. He goes through his lines with the accuracy of an original "Biddy" and were it not for the fact that he is so well known, one would really be led to think that "she" had recently been imported from the Emerald Isle. The other characters by De Witt Jennings, James Ellis, Brigham Royce, Miss Lytton and Miss Meagher, are taken with good grace, and the music, as is usually the case, was a pleasing feature.

A Tragedy continues during the week.

The Legislative Ball.

Preparations for the big Legislative ball at the Salt Lake Theater on Friday night are still being actively carried on. It is expected that the special rates over the railroads from outside points will draw a large number of dancers to the city. The matinee on Saturday afternoon for the children will be an attractive feature. Music will be furnished by Cohen's enlarged orchestra. The affair will be wholly non-partisan and will doubtless be a big success.

Fort Douglas Band Concert.

The following program will be carried out by the Seventh U. S. Infantry band, in the Post amusement hall at Fort Douglas, at 3:30 o'clock p. m., Wednesday, Feb. 19, 1896, to which the public are cordially invited:

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, FEB. 19, 1896.

Fire.

An unoccupied house on Twenty-sixth street, belonging to T. A. Whalen for the third time during the month was discovered to be on fire last evening about 7:30 o'clock. The building was damaged about $200; insured for $900.

Mayor's Vetoes.

At the meeting of the city council the mayor's veto of the resolution passed at the last meeting, giving the street commissioner absolute and unqualified power to employ men and to work on the streets, was read. An attempt to pass the resolution over the mayor's veto failed. The mayor also vetoed the pay roll of the street commissioner for two weeks ending February 8. He pointed out that neither the council nor the street commissioner could perform the duties of a street supervisor.

Double Murder.

In a letter to an Ogden business man word comes from Oakley, Idaho, of a double murder. Noel Karlson, of Oakley, was out some sixty miles west when he came onto a sheep camp where he found the murdered bodies of Dan Cummings and John Wilson. They had been shot and from appearances had been dead several days. The killing is supposed to be the work of cowboys.

Junction City Notes.

Ogden is in the swim with Salt Lake. George A. Graves, ex-fireman, filed before the city council Monday three charges against Fire Chief Rinhart: First—That the fire chief is lacking in judgment. Second—That he is tyrannical and unfavorable to the men of the department. Third—That he has had a physical trouble that unfits him for his work. Fourth—that he is brutal and surly in his contact with the men. Fifth—That he is often under the influence of liquor.

Major F. Darling was before Judge Rolapp Monday charged with vagrancy. The charge against him was that in order to obtain money from the proprietor of the Richelieu Saloon was that he was at the saloon on 25th street in looking through a transom where he saw the saloon man and a woman in a compromising position. The jury returned a verdict of guilty.

In a divorce suit filed by Mrs. Martha Hutton, the lady gives Mr. Hutton a very bad character and in turn Mr. Hutton gives his wife worse than she sent. Closed doors will test suit the case.

J. L. Thompson, who has returned from Cripple Creek, reports a large number of men who cannot get employment and a poor place for a man without money.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Geo. A. Seaman, of Pleasant View, and Miss Lottie J. Fox, of Mountain.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, FEB. 19, 1896.

Garden City Notes.

Three boys from the third ward about 12 years of age took it into their heads Monday that they would take a walk to Orangeville, Emery county, where one of them has relatives. Their parents did not discover their absence till late in the evening when some of the neighbors' boys told them of the excursion the boys had undertaken. Last evening the young wanderers returned, having concluded the trip was too long for them.

Thomas N. Taylor, manager of Taylor Bros. Furniture company, left for California last evening. Mr. Taylor makes the trip with the expectation of improving his health, which has been poor for some time. He will be gone about a month.

A gentleman over from Lehi reports that next week the sugar works will ship 600 head of cattle to Omaha. The animals have been fattened on the pulp from the sugar beets and are in fine condition.

The Springville and Provo football teams will play a matched game in Springville on Washington's birthday. The Springville team challenged the Provo players.

Members of the Tabernacle choir and other vocalists are rehearsing for the House concert, in which they will take part.

The boy Alexander who was run over by a heavily loaded wagon Monday, continues to improve.

A large number of diphtheria cases is reported from American Fork.

There is a large number of commercial tourists in this city.

OBITUARY.

MARIA LEVERADE.

OGDEN, Utah, February 17, 1896.—Sister Maria W. Leverade was the daughter of Jacob and Christina Wahlquist, and was born June 2[illegible] at Wisby, on the island of Gotland. On June 17, 1850, she was married to Lars Gustaf Leverade. She was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints June 14, 1862, and came to Utah July 24, 1872, and settled at Mound Fort, in Weber county. For several years she has been severely afflicted with paralysis, and for eighteen years she has been deprived of her eyesight. During her painful sufferings she was patient and uncomplaining. On February 7, 1896, death relieved her from further physical anguish.

The funeral services, which were largely attended, were held in the Mound Fort meeting house, February 9th. At the obsequies Elders L. A. Halgren and N. C. Flygare paid high tributes to the worth, integrity and hospitality of the deceased. Elder John W. Hess, of Davis stake, and Elder Gilbert Torgersen also made consoling remarks and bore testimony to the faithful life of Sister Leverade, and consoling remarks were made by Bishop James Taylor.

Sister Leverade had two children and seven grandchildren.

MANAGER CHICAGO JOURNAL

Col. F. C. Pierce Was Made a Well Man by Paine's Celery Compound.

At the door of every newspaper office might be posted the general order—Rush!

The busiest concerns in the busiest streets are sluggards compared with these news-gathering hives where human fingers and brains are matched to keep up with machinery.

The brunt of this fatiguing mental strain, unavoidable in getting out one of the big city dailies, for example, the Chicago Evening Journal, falls on its business manager—in the case of this oldest daily in Illinois, Colonel Frederick C. Pierce.

Colonel Pierce is one of the busiest men in Chicago, a city of early and late workers. Brain workers in every profession will thank Colonel Pierce for the following statement recently made by him:

"For several years I have been troubled with sick headache, caused by constipation; otherwise I have always been in perfect health, and never sick for two weeks in my life. This sick headache has been very annoying. I have taken a number of different medicines, which have been used and recommended by others, but not until I took Paine's celery compound did I find any relief.

"This season I took one bottle and was not troubled with headache for at least six months. Since that time I have kept the medicine in the office and used it occasionally, and have not been troubled with headache since.

"I have recommended it to a number of my friends, who have been benefited as I have. For a person who is disposed to constipation, it is unquestionably one of the best medicines that there is on the market today.

Yours respectfully,
"F. C. PIERCE,
"Business Manager Chicago Evening Journal."

A black cloud is an surer indication of an approaching storm than persistent headache are of dangerous debility.

There is no one specific that can permanently cure headaches unless it goes to the seat of the trouble. This great nerve and brain restorer, Paine's celery compound, does get rid of them and leaves no chance for their return, because the over-wearied cause—the weakened nervous system at last is supplied with the food it has so sadly lost the need of.

The best physicians in every city in this country prescribe Paine's celery compound, where a rapid building up of the system is imperative. As an invigorator in cases of nervous exhaustion, sleeplessness and a poor state of the blood is the mainstay of the ablest practitioners throughout the United States.

A mere glance at the faces of weak, nervous, run-down persons after they have begun to use the greatest of all remedies, shows how rapid is the nourishing effect of Paine's celery compound.

There are thousands upon thousands well today because they use Paine's celery compound.

Horses Kick
is old fashion. It is their most signature form of protest against the abuse of Split Nails that are forced into their feet to hold on their shoes. Blacksmiths often use such nails in ignorance of the danger that is liable to follow.

This is what happens. One part comes out where it should for clinching, the other goes into the tender flesh. Such nails are the result of the Cold-Blooded and by which the fibres of metal are separated and can often be pried apart with the fingers. This kind of a nail can be easily distinguished by the rough edge along the sides near the point.
Putnam Nails are exclusively Hot-Forged and Hammer-Pointed, product of the old-fashioned hand-made nail. This process makes a sharper, firm nail that cannot Split, Sliver or Break, and is Absolutely Safe.
Explain the nails to your nailer's phone for sale. If your shoes are not shod with Putnam, do not use the Hot-Pointed nail. It may save many a lameness and the ruin of many a fine hoof.
