VARIAN GIVES AN OPINION.

In Answer to Questions From the Board of Equalization.

Mortgages Do Not Affect the Assessed Valuation of Property—As to Our Officer's Pay in Several Offices.

In answer to questions from the State board of equalization, Assistant Attorney General Varian has rendered the following lengthy and important opinion:

SALT LAKE CITY, June 19, 1896.

To the State Board of Equalization, Salt Lake City:

Gentlemen—I am in receipt of your communication of the 16th instant, requesting an opinion upon certain questions therein propounded as follows:

First—What action may be legally taken by the board to compel the county commissioners in any county to provide maps for the use of the assessor, under the provisions of section 33 of the "Revenue act?"

Answer—The law directs the board of county commissioners to provide these maps, and it is further provided that all of these maps shall be platted and "made" by the county surveyor. (Section 123, county government bill.)

It is the plain duty of the county commissioners to order these maps, but in the event of failure or refusal to do so, the business of the assessor must not stop. He may order and procure them himself. In the event of his failure to do so, in the opinion of this office, the board of equalization may procure them. In either case the county surveyor should be called upon to make the maps. If he fails or refuses, the same may be procured to be made by other competent persons, and the county in default must pay reasonable compensation therefor. In an aggravated case of contumacy, penalties may be enforced by the district courts and mandamus, if the board deems it proper to pursue these paths. The county clerk attests on their official bonds, in order to use of the board, it is with a view thereto the penalties prescribed by the penal code. (Sections 43, county government act.)

Attention is directed to the course of the board in proceeding upon the supposition that the assessor, when the commissioners refuse to furnish maps, to apply to the surveyor, and in the event of his failure, to procure the maps to be made, etc. (Par. 2, sec. 32, revenue act.)

The assessor is the proper officer upon whom there is a mortgage, is it proper to deduct the amount of the mortgage from the value of the property?"

Answer—No.

Third—"Will it be necessary this year, to place the figure 1 opposite the name of each taxpayer in order to pay a poll tax?"

Answer—The law requires this to be done, and the assessor, in a manner which ensures this end, should be compelled so to do at the first Monday in June. In fact, as I am informed, much of the work of the assessors who have to date the law took effect. (April 4, 1896.)

The books are now, or should be, in the keeping of the county treasurer, preparatory to the equalization of taxes. The requirements of the new law do not affect the assessment of property, but do affect the duties of the assessor and the officer in collecting poll taxes. To require the assessor, at this time, to go over the roll for this purpose, would be impracticable and expensive. I do not think it is imperative under the circumstances.

Fourth—"In counties where one person holds the two offices of assessor and collector, will he be entitled to receive the full amount of the salaries fixed by the legislature for the two offices?"

Answer—When the offices of assessor and collector are held by one person, the commissioners of the county, the treasurer or the clerk may receive the highest salary fixed for either office, together with one-half the amount fixed for the other office. Take it to say, the incumbent is entitled to the highest salary fixed by the law for either office and one-half the salary affixed for the other. This must, of course, obtain. But the law does not seem to include in terms the case of a combination of three offices prior to the institution of a state government. Nevertheless, under the territorial law, the compensation of the assessor and collector was fixed by the county court upon the report of the assessor and collector, and the present law provides for the fixing of the compensation when the offices are consolidated by the commissioner as prescribed in section 11, of the salary act, and necessarily the intention of the legislature was to continue existing offices and conditions until the new system should go into operation. This section expresses the legislative will as to salaries for combined offices and should not be ignored. I am of the opinion that section 11 of the salary act may be applied to existing conditions and the provisions as to the combined offices made effective as to the compensation of the assessor and collector, in counties where the offices are already united. I therefore answer that in such case the incumbent is not entitled to receive the full amount of the salary fixed by the legislature for both offices, but as before stated, the highest salary fixed for either office and one-half the salary fixed for the other.

It is to be observed that the salaries of the assessor and collector are definitely fixed by the statute. Section 11 does not contemplate as to these offices, any action by the commissioners. As to other offices, the salaries of which may be fixed by the commissioners within the maximum, when combined the commissioners may also determine the compensation within the limit as stated.

SKULL VALLEY LEPROSY.

Dr. Davis Says There Are But Three Cases and That the Herald Article Was Sensational and Overdrawn.

County Physician Davis of Tooele, in a communication to the Tribune comments as follows on the recent attempted Skull Valley leprosy scare:

Being one of the committee appointed by the county commissioners to investigate the leprosy cases at Joseph or the Keetch ranch, in Skull Valley, I submit to you the following facts:

On June 10, the committee, consisting of S. W. Walker, Representative and myself, examined each individual of the family, and found three presumptive cases of leprosy, viz., that of John J. W. Keetchum, a man about 30 years of age, who denies that he ever had the disease; the girl Bessie Peters, and the boy Jesse Keetchum. The girl is the most serious case in my opinion, the disease has attacked her upon right leg, and shows the disease very little on her face and body; her hands and the right lower limb are the seat of most of the trouble, the leg being two times as large as that of right leg, the right leg is badly deformed, there being no open sores, but bunches forming on the surface; her fingers are much drawn, so that she cannot straighten them, and there are several ulcers and tubercles thereon. Mrs. Hannah Stamp, a widow of about 45 years of age, has a very efficient in the face, and sick badly affected, etc., also shows the disease very little.

We have a report to submit to the county commissioners on the 22 inst., at which time we shall have to decide if we shall establish a place of quarantine, and I think immediate action will be taken in quarantine those affected.

We consider the report published in the Herald June 20th as sensational and misleading; had Mr. Jackson gone to Bishop Duff and let his mission be known, he would have seen more and get more reliable information, as the Bishop does not try to conceal the fact of leprosy being in the settlement. I had to treat some among all the days I spent.

Lucy Malone was examined, and no signs of leprosy discovered; a few years ago a wagon ran over her chest and she was taken home from the effects of the injury. Where the writer got his information, regarding the girl we do not know, as Mr. Jackson said he did not give it to him.

J. K. N. Malone was examined, and no signs of leprosy found.

The three lepers above described will be quarantined as soon as it is possible to select a suitable hospital for the purpose, until that time they are instructed to keep apart from those not affected, and they will be endeavored as soon as possible.

I have no doubt but that there will be more cases in the future. An examination of each individual should be made at different times, and if any one is found with the disease, that one should be taken to the hospital. It is my duty to attend to this matter, and any one who has cause to believe that there is a person affected with the disease should notify me and I will investigate at once.

TOOELE CITY, June 23, 1896.

From Australia.

Elder L. C. Pond and wife of Pocatello, Idaho, returned missionaries from Tasmania, have been spending a few days in this city. They departed for their field of later November 11, 1895. In their ministrations among the people of the Australian mission they were rewarded with success of a very satisfactory character. Friends were made on every hand. Every courtesy was extended and the opportunities for doing good were numerous. Elder Pond's wife was the only lady missionary in that section of the country and she enjoyed her work very much.

President Angus M. Cannon says of the Keeley treatment:

"I thought it impossible for one man to do what Dr. Keeley has done successfully in counteracting the terrible evils of intemperance. His treatment strengthens men physically, mentally and morally. Under these circumstances they are given another opportunity to become men amongst men; is there a man who loves his fellow beings that can fail to say, I wish Dr. Keeley as vigorous and in a most commendable work? I trust his good work may continue."
