THE GEYSER-MARION.

Dividend of Two Cents a Share or $6,000 Will be Distributed on the 30th.

PROSPECTS REPORTED IN GOOD SHAPE.

Strike in the Galena at Fish Springs—Roll Day in the Pit—De La Mar's Visit Here.

Roll-call indicating the presence of a quorum, the directors of the Geyser-Marion got down to business today, and did what all stockholders will appreciate—voted a dividend of 2 cents a share or $6,000, the same payable on the 30th inst. The company's books close at 5 o'clock this evening and the distribution, which is the first in two months, will make a total of $86,000.

At the meeting, George Dern submitted a report of the company's condition, stating it to be in very satisfactory shape, the mine yielding a good output of equally good ore and the mill handling the same at the rate of about 125 tons daily. The last shipment of ryalite amounted to quite a respectable sum, notwithstanding the fact that during the two weeks represented, the mill had been shut down for a day or two undergoing necessary repairs.

Director George Downing having been summoned to San Francisco on military duty, the president tendered his resignation, thus creating a vacancy, which yet remains to be filled.

STRIKE IN THE GALENA.

New Discovery in This Fish Springs Property—The Discoverer Fortunate.

The return of the two Charlies—Yeakel and Crissman—from their trip of inspection to the Utah mine at Fish Springs, brings important news from that section. In the Utah the Gladiator vein a new strike has been made, a fine body of exceedingly rich ore having been opened up in the galena, which at a depth of nearly 60 feet. While giving no specific information concerning the strike, the great smelter man said of it to the Deseret representative, who visited that the ore was rich and was being sacked for shipment.

Mr. Crissman reports the Fish Springs district looking well at present, the mines of interest being in shape to show good results. The Utah, says he, has no important changes to record, but is constantly developing a very good body of ore. Superior, another one of which will be on the market very soon, from the Last Chance, adjoining, has shown a fine quality of ore at some force, while the Last Chance No. 2, owned by Salt Lake parties, is being worked under lease by Mr. Hoge of Lehi, where efforts are also being made to develop. All in all the county is flourishing and the season now promises to be one of great productiveness. Mr. Yeakel, who left with Crissman had a good trip and enjoyed it very much.

DULL DAY IN THE PIT.

Mammoth, Dexter and Little Pittsburg the Only Sellers.

With Joe Bamberger shouting in stentorian tones in the capacity of caller, the brokers were in their accustomed place in the pit this morning, but not, however, with the encouraging results that might reasonably attend their maneuvers on the exchange. Trading was dull and unfavorable, and when the call was over, a review of the day's transfers brought out an aggregate of 1,400 shares sold, with a selling value of $1,136.

Bullion-Beck stood well to the front and had a bid of $4.75, while Chicago Union was easily sought for at $2 but could not be purchased at less than $3 above this figure. For Grand Central the closing and best bid was $3.35 with the stock offered quite close around, but as no business was transacted, the brokers passed on to Grover-Hatch and found this stock to be secondard, although nominally neglected. Mammoth was the first stock sold in the 200 shares finding a taker at $1.02½ and more to buy offered at $1.05 while asked was a few points below. Dexter was quite weak and had its best bid at $1.35 which Northern Light was willing to sell at, but offers were independent with offerings at 1½ cents and a bid of 1½. Ravenscroft evinced a little strength, remaining stocks looked about stationary.

Reaching stocks unlisted, there was a decided opposite for Sunbeam but it is to avail. The stock sold fairly well for, but bidders figures were so high, that nothing was done. Columbia seemed quite well thought of with a bid of 21 cents, while Little Pittsburg developed a selling tendency and changed hands at 2¼ and 2½ cents a share. Chloride Point stood out boldly with a very preliminary figure, but doing no business. Dexter was appointed to and broke the monotonous proceedings by selling at $1.19 and $1.20, the stock being much sought after at these figures. The Deseret Realty firm, and Crosby was offered at 19 cents with no bids.

The closing figures were as follows:

DE LA MAR'S VISIT HERE.

It Will Keep Mining Men Guessing as to His Next Move.

The presence of Capt. De La Mar in the city on his annual tour of inspection will set the mining fraternity guessing as to what the captain's next move will be with reference to his western mining interests.

Today he was at Bingham looking over his Bonanza Project (Ben), the golden Gate mine with its newly-erected mill of 200 tons daily capacity. After satisfying himself that all is well in that camp, he will locate for the Bingham in which district he has just become interested, and where, it is believed, the captain will go to make heavy investments. Next he will visit the Nevada and take in the De La Mar properties, and then set up into Idaho, where he has his extensive mining interests.

The captain intends to spend a month in Idaho, and it may be that when he has finished his western peregrinations, the enlargement and development of some of his big properties will have been decided upon. If Bingham gets the attention expected from De La Mar, the mining and its people will be made still more happy, as the big mining man never does things by halves, but goes on the old maxim that whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well.

Rich Quartz Ore.

J. H. Brannscombe has returned from Silver City, Idaho, where he is interested in the Cumberland mine on War Eagle mountain, over the Buckskin Review. He brought a 10-pound chunk of ore from the mine, it enriched with free gold, and assayed according to a certificate produced by Mr. Brannscombe, $13,031.76, of which 71 per cent is gold. "Of course we haven't a large quantity of ore as rich as that," said Mr. Brannscombe, "but we have a big vein that runs exceedingly high. We have developed it for 1,000 feet and are running through one foot per day, averaging over $60 per ton. We have enough ore on hand to run the mill for a year."

Rich Ore Ledge Discovered.

A ledge of ore assaying 110 ounces in silver and $61 in gold was recently discovered in this district by parties searching for a lost pocket. Prospectors flying south to secure a mine they say keeping the new find a secret, reporting to this review that when with the new developments east of the Vaca clearly shows the advantages of prospecting in this vicinity and that where are not always cleaned down for want of ore.—Pioche, Nev., Messenger.

The Star in Fine Course.

James A. McFarr came in from Pine Grove last evening where he has been superintending affairs at the Star mine, a property which of late has been the center of a very interesting development. The workmen are now grading a new compartment for the track stands, and that the necessary timbers are being cut and will soon be in position so that work thereon can be commenced in short order. He says that the miners are constantly making new discoveries in horizontal underlapped ground, and that in Stockton for the coming up of a bonanza are more favorable than ever.

Dips and Spurs.

Silver, Nev., Sept. 1893.

At Dayton, Nev., Joe Douglas is operating a Pick concentrator on the tailings of that camp.

Outside Do La Mar, who arrived in Salt Lake yesterday afternoon, went out to Murray this morning.

A. H. Geiler of the Nevada Mining company, operating at Pioche, is now in the city on important business.

Joe Bamberger sent in cuter to the pit today in the absence of Mr. Hawes. His effort was appreciated.

Home Statesman: The New England Develop company, operating Mammoth Dexter, is now doing work on Mew creek of Idaho City. The leadville was attended by a large crowd of people.

John A. Kirig, superintendent of the Bullion-Beck, has returned to the mine, after having discussed with the company's directors the question of a new air compressor to facilitate matters in the lower levels of the mine.

"BE GENTLEMEN AND PATRIOTS."

Colonel Torrey's Final Words to His Men Prior to Their Departure.

Laramie Boomerang: A few demonstration was made in honor of the Torrey cavalry yesterday at Cheyenne preparatory to leaving tomorrow for Jacksonville, Fla. The regiment marched, mounted, to Cheyenne, where it passed in review through the principal streets, which were crowded with people. The route led to the camp of the Alpena Light artillery, which was formed in front of its quarters to salute the regiment as it passed. The review ended at the state capitol, the regiment returning from there to the post. The precision in march and the fine appearance of the regiment evoked much comment from the people throughout the review. At the post the men were dismounted and formed on foot in a hollow square in the center of which all the commissioned officers of the regiment were assembled. Major Thomas Wilding, U. S. A., then presented Colonel Torrey with his shoulder straps as colonel of the regiment. Col. Torrey, in turn, presented each officer of the regiment with the straps of his grade, making brief speech of presentation. As each officer was present with his straps the men of the troop cheered vociferously. At the close of the ceremony, Colonel Torrey said to his men:

"A certain class of disgusted people expect to see us vanish the east with long hair and filthy spotted bones. They will be surprised to see one of the finest regiments that ever came east leaving. We are going across the entire country and then to Porto Rico, on the battery that's of our greatest count of which you will be ashamed. Be gentlemen and patriots. I have confidence in every man, and want you to justify it."

THE REGIMENT'S FINE SHOWING.

Those who failed to witness the march through the city of Co. Torrey may not be the officers and men of the day, as an exceedingly creditable one. For the affair was one of the most beautiful in the history of the city. The sight of so handsome men, well uniformed and mounted upon spirited horses is one not often witnessed in this country.

About 5 o'clock Col. Torrey, riding at the head of one of the troops, and flanked by other military organizations, swung out of the Warren avenue armory and marched down Frances street and through the principal streets of the city, a large crowd of people lined the sidewalks and the best in line was loudly cheered as along the way. The faithful Alpena were drawn up in line at the armory and saluted the cavalry men as they passed by on their own well-earned honors.

The line of horsemen was over a mile in length and is regarded fully forty-two minutes in the command to pass through the city. The Harry cheer after cheer was given for Col. Torrey and his crack troop.—Cheyenne Tribune.

SCHOOL BOARD MATTERS.

Captain R. W. Young Resigns—Will Probably be Succeeded by M. L. Wasley.

Captain Richard W. Young has tendered his resignation as member of the board of education. The current rumors from the city on military duty made that step necessary. The resignation was read at last night's meeting of the board and accepted. It is stated on Captain Young was regarded as one of the most useful members.

The vacancies are that the vacancy thus made will be filled at the next meeting or very soon thereafter. There is some talking as to who will be chosen for the place, but it seems to be a pretty general opinion that Superintendent Wasley will be succeeded, a fact which it is stated would be difficult to make as Mr. Wasley is thoroughly familiar with the duties of this important office. Rumor that he continues the question of conversion, continues and regretful friendship for the public schools in all of their branches.

Run Off with Another.

For several days past Thomas Allen, a prominent of this city, has been seeing his best endeavors to locate his wife, who, he says, has run away with a man named Ed Grubb, taking with her their two children. Office and request Mr. Allen is willing to relinquish all right, title and interest to his wife, but wants the children. He says she is a distracted husband stated Oakley, but to no avail, and now he has extended his search in other directions.

From the Nicolet Field.

The "News" had a pleasant call Thursday afternoon from Elder Oliver A. Patrick of Centerville, Davis county, who returned on the 16th inst. after a mission to the Southern States. Elder Patrick left home March 3, 1896, and was working at Nicolet, Miss., when he was assigned to the Mississippi conference, where he labored for two years with much success in making many friends and promulgating the principles of the Gospel. He enjoyed his labors very much and had good health during his entire mission. After being released he visited relatives at Illinois, where he gathered some original data and preached the Gospel. Interesting he surveyed the Cumberland and found Utah and Utah people very well represented.

Mines and Mining Boom.

The present war with Spain is doing much for the mining industry, a number of men in the American army and navy, and the people are proud of them. Admiral Dewey is the hero of the day, of course, and is proud to own Montpelier, Vermont, as his birthplace and home. There are others from that city who are also in the public eye at this time. Captain Charles E. Clark, for instance, who guided the battleship Oregon safely over her famous 13,000 mile trip. Lieutenant Theodore O. Dewey, who has distinguished himself as a gallant officer of the battleship Massachusetts, and Captain D. Clark, colonel of the 2nd regiment of Vermont volunteers, now at Chickamauga, but while the war is engrossing the public attention it is worthy of note that the National Life Insurance Company of Montpelier, Vermont, a company with a splendid record of nearly fifty years, is rapidly increasing in size and strength, its officers being made up of the sturdy old Vermont stock that is with such credit to the country's honors. Admiral Dewey is a brother of the president of the company, is responsible to Utah and Wyoming is represented by Joseph F. Smith and Orson F. Whitney, Lake, 204-6 McCornick Blk., this city.

LITERARY NOTES.

Godey's Magazine for July opens with an article on the manufacture of Cuban Cigars by Mr. Frank Heath Jr. The article is illustrated with many photographs of the latest guns in various positions, the pictures being exceedingly valuable.

Under the heading, "Side Lights on People you Hear of," begins a series of illustrated articles of prominent persons of the time.

"Wolf's Active Season," by Frank W. Crane, illustrated with photographs of wolf playing in every position, is a contribution to the season's reading.

In "The Blue Counties Into M. Yeatsley, idle of the singular methods used in obtaining wine, and furnishes interesting data on a section of our country little known, while Charles E. Walsh in "Tellers of the Air," explains the mysteries of modern bridge building in a popular way.

The two fiction pieces of the month are the continuation of Mary Louise Pecke's "Bonnie Kate," and the beginning of Anne L. Pratt's strange tale of "The City Beyond." A short review of the "Life of a Hebrew Mother, Judith Solo Cohen, "On the Other Side of the Jordan," is quaint and original.
