That Trouble Among Sheepmen in the Plateau Country, Colorado.

A ROMANCE ON THE OCEAN.

Accidentally Shot with a Rifle.—An Interesting Legal Fight.—"Ergotized Grass."

Brakeman John Ott was drowned in the Rio Grande at San Marcial, N.M., while bathing with twenty companions. His mother and two sisters live at Silver City.

The big irrigation wheel to be used by the Snake River (Idaho) Fruit Growers' association is nearing completion. It will be twelve feet high and twenty feet in breadth, and will operate two centrifugal pumps, which will force about thirty miners' inches of water from the river to the reservoir, which is eighty feet above the land to be irrigated.

Thomas Hodges, twenty-four years of age, employed as a loader at Johnson's livery stable at Stockton, Cal., ran to an open window in the second story of the building on Monday. After one and went to sleep. During his slumber he fell to the stone pavement and was instantly killed. His parents reside in Goat Valley where his father is a large owner.

Fish Commissioner Mills has received information from the California fish commission, remarks the Carson (Nevada) Tribune, that they have employed a special attorney to prosecute persons dumping sawdust in the Truckee river, and that they intend to stop this violation of the law if vigorous prosecution will do it. Commissioner Mills will, as soon as the waters in the rivers recede, transplant some 150,000 Eastern trout and 50,000 rainbow trout in the several rivers in this state.

One hundred and fifty men are at work on the water company's new reservoir at Butte, says the Butte (Mont.) Inter Mountain. One hundred barrels of cement are daily required in the work of building the 1,200-foot wall to retain the water. This wall is composed of granite, set with cement, and is 85 feet wide at the base and will taper to 12 feet at the top. It is estimated that two years' time will be required to complete it. The reservoir will have a capacity of a billion gallons of water.

DeLamar (Idaho) Nugget: Woo King, an industrious Chinaman, has had some men near the head of Succor creek cutting wood. As soon as they had gotten fairly located in their camp and had cut six or seven cords of wood, a half dozen white men came to their tent last Sunday and drove the Chinamen away, firing guns over their camp and threatening to kill them. The Chinamen left and came to town, and on Thursday Woo King went out to look after their tent and its contents. He found it had been burned with about $50 worth of grub. The tent, clothes, blankets and grub were worth at least $150.

The steamer Los Angeles, which has been making successful trips down the coast for many years, brought the news of a little romance when it arrived in port yesterday afternoon from San Diego, says the San Francisco Chronicle of Monday. At San Pedro, Harry L. Hoscher and Miss Grace Johnson, both of Los Angeles, came aboard the steamer and lost no time in informing Captain Leonard that they had run away from their folks and desired to get married. They were young, but knew they could demonstrate that marriage is not a failure, and so on June 9th the young couple were made one. They had not much use for the high sea though, after it had served their purpose, and they left the steamer at Port Harford with the intention of returning home to seek forgiveness.

A gang of vagrants with a keg of beer and tomato cans for cups, made the day hideous for a short time in the bottoms at the foot of Twentieth street yesterday, says the Denver News of Monday's date. Some passerby, who was insulted, notified the police and Lieutenant City Clerk Office is despatched Tarbox to run them in. The vagrants were holding their Sunday orgie in a stone quarry and when the officers appeared they left in no humor to leave their keg. For a few minutes a pitched battle was fought. The vagrants chose and in self-defense the officers had to finally draw their guns and threaten to shoot. The vags then surrendered. They were a villainous looking set of men and they made the jail ring with their ribald language. All were charged with being drunk and creating a disturbance.

Lacy Nichols, aged 17, living at South Sixth street, Denver, accidentally shot himself with a 32-caliber gallery rifle while playing upon the banks of Lake Archer on Sunday evening. He was taken to his home in a buggy and Police Surgeon Johnson called to attend him. The small pellet of lead entered the boy's right side just below the eighth rib and took an upward course, lodging in his back. Early on Sunday morning Nichols, accompanied by several boys of his own age, went out with his gallery rifle to school. When the accident occurred, Nichols, who was holding the gun in his right hand, jumped upon a little bank near the edge of the lake. The butt of the gun slipped to one side and the hammer struck a projecting stone, and as the mechanism of the weapon is so poor, the hammer fell and the cartridge was exploded. The boy's wound is a very serious one, but the physicians have hopes of his recovery.

Veterinary surgeons of San Francisco are on the lookout for the appearance of what is technically known as ergotized grass. It is a dangerous disease which occasionally possesses cereals of the country and kills off great numbers of valuable cattle and horses. It appears without any apparent cause of reason and spreads with frightful rapidity all over the country. Within a few months after it has been discovered in any locality it will destroy animals hundreds of miles away. Veterinary surgeons in consequence are only too eager to receive warning of the fact that it has shown itself anywhere in order to take what steps in their power to prevent its appearance here. It is almost always sure death to any animal eating it. It looks it does not differ materially to the inexperienced eye from the ordinary grass and in consequency much more dangerous. A local surgeon has received a letter from Dr. Frank J. Tourselot, state veterinarian of Wisconsin, stating that ergotized grass has appeared in dangerous quantity in that state and to look out for it here.

The trial of an interesting case has been commenced in Oakland, Cal., and will end in a short time. The case is one which the wheat men are keenly interested. Gilbert Chelius, a well known local capitalist, got mixed up in a wheat deal a few years ago. He shipped his wheat to London through Hunt & Co., who made the sales for him. When the market settling up accounts Chelius was given $25,000. He claimed this and demanded $22,000. He could not get the full sum claimed, so now he is suing to recover $6000. The trial thus far has developed some interesting points in regard to the manner in which wheat deals are made. Hunt & Co. in their defense put forth a claim, which only two men understand, one in San Francisco and the other in London. Many of these telegrams and like letters and apparently have no reference to wheat deals. Mr. Curtiss has obtained a great deal of information from these telegrams, for he has compelled the other side to read them by cipher, and explain the meaning of such words as "wheat," "sweetheart" and "my lover." The wheat men are watching the trial very carefully, as the law is to be laid down in the future. Mr. Curtiss, who is experienced with the London market, is now perfectly satisfied to win. His wheat is home and allow others to do the speculating should.

SUNOL!

ROBERT BONNER
Superintending the sinking of Sunol with the Putnam Nail.
THOMPSON HILL SHOE FACTORY, MILFORD, MASS., Feb. 16, 1893.
FRANKLIN, VINCENT, BIRD & CO., Gen. Agts., PUTNAM NAIL CO., Neponset, Mass.
GENTLEMEN:—Inclosing a pencil sketch of the nails that will sink Sunol and the Putnam Nail and shoe, and I for one want to be on hand when the Putnam Nail sinks Sunol. Yours truly, ROBERT BONNER.
The Putnam Nail is the only extensively Hot-Forged and Hammer-Pointed nail.
Look in your smith's shoeing box, if the nails have smooth edges for the whole length they are the PUTNAM, for they are Hammer-Pointed and are not sheared.
The cuts above, from a photo representing Mr. Bonner's famous trotting horse Sunol, shoeing with Putnam Nails, are a guarantee that the Putnam Nail Co. will not sink Sunol, or any other horse, if used under the average shoe.
