The Opening of Their Exhibition This Morning.

FINE PAINTING OF GEN. WELLS.

Brief Reference To a Few Other Excellent Productions—Splendid Water Color Work, and Striking Gems.

The art exhibition is now open and the citizen who fails to avail himself or herself of the opportunity of a visit to this temporary department of mind and brush genius will be the loser thereby. The formal opening occurred at ten o'clock this morning and the exhibition will continue through the Holiday season. By that time it is fondly hoped that every picture and sketch sold will be disposed of.

As the visitor steps into the exhibition hall, which adjoins the Theater on the west, he is instantly surprised—almost bewildered at the scene of beauty that presents itself. In the southeast corner—where he will in all probability, by reason of the numerical arrangement, begin his scrutiny, his attention will be attracted to a painting by Fairbanks, called a Gray November Morning. It is just such a morning as the artist loves to portray the scenes of unloveliness and approaching winter, and in this case the production is of such a character that admirers cannot help but admire it.

Near by hangs a scene in American Fork canyon, painted by Edwin Evans, president of the Society of Utah Artists. The subject receives the broad, free treatment characteristic of modern work and will command the attention and respect of exhibition visitors.

On the same wall is one of Harwood's best—if not his very best—effort—the Wasatch Range sketched from the mouth of Red Butte canyon. The beautiful summits of the stony mountain range which borders the Salt Lake valley on the east is shown to excellent advantage. In the matter of aerial perspective production, with all pervading sunlight and atmospherical life it has evoked the praise of all members of the society and they are anxious to see it placed in one of the new State's public buildings where strangers can be impressed by its beauty. Lorin Pratt has an excellent First North street painting which will be like an old landmark to residents of that part of the city. On the opposite side of the hall the same artist has a striking picture called "Off for a Ride." It is a portrait of a son of John Sharp, and shows the little chap, new dead, velocipede in hand, on the pavement in front of the family residence, about to take a spin around the block. The picture is much admired and is correct in all of its details. It brought the artist the substantial sum of $200.

Conspicuous among the highest grade compositions are the pre-eminently striking figure creations of Artist Clawson. The masterpiece, perhaps, of all that he has done, is a bust painting of General Daniel H. Wells. The conception and execution are as truthful the beholder is almost led into the imagination that life itself is in the painting. On either side, of the arch opening over which it hangs, is a life-sized female figure. The first is that of Mrs. John Beck, clad in soft yellow or canary silk with mauve background, and the second that of Miss Ella Clark, the picture just fresh from the artist's brush. The figure as it stands in front of a drapery of gold in a shimmering peach blossom silk is the incarnation of grace and beauty. Then Mr. Clawson has on exhibition the splendid portrait of Mayor Baskin, which is soon to be given a permanent place in the council chamber among the portraits of the past executives of the city. Besides these he has some superlatively fine water color specimens by Lee Greene Richards, Mrs. Elma Wells Sloan and others.

The paintings of other artists will receive attention later on.

Lecture on Character.

There will be a conjoint meeting of the Young Men's and Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement Associations of the Seventeenth ward tomorrow (Tuesday) evening in the ward assembly rooms, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The program for the occasion, together with other important pieces to be rendered, will be a lecture on Character by Elder Noah L. Morris. All are respectfully invited, and urgently requested to be on time.

NEW MINING COMPANY.

The Gladstone is Incorporated With a Capital Stock of $1,500,000.

Articles of incorporation of the Gladstone Gold Mining and Milling company were filed in the office of the county clerk today. The objects and purposes of the corporation are to engage in and carry on a general mining and milling business, leasing, developing, working, locating, purchasing and selling mines; milling, smelting, purchasing and selling all kinds of ores, and to do all other matters and things connected with mining, milling, and reduction of ores in the Territory of Utah, and at such other places as the board of directors may from time to time determine.

The capital stock is placed at $1,500,000 divided into 1500 shares of $1 each, subscribed as follows: H. G. Hall, 40,000 shares; Edward Johnson, 40,000; H. M. Green, 10,000; S. J. Weigel, $4,000; J. W. Cory, 40,000; S. H. Newell, 20,000; J. W. Cory (trustee), 35,000; treasury stock, 75,000. The following officers shall serve until their successors are appointed: H. G. Hall, president; J. W. Cory, vice president; S. J. Weigel, secretary and treasurer, and these with Edward Johnson and H. M. Green, form the board of directors.

The company owns the Gladstone No. 1 and 2, and the Hickory lodes of mining claims, all situate in Camp Floyd mining district, Tooele county, and segregating value of $1,500,000. All the parties to the agreement reside in this city.

WAR TO THE KNIFE.

audit the financial report of the county for the year ending December 31, 1894, and the auditing of Colonel Lowe's report of the same period was referred to the county attorney and Assessor Godbe, with instructions to report at an early date.

ROAD WORK TO STOP.

Following is a copy of an order which is being served by the county clerk to all road superintendents in the county:

Dear Sir—By order of the board commissioners I am instructed to say to you to cease all work on the roads and bridges in the county until you receive further and positive orders from the board. This action is made necessary by the financial condition of the county, and you will take immediately, suspend all work of every nature or description entirely from the county.

After showing appropriations of a minor character, the court adjourned until next Saturday at 10 a. m. at which time the matter of the Big Cottonwood road will be looked into by an examination of persons residing in the vicinity.

Music for the dancers will be furnished by the association's orchestra under the direction of Prof. C. Christensen.

DEATH AT PAYSON.

Miss Emma Schaerrer Suddenly Succumbs to Heart Failure.

Special to the News.

PAYSON, Utah, Dec. 8.—The sudden death today of Miss Emma Schaerrer has cast a gloom over our little city. She was a very active, bright, industrious pupil, and her parents have the sympathy of everyone. In consequence of her death the school was dismissed and will be closed until after the funeral, which takes place next Wednesday.

Miss Schaerrer possessed rare intellectual merit, and a very deep feeling of regret hangs over her teacher and parents. The cause of death was attributed to heart failure, or rheumatism of the heart. She attended school only last Thursday, apparently in the best of health, and died suddenly at 1 o'clock this morning.

MINOR MENTION.

The publication of the Mercur Miner is to be begun this week at Mercur, by M. L. Scott, of the American Fork Item.

The first issue of the Logan Republican, which is now a weekly paper published by Joel Stromsoker, issued, came to hand today.

Weather prophets hereabouts are predicting a culmination of very cold weather about the middle of January, and the opening of an early spring for the season of 1896.

The board of directors of the Deseret Agricultural and Manufacturing society will hold a meeting in this city next Saturday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, to consider important business.

The Union Pacific probably will make a special arrangement to carry to Ogden and return three from this city who desire to attend the funeral service of the late Major G. D. Kelly, which occurs at Ogden tomorrow.

A telegram from Los Angeles promises that in a few days there will be a very interesting railway meeting the building of a railway from San Diego, Cal., to Salt Lake City. About the most interesting news of such a railway would be the commencement of construction work.

James Castle, who has just returned from a trip through central and eastern Utah, in the interest of the Howell Bottles manufacturing company of this city, reports that business in his line is admirably good for this season, as people are coming to realize more fully the superiority of home-made goods over most of those imported. In his line of business, spices, etc., this is generally the case.

IN THE LEGAL ARENA

The Supreme Court Holds a Brief Session.

PASSES ON SEVERAL QUESTIONS,

And Promises to Go Out in a "Blaze of Glory" on December 21—Other Court Business.

At 2:00 o'clock this afternoon the Territorial supreme court, which adjourned to this date, met, with Chief Justice S. A. Merritt and Associate Justices George W. Bartch, W. H. King and H. M. Rolapp present. Besides the full bench there was a large attendance of members of the bar from this city, Ogden, Provo and other places.

Immediately upon the approval of the minutes of the last session Heyward M. Gibbs, of Virginia, Daniel H. Tuohy, of North Dakota, Nathaniel V. Jones, of Salt Lake, Miss S. Johnson, of Colorado, and Colonel A. G. Eddy, of Salt Lake, were admitted to the bar.

Resolutions of respect, passed by the Bar association, relating to the death of the late Associate Justice H. W. Smith, were read by C. S. Kinney, and by the Supreme court ordered spread upon its minutes.

Judge King announced that the petition of E. E. Ritchie for rehearing was denied.

In the case of Joseph Krantz vs the Rio Grande Western, a similar petition was denied.

In the case of petition for rehearing in the suit of E. F. Wells vs John Kelly, Judge Bartch stated that the petition would be granted on a particular point upon which there was considerable to other matters, a rehearing was not allowed.

Judge Bartch also announced that in the criminal libel case against Wm. Glassmann, of the Ogden Standard, a new trial was ordered.

In the case of W. F. Noble Morris vs Co. vs Arthur Parsons and Mr. Stewart, Joseph Cowperthwaite, a new trial was ordered.

Judge Merritt announced that a rehearing was denied in the suit of James A. Fabian vs Holmes, the First National Bank of Nephi vs Fields, and Cook vs the Bullfrog Bench & Champion Mining company.

The suits of J. C. Armstrong vs Ogden City and J. Dyer vs P. A. B. Persons, the cases were ordered resubmitted on briefs, as Judge Smith, who had had the decisions assigned to him, died before he could make the same.

Judge Hawes will take the question of the validity of a verdict by two jurors to the Supreme court of the United States. Its ground is that the territorial statute is a violation of the Federal Constitution. The court rendered against him on this point today, in a civil case, hence the appeal.

After some formal matters, Chief Justice Merritt stated that when the court adjourned it would be until December 21, "when the court expects to finish up its work and go out in a blaze of glory."

In the W. W. Wilson habeas corpus case, wherein the writ was denied by the Territorial court, an appeal was taken to the United States Supreme court.

Court then adjourned to Dec. 21st.

THE CARRINGTON CASE.

The hearing in the case of the People vs J. H. Carrington, the Brigham City doctor and ex-U. S. commissioner who is accused of the unlawful use of instruments by which Mrs. Ida Page came to her death in this city a short time since, was to have been in U. S. Commissioner Pratt's court today at 10 o'clock, and at that hour a number of witnesses and the defendant and his attorney were on hand. There was no one present to represent the prosecution, so, after waiting a while, the hearing was postponed till this afternoon.

This afternoon it was claimed that the U. S. commissioner had not jurisdiction. This was overruled, and a postponement was taken till half-three at 2 o'clock. In the meantime the case may appear in different form in the district court.

FOR STEALING BABY CLOTHES.

Willard Carter and Fred Kohler were before U. S. Commissioner Pratt today on two charges of petit larceny, for robbing clothes lines. One complaint charges that they took a lot of articles of baby's clothing from the clothes line of Thomas and Mary Hammond; the value of this clothing is placed at $7. The other charge is that they took a lot of boy clothes from a line belonging to W. W. Park, the value being $5. All the clothing was found on the premises of the accused, and Carter and Kohler were arrested Saturday night. Carter has served a term in the penitentiary for horse stealing.

When the parties were arraigned, Kohler pleaded guilty, and was fined $25, with the alternative of 75 days in prison. As he has no money, he was committed to the county jail. Carter pleaded not guilty, and as Kohler claimed to have done alone in the commission of the offense, the case against Carter was dismissed. Kohler has a wife and child at Ogden.

NOTES.

Mathew Hilbert has been granted a divorce from Caroline Hilbert, on the ground of desertion.

Mary Lattie et al are being sued by Truth A. Milner for $1,000, due on a promissory note secured by a mortgage.

Judge King was up from Provo this morning, he to be in attendance at the opening of the Territorial Supreme Court.

Judge H. H. Rolapp made his initial appearance on the Supreme Court bench today, this being the first session of the court since the judge was appointed.

In view of the approaching change in State jurisdiction, the Utah attorneys are seriously discussing questions of procedure leading to the transfer of causes from the Territorial to the State or Federal courts.

Judge Bartch is the only member of the present Supreme Court who will take up the official duties as one of the first Supreme Court of the State of Utah. Of the present court members, however, Judge Rolapp will assume the duties of district judge in the new State.

Judge W. H. King is one of the youngest men who have held the position of associate justice of the Territory of Utah at the same time he is regarded as one of the most efficient that has occupied the place, and in his retirement a most valued judge will vacate the bench.

The Supreme Court did not begin its today's session until well into the afternoon. The judges were extremely busy getting the affairs of court before them cleared up to date as near as possible. It may be that they will have little better time to devote to the judges' files, since the mistake of procrastination is anticipated at an early day.

The application for release, made in behalf of George and Jacob Gisi, sentenced by a Summit county justice for attempting to steal, was argued by Judge Merritt Saturday afternoon. The applicants claimed that the judgment of $1,000 and costs of $65.35 against them was irregular and void. Judge Merritt stated that the habeas corpus will admit her, and that the proper legal remedy, if the parties felt themselves aggrieved.

The application of the Utah Commission, to have Giles left with the U. S. marshal for costs in the despite election case of last year, returned, did not receive final adjudication Saturday evening. The Commission represented that it had paid its share of the costs, whereas Judge Merritt, counsel for the plaintiffs in the original case, insisted that the Commission had paid only $[illegible] out of $[illegible], leaving a balance of $[illegible]. The attorneys had a lively tilt, and Judge Bartch said he would not give such the matter under advisement, and hear evidence taken to determine the question of fact.

Meeting of Y. M. M. I. A. Officers.

STOCKS AND MARKETS.

New York, Dec. 8.—Stock speculation moved sluggishly and erratically today. Lead was the feature of the entire market, and moved up 1.90 points before it was overtaken by Sugar, which moved up 1.70 points. The closing price had been reached in Sugar, and the market generally was pushed downward, sagging off in the last hour. Sugar was in demand in the morning on the report that the Havemeyers had purchased half of the stock. Nothing came of it, however, and the stock fell back to the opening price. The market generally was dull and heavy, and after the first hour it was dull and lifeless. Sugar was the only active stock, and the general market fluctuated within narrow limits. The tone was generally weak, however, and the market closed dull and lower than the last quotations of Friday. The sales of stocks aggregated 100,000 shares, including 35,000 Sugar, 10,000 Lead, 5,000 Rubber, 5,000 Tobacco, 5,000 Leather, 5,000 Chicago Gas, 5,000 Cordage, 5,000 Cordage preferred, 5,000 Lead preferred, 5,000 Tobacco preferred, 5,000 Leather preferred, 5,000 Chicago Gas preferred, 5,000 Rubber preferred
