WANTED IN SALT LAKE.

A Story Horse Dealer Who Has Been "Doing" the West is Nabbed.

Charles W. Greene was arrested yesterday by County Detectives Burlew and Thompson, says the Denver News of the 12th. He will be held in the county jail awaiting extradition papers from Iowa, as he is said to be wanted at Independence for jumping a bond. According to information obtained by Da Lan, Greene is charged with giving false pedigrees to horses and selling worthless stock for fancy prices. In Tuscola, Nev., he is said to be wanted for defrauding a man out of the proceeds of the sale of 200 horses. In Elko, Nev., he is wanted for passing a fraudulent draft for $100 on a prominent hotel keeper. In Salt Lake he is said to be wanted for selling a $1,500 stallion belonging to another man.

Returned from Sweden.

Elder Ludvig S. Hansen, of Brigham, has just returned from a mission to Sweden, where he has been since May 18, 1892. He labored the entire time in the Helsingborg branch of the Malmo conference, and reports that the prospects there are at present very encouraging. By those among whom he sojourned he was most kindly received, and his mission was both pleasant and profitable. On the return journey Elder Hansen remained one day in Liverpool, where he visited friends whom he had not met for seventeen years. He is in the best of health and pleased to be once more in the mountain home.

St. Louis Cyclers.

A quartette of St. Louis wheelmen, members of the cycling club of that city, were in Salt Lake last evening on their way to the Denver meeting from Yellowstone National park. They were R. H. Loring, F. B. L. Jones, H. G. Wolmsdorf and E. J. Roth. The gentlemen were accompanied with the county of Moneity and Territory. They left for the Colorado capital last night.

IN KANE COUNTY.

"Traveler" Continues His Jaunt and His Observations.

Crop prospects in Long valley were perhaps never much better than this season, with the exception of fruit, most of which was taken by late frosts. Haying is in active operation, but has been retarded by frequent showers, some of which have been quite heavy. Stock on the ranges have been driven from the effects of the drouth, and it is hoped that the rain will be sufficient to start the grass and supply water. It is now estimated that the stock ranges have lost 50 per cent of their cattle—yet the rain has given a more hopeful prospect.

Henry B. J. Cutler, of Glendale, died on Friday, August 3rd, at 10 p.m., after a protracted illness. Ira Hastings Jolley, of Mt. Carmel, has been suffering ill for some time, but is thought he has taken a turn for the better.

The Orderville Woolen mills are in operation and it is hoped they can continue; their activity in the direction of hard times, and if sufficient wool can be obtained in exchange for products they will continue to run.

Considerable lumber is being turned out from the mill and many improvements are manifest. Yet there is no money in the town; it is a trade. But this state of affairs is causing the erection of new houses, new barns and some new houses. The loss to stock is causing more attention to agriculture and efforts are being made to conserve and husband the water supply and bring itself small farms up to a higher state of culture.

The stock interests of this region yet are the variety and it has been the height of ambition for some of the people in this district to be possessor of a full sewing outfit—a riding pony, an equipage, pack horse and thoroughbred, with a Lambsbed bonnet with a big hat nearly that makes a child or lady of the bonnet, buckboard or carriage, paint and kaze—some pretty well loading down his trip and giving him that exaggerated look that is to boom an enterprise; this is not complete without the addition of a pair of boots with very high heels. With such an outfit and with the prospecting of a few years work, you have a large picture of the western Coal row number. Yet there is a prospective improvement in heavy and they are getting to see something in other patterns and times a month or two in anticipation of hoeing, many are turning their attention to getting a complete suit with wear right and long.

Lumber is selling better this year than ever before and prospects are brighter for the future, as they think the prospecting the question of getting the water out of a hole, perhaps, is settled. Your journal has an item in it to a Kanan and the water was found in a strange solid rock, at their or in danger of its wanding. This gives their water supply a permanency to be never lost, which will hasten the people who look sturdy and stalwarty and who are known by the lovely, verdant pastures and pleasant fields. Yet the effects of the drouth are seen in the orchards, the trees show the effects of the water scarcity of years past. Their efforts of reservoiring the water have proven a decided success. The reservoir at the southeast side of the town holds all the water that comes in of a night and on Sundays, so that all use the water in the day and have are enabled to utilize it to greater advantage. This result reservoir has enabled the people to bring greater acreage under cultivation, and when the larger one under construction is completed it will enable them to double the acreage of their fields and bring to some of the best land that is now lying idle. So that the future of Kanab is quite flattering, and the people more hopeful than ever before. A number of new and excellent brick residences have gone up and more are under contemplation.

The Martins who recently arrived here were given a pleasant reception this evening in the Social hall. Many curios from New Zealand were on exhibiting; the bass horn was sounded and after music by the band the meeting was called to order by Brother H. E. Bowman. After singing and prayer speeches of welcome were made by President E. D. Woolley, Counselor Pugh of Kanab ward, Elders H. E. Bowman and B. G. Lindsay, all of which was interpreted by J. C. Stewart, who also spoke in the Maori language. This was responded to by the Maori chief (his name is too long for us) in the ancient New Zealand tongue. He bore a strong testimony to the truth of the Gospel. The assembly guests then partook of the goodies that had been provided, and the evening was spent by the young people in a social dance.

The DESERET NEWS is well patronized and appreciated in Kanab.

We go from here to Washington county.

TERRITORIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Horse and Cattle Thieves Around—Strange Features of a Snowslide, Etc.

Tooele Transcript: Samuel Low, of Salt River valley, is here visiting his son, George. Mr. Low was one of the first settlers in Tooele Valley, but moved from here fourteen years ago. Though his locks are gray he looks almost as sprightly as of yore, and is calling on all his old friends and acquaintances.

This is a great country for fruit. Apples, peaches, pears, plums and tomatoes are now ripe, and are of excellent quality. Apricots are nearly all gone. The grape crop will be enormous.

More freight and flat cars are passing here for the territories at present than have been seen on the Utah and Nevada railroad for a long time. They will return loaded with ore from Ophir and Bingham.

Some miscreants got in their work at Grantsville during the absence of the people last Saturday at Garfield beach, and at dawn no trace of the offenders can be found. When the excursionists returned home they were very indignant upon discovering that a number of cattle and horses had suddenly disappeared. It looks like a big steal has been perpetrated, yet the thieves may yet be traced.

Mr. J. F. Winterstein, who left American Fork about a year ago, says the Iron and who has since that time been at Richmond, Ind., has returned home again, fully convinced that American Fork is good enough for him.

A singular feature of a snowslide can be seen at the intersection of two canyons back of Mount Nebo, towards the Nephi Quarry. Last winter a snow slide occurred, filling the canyon to a depth of one hundred feet, and when warm weather set in the snow began to melt, forming into a solid ice. Much is now twenty feet thick and extending down the canyon for at least half a mile. Coming down this canyon and underneath this immense body of ice, is a small stream tributary to Salt creek. The stream has cut its way through the ice, leaving a cave, which is sufficiently large to allow four persons abreast to traverse the passage to where the water comes out at the base of the mountain.

Iron county Record: Cedar City farmers intend putting in a large acreage of rye this fall. This is a sure crop, and needs but very little water. To get a good stand this season rye should be sown next month. A large portion of the seed will come from Harmony, where the crop last year has been unusually large.

The wheat crop has been so heavy at Richfield that it is predicted by Sevier valley papers that it will net there this fall at thirty cents a bushel.

County Surveyor M. H. Dalley, accompanied by Eugene Schoppmann and Wm. Houston, will leave about the 15th for the purpose of surveying the boundary line between Iron and Washington counties.

Next month a number of our sheep owners expect to make a shipment of wethers to Chicago. The room taken on the mountains has helped the feed out wonderfully and by another month the flocks up there will be as fat as butter.

Last week, when the waters of Coal creek were so filthy, a proposition to put in waterworks to Cedar began to have received serious consideration. This has been the condition here for forty years. It is tough work to latter, but after the water clears up the pool is forgotten, and everything is lovely until the next nasty rain of Noah. To it not about time to throw off this "fear for the future" feeling and put in a system of waterworks here that will be a credit to our people and to our city.

Last Sunday Forest Fife, while up on his mountain, fell and a bone he was riding and injured his right arm at a place where it has been thrown out of joint by a similar accident last summer.

Beaver Chronicle: Henry Fraser met with a serious accident the other day. He had just brought from the pasture with his team, when, wheeling his horses around, the animal fell over, tangled in harness. He must have taken a very favorable position to escape being kicked outright as it was he worked with a broken jaw. The great wonder is that he was totally crushed, the hoof strike protruding through the skin. He will be confined to his home for several days.

AN OPINION GIVEN.

Recently Mr. J. D. Thomas, of North Dakota, visited the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and after carefully examining the country, located in Winchester, he writes to Mr. V. Bierbaris, Land and Immigration Agent, Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, Baltimore, Maryland, as follows: "I have been to nearly every state and territory of the United States, and am clear in my opinion that this valley surpasses all other sections in the Union. The lands are low in price, and capable of profitable crops. I thank you for directing me here, and submit these facts, that your particular friends in Iowa may benefit."
