OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - JUNE 5, 1895.

Too Much Knocking About.

G. W. Williams, the man who was accidentally struck by a U. P. engine and taken to the Union Pacific hospital, has had rather hard luck. The managers of the hospital considered him in the wrong place, and sent him to the city hospital. He had been but two or three hours in the city hospital until he was returned to the Union Pacific hospital. From there he was sent to the county court and forced out in the sheriff's office, awaiting the action of Judge Parrin. Mr. Williams was on his way to Reno, Nevada, expecting to get employment there, and while hunting for a friend whom he thought was out on that division met with the misfortune mentioned.

Notes.

Judge Powers will enter suit for A. D. Alexander for $5,000 damages against Chief Davenport, for false imprisonment. Davenport arrested Alexander for felony, and kept him in all several hours before he found that he had got the wrong man.

Justice Bagley sentenced Albert Lyman to ninety days in jail and a fine of $100, or if late he not paid, one day's imprisonment for each dollar, for using obscene language in front of children in Liberty Park.

Frank J. Stevens and Miss Aggie Herriez, both of Ogden, have obtained a marriage license; also Edward J. Watkins and Miss Alice Blair.

William Harmonne and John Hosmer are candidates for registration officer for Weber county.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, - JUNE 5, 1895.

Utah County Taxes.

Assessor James E. Hall's returns to the county court now in session, shows the valuation of the taxable property in Utah county to be $7,418,205. This does not include railroads, telegraph, telephone and electric light companies, which are assessed by the territorial board of equalization.

The court fixed two mills as the rate of county tax, and one and a half mills as the rate of county school tax for the year. July 15th was set as the time for the court to meet as a board of equalization.

The Pelican Point Murders.

Sheriff Brown today started for Lake Shore to examine two horses which are supposed to have been washed ashore from the lake, for the purpose of ascertaining if they are the animals that disappeared at the time Emstrom and his companions were killed at Pelican Point.

The officers are diligently working on the case, but are very reticent in giving out whatever information they have gathered. The county court has made an appropriation to enable the sheriff to prosecute the investigation.

Notes and Personals.

The assessed valuation of Provo city is: Personal property, $181,600; real estate, $1,518,285; railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, $52,980.

M. A. Kaplinger, of Silver City, aged 23, and Nellie Lineaber, of Springville, aged 20, have received a marriage license.

Orson Rogers, of Spanish Fork, and Miss Ella Clawson, of Provo, were married at the Utah County Court House, Judge Parrish officiating.

Some of the men who are developing a coal claim in the mouth of Provo canyon have hauled several loads of coal, taken out in doing development work, for their winter's fuel. This coal is not very good, but will burn. Mixed with it are strata of anthracite coal. The location of the claim are pushing ahead with the expectation of finding a permanent vein of anthracite.

Tropic's Natal Day.

Editor Deseret News:

The 23rd day of May has been set apart by the citizens of Tropic as a local holiday, which will be designated its natal day, being the anniversary of the day on which the water of the east fork of the Sevier found its way through the Tropic and East Fork canal, about nine miles in length, and down a precipitous descent of several hundred feet, known locally as "The Dump," and on to the Tropic valley, quenching the thirst of the parched soil, rendering it productive under the touch of the husbandman.

During the forenoon of the above date the citizens engaged in laying the foundation of a public building to be used for religious, educational and social purposes, President Jesse W. Crosby, Mahonri M. Steele and David Cameron were over from Panguitch and took active part in the labors of the day. Immediately after the work was completed, a meeting was held upon the ground and the process and foundation dedicated, Elder Crosby pronouncing the dedicatory prayer. It was intended by the Stake authorities to select a bishopric for the new ward at this meeting, but a rain storm came upon us and the meeting was evidently adjourned until 2 p. m.

At the hour appointed the people convened at a temporary meeting house, and voting was proceeded with, resulting in Elders Andrew J. Hansen, William J. Jolley Jr. and Hyrum H. Hilton being unanimously sustained as Bishop and counselors respectively. At the conclusion of these exercises, the meeting was changed from religious to social and an interesting program, consisting of speeches, a musical sketch of Tropic, dialogues, recitations, songs, instrumental music, etc., was creditably rendered.

A call was given in the evening which was interspersed with songs, etc., and refreshments were served by the ladies, who are never in the rear to minister relighter or social; the exercises terminating about 2 o'clock next morning. The general verdict is that a very enjoyable time was had and satisfaction expressed with the choice of our local authorities.

The water supply is abundant, crops and range looking fine and prospects flattering for an abundant harvest.

We are still growing in numbers, this place being profited to a marked degree by "Clark's test oath," and people are moving in from other parts.

Premptions are rapidly entered that Tropic is to become one of the leading settlements of the southern part of the Territory.

Many improvements are being made, houses erected and energy and thrift are manifest on every hand; an astonishing amount of labor having been accomplished during the last three years, and the future promises as great a change as the past has in store.

JOSEPH BULLOCK.

TROPIC, Garfield County, Utah, May 31, 1895.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ROBERT WEIRKERSON.

Died at Tooele City, Utah, May 7, 1895. He was born March 15, 1812, in Glasgow, Scotland. He heard the Gospel preached by the Latter-day Saints and was baptized in July, 1841, ordained an Elder the same year and presided over the Dumbarton branch ten years when he emigrated to America in 1855. The deceased was a resident of Tooele forty years, and presided over the Elders quorum for many years. He was ordained a High Priest in 1861, and was the president of that quorum in Tooele county for 26 years. He was buried in Tooele City cemetery, May 9th, 1895. He was an honest man, and many hearts respect his memory, and with true sympathy for his wife and children and all those bereaved and desolate by him, in the life and the which he is gone, the good people of Tooele as friends, acquaintances and strangers saw the Deseret News and the other papers of the Territory with the obituary. For to copy this notice that he be remembered as one who was honored and respected as one in the fellowships who will be absent of an a true Latter-day saint. He was a man that loved the Church and always sent rejoicing grace into the hearts of his brethren and sisters, and placed many under obligations for kind acts. He had sturdy principles and was true of his friends. Peaceful be his rest. D. S.
