TWO MORE VETOES.

Governor Wells Freely Exercises His Powers of Disapproval.

DON'T NEED A DEPUTY TREASURER

Supreme Court Resolution Vitally Defective—Bills in Both Legislative Branches.

Advance days' rest the Legislature this afternoon entered upon the twenty-first day of its labors. The Senate was called to order promptly at 2 o'clock by President Cannon. Prayer was offered by the Rev. E. G. Hunt of the Hill M. E. Church. After the minutes of Friday's proceedings had been disposed of, the President announced that two vetoes messages had been received from the Governor. The announcement brought forth a suppressed ripple of merriment among the members as much as to say, the State's executive means business and we had better be more careful hereafter. On motion of Sutherland the vetoes were laid on the table temporarily. They were as follows:

NO NEED OF A DEPUTY TREASURER.

To the President and Gentlemen of the Senate: I herewith return without my approval Senate Bill No. 8, "An act providing for a deputy State treasurer." This bill is passed as an emergency measure. I am unable to ascertain that any emergency for such deputy exists, and think considerable of the subject may safely wait until the matter of clerical assistance for the various State officers may be reached in the regular routine.

THIS ONE WAS DEFICIENT.

To the President and Gentlemen of the Senate:—I herewith return without my approval Senate Joint Resolution No. 5, providing that the first term of the Supreme court shall convene on Monday, January 20, 1896, or as soon thereafter as said court may determine, etc. The resolution is defective in that it has no title and does not provide that it shall take effect on and after its approval.

PETITIONS PRESENTED.

Allen presented two petitions from Weber county citizens with reference to school lands, which were referred to the committee on public lands, as was also one from Cardland from his Sanpete county constituents.

CLAIM REFERRED.

The committee on appropriations and claims recommended that Senate petitions 1, 3, 4 and 5 be referred to the board of examiners. Adopted.

FAVOR A STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

The committee on public health recommended the passage with amendments of the bill creating a State board of health.

NEW BILLS INTRODUCED.

S. B. 31 was introduced by Senator Sutherland. It authorizes the Governor to appoint notaries public, etc. Committee on judiciary.

S. B. 32 by Sutherland to prevent unlawful combinations in business was referred to the same committee.

S. B. 33, by Jones, to amend section 3240 and 3243, Compiled Laws of Utah, and S. B. 34, by the same senator, was referred to the committee on private corporations.

S. B. 35, by Senator Glen Miller, to protect employes, was referred to the committee on judiciary.

S. B. 36, by Watrous, to protect fish and game, was referred to the committee of that name.

S. B. 37, by Senator Glen Miller, to amend section 21 of the Compiled Laws of 1888, went to the committee on judiciary.

SPECIAL ORDER FOR THURSDAY.

The police and fire bill come up for the usual bickerings by antagonistic Senators, Jones leading the onslaught. He moved to defer action for one week. Sutherland and Booth opposed the delay and on motion of Cardland the bill was made the special order for Thursday next.

S. B. 38, also by Miller, providing for the establishment of public libraries, was referred to the committee on municipal corporations.

S. B. 39, by Allison, with reference to civil actions, was referred to the committee on judiciary.

S. B. 40, by the same senator, providing for the indefinite of fellow servants, was also referred to the committee on judiciary.

Allison's Deaf and Dumb school measure was under consideration on second reading when the News report went for the day.

THE HOUSE.

The House roll-call today showed quite a number absent, but during the afternoon the members slowly filed in, and filled up the vacant seats which were so conspicuous at the opening.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

The entertainments for the benefit of the Utah Press association, to be given at the Theater on Thursday and Saturday next, should be a success. On Thursday evening Jesse Norton's classic-historical play Sappho will be presented by home talent, and on Saturday evening Pygmalion and Galatea. For both the assembly will be non and vergo. Saturday matinee Sappho will be repeated at considerably reduced rates, or fifty cents for the floor and twenty-five cents for the galleries. Sappho is one of the great characters of ancient womanhood, whose name, although preserved only through a few fragments of her poetic works, has shaped itself indelibly on the pages of history. She is the founder of a lyric school of poetry, admired in all ages. As in the case of most of the characters of dim antiquity, she is surrounded by myth, to which Grecian fancy the story of her famous leap from the rock on account of unrequited love, must be relegated, but she is nevertheless one of the most interesting women of ancient Greece. Pygmalion and Galatea is a play that has been made famous by Mary Anderson, Marie Wainwright and other American stars. In attempting to reproduce these plays the Press association deserve the encouragement of the general public.

The comedy Cure is the bill at the Grand this week, and a Matrimonial Mass at the Lyceum.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON MISSION

Meeting In Its Interest in the Assembly Hall Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 29, at 7:30 o'clock, a meeting will be held in the Salt Lake Assembly hall, in the interest of the Florence Crittenton Mission work, to which the public are freely and cordially invited. The meeting will be addressed by Messrs. Charles N. Crittenton, Charles S. Morton and J. Carpenter. Mr. Crittenton is a business man of New York, Mr. Morton is from Chicago and Mr. Carpenter from Jersey City. They are accompanied by Frank Wallace as soloist, whose magnificent voice is a great entertainment at the meetings.

The Florence Crittenton mission was instituted by Mr. Crittenton thirteen years ago. Its chief work is to rescue fallen girls and set them on the way to respectable livelihood. The mission is named after Mr. Crittenton's daughter, Florence, who died when she was about four years of age. Her death was the means of attracting Mr. Crittenton's attention to the good that might be done for women who had been so unfortunate as to be led astray, and although he was engaged in business he decided to give up his time henceforward to the work. The first "home" of the mission was established in New York city 12 years ago next April. Since that time 24 others have been established in various cities from New York to San Francisco. The twenty-sixth is to be in Ogden. Mr. Crittenton contributed $500 as a starter in aid of an institution in that city, which is now doing some work, and will come within the mission chain. In the various homes throughout the country, says Mr. Crittenton, thousands of girls and children have been permanently rescued.

The party arrived in this city on Friday, and the "41 three," as Messrs. Crittenton, Morton and Carpenter are called, have been holding meetings ever since. They addressed two meetings yesterday. Their preaching on these occasions is of a general evangelical character, urging people to live a Christian life. They travel in a special passenger coach, fitted up as a dining and sleeping car, where all of them live—he four gentlemen in one and the cook and porter. The boarding expenses are borne by Mr. Crittenton, out of his private purse. The railways furnish transportation for the car free. The home of the party bears on its side these words: "Florence Crittenton Rescue Car—Good News." This car left Chicago September 5th, going to several Illinois cities, then to Missouri, Kansas and Colorado. It stayed one to three weeks in various places, the last town at which a stop was made before reaching Salt Lake being Grand Junction, Colorado.

Mr. Crittenton is an enthusiast in his work and is ably seconded by his associates. Besides the general evangelical services to which they engage, special meetings, or more if necessary, is devoted to explaining the objects of the mission. This is the special meeting to be held in the Assembly hall on Wednesday evening, to which everybody is invited. On that occasion an interesting narrative will be made of the work the mission has accomplished.

All of the homes in the rescue mission—some of them so extensive as to hold 150 inmates—are under the charge of the national head. These moneys contributed are sent, and from there aid is extended wherever required by institutions which are not able to secure sufficient funds in the locality where they are situated. Expenses for a trip of the kind the rescue car is now making are not taken from the general fund, but where transportation, etc., is not furnished free, Mr. Crittenton's private purse bears the expense. The present method of travel has been found to be cheaper than the ordinary mode. When the general fund has more in it than is required for the homes in operation, another one is established, and thus the mission goes on increasing steadily.

Today Mr. Morton, on behalf of the party, had a pleasant interview with the First Presidency, and obtained the Assembly hall for the meeting Wednesday evening. The car and party will remain in this city several days, and then go on to Ogden, from where the journey will be continued to California.

Surprise Party.

ST. JOHN, Malad Stake, Jan. 22.—At the home of Bishop J. P. Harrison a few relatives met to enjoy themselves on the occasion of his 60th birthday. After a sumptuous dinner the afternoon was spent in social conversation, recitations, songs and vocal music, but when the shades of evening came, a number of brethren and sisters, headed with musical instruments, marched into the house with their pieces in old-fashioned style and presented the Bishop and his worthy wife Elvira with a fine chair each, in which they were both seated. Their cause congratulations and good wishes for future success and happiness, to which the Bishop, though overcome in his feelings, made some very appropriate remarks and thanked the people. Some of the brethren and sisters made short speeches, and a pleasant evening was spent in recitations, vocal and instrumental music, and a good supper. A feature of the evening was the reading of a poem composed by Sister Ann Deschamps, on the life and labors of the Bishop. At midnight all dispersed feeling better for coming together. E.

OBITUARY.

AARON GARLICK.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 22, 1896.—Early on the morning of Saturday, Jan. 18, 1896, Elder Aaron Garlick, president of the Sacramento branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, passed quietly and peacefully from mortality to the realms of the departed. Brother Garlick was born Jan. 30, 1820, at Southport, Lancashire, England. When at the age of 20 he heard the Gospel preached in his native country, he believed it, and by yielding obedience to its ordinances was united with the Church. In 1860, with his family he emigrated to St. Louis, Mo., where he remained till 1864, when he crossed the Plains and joined the Saints in Utah. As work was at that time scarce, and times hard among the Saints, he moved in 1866 to Sacramento, where he found employment, toiled, and remained till the day of his death.

Though our brother removed from the main body of the Saints, his influence for good, and for the spreading of the truth, did not cease. By a worthy and exemplary life, and by precept, he preached to the people among whom he lived, and during his forty years of residence in Sacramento, he has been the means of bringing many souls into the fold of Christ. In 1875, when a branch of the Church was first organized in this city, Brother Garlick was chosen to act as president, in which capacity he served faithfully the remainder of his life, whenever there were a sufficient number to justify the continuance of the organization.

To know our deceased brother was to love and respect him. Even among those out of the faith he had a large circle of dear friends. For forty years he served the Union Iron works of this city as engineer, and to show the esteem in which they held him, and to pay him their last tribute of respect, they placed upon his last resting-place a floral design bearing the motto, "Not Content for Forty Years."

The funeral services were held on Monday last at the late residence of our departed brother, Elder H. S. Talbot, president of the California mission, delivered the discourse. Elder S. B. Shepherd, our conference president, and Elder Willard Somerset, and wife, came up from San Francisco to aid in the singing. The music consisted of hymns and quartettes beautifully rendered by the above-named persons. The services and ceremonies were appropriate and impressive.

Deceased was a High Priest. He leaves a wife and two sons and a number of grandchildren to mourn the departure of a husband and father.—[Con.
