OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, - MAY 31, 1895.

Junction City Jottings.

Decoration day was observed in the usual manner. The parade was a very creditable one, and a large number of people assembled at the cemetery to decorate graves and listen to the elaborate service conducted by the John A. Dix Post and Women's Relief Corps. The races at the Weaver Driving Park, the base ball game, and the Hot Springs were the local attractions that were well patronized. The outdoor singers came in for an afternoon in the pavilion at Lester Park. Memorial services were held at the Post M. E. church and Odeon last night.

In the Fourth district court suit was begun filed by John H. Winslow against the Bear River irrigation company and W. H. Rowe, owner of the Bear Lake and River Waterworks and Irrigation company, for $5,000 for damages to his property, and $150 per month damages since the 1st day of April, 1895, for the alleged unreasonable occupation of plaintiff's canal.

When court adjourned Wednesday evening the case of William Pickett, charged with rape, his twelve-year-old child, was on trial.

County Clerk Loveridge issued marriage licenses to John W. Slater and Nora Mabie A. Eshner and to Alonzo P. Hyde and Mae Cora Williams, all of Ogden.

John Pickett, of Ogden Valley, received a concerning accident to-day and will obliate by taking a day of rest.

The Standard published in eight page paper on Wednesday evening.

LOGAN.

LOGAN, UTAH, - MAY 31, 1895.

Cache County Notes.

Deputy Marshal Cook was up on Tuesday and summoned witnesses from Hyrum to appear against Willis A. M. Hamblett. Disturbed enough with three months imprisonment to one charge of assault with intent to rape, it being here as plain sailing. Another charge is now lodged against him for a similar attempt made at Hyrum and which also resulted in bodily injuries, six months within and little girls.

O. S. Ormsby has returned from Chicago with Dr. Lillie Lee M. D., having completed the course at the Hahn Medical college. Ollie is popular and will no doubt be able to build up an extensive practice. He will probably enter into partnership with his father, Dr. O. C. Ormsby.

The annual banquet of the Alumni association of the U. A. C. will be held on the evening of June 12th. The toastmaster of the occasion will be E. G. Davis, the valedictorian of last year's graduating class.

The rain on Monday did an immense amount of good, particularly in the dry farms on the West side of the valley. The alfalfa has been followed by cool weather, but notwithstanding this it has been so cloudy.

Two young men of Logan will be held in fond remembrance by some of the victims of the unwelcome, who accompanied the circus, the latter referred to having acted as escorts for the aforesaid guest.

FISHING AT THE RAND.

Paducah Three Professors Could Look Effective While Fishing.

When Paducah went to New York to be something of a spectacular Washington's home in 1795 another time the result will look to a world that believes his capture of the daughters' photos. "The great Paducah was a great man, and that nothing would give him greater pleasure."
