silver King mine Sunday last, for men being laid off, with the intimation that more were to follow. Their pieces were immediately filled by new men. The men themselves do not have any idea, or at least so say, why they were laid off and Mr. Daly, who issued the time checks, refuses utterly to say anything regarding the matter.

Notwithstanding the talk indulged in last fortnight the court proceedings instituted by Col. Shaughnessy against the Silver King mining company on rights claimed through the Dorin and Ladies Drum lease, on which the gentlemen holds a lease and bond, the promised suit to prove up assessions has not yet materialized, and present indications are to the effect that the proposed developments will die a natural death, and that the suit will not go down.

Yesterday are the ore shipments from the Helstrah dumpler for the present week: Silver King, 585,870; silver King concentrates, 159,400; Cataria, 153,780; Varnon concentrates, 29,440; total, 906,170.

Bingham's Mines and Mills.

The latest issue of the Bingham Bulletin in its weekly account of developments in that thriving camp says that John Nelson and partner, Bill Eckman, have made a great strike in their lease on the Old Telegraph and are assured a rich reward for their perseverance and industry. After nearly a year of barren work they started a crosscut from gross rents and in a few days ran into the vein, tapping it about two weeks ago. In the days, working three men, in the last Tuesday they had shipped 220 tons of ore, which carries 40 per cent lead and is of a grade that yields a good return. They have exposed 14 feet of the trunk to drift on right and left, and as their lease has six months to run it looks as if they will have a nice bundle when it expires.

D. H. Hero and P. J. Conway have bought a half interest in the bond and lease of Wm. Oliver on the Butler No. 2 and Gemi claims, in Markham gulch near the Montezuma, and began work on the 1st with four men. They are running a crosscut to cut the ledge and drain the No. 2 and Gemi claims, which are both in ore.

The Winnamuck began shipments on May 16th, and drained lots of water for the first week, other causes incident to starting up the new mill has run it irregularly. Everything is now in prime working order, and probably the May shipments of 500 tons will be more than doubled by the teamage this month.

Blandish & Jimpson have opened up a fine body of ore at Great Roots on the Merrimac, lying between their Native and Italy claims and on which they have a bond and lease. They began an open cut, and as yet the vein is not yet fully exposed. The trunk is carbonated and heavy with lead.

The Dalton & Lark has just exposed a body of fine grade ore which leaves up a large area of stoping ground. The mine never showed so well as at present.

The rich pipe of ore lately found in the footwall of the Winnamuck is holding its own, and every pound carefully sacked. It is a veritable little fortunes.

Dips and Spurs.

Holders of stock in the Utah and Galena mining companies will get their proportion of the recently declared dividends of $2,000 and $5,000 respectively, tomorrow.

A new strike is reported on the 150-foot level of the Golden King mine, near Mountain Home, Idaho. It consists of a four-foot body of ore which carries to the ton $32 in gold and 9.25 ounces in silver.

The News had a pleasant call today from John J. Vandermoer, who is here representing the New York Engineering and Mining Journal, the leading mining paper in the world. It is the gentleman's intention to visit Utah's mining districts before he leaves, and as a result of his visit write-ups of the leading mines of this State may be looked for in future issues of that interesting journal.

HAS SURRENDERED.

Livingston, the Missing Witness, Voluntarily Gives Up.

HE WALKED IN FROM BERCUD,

Making the Trip in a Day—The Officers Could Never Have Found Him Had He Desired.

E. E. Livingston, the missing witness in the Wagnhalls arson case, came into the county attorney's office and gave himself up this morning. At 9 o'clock this afternoon he appeared in Judge Street's court in contempt, but on recommendation of Mr. Whittemore he was placed under a bond of $1,000 to appear in Judge Hiles's court as a witness in the arson case on the 25th of the month, and also to appear and answer in any contempt proceedings which may be instituted against him.

Assistant County Attorney Waite stated that he was in reality responsible for the man's return. He has been acquainted with Livingston and his wife for the past twelve years, and he went to the lady and obtained her husband's address. Mr. Waite wrote to Livingston and told him to return, guaranteeing that his interests would be taken care of.

Exercising his faith in Mr. Waite's personal assurance the missing witness started afoot for Salt Lake at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. He caught a Rio Grand Western train at Lost Junction and rode into town, arriving home at 10 o'clock last night.

This morning Mr. Livingston sent word down to the county attorney that he was ready to surrender, and he was therefore brought before Judge Street this afternoon. He says he was in a bad fix after his long walk, his feet being very sore from blistering yesterday.

Mr. Waite says he doesn't believe the officers could have found Livingston had he wanted to get away, but his old acquaintance and assurance brought him back voluntarily.

D. & R. G. REACHING OUT.

It is Seeking a New Pacific Coast Connection—Its Surveyors Now in the Field.

Denver Republican of Monday: Again the story that the Denver & Rio Grande is to have another Pacific coast connection has been revived, and this time it comes from an authentic source that trains will be running from Denver to the Pacific coast over the Rio Grande by way of the Santa Fe and the Atlantic and Pacific road before a fortnight will be good again.

The basis of this report is the presence of a corps of engineers in Vista pass working their way to Trinidad. Here, it is learned, they will begin surveying to make the narrow gauge track running south into New Mexico a broad gauge track. According to this story the connection will be made with the Atlantic & Pacific road at or near Santa Fe.

The place of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad company on this latest enterprise are yet indefinite, and the Minutes of Proceedings of New York is construed by some who are watching the scheme to be in line with the project. They say he is conferring with the directors about the proposed extension of the road, and that the corps of surveyors now in Vista pass will shortly be assigned to the work.

From present advices it is learned that the plan of the Denver & Rio Grande owners is to make their line broad-gauge to Santa Fe. From Santa Fe the road will be joined on to connect with the Atlantic & Pacific road. This will make the two roads connections through freight business to the Pacific coast.

The object of the contemplated enterprise is said to be the desire of the Denver & Rio Grande to cut loose from the Rio Grande Western, as the relations of the two roads are and have often been considerably strained. Again, it is argued that it is fair business preparation for the Denver & Rio Grande to effect this change, as it would enable it to secure more business besides making it more independent.

There are none of the officials of the road to indicate who could confirm the truth of the statement, as President Jeffery is the only one who knows the plans of the directors. He is scheduled to arrive from New York on Thursday, and it is quite likely that he will have some information to give out on this subject.

Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or a little later, to heed the admonition of

Impure

Blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering.

"I had a dreadful carbuncle above, red, fiery, hard and sore. The doctor attended me one seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our built me up and restored my health so that, although the doctor said I would not be able to work hard, I have since done the work for 10 people. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my husband of the boils, and we regard it a wonderful medicine." Mrs. Anna Patterson, Lawton, Kansas.

Upset the Wagon.

A horse belonging to the Denver & Rio Grande Express company, which was standing hitched to a wagon in front of the company's office on Second South street, became frightened and started for a run on his own account. The wagon, however, drew the animal around in a circle which, like a merry-go-round, became smaller as it grew smaller and soon the wagon went over and the horse went with it. There was quite a little load on at the time, but so far as could be seen after the horse was helped up and the wagon righted, no damage was done.

UNIVERSITY GRADUATES.

Exercises Held Today—Memorial Addresses and Presentation.

Today was class day for the 1896 graduates of the University of Utah, and an interesting program was rendered. There were songs, addresses, etc., which were all well received. The memorial presented in by the class to the University was a beautifully bound set of Spencer's works. The memorial address by Miss Bardella Shipp was as follows:

Mr. President, the Honorable Regents and Faculty of the University of Utah and Friends:

I think it only befitting that we who are about to vacate these classic halls, should make some kind of a note, or do something before we go to let future generations know that we were here in 1896, and that after years of struggle we were considered worthy to receive the honors and degrees of the University which it proposes to confer upon us. We desire to leave behind us some reminder; some indication that we have been here, were once enrolled as students of the University of Utah.

It occurs to me as very appropriate to contribute to the library of our alma mater some intellectual fact, some product of the mind, so that the traits of literary endeavor may further enhance the value of the library. And I do not know of a more befitting thing within our reach than that we could do than to present to the library of the institution some words of a noted author. We will have to ask your indulgence to permit us to offer the production of some other mind rather than our own. Of course it will be an apparent loss to the University. But don't you know we really haven't had time to give you something superior from our own brains. You must remember we have been so hurried just recently. The fact of the examinations, we have been pushed like everything to get over that terrible line. Goodness, will we ever forget it? But if you will only grant the indulgence of a little time, no doubt we shall be able to mass full sheaves and fairly flood you with the productions of our own bright intellects. Taking it for granted that you will give us this intermission, we kindly ask you to accept as a memorial some of the pedagogical and psychological works of that brilliant author, Herbert Spencer.

Our honored preceptors, what a debt of gratitude we owe to you! How often our dullness has tried your patience! But you never tired. Again and again have you tried to make our tasks plain and never ceased your efforts until you thought we had understanding. Our hearts love you but forty reward you. But the God of the Universe will hold you in remembrance. And surely the remembrance will be great for those who, like you, have devoted your time and talents to place the rising generation upon a higher plane of intellectuality, that humanity may be lifted from the unfavorable conditions of ignorance and incapability into a atmosphere of development and light. O, Father, grant that our lives may be a justification of the heroic labors that have been given in our behalf by our loved teachers.

Wherever we go, and as long as we live, will the pleasing associations we have had together as pupil and teacher never fade from our memories.

Life's work is all before us; no difference what may have been the brilliant record we have sustained during our college course, it has been only preparatory (just getting ready) our implements only being put into condition for use. Results are yet to be accomplished; the goal to be reached. We may as well make up our minds that if we succeed it means a struggle; earnest, unceasing, untiring labor for there is no excellence without labor. We let us see to it that we do our duty well, but may we be as honest and outright to the University that has clothed us in her robes of honor and conferred upon us her degrees and diplomas.

Can we ever forget our alma mater? What a glorious prospect awaits her destination through the kind consideration of the parent government. The near future will find her removed from the present situation and settled upon the commanding elevation close to the feet of the everlasting hills overlooking the beautiful valley below. Here will be the beacon light to which the rugged and independent sons and daughters of this mountain region will look. To her missie halls will they resort that they may drink at the sparkling fountains of her learning and under the masterly hand of her teachers prepare to be well prepared to meet successfully the contests that await them in the world's future history.

To the one of our college mates whom we have decided should we would express a kind word, is meant only that memory may attend them in all their wanderings. Appreciate your opportunities, avail yourselves of the advantages that surround you. Carry a light heart, when the heart grows heavy the brain gets dull. I believe a very will break you down faster than will be observed at Saltair on Thursday next, June 11. A grand ball will be given at the Saltair pavilion in the evening, the last train leaving there for Salt Lake at 2 p.m.

The first commencement recital of the Utah Normal of Elocution will be given at 8 Blair street on Friday evening next. An excellent program has been prepared for the occasion. The graduates are Rae Anna Cannon, Salt Lake City, and Annie Elizabeth Spencer, Draper.

C. W. Peterson was today commissioned a notary public in and for the county of Sanpete.

Home Again.

This afternoon we received a pleasant call from Elder A. O. Woodruff, of Farmers ward, who returned yesterday from a mission, on which he left Jan. 22, 1894. He went to the Swiss and German mission, and traveled and preached in Germany, Switzerland and Austria. For a year of his mission he was in Berlin, and presided over the Berlin conference. He reports having been received very kindly by people wherever he went. In Germany the Elders have greater liberty than formerly in preaching the Gospel. With Elder Woodruff, on every occasion except one when he applied to the police for permission to hold meetings his request was granted. The one occasion was in the city of Dresden. In Austria he quite preaching can be done. Throughout the Swiss and German missions the prospects are brighter and present conditions better for the spread of the Gospel than for years past. Elder Woodruff also visited France, Italy, England and Scotland, attending meetings in some of the conferences of the British mission. He enjoyed good health, and is well satisfied with his experience in preaching the Gospel.

They Stole Chickens.

R. Chapman and John Wilson, two boys who are out on parole from the State reform school at Ogden, were arrested and placed in jail today for stealing chickens. Superintendent Allison was immediately informed of their petty thieving, and answered by 'phone that he would come down to-morrow and escort the lads to the institution.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Hopkins Trans-Oceanics—Only a fair audience assembled at the Theater last evening to witness the performance of the above company. The program furnished was such as is usually expected from entertainments on the vaudeville order. The most attractive feature of course is the midgets—the Roscoe Bros.—who are aged respectively 18 and 20 years, one weighing but 161 pounds and the other 22 pounds. Their performance consisted of heavy weight lifting, boxing, etc. They are decidedly intelligent, speaking several languages fluently. Of the balance of the performance not much need be said.

THE GRAND.

Flags and bunting gaily festooned over the boxes and extending around the proscenium arch greeted those who attended the Grand last night. Camille was the bill and the performance was given for the benefit of the Midsummer Carnival fund. The seats in the boxes which had been sold at good figures at auction, were filled with a number of society people among whom were noticed the Governor and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Moritz, Mr. and Mrs. Sheip, Mrs. Emery and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Will Clawson, Director-General McFarlane and others. During the gambling scene in the fourth act, the two leading contestants in the Queen of the Carnival contest came upon the stage, Miss Pratt upon the arm of Lieut. Simmons and Miss Russell escorted by Lieut. Castle. The features of the play dwindled into insignificance for a time while these ladies received the applause of their friends.

Tonight the same performance will be repeated and those who attend will not only have the pleasure of seeing the good work done by the company in Camille but will also aid in helping the Carnival fund.

THE LYCEUM.

Manager Gates recognizing the apparent desire for farce-comedy amusements, placed before the audience assembled at the Lyceum last night a double bill consisting of vaudeville acts, singing, etc., and the farce A Strange Family. The laughter and applause that rewarded the performers indicate that this class of entertainment is still popular with a large portion of theater goers. The same performance will be seen again tonight and for the balance of the week.

It was announced in the Saturday edition of this paper that Harold Russell would appear next week in conjunction with Brigham Royce's company of players at the Grand in the military drama A Fair Rebel. Mr. Russell has decided that owing to some throat trouble it will be impossible for him to do so.

Chas. W. King, late of the Grand Block Co., received a telegram last evening summoning him to Denver to appear with the Manhattan Beach Co., where Walter Edwards, Herbert Warren and George Fisher are playing.

FRANK MAYO.

A dispatch published in this paper last evening brought the saddening intelligence that Frank Mayo had died on the train en route to Omaha from paralysis of the heart. It is less than a month since he was seen here as Pauldstone Wilson; when he more than revived the admiration that he was when he came through here 15 teen years ago with a reputation only half earned and presented to us his version of Davie Crockett. He was enthusiastically received then, and since that time he has been seen in Nor'lich and other plays. The profession had been rather a losing game than otherwise for him until his dramatization of Mark Twain's story of Missouri life, after which the tide of fortune began to turn his way. And now right in the midst of his fame and growing fortune, he is stricken down! He was an actor of high ability, conscientious in his efforts to please the public and a thorough gentleman. His death removes one of the remaining few of the old school actors. As Paddlestone Wilson he will always be pleasantly remembered.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, JUNE 9, 1896.

The Extortion Case.

The hearing in the case of the State vs J. W. Spahnower before Justice DeMoby took up the time of yesterday afternoon and evening. County Prosecuting Attorney Goth and Col. M. M. Knight of Salt Lake assisted for the prosecution and J. W. N. Whitcomb for the defense. Dendent and his brother, J. A. Spahnower, are charged with attempting extortion by sending a threatening letter to Mr. V. Le Sieur, in Provo, who owns mill land near Mr. Le Sieur keeping off a certain piece of mining property located near Soldier Summit in Spanish Fork canyon, which both parties claimed. Justice DeMoby discharged the defendant on the ground that there was no evidence to show he attempted to obtain property belonging to Mr. Le Sieur.

The opinion is generally expressed that the controversy between Mr. Le Sieur in regard to the rights to the property in question should be settled by civil rather than by criminal proceedings. It is not likely that the case against J. A. Spahnower will be pushed, as it stands on the same footing as the one just terminated.

Notes and Personals.

W. J. Maddox, superintendent of construction of the Provo Power Dam and canal, came down from Logan. In regard to a question of possible danger of floods from the breaking of the dam at the mouth of the canyon, to be built by his company, which has been raised by some of Salt Lake City, Mr. Maddox said that the fears were entirely groundless, as his company would spend a large amount of money, with the expectation of realizing returns from their investments in the future and could not afford to do the work in a haphazard manner.

William Park of the Second ward received an ugly wound in his right arm last Sunday. He was loading a rifle and tried to push the cartridge in with a stick of wood; an explosion followed and part of the shell lodged in the muscle of his right arm under the armpit. The little finger of his left hand was also injured by a piece of the exploded shell. The patient lost considerable blood before Dr. Pike, who was called to attend him, arrived, but is now getting along nicely.

A subscription list is being circulated by Mrs. J. Amer Bennett for the purpose of raising money to pay for the home occupied by Mrs. Peter Bartine, who was left a widow with seven children to support, by the accidental killing of her husband a few days ago. Only about $170 is needed and the amount will double is easily be raised.

The audience at the Opera house last evening, that witnessed the presentation of Josephine was not large, but those who attended were delighted with the interpretation given of Josephine by Miss Rosa. The company left for Salt Lake last evening and tomorrow evening plays in Salt Lake.

The following Salt Lakers are registered at the Bates: Robert William G. Carter, S. H. Watson, W. A. Moshier and George F. Holman.

H. C. Pearson of Draper, aged 23, and Sarah A. Smith of Lehi, aged 21, have taken out a marriage license.

A girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Cox yesterday morning; mother and child are doing well.

James F. Dunn, representing Scowcroft & Sons of Ogden, is in the city on his way south.

A Railroad Official's Experience.

MR. EDWARD EDMUNDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 18 years. Shortness of breath was the greatest and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed my exertion. Faintness, hunger without food and severe fits of nausea would catch my breath, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I stood from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their piercing, painful, wearing pains were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. I consulted leading physicians and tried all the best remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I keep every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." Geo. Rosecrans, P. O. Box 61, Baird City, Ore.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Stock market opened quite active with considerable changes. The tobacco list displayed no important tendency. The Sugar trust declined a fraction, recovering the loss of a point being taken in value. Louisville and Nashville declined a point, the remainder of the list showing a general recession of from one to two points, the greatest recession being in Colorado fuel. In the east, the market was easier, but the recession was confined to fractional losses.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, and underwent the best physician, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $100 there, besides doctors' bills, but could obtain only temporary relief. My back was crooked away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscle being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was emaciated to the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could scarcely relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged to stay in support, in addition, but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and enduring the most awful sufferings, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Bottles of two months. I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to straighten, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 160 pounds, and I can now use the day full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."
