FRAGMENTS.

On the second Monday in April the next grand jury will be empaneled.

See Rowe, Morris & Summerhays Co's ad. of plastering hair.

Nothing exciting has happened in the courts of the United States commissioners today.

In the case of Sears, Jenney & Co. vs. A. Gilroy, judgment has been entered for the plaintiffs by default for $[illegible].

In consequence of the long time taken up with the trial of the Parsons case the criminal business in Judge Zane's court has fallen into arrear.

There will be a social ball in the Nineteenth ward hall, Thursday evening, the 20th inst., under the auspices of the Deacon's quorum.

The further hearing of the mining suit of Ezra Thompson et al. vs. David Keith et al. has been continued till the 21st instant.

The mass meeting of citizens announced to take place at the Theatre tonight to discuss the natural gas question, has been indefinitely postponed.

The members of the Union Glee club are requested to meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the usual place. A full attendance is desired.

The American Natural Gas company has sold stock to the amount of $[illegible] to Eastern capitalists. The deal was consummated yesterday and the purchasers left for the East last night.

Officers Allbright and Danner arrested William Shaeffer and Charles Johnson this afternoon, on a charge of fighting. Both men are negroes, aged 21 and 25 years respectively.

At the residence of the bride's mother, North street, through Eagle gate, last evening, Mr. Lee Brown and Miss Nell Clawson were united in the bonds of matrimony.

Henry Alexander and Edward Earl are now languishing in the penitentiary on a charge of selling liquor to Indians. This in default of finding bonds, pending the preliminary examination.

In Judge Anderson's court today, in the matter of the Woodside Mining Co. vs. Ezra Thompson et al., the demurrer to the complaint was overruled and thirty days allowed to answer.

Tomorrow (Friday) a farewell party will be given in the Eighth ward meeting house, to bid adieu to Brother Thos. Hilton and wife, who are about to leave for Samoa as missionaries.

In the matter of Jacob Madsen, an insane person, the petition for his restoration to capacity was heard before Judge Bartch today. Dr. McLean sworn and examined. Order made restoring said Madsen to capacity.

Upon application of Attorney Tolbock, the bond in the case of George Coster, indicted for adultery, has been reduced to $[illegible] by Judge Zane. It appears that Coster is the son of a prominent methodist minister of Iowa.

The Seventh quorum of Elders will meet tomorrow (Friday) evening, at the Nineteenth ward meeting house. It is expected that the Presidency of the Stake will be present and important business transacted. A full attendance is therefore desired.

Judge Anderson is working away at the law and motion calendar. It is one of the heaviest calendars that the Third District court has had to face for many a long month. When the last case will be reached, unless many of the cases are unexpectedly stricken out, time alone can tell.

The other night some mischievous person lifted the front gate at the residence of Mr. W. F. Hartman, 352 W. North Temple street, from its place and carried it away. Any person who knows of the whereabouts of the gate will confer a favor upon the gentleman named by giving him the information.

On Friday evening, the 11th inst., a reunion will be held under the auspices of the Y. M. M. I. A. of the Sixth ward, in the meeting house. A varied programme will be rendered, after which a dance will be given. Elders Ed. Hardy and Wm. Poulton, who have just returned from the Southern States, are expected to be present and deliver short addresses.

The remains of the late Deputy Marshal J. B. McLellan were interred yesterday at Ogden. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Shields, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The body was followed to Mountain View cemetery by a large concourse of friends. Sixteen members of the Ogden police force took part in the funeral cortege.

Judge Zane's time yesterday afternoon was taken up with the trial of Benjamin Fitzpatrick on a charge of committing a criminal assault upon a feeble old woman named Annie Hansen, on February 19th 1891. Great difficulty was experienced in the securing of a jury, and the case was investigated with closed doors. It was a horrible and disgusting story. It was late when the jury retired, and they were instructed to bring in a sealed verdict this morning.

James Sullivan, who ran up a bill with his landlady, Mrs. Ford, and then suddenly changed his quarters, leaving her $20 in arrear, went before Commissioner Pratt yesterday afternoon on a civil suit brought to recover the amount named. Mr. Newton, for the defense, confessed judgment for the $20, and moved for the discharge of the defendant. After some discussion between the opposing counsel, Messrs. Newton and McEnany, the motion was granted.

Mr. William Lowe, who in the last Territorial Legislature represented Box Elder County, was seriously injured by falling down a stairway in the rear of the City Hall building while discharging his duties in that capacity. For a period of six months he was laid up in consequence, suffered considerable pain and incurred heavy bills for medical aid. Now he claims damages from the authorities in the sum of $5000, to recover which he has brought suit. It is alleged that the accident was due to the imperfect lighting of the rear yard of the City Hall and the leaving of a cellar door carelessly open.

Held for Adultery.

Deputy-Marshal Dyer went to Springville at a late hour last night and arrested Nicholas H. Groesbeck on a charge of adultery, an indictment having been found against him by the grand jury. The lady in the case is Kate Houtz. The deputy arrived with his prisoner by the 12:20 a. m. train. Mr. Groesbeck was detained in custody all night, and this morning gave bonds before Commissioner Greenman in the sum of $1500, when he was released. He is to appear in Judge Zane's court tomorrow morning.

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

A Jury Cannot Agree Upon a Verdict—Today's Criminal Business.

The jury before whom was tried yesterday afternoon the case of Benj. Fitzpatrick, on a charge of criminally assaulting an old woman, came into court this morning and informed Judge Zane that they were unable to agree upon a verdict, and that there was not the slightest prospect of their doing so. His Honor therefore discharged them. Judge Powers, the defendant's attorney, then applied to the court to reduce the amount of Fitzpatrick's bond, which was fixed by ex-Police Justice Laney at $10,000. He was a stranger here and unable to find bail in any large amount.

Judge Zane—Let it be fixed at $[illegible].

The case goes over until next term. It appears that eight of the jurors were in favor of a verdict of not guilty, while the remaining four stood out for a conviction.

TEMPORARILY PASSED OVER.

F. J. White and F. F. Holland were the first two for trial on today's list. They are charged with robbing a stranger in the city, while at the Rio Grande Western depot, of the sum of $[illegible], at the same time using personal violence. Prosecuting Attorney Stephens informed the court that the prosecuting witness was at present in Colorado, and that without him it would be impossible to proceed with the trial. He asked, therefore, that the case be passed for the present. Ordered accordingly.

THEFT OF MONEY.

Charles Maupin was then placed on trial on an indictment for grand larceny. The defendant, a well dressed young man of about 26, was defended by Attorney Armstrong.

The prosecutor, Dominick Norris, keeps a restaurant and confectionery store on W. Second South street, nearly opposite the post-office, and the accused, in the month of June, 1891, was in his employ as cook. On the night of June 9th, between 9 and 9 o'clock, a purse containing $[illegible] and some odd money was placed in the till by the female clerk in the store, and next morning it was missed. A butter knife, valued at 50 cents, was also gone. Suspicion fell upon the defendant, who was arrested the same day while changing his clothes in his bedroom, preparatory to skipping from the city. He had already purchased a railroad ticket. The purse was found concealed between the mattress of the bed on which he slept and the bedclothing, and the butter knife was also among his effects.

The jury found the prisoner guilty and sentence will be passed tomorrow morning.

A BIRTHDAY SENTENCE.

The Soldiers Fined for Fighting.—Ex-Deputy Joe Bush, the Famous, Discharged.

This forenoon, as well as yesterday afternoon, the auditorium of Justice Gee's Court was packed with as motley a gang of spectators as ever assembled in any police court. Saloons, dives and other places of ill repute were well represented. There were numerous distinct types of both the foreign and native elements. It was a lasting object lesson to the physiognomist, and student of the freaks of nature alike.

This "crazy quilt" crew had been attracted thither by the trial, for fighting, of a trio of soldiers from Fort Douglas, who engaged in an altercation on Main street a few nights ago, and the arraignment of Ex-Deputy Joe Bush, for assault and battery, that gentleman having taken part in the brawl.

The Court decided that Joe was not "in it," though he is nursing a badly battered and swollen cranium and pair of highly discolored eyes. Joe went on his way rejoicing in his victory over the blue coats.

Thomas Casey, one of the offending pugilists who wears the uniform of a United States soldier was adjudged guilty and fined $15 and $8.60 costs. Being without the necessary cash to liquidate his fine he was committed to the custody of Jailor Raleigh, for a period of twenty-four days.

Wm. Lawrence, the acknowledged leader of the blue coats, who attempted to paint the town red, was assessed in the sum of $58.60, with the alternative of being incarcerated in the city jail for fifty-nine days.

Lawrence, with a contemptuous curl of the lips said: "I am twenty-three years old today; never was arrested before; and I think this is a pretty heavy dose, but I guess I'll have to swallow the medicine."

Scott Spoon is the name of an individual who is charged with obstructing the streets.

A charge has been preferred against one R. W. Mitchell for obtaining meals under false pretenses. He will have an opportunity to explain the transaction before Justice Gee this afternoon.

The following persons are sojourning temporarily at the city jail at the expense of the taxpayers: S. P. Hugett, George Wilson, George Miller, George Wright, Ed. Johnson. A weakness for whisky is the cause.

A CLEVER EXHIBITION.

Chief Stanton Entertains the Members of the Legislative Council.

At 12 o'clock today the Council adjourned to witness an exhibition of the fire "laddies" on invitation of Chief Stanton.

The chief escorted the members into the front room, where the mysteries of the alarm and signal system were explained. How infinitely intricate and yet perfectly simple it was in its workings. The library and the dormitories were next visited, and it was in the first named that Editor Goodwin of the Tribune asked Mr. Stanton where the Bible was, to which the latter replied that it had been brought up from the cellar this morning. Then, for the edification of the Councilors the chief slided down the greased escape pole, himself just to show how quick it could be done; whereupon Glendinning and Moran followed his example and demonstrated that they possessed some of the qualities required of good firemen.

Following this they were taken around and shown the beautiful horses, whose sleek, glossy coats were greatly admired.

Then the Chief said: "Gentlemen, you press the button, we do the rest," and suiting the action to the word a little bell was touched, the tower bell rang out its startling alarm of fire, the central telephone office bell tingled with an inquiry to know where the fire was, and in almost an instant the whole town was astir.

The chief touched another button, a gong sounded, and where order and quiet had prevailed a moment before, all was action. Horses, with distended nostrils, sprang into automatic harness, that silently and caught; the swinging gates flew up, the "laddies" poured out in swarms and all was bustle. The main gates parted as if by magic, the quick command "Get up, there," was given and before one could realize what had happened, the hose carriage, the big engine and the splendid extension ladder machine, drawn by three white horses abreast, shouting and clamoring, were off and away leaving only the smoke of their impatient hoofs on the wooden floor.

Rushing out, the sight as they tore up First South street, was a beautiful one, flying at breakneck speed, yet as obedient to the touch of Welch's guiding hand as babies, they exhibited perfect training.

The members of the Council were then shown how to extend the ladder machine, Captain Gilbert sending his ladders seventy-five feet into the air. To the top went one of his men, fleet and true as a cat. Grasping the rope at the top he glided down gracefully and was greeted with a burst of applause when he reached the ground.

The members of the Council were delighted.

The fire engine was out of the building ten seconds after the gong had sounded.

A Contempt Case.

Deputy-Marshal Will Goodsell arrived from Bingham late last night, bringing in his custody George Garnie, whom he had arrested on a warrant, for contempt of court. Recently, on the hearing of a civil suit in the Third District court, the Judge made an order directing that the plaintiffs be permitted to enter the defendant's mining lands for the purpose of making certain surveys, but when the surveyors presented themselves a few days ago Garnie, who is a foreman in the employ of the owner, acting, it is said, on instructions, refused to allow them to go on. Mr. Garnie went before Judge Anderson this morning, and after explanations had been made he was allowed to depart. The surveyors will now, however, go and do their work without interruption.

Fire at Spring City.

A small fire occurred at the house of Sidney R. Allred, at Spring City, about 8 o'clock on Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Allred went to visit a neighbor, leaving at home three of the children, one of whom was in bed sick. When the outbreak was discovered the eldest girl removed the younger ones from the place and raised an alarm. A "bucket brigade" soon extinguished the flames, not, however, until the roof of the kitchen had been destroyed and also a portion of the main roof. The trouble is supposed to have been caused by the stove pipe becoming overheated.

Amusement Notes.

Quite a number of tickets have been sold for the grand ball to be given by the Theatre attaches tomorrow night. A special feature of the Saturday matinee will be the fairy fountain.

WONDERLAND.

The programme for this week has many interesting features. A group of Esquimaux is among the attractions.

CORINNE

will appear at the Theatre for three nights next week, commencing Monday, March 14.

MISS GALE.

The remainder of the week will be occupied by Miss Gale, once the leading lady for Booth and Barrett.

"THE SEA OF ICE"

will be presented tomorrow night at Farmington Opera House, by the Taylor and Brough Dramatic company, and at Centerville on Saturday night. This amateur troup has been commended for their able acting. Harry Taylor plays the leading part.

Burglary at Ogden.

Yesterday morning, at Ogden, the Continental Oil company's safe was cracked by experts and $24 in cash, and checks amounting to $[illegible] stolen. The robbery took place in the company's warehouse at the bottom of Twenty-fourth street, near the river. The thieves effected an entrance into the building and then succeeded in blowing off the door of the safe. One of the inside doors was blown into an adjoining room and the other nearly through the wall of the building. The books were considerably blackened and powder burned, but not otherwise disturbed. The job was very neatly done.

Utah Goods Appreciated.

As an evidence of the appreciation of Utah woolen fabrics in the East we may state that John C. Cutler & Bro. received today an order from Marshall, Field & Co., Chicago, for a thousand pieces of Provo factory goods. The order is almost exclusively for flannels, the Utah article being unsurpassed by anything in that line produced in any part of the world.

From a Mission.

Elder D. J. Lau, of Soda Springs, has just returned home at the close of his labors in the Swiss and German mission, for which he started on November 6th, 1889. He has thus been absent two years and four months. Upwards of two years of this time he spent in Germany, and there made the acquaintance of a great many persons, who evinced much interest in the principles of the Gospel. He also baptized quite a number, some of whom are now in Utah. He received his release on January 25th last, and left Germany on February 9th. One sister and two children accompanied him from Germany.

UTAH LEGISLATURE.

COUNCIL.

Council concurred in the amendments of the House to C. F. 102, relating to the taking of depositions.

The House messaged that it had rejected H. F. 63, relating to the shooting of birds; had passed H. F. 104, providing for a contingent fund, and passed H. F. 114, providing for the management of Salt [illegible]; had laid upon the table the bill by Glendinning creating a Utah national guard, and had also passed C. F. 132, referring to the shooting of game and birds.

The House sent another message notifying the Council of the passage of H. F. 66, referring to the tunneling of waters. This is the new famous sheep bill and is the same measure with the amendments as recommended by the Governor.

A recess was taken until 2 p.m.

2 p. m.—The motion to strike out the word seven and insert five, in the sheep bill so as to read that all sheep shall not be allowed to come within five miles of streams, where water is taken out for domestic purposes, was lost.

Bartch, by unanimous consent, introduced a bill referring to the settlement of property of deceased persons. This bill was introduced today in the House but was killed. Under a suspension of the rules the bill passed by a unanimous vote.

The claim of F. E. Barker for services as stenographer for $[illegible], was referred to the committee on claims and public accounts.

The House informed the Council that it had passed H. F. 139, prohibiting the Territorial Treasurer from receiving any warrants in payment of taxes prior to March 13, 1890.

C. F. No. 59 was passed.

Committee on claims to whom was referred the claims of Deseret News for services in court amounting to $[illegible], H. H. Hodge, court commissioner in Weber county $[illegible], were recommended by the committee.

The claims of H. S. Laney for $1,118.65, and Sanpete County for $1,[illegible], were rejected.

The claim of Geo. C. Lambert, for services rendered as public printer, amounting to $[illegible], was upon recommendation of the committee allowed.

M. H. Lindsey's claim for $[illegible] was allowed, also $[illegible] was allowed F. L. Williams for legal services rendered the Territorial Auditor.

The claim of Arthur—for clerk fees amounting to $[illegible], was rejected.

The following bills were then killed upon the recommendation of the appropriate committees: C. F. 118, relating to executions; C. F. 124, relating to leasing of lands; C. F. 31, providing for additional salaries for each of the judges of the district courts; H. F. 137, for the drafting of a code of irrigation laws; C. F. 122, for the regulation of the practice of dentistry in the Territory; H. F. 118, for the protection of loan and building associations in the Territory; and C. F. 127, relating to territorial, county and school district warrants.

Lund offered a bill for an amendment to an act relating to banking corporations. Under a suspension of the rules the bill passed.

A communication was received from the House announcing the passage of C. F. 118 with amendments, providing for the reading of evidence once taken by an official stenographer. The amendments were considered and concurred in and the bill passed.

HOUSE.

LAST DAY—THURSDAY MORNING.

The Speaker called the representatives to order for the last morning session of the present legislative assembly at 11 a. m. The roll was called showing a quorum present.

Prayer by Chaplain Mattibson.

The journal of the [illegible] day was read and approved.

The committee on livestock reported back H. F. 66, substitute, in relation to befouling waters, recommending that it pass. Adopted and bill passed under suspension of rules.

The conference committee on C. F. 29, in relation to Utah's display at the World's Fair, reported that the Council had receded from its position.

The committee on the part of the House recommended that the names of Mrs. Ipson, Sutherland and E. H. Snow be stricken out and those of Mrs. A. C. Woodbury and Mrs. F. S. Richards substituted. Adopted.

A communication was received from the Council announcing the passage of H. F. 9, substitute in relation to taking depositions. Enrollment committee.

C. F. 59, relating to the assessment and collection of taxes in incorporated cities, on motion of Snow was called from the table, read the third time and passed.

Wright moved to reconsider the vote by which H. F. 182, relating to militia, was tabled on Wednesday the 9th.

Pike presented a petition from the Provo guards, requesting the passage of C. F. 182, which was read at length. A motion to take the bill from the table was lost.

The joint committee to investigate the accounts of James Jack and N. W. Clayton reported that said duties had been performed. The warrants drawn and paid had been checked off, marked and filed with the auditor for safekeeping. The looseness with which the auditor's books were kept prior to the present incumbency, the United time made it impossible to determine where the $11,379.80 overissue reported by Auditor Pratt originated, and the committee recommended that a law be made prohibiting the payment of warrants issued prior to March 13, 1890, excepting $[illegible] registered since January 1, 1892, to date. Signed by all the members.

On motion of Stoker, report adopted and committee discharged.

At 12 o'clock, noon, on motion of W. H. Irvine, the House took a recess till 1:30 p.m.

At 1:30 p.m., the House having reassembled, the committee on enrollment reported on H. F. 135, substitute, for the protection of fish and game, had been forwarded to the Governor.

The same committee reported on H. F. 127, to amend section 3071, Compiled Laws, in regard to trial by jury, and H. F. 16, to protect employes and laborers, had taken the same course.

A committee was received from the Council announcing its concurrence in House amendments to C. F. 124 and C. F. 125. (See Council report.)

Pierce, by consent, presented H. F. 148, for evaluating property of decedents.

Lawrence presented H. F. 149, to prohibit the Territorial treasurer from paying and tax collectors from receiving certain warrants. Read and passed under suspension of rules.

Kimball presented a bill to exclude females from the Reform School. Rejected.

The committee on enrollment reported on several enrolled bills having gone to the Governor.

The committee on judiciary reported on C. F. 118, perpetuating evidence, recommending its passage. Adopted and bill passed.

The committee on claims and public accounts reported on claim 60, from Davis County, for $[illegible] for maps, etc., recommending its allowance. Adopted and referred to committee on appropriations.

The committee on elections reported on H. F. [illegible], for printing ballots for elections at public expense and regulating elections, recommending that it be tabled. Adopted.

A communication from the Council was received announcing the passage of C. F. 132, in relation to endowment of the property of decedents. Read first, second and third times and passed.

At 2:[illegible] the House took a recess to have their pictures taken.

Co-operative Association.

The Parowan Equitable Association have filed articles of incorporation in the office of the Probate court of Iron county, Utah. The company is organized with a mercantile establishment as its foundation, but as it increases, the incorporators intend to establish other industries. The capital stock is placed at $[illegible].

Probate Court.

The following business was transacted before Judge Bartch yesterday:

Estate of George Martin White, deceased; hearing on return of sale of real estate came on regularly. Proof of posting notices approved. Margaret A. White, administratrix, sworn and examined. Confirmation of sale of numbers 2 and 3 of described pieces of real estate, but denied as to No. 1.

Estate of George H. Pope, deceased, report of commissioners in partition came on regularly. John T. Pope, Louis H. Pope, Mary E. Pope, and Sarah Jane Pope sworn and examined, and testified that the division as made by said commissioners was, in their opinion, fair and equitable. Continued to 14th inst.

Estate and guardianship of Anne L. Taylor et al., minors, continued to 16th inst.

Estate of Robert B. Snedden, deceased; continued to 15th inst.

Estate of Charles E. Harman, deceased; application for discharge of executors came on for continuance. Account of administrator since the making of decree of distribution presented and allowed. Order made discharging executors and bondsmen.

Estate of Jacob Madsen, an insane person; order made fixing the 10th inst. to hear petition that said Jacob Madsen be restored to capacity.

Estate of Edward Osborne, deceased; order made fixing the 23rd inst. to hear final account and petition for discharge of executors.

Slips That Always Raise a Laugh.

To few of us is it given never to make a slip of the tongue. On the contrary, most people have some unpleasant memory or other of some dreadful mistake they have fallen into, and even although years may have passed since the fatal moment when their lips betrayed them, they are still unable to recall the circumstances without again experiencing the agony and their cheeks displaying the blush which followed upon the first discovery of the slip. Take a few examples to illustrate what we have advanced. It was but a very small and even insignificant change of a letter which rather spoiled the impressive eloquence of a preacher, who, warning his audience against idolatry, in place of "Bow not thy knee to an idol," made a false step and said, "Bow not thine eye to a needle."

In the same way the young clergyman with the correct Oxford pronunciation in giving the hymn, "Conquering Kings," merely stumbled over the first vowel, but being unable to save himself was hurried over the precipice and startled his congregation with the announcement, "The hymn tonight will be 'Kinquering Congs, Kinquering Congs.'" Much the same was the pitfall into which a reverend gentleman walked when in place of saying "Behold the lily, how it withereth away," by a simple transposition of two letters he asked his audience to "Behold the wig [illegible], how it fliereth away."—London Tablet.

The Sad Part of It.

A good soul in Ohio absolutely worships Dickens, even going so far as burning a candle before his portrait. She reads nothing but Dickens, and when he came here to read she wrote to inquire whether he'd visit the west. Receiving a reply in Dickens' own handwriting, her joy knew no bounds. Her boss could not leave the east, therefore she determined to go to New York.

Jones, the husband, demurred, but upon being wakened one night with the threat that if he did not give her money to travel like a Christian, she would walk, Jones succumbed. Mrs. Jones went to New York, had a private interview with Dickens, attended his readings, and returned home more rabid than ever.

When the news came of Dickens' death Mrs. Jones was inconsolable. Not long after Mrs. Jones' sister died, but owing to the illness of this sister's husband, whom she was obliged to nurse, Mrs. Jones could not attend the funeral. When the rest of her family returned they found Mrs. Jones reading "Pickwick" to the sick and bereaved man. As a relative approached the bed, Mrs. Jones burst into tears, exclaiming, "The saddest part of it all is to think that dear Sarah died before I had finished reading 'Martin Chuzzlewit' to her; and now she'll never, never know how it ended. Oh, it's too bad!"—Kate Field's Washington.

Electricity in Oyster Culture.

Electricity is about the last thing to be thought of in connection with oysters, yet a very close association between them has been established by M. Lacaze-Duthiers, the well known authority on oyster culture. He makes use of the electric light in examining the stages of development through which the spawn passes. A glass cylinder is mounted in a cylindrical skeleton cage which serves as a support, and into this glass the water containing the spawn is placed. At the bottom is a silvered reflector, and the cover forms a parabolic reflector, in the center of which is fixed a small incandescent lamp. The reflector and sides of the glass cylinder act in such a way that but few rays of light emerge from the apparatus directly, hence the liquid is suffused with a soft illumination which is admirably suited to the examination of the contents. A modification of this little apparatus is now being employed in various researches into the life processes of ferments and the culture of microbes.—New York Telegram.
