DESERET EVENING NEWS.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1895.

FOR SAFEGUARDS.

A Bill for an Ordinance for Gates at Railway Crossings.

The calling by Councilman Clawson recently for a bill for an ordinance compelling the railway companies to maintain safeguards at street crossings has resulted in the transmission of such a bill by City Attorney Rice to the chairman of the street committee.

The bill says that the Union Pacific must construct and maintain on the east and west sides of the tracks that cross North Temple at its intersection of Fourth West, gates which shall open and close on each side of the track simultaneously, which gates shall afford safety to persons and property. The Rio Grande Western is also required to place similar gates at the intersection of Second South and Sixth West streets. In cases where more than one railway company operate tracks at the intersection of any street in the city the companies shall bear equally the expense of construction and maintenance of these safeguards. The railway companies are also required to put up and maintain similar gates at any other street crossings in the city upon request of the council, and the bill imposes a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100 for each day, after twenty days' notice has been given, during which the request is disregarded. Another bill was forwarded to the same committee prohibiting the unnecessary letting off of steam along the streets by locomotives. Both ordinances will be reported to the Council at the same time.

Public opinion seems to be decidedly against the passing of the gate ordinance and pronounce it merely a make-shift action. The building of viaducts at street crossings receives the most commendation at the hands of the people. They argue that in time viaducts will become an indispensable necessity, and that the cost of their construction now would be no more than it would be in ten years hence, and in some instances the outlay would be much less. Again, it is argued that a viaduct is the only absolutely safe crossing of a railway. Attention is called to the fact that almost daily the dispatches bring tidings of a runaway street car crashing into the gates at some railway crossing and killing or maiming for life one or more persons. The position is very considerably taken that one human life is of more consequence than the cost of viaducting every railway crossing in the city, and that by all means the best and safest methods should be adopted at once without experimenting with incompetent make-shifts. Besides the absolute inadequacy of the protection afforded by gates, the fact is presented that street traffic will be delayed by their closing every time a train is in transit at any particular point; and especially is this the case with freight trains, where such have been known to lie across a street a sufficient length of time to cause a congestion of vehicles for a distance of a block. This state of affairs will become more annoying as the city grows larger—there will be much more street traffic and necessarily trains will run oftener; and there is no time like the present to settle the grievance once and for all. Another fatality is pictured to, and it is that amounts lost by railroad companies in damage suits for loss of life would soon more than pay the cost of viaducts. People would like to see the matter attended to in a proper way and disposed of for the most permanent good.

Prices with baking powders mean they are inferior. Dr. Price's is the best.

Was Simply a Wind Fight.

Dick Case and C. B. Hall, a couple of transient light weight pugilists, last night imitated Champion Corbett and "Lanky" Bob Fitzsimmons, by failing to fight as they were advertised. The two young bruisers were to have met under the auspices of the Salt Lake Athletic club but for reasons very well understood by themselves remained apart.

A Stricken Family.

A few days ago the News contained an obituary notice of Mrs. Mary A. Faddis, of West Weber, the particulars being supplied by Nathan Hawkes, News agent at the place. Writing under date of October 23 the same correspondent says that the fate of the deceased mother has strengthened and that at the time of writing word had just been received that the bereaved husband and father had succumbed the loss of his mother. The family are in deep sorrow and have the sympathy of all their friends. A son is absent from home on a mission.

The regular meeting of the fire and police board was not held last evening as Commissioner Stephens is still confined to his home with sickness.

The Underground Bill.

There will be no report tonight on the bill for an ordinance to compel all electric light, telephone and telegraph companies to place their wires underground. The bill was pigeon-holed last night after considerable discussion between the promoters in the City Council and representatives of the companies. Strenuous objections to the bill were registered by the latter and it is very probable the bill will remain in its present position for some time to come.

Pie-crusts made with Dr. Price's Baking Powder are supremely grateful-ying.

A DECIDED HIT.

That, a hit home, so to speak. The sack of fancy flour for $1c is also one of our many decided hits. Our neighbors know well that our stock of staple and fancy groceries, and farm, garden and dairy products is full of just such good hits, so full that there are more here than you can find elsewhere, and no good that the quality defies duplication at any other store in town. There's no economy in poor groceries. If you buy them you don't get what you ought to have, and you don't pay enough less for them to make up for the difference in quality.

REMOVAL SALE—BEFORE WE REMOVE our store on Main Street, we are going to clean out everything new or popular, and don't mistake, it is to be sold at cost. Our stock is complete in bedroom sets, cabinets, sideboards, tables, parlor furniture, fine rockers, dining chairs, sewing and cook stoves, gas ranges, etc. Don't miss the chance. J. E. L. ANOTHER RAMBLER DAY.

The Rambler boys made a great showing in the Ogden races. The first mile of the day was the ten mile road race, in which McCumskey finished third, taking third prize, and third time prize. Then came the track race, Joe Beck taking second in the novice, Fowler first, Potter second, and Thatcher third in the mile scratch, class B, all "Ramblers" two of them. In the half mile handicap, Gray took second, Carter third. Half mile, class B, Thatcher second, Fowler third. Five miles, class B, Fowler second. In this race a man in a racing suit ran for head and fell. Committee and Wetter being immediately behind him, the result was a spill for three parties and the race left to Evans. The five mile, class A, was another Rambler event, Hay taking first, Joe Beck second and McCumskey third. Fourteen prizes for one day is glory enough for any one.

People may laugh and people may cry,
And they may be tired of long pieces.
But Rambler's who come wherever they go
Experience no lack of good prizes.

Moral—Buy a Rambler! Ride a winner and you'll be a winner.
