LOCAL AND OTHER MATTERS.

THE MERCURY 52 degrees F. in the shade, at 4 p. m. to-day. Blustery morning. Cloudy.

THEATRE.—Last night there was a fair audience, and the performance elicited repeated applause. The best portions of the programme were the minstrel scene, concluding with a broad burlesque of the sports of the arena; the gyre feats of Mr. Montague, and the ball feat of Eugenie Garretta. Mr. Montague has not been very fortunate in his feats. Last evening, after making two or three leaps in neat and clean style, in springing back towards the first circle he grasped the swinging horizontal bar too near the end where it was suspended by the ropes and his hand was cut by the metal fastenings, so that he had to inconsiderably discontinue his performance and retire. But he showed that he is a gymnast of much ability. The dancing of Eugenie Gerretta on the rolling globe, passing between glass bottles, and ascending and descending a swinging plank, was very cleverly done, and showed that in her specialty she is a very accomplished artiste. Mademoiselle Josephine is a neat and undemonstrative dancer, and her singing won applause, as also did the Dutch medley of Carry Armstrong and Mr. Larkin. The negro scene of the Perry Brothers met with favorable reception from the audience.

This evening, another change of programme.

On Friday evening another attractive bill for the benefit of Mr. Montague and Eugenie Gerretta, two of the ablest members of the troupe.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS IN TOWN.—Governor Booth, of California, and Samuel R. Bowles, Esq., the able and wellknown editor of the Springfield Republican, arrived in this city last night. We are informed that Mr. Bowles, this morning, spent two and a half hours with George C. Bates, Esq., in a full examination of the real, truthful condition of things in this Territory, and that Mr. Bates began with him at the Treaty of Guadaloupe Hidalgo, 1848, 1849, and went over the entire ground of the power of Congress over the Territories, and the power of the local legislature under the Municipal Charter of the Territory. Mr. Bowles sees now the real gist of the troubles in this Territory, that there are no defects in the statutes, and that all that is necessary to give permanent peace and quiet to the Territory is to have Judges who will execute the law according to law, and who will not attempt to pervert it for missionary or other purposes. Mr. Bowles returns to Springfield forthwith, and his columns, we are assured, will henceforth be open to all persons who desire to furnish a full, truthful and honest statement of affairs here.

RUNAWAYS.—There were two runaways on First South Street yesterday afternoon. The drivers of both teams were arrested and fined $2.50 each, for carelessness in not securing their animals before leaving them on the street. The punishment is quite small enough, but the public will probably be satisfied, seeing that a commencement has been made in taking steps to stop runaways. It is intended, in future, to punish all those by whose carelessness runaways are permitted to occur.

CACHE.—A gentleman who recently returned from a visit to Cache County informs us that it is expected that the Utah Northern track will be completed to Smithfield sometime in the beginning of June.

As in most other parts of the Territory the spring is exceedingly backward in Cache Valley.

ONE CAUSE.—One cause of the almost total absence of good, sweet, wholesome butter in the market just now is the backwardness of the season and consequent scarcity of grass. Most of the butter to be had now has a disagreeable taint of weeds, wild onions, roots, &c.

DECIDED.—A small civil suit, in the Justice's Court, in which Mrs. Doran was complainant and Dr. Buckland defendant, was decided this morning. The suit was for the recovery of a board and washing bill, amounting to $30, which the Doctor endeavoured to offset by a bill for professional services, of $52, which was repudiated by the plaintiff. Justice Clinton gave judgment in favor of the latter, for the full amount of her bill, and allowed the defendant $5 of the $52 claimed by him.

THAT IMPASSABLE BRIDGE.—That bridge across the main ditch in Chestnut street, just south of the city wall, is so completely used up that the thoroughfare for teams is stopped, for they cannot cross it at all now, and have to go several blocks round to get that part of the city. The attention of the supervisor of bridges is badly needed there, for accidents have already happened, and more are imminent.

QUARANTINE.—The officers appointed to see that the regulations of the Mill Creek quarantine are strictly enforced meet with occasional opposition in the performance of their duty. Such opposition is worse than foolish, and those who persist in manifesting it should be dealt with as the law directs. It would be well for all concerned to peruse the communication of Hon. Z. Snow on the subject, published in yesterday's NEWS, the extract from the statute embodied in which indicates that a fine of not less than fifty nor more than one thousand dollars is the penalty affixed for a direct breach of the quarantine regulations.

FLORICULTURE!—From present indications, the D. A. & M. Fair next autumn is likely to be the best ever held in this city. The competition among gardeners and floriculturists is having an excellent effect in stimulating each to produce something superior to his neighbors. A visit to the premises of W. Wagstaff, 1st Ward, would satisfy anybody that in the art of raising flowers at least, great advancement is being made. He understands business and is not likely to fall far behind his competitors in quality and variety of productions.

A love for flowers is always indicative of taste, and an eye for the beautiful in those possessing it, and the cultivation of flowers, like the fine arts, has a refining tendency, consequently it is very desirable that it should be encouraged.

The mission of the D. A. and M. Society is a laudable one, and it is creditable to the energetic officers thereof that the objects of the organization are being attained with gratifying rapidity.

RECEIVED.—"The Coach" "R. W. Leach, driver." "Devoted to the interests of its proprietor." All copies placed where they will do the most good." This is a new paper published at Central City, Colorado, weekly we presume. The Coach is witty and its platform is follows is amusing:

"WARNING.—The writing Editor of the Coach exercises his office in his hat, and will always be found at home.

"The fighting Editor will be around every Saturday evening to settle all difficulties.

"The financial Editor has gone to the Vienna Exposition. No bills will be paid until he returns.

"OUR PRINCIPLES.—The Coach has neither politics nor religion. The driver will crack his whip over whoever he pleases.

"The Coach has neither money nor credit, and doesn't need any.

"We have no list of exchanges and don't expect any. If any one says anything mean about us, we desire a copy. If anything good, they can keep it to themselves.

"Our stock of modesty is barely sufficient for our own use. We have none to sell, and don't know any one in these parts that wants to buy any.

"RESOLUTIONS.—Resolved:

"That quotation marks are a nuisance.

"That we don't know anything about grammar.

"That we can't spell, and don't want to learn.

"That we never saw a Rhetoric.

"That we won't do anything for nothing."

HEATED BY STEAM.—We understand it is intended to run heating pipes throughout the wholesale dry goods, grocery and boot and shoe departments of Z. C. M. I., which will be supplied with hot steam from the boiler of the engine used for raising and lowering the new elevator. Besides being a much more cleanly method of heating buildings than the ordinary way by means of fires, it will prove an excellent arrangement from an economical point of view, being the means of a great saving of fuel, besides lessening, to a great degree, the danger of fire.

The new elevator works to a charm, and is, of course, a great convenience in a

A BOY WRECKED.—Last night, about 8 o'clock, a boy named Joseph Lowery, while attempting to board the cars at the depot, fell under the wheels, and had his left leg broken and lacerated in a manner which will cause the amputation of the member. The accident occurred through his being unable to get a firm hold on the ropes, which are coiled around an iron roller, which is rolled from a cylinder, by means of a neat little steam engine.

BOISTEROUS.—A powerful and very cold wind prevailed during nearly the whole of last night.

TERRIBLE STORM.—The following account of the late terrible storm on the line of the U. P. Railroad is from the Ogden Junction of April 22nd:

Mr. Ambrose Greenwell, of the firm of Greenwell & Wright, arrived here this morning at 3:30, having with him twenty-one head of cattle and five hogs, the remnant left of a large drove which he was bringing from Iowa and Nebraska, when overtaken by the terrible storm which lately blockaded the U. P. R. R. Mr. Greenwell says the storm was the most terrific he ever encountered. It was with the utmost difficulty that he preserved himself from freezing in his efforts to save the cattle. Snow drifted around the cars to the depth of fifteen feet on either side, and became so solid that wagons passed over it as on a substantial road. Icicles hung from the nostrils of the poor beasts to their knees, their ears were stopped with snow and their eyes with balls of ice. Every assistance possible was rendered him by the conductors and officials on the railroad, particularly by Mr. Dewell, but in spite of all he was obliged to leave his stock to perish in the cars, being assured that the company would reimburse him for his losses. Senator Barton of the Nebraska Legislature also rendered assistance to Mr. Greenwell in his difficulties while lying over at Kearney station.

"Mr. Greenwell started from the Grand Island on Sunday night, the 13th inst., and reached Kearney junction about midnight. At this time the snow was falling fast, and the wind blowing a perfect hurricane. Word was received here by the conductor to lie over. They stayed until Thursday, the storm continuing in its fury until Wednesday, prostrating the telegraph and snapping the poles like twigs. Mules, horses and cattle froze to death in the stables. The top of one of the cabooses was blown of. Two men owning 150 head of stock at Wood River, lost 140 of them. Twenty head of cattle about two miles from the junction were frozen to death in the corral. Similar losses were incurred by all the settlers in the vicinity.

"Birds seeking shelter under the grass and leaves, froze as they cowered down. A fire was kept up day and night in the caboose, but the water in the tank froze into a solid mass. Neither man nor beast could stand exposure to the storm for many minutes. The howling of the wind was horrible and incessant, death was in the blast, and a ready shroud in the drifting, blinding snow.

Many new settlers were moving out of their homesteads on the prairie and having no shelter but their wagons, in all probability died and were buried by the snow-drifts. Mr. Greenwell says no tongue or pen could describe the horrors of those few days. On his journey home he saw the telegraph prostrated for about 250 miles. He is thankful for his safe return and grateful to those who assisted him on his journey."

Here is an extract from a letter to C. W. Penrose, Esq., from Elder L. J. Herrick, dated at Omaha, April 19th:

"Arrived here safe yesterday, four hours late in consequence of a terrible storm that swept over the country on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week. It extended from North Platte down the river for a distance of 200 miles, piling up snow to the depth of 20ft. in many places, prostrating telegraph poles and scattering cross bars and insulators for rods around. The telegraph lines are a total wreck; it will take days to repair them, but the loss of human life is the most to be deplored. I was told that many perished during the storm. Hundreds of stock also perished. I saw car loads of fine stock on the side tracks, that was being taken west, frozen to death in the cars. The storm was the severest ever know to the oldest inhabitant of this country."
