CHINESE ADVICES.

Strict Orders to Defend the Highroad to Pekin.

THE JAPANESE STILL ADVANCING.

Li Hung Chang Deposed by an Imperial Decree—The Fight at Yalu's Mouth.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 5.—The Chinese army, under General Chang, which evacuated Chin Lien Chang is in a mountainous pass on the highroad to Pekin. Strict orders have been given to the army to defend the pass at all hazards.

A Japanese army is marching north with the intention of getting behind General Sung's army. Several small pieces south of Nuiuting are under guard.

It is again stated in Tien Tsin that a Japanese force has landed forty miles north of Shangai Kwan. It is expected that Insurgents will be illegally requested to leave Pekin within a fortnight.

No Chinese version has been received of the fighting at Talien Wan but it is generally believed that the accounts already given are true.

An imperiale decree has been issued depriving Li Hung Chang of his titles and decorations, on account of the defeat of the Chinese at the Yalu River, and ordering the degradation of Chang Ju Hung Chang.

BATTLE WITH CHINESE PIRATES.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A dispatch to the Reuter's Telegram company from Corea says that an engagement took place on October 31 at Ah San, between a small band of Chinese Corean and Japanese soldiers and a body of Tongkan robbers. The Coreans and Japanese attacked the robbers. The combined forces lost 20 killed and many seriously wounded. The Tongkans retreated their way to northern Corea.

Misfortune Comes in Battles.

VALPARAISO, Nov. 5.—The president and the president have resigned on account of differences over the convention now, but the majority of the ministry do not follow them. They have accepted the plan, but do not believe they can count on a parliamentary majority to carry out the project. The president has refused to accept the resignations. Some say they have been withdrawn; others say the deputies is not yet settled.

The fight against the convention scheme is a hard one, and victory will come at last, it is believed.

The president has brought about a settlement of the cart drivers' strike.

It is proposed to establish a bank at Santiago with a capital of $4,000,000.

Chili has been deeply affected by the czar's death and will make a public demonstration of sympathy with the Russian nation and royal family.

BERR MOLT RESIGNS.

Not Sure Whether Or Not to Shoot Sir Charles Tupper.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Herr Mott surprised one of his characteristic speeches last night at a meeting in the Adler theatre. The object of the meeting as announced was to express the indignation felt by the Germans of the late Czar Alexander III. Mott's speech was in German. He said:

"Friends—I am a little embarrassed tonight. I do not know whether I should thank God for the death of the czar, or to give praise to the devil for it. There ought to be thousands of individuals in Russia who see in this event that of a judge of justice. Such a monster as Alexander III. has died. Every person is a ship bound, when we consider the cruelties committed by the czar, to wish they were not dead. We need not go to Russia for a case either. We have them here in America, for instance."

J. Grosse was even more radical than Mott. He said:

"Rise, Russians and stamp out the blood of tyrants, the bloody Romanoffs. Down with them. They ought to be kicked into hades."

EVERYBODY AND EVERYTHING DO NOTHING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Three thousand Russians met last night in the Wilkes theater on the Bowery to listen to condemnation of the late czar. Lawyer Louis Miller was chosen language and the audience cheered with great enthusiasm. In the new year Mr. Miller said:

"His throne is built on a flowing river of blood which will soon overwhelm its occupant. Whom you, Russians, shall mingle in the flood."

Abraham Cahan, editor of the Arbeiter Zeitung, secretary of the American press for not having painted the late czar blackenly enough. Resolutions were adopted denouncing everything done by Alexander's reign and invoking that Russia can prosper only by the recognition of the rights of men as they are recognized in this country.

Expected to at Petersburg.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Daily News correspondent in St. Petersburg says that Nicholas II. is expected to reach the capital at the end of the week, after a day's sojourn in Moscow, where he will receive the homage of the officials and conspicuous citizens. Alexander III. has now been closed.

WOMEN SAY "NO."

They Refuse to Encourage the Brothers in Boston Work.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The most remarkable meeting of the shopkeepers' strike was held last night. It was the wives and daughters of the strikers who attended to response to a circular sent out early in the day. The hall was packed. Miss Sarah Fitzgerald presided and the speakers were Meyer Schoenfeld and Joseph Brodsky.

Schoenfeld spoke first and described the condition of the shopkeepers in the tenements. A vote was put as to whether the wives and mothers would go to work if their husbands should go back to work. A show of hands was made, it was found that a number of women whose husbands were at work were present. Cheers were greeted on these and hisses in jeers and derision, but were drowned by the majority.

Brodsky spoke for more than two hours and in broken English set the audience wild. He told them the strike cause were strong, but the methods and work were guided by Pinkertons and the crying was treason.

"Do you want your husbands to work the rest of the good of Pinkertons?" he asked.

"NO!" was the answer in a tremendous shout.

At the close of the meeting an attack was made upon a woman who was standing on a chair to the then remaining work for the policemen, who rushed into the hall.

A period of sixteen will take place today.

WHEN WHISKY RULES.

It Makes a Town Disorderly and Issues Assaults.

BUREAU, Ill., Nov. 5.—Plenty of whisky made this town resemble an Indian reprint last night. Everybody wanted to fight and most of them got all they wanted. Morris Jenkins, a substitute on the canal, got a mixture on rye, he opened the ball in a saloon on a difference of opinion of wages in which Donahue got a black eye. Everybody took a hand and it was every man for himself. The combat was in the case and the bartender with a baseball bat compelled peace. About midnight two strangers began a fight on the street. An officer succeeding in separating them and when asking one of them down to subscribing to take off him, the other participant turned on him and knocked him in the eye, severely injuring him that he is confined to his bed.

An hour later Mr. Hall, of a firm of contractors and Mr. Miner, a surveyor, came to blows in the office of the former over a difference in settlement. In the fight Justice of the Peace Thornton acted as referee and Marshal Smith as second. After the first round the marshal called time down and said then to their respective corners in badly battered condition.

Midnight Surgical Operation.

MARION'S FERRY, Ohio, Nov. 5.—A very difficult and delicate surgical operation was performed upon Kate Clark last night at his home in this city by several local physicians. Several months ago Clark was taken ill with what was supposed to be the symptoms, although the symptoms were not exactly according to the customary diagnosis. It was agreed to move a part of the back wall over the lungs and make an examination and remove with the knife any some that might appear on the lungs. The operation was performed and the patient stood it well and seems to be doing nicely.

WHERE IS McKANE?

Rumor Says He Has Been Pardoned and Sent Abroad.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—A fresh rumor reached this city last night to the effect that the notorious John Y. McKane, of Gravesend, had been pardoned by Governor Flower on October 25, that he had been taken from Sing Sing prison that same night and was already out of the country. The fact, the report said, was to be kept a secret until after the election and McKane was to remain in the country with an arrangement made with the governor and Mr. Hill's campaign managers for a period of ninety days. At Sing Sing prison last night, however, it was said by the keeper in charge that McKane was still in prison, and that at that hour, about 10 o'clock, he was in his cell.

CHICAGO PIRATES.

They Hold Up and Rob a Vessel on the River.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Instead of a galleon on the Spanish Main these pirates had a yacht on the Calumet river. There were three of them, and they were pulling wearily along when they sight ed the yacht manned by Frank Karloski and James Novak. The pirates stopped their oars and held a conversation quite free from nautical terms. One of them, who spoke with the gravity of number deck cards, remarked that he had a "couch" on the "scuffle," referring to the approaching yacht. When the two boats shot alongside of the pirates cried "Stay," as a short substitute for "Ship, ahoy," surrounded the yacht and "stuck up" the crew.

The search began with what was wanted and were told that the supplies were short and that chewing and smoking tobacco were needed. And the crew came to port. Karloski and his mate were also robbed of their watches and the crew, who stood on hand over the stores, when the pirates took a pointer over the spike and boarded her. They overpowered the men and one of the pirates rowed ashore.

Having the men under cover of the revolver jam the pirates went through their pockets, taking a few silver in money, watches and chains, knives, pipes and other duffer.

The robbery was reported and the Hickman street policemen scoured the river district. In a saloon on both of the sides in the vicinity of Hale Island avenue and 22nd street, the officers found seven men seated about a table. Three of them were dividing some money and answered the description given by Karloski. They were arrested. When marched at the station they gave their names as Frank Varley, James Carroll and Patrick McNamara. The officers said the county will succeed with prisoners.

Hallinson agreed to go in. Hallinson and one Hall offered Lee Cleveland $1,000 against $10 on Hill. Cleveland $1,000 against $10 on Morton. A. J. HEARD FOR MILES.

Dynamiters in London Explode a Bomb With Tremendous Force.

DOORS AND WINDOWS SHATTERED.

Several Theories as to the Motive of the Deed—Detectives Investigating the Case.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A squad of detectives from Scotland yard is investigating an explosion which occurred shortly after 11 o'clock last night at the residence of Hon. Reginald Brett, in Tilney street, two doors from the residence of Hon. Sir Henry Hawkins, one of the justices of the Queen's bench division of the high court of justice, for whom the bomb is supposed to have been intended. Col. Edward Bradford, chief commissioner of police is personally directing the matter.

The scene around Tilney street at daybreak this morning was one of extreme excitement. The whole neighborhood seemed to be in the possession of mounted police and detectives who kept back the spectators. Many residents were so alarmed that they fled from their houses and have been afraid to return. As soon as there was light enough, Col. Majendie, chief inspector of explosives, medical officer, photographs taken of the scene from all points of view, and all fragments of the bomb, splinters, etc., were taken to police headquarters.

The fragments, etc., were then taken to the home office for examination. Up to noon today, the police have no definite theory as to the origin of the explosion with exception of suspicion that a man from Saveny hotel. The detectives are inquiring over from interviews. One is that the explosion was the work of some person who sought revenge for some decision rendered by the late Lord Esher, master of the rolls and father of Reginald Brett; another that the explosion was caused by the Irish Physical Force party, and the fourth theory is that anarchists attempted to carry out threats made against Justice Hawkins.

The front of the house outside of which the bomb was exploded was much damaged, and the windows of houses on the opposite side of the street were smashed. The house was occupied, but nobody was hurt. The force of the explosion must have been very great, as the door of the house was blown in and the stone steps shattered.

Suspicion rests on a man who alighted in the vicinity of the house from the cab which had conveyed him from the Savoy hotel. He hasn't yet been arrested.

Justice Hawkins is the judge who sentenced Frederick Charles, Victor Callan, Joseph Thomas Hanson and Jean Batalie, the Walham assassins, to terrible terms of imprisonment. He also presided at the trials of other anarchists and imposed sentences of various degrees upon them.

The bomb plowed up a cavity eighteen inches deep below the floor of the house and was heard for miles above. The top step, a slab of granite 6 by 28 inches, was blown across the street. The railings were twisted.

The sound of the explosion was heard for two miles.

A DANISH GLOBE TROTTER.

He Has Some Remarkable Experiences on the Journey.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—August Stuhr, the young Dane who started out from Copenhagen in April had a remarkable if not a fast ride. He left Chicago, Stuhr had a wager that he could make a tour of the world in seven months, starting out without a cent of money and returning with $500. He is a hardy wild intelligent young man who spent two years in England, where he learned the English language thoroughly. His physical endurance is almost unlimited, and this was one of the facts that induced him to make the attempt. But, hardy as he is, its strength has been put to some severe tests, and he is now many hundreds of miles away from home, with the Atlantic ocean still between him and his destination, pretty well worn out. He has seventeen more days in which to reach Copenhagen, but will have to sail from New York on the ninth to stand to have three to time. Stuhr reached Council Bluffs coming in from Denver on a cattle train. He has rather little experience here, he says, and last night expressed apprehension as to whether he would be able to get to New York in time to make the trip.

"My only fear," said he, "is to escape from this city of Chicago."

Stuhr is, of course, had some remarkable experiences in his long journey journey. He header. He was in going through Russia. He was out of those and went hungry many days. He left Copenhagen April 22, and his route has taken him through Petersburg, Moscow, Berlin, Hamburg, London, Antwerp, Milwaukee, the Cayuga Head Hotel, Hamburg, and Paterson and Denver. His most remarkable experience was the journey from Moscow to Berlin. This he made in a box or compartment in the all in a cramped position the entire journey, which requires thirty-six hours. When released he was so sore and lame that he could not walk or even a day. Stuhr has been put into the box by a Russian dealer in Moscow, to whom the Dane managed to make known his wants, although he could not speak the Russian language. At the end of the journey Stuhr had a hard time extricating himself, but the Berlin railway officials finally let him go.

Against the Workers.

The defendants are the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne, Chicago and Western, Grand Trunk and eight other trunk lines east. The amounts which the packers claim to recover aggregate about $200,000. A letter in the form of a petition was received bearing the heading of Utah State Board of Horticulture, in which Messrs. George H. Bailey and Thomas R. Cutler, as a committee appointed by that organization, asked the court to appropriate a sum of money sufficient to have printed 5,000 circulars or pamphlets of instruction to the fruit growers of Salt Lake county "to work with and on their trees this fall and early winter, by scraping the loose bark from trees and converting all rubbish and burning the same, preparatory to spring spraying, with other instructions and benefits derived from the same by others in different states of the Union, all coming to the knowledge of the board that the suggestion has been already made to the county that the services of our county inspector be dispensed with, we do not currently position you in the course of fruit that the services be dispensed with."

The petition was granted, the court making a grant of $25 to carry out the work.

The gentlemen by whom the petition was presented were likewise the bearers of a box of magnificent specimens of Salt Lake county fruit, which were exhibited to the court. The specimens, which were entirely free from the destructive grub, were of absolute perfection. The Rev. Mr. Cutler, in the course of the good results arising from the spraying process, said that which very much more is anticipated in the year to the extreme general introduction of the Tent city. Probate Judge Blair, who spoke in courtesy, phoning taken a package of apples, she never ate fruit, saying that he intended to go home on the 10th instant and show what he is carrying in numbers had done to Salt Lake county at least.

MODESTO SICKER WILL WAIT.

The Motion for a New Trial, and Sentence, Postponed till December.

Modesto Sicker, the young Austrian who was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in Judge Barton's court last week after standing a trial for murder in the first degree, viz., the killing of Giuseppe Marano, came up for sentence this afternoon, when the defendant's attorneys, Messrs. Frank H. Hagenbach and Oliver X. Smith, moved for a new trial. No newer than twenty separate grounds were really stated by Mr. Smith upon making the motion. Among these were that a portion of the trial was had in the defendant's absence; that the jury based the verdict of the tragedy in the absence of the defendant; misdirection of the jury by the court on matters of law; that the court erred in instructions given to the jury on certain points touching the law; that the verdict was contrary to the testimony and newly-discovered evidence material to the defendant.

Attorney Smith set forth some of the objections, and ultimately the court allowed the further hearing of the motion to go over until his return from Denver, in order to enable counsel to file affidavit and submit certain matters in writing intended to such motion. The date set was Saturday, December 1st.

EVE OF THE BATTLE.

Final Arrangements Being Made For Tomorrow's Contest.

MANY SPECIAL BALLOTS ARE OUT.

Voters Will Be Well to Scan Their Ability—Strong Speculation is the Result of the Election.

Final arrangements for the greatest and most important political contest in the history of Utah were being made today.

In this city the executive and subordinate committees of the respective parties were busy as bees this well in. The heavy work of the campaign have left participants with the dens of the contest on either side. The strain has been intense from the beginning and will remain so until the close. All are heartily glad that the end is so near at hand. Wherever the fault may be, the active party workers will be glad to return to their business, which in most instances has been made a matter of necessity consider time in order that a thorough canvass in behalf of their party could be made.

It is generally conceded by all those acquainted with the men that the canvass has been a very close one. The campaign has been carried into the remotest nooks of the Territory, and political issues presented in these with as much force, if not more and ability as in the more populous centers.

Throughout the day a great many "scratch" ballots have been seen, and actual statistics in all parties have been seeing, almost pleading, with voters to cast them instead of voting a straight ticket. In all of the precincts the names of one or more from other nominees are to be found on Republican tickets, and vice versa. Voters will accordingly do well to instruct their tickets closely in order that they may not fall and be deceived.

But of all the devices, tricks and stuff in at trading, the Anomites stand at the head of the list with all sorts of trading propositions. They are determined they say to elect Hardy as sheriff and Lyons as member of the Constitutional convention.

As to what the result of the election will be no man knows. Speculations in this direction and in that, however, are rife, and a good deal of betting is going on. Both sides say they are sanguine of success.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Rawlins and Thatcher at the Theater Tonight—Republican Meeting.

The closing rallies of the two parties will be held tonight. Hon. Moses Thatcher and Delegate Rawlins will address audiences at the Theater and the Continental Market hall. There will also be other prominent speakers at both places.

The Republicans will also hold two meetings in the city tonight, one at the Central Theater on Commercial street, at which C. C. Goodwin, Dr. Robinson and John M. Zane are announced to speak. The other will be held in the upper air in front of the county committee's headquarters. The speakers have not yet been decided upon.

Polling Places Tomorrow.

The polling places in this city for the election tomorrow will be located as follows:

First precinct—Exposition building.

Second precinct—Continental market.

Third precinct—Eleventh ward schoolhouse.

Fourth precinct—Barrington schoolhouse.

Fifth precinct—Horticultural building.

The polls will be open one hour after sunrise and close at sunset.

THE HOURS OF ELECTION.

Polls Will Open at Sixty O'clock and Close at Seven.

The remarkable amount of ignorance that may exist among the people on a very simple question was demonstrated today when the Utah Commission, politicians, judges of election and newspaper men harried and worried mother and mother family endeavoring to ascertain the exact time of the opening and closing of the polls which in a general way was 7 o'clock given and the hour after sunrise and at sunset respectively.

The weather bureau director's office was repeatedly sought for the information but that office could not be found. Fort Douglas, where the sunrise bugle blowing and evening gun opening to be but the specific answer could be received from there. The big timekeeping establishments of Zion's Park and Layton & Mathews were appealed to in vain.
