TALK IS CHEAP,

and the news items with advertisements of mercantile, and other lines, based and being remedies, but there is one medicine, and only one, the merits of which, as a cure for all lingering disease arising from Torpid Liver or Biliousness, or from impure blood, are backed up by a positive guarantee. It is not an idle assertion, but a positive guarantee, for a home of long established reputation, for honesty, integrity and world-renowned success, then accompanies it. And that's just what the People's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., mean in guaranteeing their Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery checks the frightful records of mortality and, if taken in time, arrests the march of Consumption of the Lungs (which is Lung-scrofula), purifies and vitalizes the blood, cures lingering cough and severe lung diseases, Fever, Sore, Swellings, and kindred ailments.

$500 OFFERED

for an incurable case of Catarrh in the Head, by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It is the most sudden and benefit preparation, it cures the worst cases, one bottle of new, from stamps. Only 50 cents. Sold by druggists everywhere.

BROKEN OUT!

How often do we see this on the faces of children and also of people who otherwise are healthy? What causes it? Bad blood. The thought is terrible to the health-loving. Nature kindly helps our system to rid itself of impurities, something yourself. Take advantage of our liberal offer. Ask your druggist about it. Ask for something that has proven its power in both Europe and America. General Wheaton Nelson, of London, says: "My experience in the English army, as well as in America, convinces me that neither so thoroughly purifies the blood or relieves so fully, preserves life, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

This great Blood Purifier is sold by druggists throughout the civilized world. For sale by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept.

OVER AND OVER AGAIN.

The Senate Has Another Day's Talk On the Tariff Bill.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AT WORK.

The Clayton-Breckinridge Case Elicits A Long and Strong Speech.

By Telegraph to the News.

IN CONGRESS.

The Tariff Bill.—The Clayton Breckinridge Case.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Call offered a resolution, referred to the committee on foreign relations, declaring the murder of General Barrundia on the steamer Acapulco, by authorities of Guatemala, while under protection of the flag of the United States, an insult to the people of the United States and demanding prompt action for redress.

The tariff bill was then taken up. The regular schedule was under consideration. Edmunds addressed the Senate. He referred to the assertion in the Cause speech last evening, that the farmers born all the burden of the customs duty while they had no benefit from them. Edmunds went on to mention the sugar, tobacco, rice, plum, tar and turpentine tax, which benefited the farmers in North Carolina. Vance declared that there was nothing on the free list except rice on which duty was received. Coming to the question of reciprocity, Edmunds recalled the history and practical operation of its policy to the United States of the Canadian reciprocity treaty of '54.

It happened almost exactly on the Canadian and so reciprocity with Central and South America, said the demand of a country for commodities did not depend so much upon its numbers as upon the state of its society, its wealth and its civilization. When he looked at any Central American State he thought speaking with reserve and conservatism that any one hundred average people in North America had during the last year consumed more of the products, merchandise, food and clothing that go to make up the comfort and happiness of mankind than any one thousand average people in the Central or South American States. Therefore, the expectations of the United States being already in degree of a large increase of its products was, in his opinion, one of the greatest errors that brilliant men or wise statesmen had lately fallen into. He did not mean, however, that he was not willing and glad to try the plan of receiving any of the products of these countries which the United States did not produce, and giving to them the products which they did not produce.

Morgan addressed the Senate in support of the amendment he had proposed to him, as a substitute for Allison's reciprocity amendment. It provided for a duty of 2 per cent on Indian corn, wheat, rye, barley, oats, hay, straw, potatoes, cotton, live animals and meats, grasses, vegetables and honey, and when any such articles are exported a premium of 2 per cent is paid on their value to the owner.

Voorhees addressed the Senate and then was developed a civil and participated in consideration of the McKinley bill in the consideration of a preceding legislation.

Vance spoke of the various reciprocity amendments, and criticised them as being unfavorable. He concluded by saying: "Make your tariff as you think right, and when you reach such a position that you can discuss the relations of other nations better by free trade than you can preserve your own industries by protection, then change your laws."

Gray complimented Hale on his amendment, which could nothing less than double free trade throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Hale explained the statement as to Canada and said he never had any fellowship of sentiment that country. Brown.

There was the usual attendance of the crowding women, which was enlivened by Gray in a speech advocating reciprocity.

House.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—In the House, Mason (Ill.) reported a resolution authorizing the committee on Territories to proceed to New Mexico, the Arizona and Dakota on the world, Kansas and Dakota and send witnesses residing in those Territories, and report whether they are prepared for statehood; also, to visit Utah and inquire into the extent of celestial marriage in that Territory. Buchanan objected to its consideration.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the Clayton-Breckinridge case. Bergen resumed his argument in favor of unseating Breckinridge. After depicting the conversation of Clayton, he said that Breckinridge for not resigning himself and therefore disclaiming the advantage he had gained from the murder. He had not done so, but had left it to those who had shot Clay to the death. Was Breckinridge a party to the conspiracy which caused the outrage? He (Bergen) did not believe it. He would let every one who had any statement on this fact to certify to it, but it had been in Breckinridge's power to save the life of Clayton. Had he done it? It was said he had. He (Bergen) asked that he read, but the gentleman was not saying so.

Crisp (Ga.) said the majority report had been rendered, "and not upon evidence." There had been cast upon Clay defeat, but giving Clay every value contained therein he would have been exchange for the prime factor case. The certificate had been given to Breckinridge long before the assassination of Clayton.

Crisp gave notice that he would, at the proper time, move to recommit the resolutions, with instructions to the committee on elections to ascertain whether Breckinridge or Clayton received a majority of the votes cast at the election.

Linney replied to Crisp, and criticised the minority report.

Outhwaite (Ohio) agreed to support of the sitting member retaining his seat.

Kelly (Kansas) spoke in favor of the minority report.

Kennedy (Ohio) said the details of the Clayton-Breckinridge case showed conclusively that federal elections laws should be enacted. He expatiated severely the Southern who had been opposed to the Lodge bill. For himself, confidence in the doctrines of the republican party, fully committed to the principles of that party, he must forever dissent from the cowardly surrender which hauls down the flag and strikes the colors of the republican party to a defeated foe. Continuing he said that the election bill had been killed by republicans at pretended republicans. It is true that without fair treatment a bill which the House of Representatives said imperatively was demanded for the preservation of its own honor and for the personal safety and the safety and protection of the whole country against outrage and intimidation and violence is deliberately put aside without a hearing and without opportunity of consideration? When before in all past history of legislation has one house of Congress deliberately put upon another the mark of its derision and contempt. Consideration of this measure was demanded by every sense of decency and honor. It was demanded by the House of Representatives, that its floor might be purged of those who are entitled to enter by reason of violence and murder. The Senate of the United States will learn that there is a tribunal of public opinion, and at that bar it is now being tried. The cloak of "sensatorial courtesy" has become a stench and a byword in the mouths of all honest citizens of the land. It makes a cloak behind which ignorant and arrogant wealth can purchase its way to power and then hide its cowardly head behind the shameless protection of senatorial silence. It seems a cloak which shall cover up from the public gaze of an outraged people infamies which demand an investigation and which merit punishment of brutal laws and violated statutes. It means a cloak behind which petty party bickerings may barter away the party's principles and play the demagogue in the face of the people. It means a cloak behind which pretended fairness hides its dishonest head, while in secret it is trading and trafficking in the rights and liberties of the people. It means a cloak under which not only the timid but the cowardly politician can scter up his tracks and be either foul or fair, as necessity demands. The hour for "senatorial courtesy" has passed. The team of senatorial progress must give way to the motor of a more enlightened and progressive and determined age. Let the old and threadbare cloak of senatorial courtesy be hung up with the stoke and the flail of bygone days.

Referring to the betrayal of Christ by Judas, Kennedy said: "It was meet and fitting that Judas should be paid thirty marks of silver; it was still part of the eternal fitness of things that, having been guilty of the basest crime of all the centuries, he should go out and hang himself. History is repeating itself. The great republican party, having lived for thirty-five years, has never yet resisted in riveting the shackles of a human being, and now, when it was to be expected that it would redeem its prestige and be faithful to its history, it is about to prove false, and the oft-repeated promises are not to be redeemed. It retires victorious from every field, and if it fails now, it is because in its own ranks there are those who are faithless to the trust reposed in them. If it is to be crucified, it is only because its chosen leaders have bartered away its principles for the tricks and petty schemes of politicians.

"The Judas Iscariot of two thousand years ago is to find a counterpart in the Judas Iscariot of today. Judas, who took thirty pieces of silver and went out and hanged himself, has left an example for Matt Quay that is well worthy of imitation.

"Some time since I stood in my place on this floor and denounced a Senator, because, when charged with corruption and branded with infamy, he did not rise in his seat and demand an investigation and inquiry that should establish the purity of his actions and his personal honor. One other, occupying a high place in the councils of the party to which I belonged, suffered himself, month in and month out, to be charged with crimes and misdemeanors for which, if guilty, he should have been condemned under the laws of his State, and had meted out to him the fullest measure of its punishment. This man is a republican. Shall I now remain silent? Is it just and honest to remain in my seat silent, because one who is accused of crimes, and has refused to seek for vindication, is a republican, and that republican a recognized leader of my party? My regard for decency and honor would not permit me to do so. I do not know whether the charges made against the chairman of the republican national committee are true or false, but I do know that they have been made by journals of character and standing again and again, and I do know, that in the face of these charges Matt Quay has remained silent, and neither denied nor attempted to seek an opportunity to exonerate himself of them. I do know that as a republican leader, he owed it to the great party whose head he was either to brand them as calumnies thereof and prove their falsity, or to stand aside from its leadership. He has not done either, and for this I denounce him. The republican party cannot afford to follow the lead of a branded criminal. He has failed to justify himself, and though opportunity and ample time has been given him, he remains silent. The silence under such circumstances is a confessed guilt. As republicans we have not long daily when we have to be ashamed. He has slapped her hag in defiance the decency and stands a convicted criminal before the bar of public opinion. Under such circumstances he should be driven from the head of the party, whose very life his presence imperils. The republican party has done enough for its professed leader. Let him be relegated to the rear. It is no longer a question of vindication. It is now a question of the life of the party."

The Breckinridge case then went over and the House adjourned.

Pneumonia and Bronchitis Carry off One-Sixth of the Human Race.

It is not generally known that Pneumonia and Bronchitis carry off one-sixth of the human race, but such are the facts, and what is more astonishing, both of the above diseases result from neglecting a common ordinary cold. A cough should never be neglected. If it be, every time you catch cold you cough harder, and it sticks by you longer. Hulton's Horehound Syrup is the best remedy in the world for Pneumonia, Bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. If you have any throat trouble, call for Hulton's Horehound Syrup and take no other. Zion's Co-operative Mercantile Institution, Agent. 1

A Family Jewel.

Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., the famous Surgeon and Physician, has sent us a copy of his Book, "How to Cure Kidney, Liver and Blood Diseases." It is a work which should be read in every home, for the value of the medical lessons alone. It contains also many fine illustrations, and two fascinating stories from the widely known author, "Ned Buntline." Any one sending their address with name of this paper to Dr. Kennedy, will receive the Book free by mail.

HAPPY RECOVERY.

There is nothing I can write that I do not owe to having used Dr. Davis Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., of a severe cough I was suffering at 3rd a bronchial throat and lung trouble. My residence began to subside, from which I never expected to recover. My persuasion and I did Bright's Disease.

I suffered a bad attack of Grippe, for years afterwards I was well I remember that day—I saw Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy advertised in our paper. After using three bottles I was well. I have never had a return of the disease, and though I am only six years of age, I am growing and strong as I was in my prime. When pain ceases, and the many remedies I had taken could not do, Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy did, it stands the doubtful and made me a well woman.—Mrs. Eugene F. Moser, Gray Hill, O.
