Two Mormons Shot and Killed by a White Man in Arizona.

COLORADO DRUGGISTS CONVICTED.

Looking Up Delinquent Taxpayers in Wyoming.—A Monster Bulbs Road.

The flour mill at Saratoga, Wyo., shut down recently, having ground all the wheat available. Our farmers now have enough out and wheat will yield a large acreage this year.

The Whittier (Cal.) cannery shipped 750,000 cans of fruit in 1892, and paid $25,000 for fruit and $9,000 for fruit. The section of summer cannery in Whittier, much larger, has been begun.

C. Gallagher and Dr. N. H. Chapman, two unknown town druggists, have been convicted at Mount Vista, Colo., of the illegal sale of liquors and fined $75 and $100 and costs respectively. Both have appealed.

Loveland, which is one of the most enterprising and attractive towns of Northern Colorado, says the Denver News, is agitating the matter of a public park. The Leader, true to its name, is leading in the agitation.

A number of the wool growers of Carbon county, Wyo., met at Fort Steele Tuesday with an agent of the Union Pacific to make arrangements toward securing a reduction of shipping rates.

Frank Watt, two miles south of Lost, Wyoming, raised a small patch of carrots last season and they yielded abundantly and have proved such good butter producing feed for his milk cows that he expects to put in two or three acres this season.

County Treasurer Harold Biddle says the Rock Springs, Wyo., Miner, is exerting a good deal of his time in doing effort to collect delinquent taxes in Rock Springs. For the year 1892-3 taxes are between $6,000 and $7,000 still outstanding. There will be no trip to Herbert's this year, said the last party in eight is collected.

On Sunday morning a white man shoots and kills two Mexicans in the placer district on the Hassayampa river, A. T. It is said that the Mexicans had been trying to jump Mohawk claim and a few days ago gave him warning to leave the country on pain of death. Sunday they came to his camp, where he was alone, with the probable intention of putting their threat into executive, but he fired first.

Robert Turner, a German farmer of Pawnee county, Colo., met with a serious accident on Tuesday evening, which resulted in death at a late hour last night. Turner came to town with a load of wheat and took home with him a load of fence posts. When about six miles from town he jumped off the wagon to fix the harness, and in getting on again slipped and fell, and the horses starting up, the wagon ran over him. He was taken home by neighbors and lived about four hours.

The Steamboat Springs Town company, Colo., has inaugurated a system of improvements. The first and most prominent work to be done is the construction of a steel cantilever bridge over Soda creek, a swift and turbulent stream which has in its history caused much vexation and damage. The erection of a new resort hotel of large proportions and modern improvements is contemplated. In anticipation of extraordinary high water this spring the bridge across the Bear river has been raised four feet above the old abutments.

Hyattville, Wyo., Record: The bodies of D. A. Birch and Jack Redford, who were so fatally injured last fall, were removed from the Big Horn to Otto and given Christian burial. Never in the history of the Basin were there so many people gathered together for any purpose as there were at this funeral. . . . A party of mineral surveyors are reported in the vicinity of Otto, but it is not known what company they represent. Oil real estate has taken a boom in consequence. . . . A gentleman from Denver is in this part of the country looking up a location for a brewery.

Saratoga (Wyo.) Sun: There is an exhibition at the store of the Saratoga Mercantile company the head of a monster buffalo. It is the property of C. W. Beall, and was found up near Encampment. It is Mr. Beall's intention to send the skull of past greatness to the World's Fair. The horns have been polished and are of a beautiful black, and shine like ebony. The monster head measures twelve inches between the eyes. The horns measure thirteen and one-half inches at the base and thirty-five inches across. The outside measurements, following the curve of the horns, give sixty-two inches. This is said to be the largest head ever found in this country, and a party who saw the large buffalo head in the Smithsonian Institution says that this head is even larger than that, and that this is probably the largest one extant.

The Scandinavian Democrats.

The Scandinavian Democrats held one of the largest meetings of the season in the Social Hall February 27th. The debate on "Which is the Strongest Power in the World, Women or Mosquito" was handled by C. Gulbrand and H. Eschsen for the women, and F. S. Lyman for money. The jury gave a verdict in favor of women. After musical selections by Mr. Julius and John Halvorsen, Mrs. Anna Wilde gave a recitation entitled "The Old Lady."

Mr. Cristlow, the famous whistler, accompanied by Mrs. Emma Jorgensen, whistled and sang the "Whistling Boy," and was encored. Miss Hanna Hale then gave a solo, "The Lost Boy," and the meeting adjourned until Monday next.

The society will give an inaugurating banquet to the G. A. H. Hall Saturday, March 4th, at 8:30 o'clock.

Reason for Being Proud.

"Two gentlemen of opposite politics meeting, one inquired the politics of some political economy, when the other indignantly answered: 'I am proud to say, sir, I am wholly ignorant of it.'

"'Oh, you are proud of your ignorance, eh, sir?'

"'Yes, I am,' replied the belligerent gentleman, 'and what then, sir?'

"'Oh, nothing, sir, nothing; only you have a great deal to be proud of, that's all.'—London Tit-Bits.

W. T. Stead, editor of The Review of Reviews, has taken up with his accustomed vigor the case of Mrs. Maybrick, the Indian American woman now living in Woking jail, because she either did or did not poison her husband, and the English lawyers have never been able to find out whether she did or not. Regarding all law and precedent which built an accused person innocent till he has been proved guilty, these brilliant British judges sent Mrs. Maybrick to jail. They confessed to having a prejudice against her because she had been married twice. Tired of itself refusing them to judge her case, but on the strength of it they condemned her to imprisonment for life. Mr. Stead makes a powerful appeal for the woman in his magazine. Under Mrs. Maybrick's "Life Terrified to Death" is the title. He says in his paper absolutely that both he and Sir Charles Russell have received the deathbed confession of a man in South Africa—Harry Wilson—who says he and a woman whose name is not given got money in Mr. Maybrick's medicine during his last illness. If this is true, then the cruelty and persecution of so called English justice appears more vividly than ever. Mr. Stead is right in saying that the matter may become a cause of diplomatic complications with the United States. The United States will not see one of its citizens "tortured to death." Lord says Mrs. Maybrick will die unless soon released.
